Since last November, building operations have been carried on with great energy at Mr. E. B. Eddy's mills in Hull, but till very recently the whole plan of buildings had not been decided on. Hearing that the plan for all the establishments had been settled, a FREE PRESS reporter went over there yesterday and got the full particulars about every establishment. As is well known, the match and nail factories are in the same buildings as before the fire, with some improvements made since then. With the match factory Mr. Eddy says that he can supply three Dominions, and give the market too. The building now occupied as a machine shop will be occupied by the nail factory and the machine shop transferred to the building just west of that now occupied as a planing mill, which is 60 by 60 feet. As has been stated before, the new large mill is 120 by 140 feet, and is fitted up with two shafts, two gangs, twin circular, two splitters, three edgers and three butting tables. The water power used in this mill is 1,300 horse power, and the capacity is 250,000 feet every 12 hours. In arrangement this is the most complete mill in every way in the world, the logs entering the mill being turned out graded and sized, and all the old pieces are turned to the best advantage, and sent by shoots to the proper places, where they are carted away. Not a cut of any kind enters the mill, all lumber being carried out by a perfect system of rollers. Mr. Eddy is having a system of waterworks arranged by which the whole mill can be flooded by the chief watchman, if necessary, in three minutes. There are now five very powerful pumps, run by water, and with the e, the premises always being well watched, it seems impossible for a fire to gain any headway. Immediately north of the large mill, the planing mill and the box shop have been under way for some time, and are so far advanced that it is thought they will be ready for occupation in two weeks. This building, as all the others, is of stone, and is 185 feet in length by 60 in width, two storeys in height and covered by an arched roof, which had not a pillar to support it, the immense arch resting on the wall being all that hold it. On the south side the building is three storeys high, and well lighted in the lower one, a sume being on the north. The small mill to the south of the large one is 60 by 70 feet, and will be used for filling and splitting. The blacksmith's shop will remain in the building where it now is, which was constructed especially for the purpose. The foundry will be where the planing mill now is. At the west end of the machine shop is the office, under the same roof and on the site of the old office. It will be entered from Maine street and be 24 feet front by 74 deep. In this is a brick covered vault, seven by nine feet and about twelve high; the inside of which is of half inch boiler plate iron. There will be double doors with fire and burglar proof combination locks. The vault is on a solid foundation of stone built up from the solid rock, and will be able to withstand any heat it might be subjected to. In rear of the office is a long fire proof boiler, by which the office, machine shop, and store room 110 by 60 feet above both will be heated. The store room will be used for storing the goods made by the firm. The office building, as before indicated, is two storeys in height, and will be surrounded by a mansard roof. The power used by the various departments besides the mills, is as follows: Wooden mill, 350 horse power; machine, 100; match factory, 100; box shop, 200; nail factory, 100, and small stone mill about 100. The capacity of the small wooden mill is 180,000 feet per day. With the immense establishments already erected, one would think there was nothing wanting, but Mr. Eddy thinks differently and will commence shortly the erection of a sixth, door and blind factory, 60 by 60 feet, two storeys high, at the south west corner of Bridge and Maine streets, or just the blacksmith shop.

All the above buildings are, or will be, covered by arched roofs of galvanized iron, which is more lasting, strong and better able to resist the fire than any other known. The buildings will all likely be finished by fall and will then present a great contrast, as Mr. Eddy said, to the appearance of their site on the 3rd of November last.—Ottawa Free Press.

Poison in Flour.

A mysterious illness has been disturbing a small community in France. One member after another sank, while presenting the usual appearance of lead poisoning, without any apparent cause. The doctors who were called in could not make much of the symptoms except that they seemed to proceed from some food which had been taken. By a process of inductive reasoning and by exhausting the causes which were found to have operated upon all the sufferers, suspicion at last fell upon the bread. An examination was accordingly held at the bakers' premises, but they, having been found blameless, the investigators next proceeded to attack the miller, and here, at last, a diligent inquiry brought to light the cause of all the mischief. Finding that his mill-stones had cracked in some places, and that the purchase of new stones would be somewhat costly, the miller had adopted the plan of filling the cracks with melted lead. The lead had not the centre of grinding naturally got mixed with the flour, and had so found its way at last into the loaves distributed to the population. The tale is interesting as showing the pertinacity of particles of lead in clinging to any substance with which they may get mixed. It is still more noteworthy than the case of lead poisoning which occurred in Paris not long ago, when it was found that a baker had warmed his oven with old wooden boards that had been painted with white lead, and that the residue of the lead lying in the oven had penetrated into the crusts of the loaves.—The Continental Gazette.

A Little Matter.
Thomas Howden, the victim of the gunning accident, was a little better to-day, so one of the attending surgeons informed us.

Smith's Market.
Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

An Accident.
On Wednesday afternoon Mr. E. Courtney struck his thumb against a saw in his cabinet factory in Ashburnham, and almost completely severed the top off it.

A Barn Burned by Lightning.
During the thunder storm on Wednesday evening Mr. E. Crenk's barn in Ashford was struck by lightning, and the building and its contents destroyed. The contents were insured in the Royal for $1,050. We have not learned whether the building was insured.

Wounded by an Axe.
Mr. Howie, who lives near the Auburn Mills, while cutting wood early on Wednesday morning, slipped and cut his foot with the axe. The blade sank into the instep of the foot, almost severing it. Dr. Sproule attended to the injury.

A Thunder Storm.
A heavy thunder storm passed over this section on Wednesday evening. Rain commenced to fall shortly after eight o'clock, and fell heavily for about half an hour. The whole sky was lit up with the flashes of lightning, and for some time after the rain ceased to fall the lightning could be seen in every direction.

V. M. C. A. Excursions.
The number of persons who attended the Young Men's Christian Association excursion to Stony Lake this morning was smaller than on the two previous days. The excursion on Wednesday, as well as the one on Tuesday, was very successful. A very large number joined the excursion party at Lakeside, and the Cruise and Fairy and their crew had all they could carry. The outing appeared to be thoroughly enjoyed by the excursionists.

An Annual Event.
The Forester's excursion is one of the events of the season each year, and this time the two Comets, Peterborough and "Little John," have combined in arranging for an excursion that cannot fail to be a success, and will probably be much in advance of former years. The excursion will take place over the Midland Railway to Lake Couchiching and Orillia on next Thursday, August 30th. A special train of first-class coaches will leave the Peterborough station at 7:30 o'clock, a.m., call at Fessville and Millbrook, and arrive at Couchiching at 11 a.m. Returning the train will leave Orillia at 5:30 p.m. Couchiching Park is a very popular picnic ground, and no one should miss this excellent opportunity to visit this far-famed summer resort and the thriving town of Orillia. Games, sports, and dancing will be provided for, the Fire Brigade Band will be present, and the committee will do their utmost to provide for the pleasure and comfort of those attending. Tickets for round trip, good for three days, $1.

In the Northwest.
Mr. John Braden has received a letter from his brother, Mr. T. B. Braden, a teacher in the Central School, who went to the Northwest. The letter is dated at Calgary, N. W. T., on August 3rd. Mr. Braden has entered into partnership with Mr. A. W. Armes, formerly of Toronto, and they will establish a newspaper at that point in the far west. The following is an extract from the letter:—

"Calgary seems destined to be a pretty large place, and one of the prettiest I have ever seen. It is beautifully situated at the junction of the Elbow and Bow rivers, both of which are clear and pure. There are about 10,000 acres of rich bottom land, enclosed by high hills and occupied by large ranches, some of them containing from 10,000 to 15,000 head of cattle and horses. This place is to be the base of the railway operations until they get through the Rocky Mountains. Gold and silver ore and coal are being found, and it opened up it will be a good thing for this part of the country. The Canada Pacific Railway will be here in about a week. The price of everything is high, including board, which is $10 a week in a tent. That, however, will soon be down. Flour was $15 per 100 pounds a month ago, and now it is down to $6, and will be about $4 when the road is in. Eggs are $2 per dozen, and milk 50 cents a gallon."

A. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING

A SUCCESSFUL COMMENCEMENT OF THE REGATTA, AND A GRAND PARADE.

Some Close Contests and Good Sailing and Paddling—Crowds of Spectators—Amusing Incidents.

A. C. A. CAMP, STONY LAKE, Aug. 21.—There was a glorious day for the opening of the regatta. All the members and others camped at the lake turned out, and both steamers arrived, one towing a scow, and all crowded with passengers.

Immediately after lunch there was a grand parade of all the association canoes that could be collected, numbering over seventy. They formed in three divisions, single bladed paddles, double-bladed paddles, and open canoes with two paddles. They formed in divisions, then advanced under paddle, and as they passed the main camp wheeled into line facing it. After three cheers for the A. C. A. and a general salute, they again advanced in divisions to the ladies' camp and saluted. The sailors then returned under sail, the others following under paddle, to the main camp, where they closed up to be photographed. Being then dismissed they proceeded to the course.

PADDLING SINGLE CANOES UNDER 16 FT.
1 Jas. Adams.....Peterborough
2 A Blade.....Peterborough
3 J. Weller.....Cobourg
4 B. Baldwin.....Ottawa
5 Dr. Douglas.....Toronto.

There were eleven entries and ten starters, three single blades and seven double. At the turning buoy two of the singles were ahead. The three single blades were leading, Adams winning easily without any spurt at the finish. The winner made the distance in 11½ minutes and the first double in 13½. Dr. Douglas was in his folding canvas canoe.

SAILING RACE FOR NOVICES.
1 R. W. Gibson, M. C. C.....Snake
2 J. E. Hawkins, P. B. C.....Vic
3 Morgan Cottingham, P. B. C.....Horicon
There were nine starters with a fresh breeze, the course from Otter Island round Robinson's Rock and Bare Island, the turning point, first, Hawkins in the Vic being second and Captain Andros in the Fairy third. The Snake won the prize for the Mohicans coming in far ahead in 20 minutes. The Vic and the Horicon, Peterborough canoes were second and third.

SINGLE PADDLING RACE.
1 M. F. Johnston.....T. C. C.
2 J. Weller.....Cobourg
3 G. A. Strickland.....L. C. C.
This was limited to seventeen feet canoes. There were six starters, two double blades and four single. The finish between Johnston with the double blade and Weller with the single was very close and exciting.

SAILING RACE HEAVY CANOES.
1 R. W. Gibson, M. C. C.....Snake
2 W. Whitlock, N. Y. C.....Dot
3 H. L. Willoughby, Saratoga.....Jean
4 J. E. Hawkins, P. B. C.....Vic
There were seven starters for this race, which was the first after lunch. The Snake won in the same gallant style as before, Whitlock in the Dot being a good second, but capsize just beyond the winning post.

SAILING RACE—LIGHT CANOES.
1 G. K. Munroe, N. Y. C.....Ripple
2 E. W. West, L. C. C.....Bawkeye
3 F. A. Nickerson, S. C. C.....Giroda
There were seven entries for this race, which was started five minutes after the heavy canoes on the same course. The two squadrons of seven each presented a very handsome appearance. Gen. Oliver was ahead, but lost his first place by a mistake as to the winning point. West capsize, but pluckily righted himself and came past the winning flag in good style.

COMBINED SAILING AND PADDLING.
1 R. W. Gibson, M. C. C.....Snake
2 R. W. Baldwin, O. C. C.....Muriel
3 F. A. Nickerson, S. C. C.....Giroda
There were six starters for this race, which was for a mile under paddle and another under sail. Willoughby broke his tiller line soon after the start, and consequently lost his chance. In the paddling the order was Nickerson, Munroe, Gibson, Fernow and Baldwin. As each passed the flag at short intervals they hoisted sail, ending in the above order.

This closed the afternoon's proceedings.
A. C. A. CAMP, Aug. 22.—Last evening there was a grand parade of canoes lighted with Chinese and other lanterns. The effect as they manoeuvred was beautiful and charmed all beholders. After various evolutions they massed together and there was some excellent singing.

Among the additional arrivals from the States are Messrs. J. H. Rushton, Canton, N. Y.; W. B. Graves, East Orange, N. J.; R. K. Wing, Brooklyn, N. Y., and S. S. McClure, Boston, Mass.

From other points of Canada, besides a number of local members, are Messrs. S. Irwin, Dr. Coulter, and H. B. Dean, of the Lindsay C. C.; W. Boyd, Bobsaygeon; W. J. Robertson and J. T. Henwood, Port Hope.

Champagne Cider.
The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in kegs expressly for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.
Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

The Cells.
The cells were unoccupied last night, and there was a blank at the Police Court this morning.

The Band.
The Fire Brigade Band went to Stony Lake this morning.

Oscar Wilde's Play.
Oscar Wilde's new play, Vera, attracted an immense crowd at the Union Square Theatre, New York. The morning papers nearly all say the play is not a dramatic success, but praise the acting of Miss Prescott, for whom it was written. Oscar Wilde considers Vera a success. He says he has another play ready. It is in blank verse and prose mixed.

A Blaze in the West.
The reflection of a blaze a few miles west of the town, which was seen at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, gave rise to much speculation and many rumors. We understand the fire was in a fallow.

PORT HOPE.
ACCIDENT.—The Guide says that T. Doyle, of Meaford, Ont., freight conductor, met with an accident at the G. T. R. station on Tuesday morning. While trying to board a train he slipped and fell. Several of his ribs were broken, and he also received a number of scalp wounds on the head, and bruises on other parts of the body.

Over the Ocean on Wheels.
A dispatch from London, dated July 29, says that Terry, the man who left Dover at 9 o'clock yesterday morning on a floating tricycle, crossed the English Channel and arrived safely at Calais at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. His machine was a tricycle of two side wheels of large diameter and one steering wheel of similar diameter, each of them buoyant by a hollow composition of water-tight material. The propelling power was his own legs, the larger wheels being furnished with paddles at proper distances on their peripheries.

Northwest Mineral Deposits.
Mr. Frank McDougall, son of Hon. William McDougall, has just returned from the Rocky Mountains. Mr. McDougall speaks highly of the mineral deposits around Calgary, and says that there is considerable excitement there in consequence. All the talk in the neighbourhood of Calgary is about mines, and every one who can scrape enough together to buy a horse and saddle and mining outfit is out prospecting. Mr. McDougall has been prospecting with Mr. J. C. Brennan, of Ottawa, and both gentlemen are well satisfied with what they have seen. Silver deposits have been found in numerous places, and they are said to be much richer than any similar deposits around Lake Superior, Silver Islet excepted. The whole country is being flocked over by Englishmen, Canadians, and Americans. Many Englishmen who arrived in the Fort McLeod and Calgary districts with the intention of ranching have given up that idea, and are now out prospecting. In addition to silver gold has been found, and startling news may be expected at any time from that section of the Northwest.

Convincing Proof.
Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arnica and Oil Liniment. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1883.

A Dog Takes a Trip Over the Falls.

Mr. G. Chorman has had in his possession for some time a dog, which, although by no means vicious, had become addicted to barking at teams and pedestrians as they passed along the street, much to the annoyance of the owner, who had tried to break him of the habit. Failing in his teachings Mr. Chorman decided to put the dog out of the way, and thinking a trip over the falls the most effective, proceeded early Sunday morning, with the assistance of one of his employees, to drop him into the river from the centre of Goat Island bridge.
Bidding good-bye to his dog as he floated down the rapids, he returned home; but doggy would not leave in that way. During the afternoon a stranger, walking across the new suspension bridge, observed a dog under the bank, and noted the gate-keeper at the American end of the bridge, who, with a well recognized dog, and, knowing that he had been sent over the falls, notified Mr. Chorman that the dog was below the bank. Later in the day Mr. Chor-man went down the inclined railway, but could not find the animal; but early the next morning his son went down and soon discovered the dog, who seemed as frisk as though nothing had happened. All at once the dog had become the hero of the hour, and will now be allowed to remain and live out the full measure of his days.

Feats of the Lightning.

SHELBURNE, Aug. 22.—Robert Little, of Mono, while unloading grain in the barn of Jas.
Buchanan, near Primrose, was instantly killed
this morning during the prevalence of a sharp thunder storm. Buchanan, who was with him, escaped uninjured. Although the load of grain got on fire it was extinguished. The lightning also struck the yard of the school house here while a large number of children were at play, but fortunately did no harm.

Thousands Say so.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes:
"I have been to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints, purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

THE MISSING "LUDWIG."

All Hopes of Her Safe Arrival in Port Abandoned.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—Interest has been revived here in the case of the missing White Star line steamship Ludwig, by the arrival of the sister ship, Helvetia, of the same line, at this port yesterday. Captain Smith, the commander, reports that nothing has been seen or heard of the Ludwig, though, of course, following her back as the Helvetia has done, they were on the look-out for her. The Helvetia had a very dangerous passage, which the captain gives the following particulars:—"The Helvetia started on the 5th inst., and but for a delay at New York on her previous voyage, could have sailed five days earlier. Up to the 11th instant she encountered heavy gales. On the 12th and 13th the weather moderated and became foggy. At 10 p. m. on the 14th, the water was found to be 10 degrees. On the morning of the 15th inst., when between 150 and 200 miles from the Straits of Belle Isle, icebergs were noticed, and the order given to shut off steam. Moving on slowly they found themselves surrounded by icebergs, which were successfully avoided. The 17th was marked by changeable winds. On the 19th the ship arrived at Quebec.
The captain stated that it was the first time in his knowledge that icebergs had been met so far from shore, and that they were, so he thought, was due to the strong westerly winds. When asked about the steamship Ludwig, Captain Smith was not hopeful, and from his replies it was gathered that in his opinion the overdue vessel will never reach port. Notwithstanding the bad weather and icebergs the Helvetia made the passage in 17 days, whereas the Ludwig, which sailed from Antwerp on the 2nd ult., has not been out fifty-one days. The passengers, 26 in number, were, with one exception, farmers and labourers with their families. The exception is the brilliant young violinist Emile Hone, a native of Montreal, and a musician whose career was regarded as promising.

An experienced ship agent stated to your reporter to-day that the case of the Ludwig was absolutely hopeless, and has been so for two weeks past. There is no conceivable theory which could account for long absence without having been once seen or heard of. No vessel could either be on the north or south track for such a length of time, nor have drifted or run to any conceivable port from either band, without having been sighted. She is beyond all doubt lost. The vessel was a favourite one with cattle shippers, having two flush decks full length and being thoroughly ventilated.
Funch, Elze & Co., of South William street,
New York, the agents of the steamship Ludwig, have given up the vessel as lost. She had 26 immigrants on board, but she carried no cabin passengers. Her crew numbered about 30 men and was under command of Capt. Kiel, an experienced navigator, who had been many years in the North Atlantic trade. The Ludwig was originally built for the North German Lloyd, but she was subsequently sold to people in England. She was a strongly built vessel, and made about thirteen miles an hour in good weather.
She measured 3,087 tons gross and 1,975 tons
net. Her dimensions were:—Length, 346 feet; breadth of beam, 42 feet; and depth of hold, 33 feet. She was built at Card's yard, on the Clyde.—Globe.

CAMPBELLFORD.

FATAL SCALDING ACCIDENT.—The Herald says that a scalding accident occurred at Burn-brae to a little child of Mr. Peter Donald's on Saturday which resulted fatally. The little one had been taken to the Burnbrae school house which was being cleaned and renovated for the opening of school, and while attention was called to other things, reached a pail of hot water used for scrubbing the floor, and this it overturned, receiving the burning contents. Dr. Byam was summoned, but the child was beyond human aid, and died Sunday morning, as much the victim of fright. Dr. Byam says, as of the accident itself, Mr. Donald should have appreciable sympathy, as this is the fifth affliction within a short space of time.

A DANGEROUS BRIDGE.—If one or all of the members of the Seymour council will examine the bridge at the Narrows, he or they must come to the conclusion that it is not by any means a safe structure. We have no fault to find with the bridge itself, but the means employed to stay it is indeed a very rude piece of mechanism. The bridge is a swing structure, made to admit the passage of a steamer, and as such it should be securely fastened to the abutments at the two approaches by lock and key.
Instead of this, we are told there is a staple into which is passed a small wooden bolt. When a team steps upon the bridge, there is a movement caused which acts upon the bolt and sometimes forces it out of its place, and back again just according as the moving weight is going towards or from it. The force of the wind sometimes has the same effect. The bolt must seem safe enough at first glance, but it will not bear inspection. Unless it is removed and something better substituted, the bridge may at some time swing open, and some unfortunate driver moving through the darkness will plunge into the river.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BURNED BY LIGHTNING.—During the violent thunderstorm which passed over this place on Wednesday night about ten o'clock, the two barns on the Finnis farm occupied by Enoch Crunk, were struck by lightning and completely destroyed, with all its summer crop except a little spring grain and all his far impementary except his reaper, which was fortunately in the field where he had been using it. He estimates his loss at somewhere about $1,200. He had about 12 tons of hay, 100 bushels of wheat, 100 bushels of rye, 200 bushels of barley, lumber wagon, cutter, hoggy, double and single harrow, horse rake, steel plough, fanning mill, babsleighs and 20 or 25 bushels of old corn. The fire spread so rapidly that he found it impossible to save some of his impementary near the barn, although he was only about ten minutes after it was struck, the whole went like tinder, the heat was intense. The contents of the barn were insured in the Royal for $1,650.

EXAMINATIONS.—Out of twenty-nine pupils of the Norwood High School who wrote for intermediate and third-class certificates twenty-seven were successful. In mental arithmetic seven took 100 each, while in history two took 100 and 99 each respectively. This result speaks well for Messrs. Davidson and Jackson.
Honor to whom honor is due.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.—A ladies' aid society has recently been organized in connection with the Methodist Church here.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. W. McGreave is recovering from her late illness. Mr. Davidson, M. A., Principal of the Norwood High School, has returned again to his field of labour. He feels delighted over the result of the recent examinations and deserves credit for the proficiency he has shown in teaching.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

MR. SHAW'S CASE.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—It is reported that France has informed Great Britain that Shaw, the British missionary in Madagascar, was arrested as a dignitary of Hova. The French Government charge that he incited the Hovas to resistance. Mr. Gladstone stated in the Commons this afternoon that the French ambassador had given assurances that Mr. Shaw would have every facility for conducting his defence, and that France would do her utmost to close the incident.

A SCARE AT CANTON.

HONG KONG, Aug. 23.—A European tide waiter at Canton, in an altercation recently with Coolies, shot and killed a boy and wounded two men. He was arrested and awaits trial. The outrage exasperated the populace, already greatly excited by the action of the French in Tonquin. Picards were posted on the walls of the city on Wednesday summoning the people to rise and slaughter the barbarians. The Europeans became greatly alarmed, and the British Consul sent an appeal to the British commodore for protection. The British sloop of war Swift has left Hong Kong for Canton.

RIOTS RENEWED.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The rioting between Catholics and Orangemen was renewed near Conbridge last night. The police checked the disturbance and made twenty-four arrests.

ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Government has acquired the territory of Kitam, adjoining Sherbro, West Africa.

TROOPS FOR ZULULAND.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—It is reported that a battalion of British troops have been ordered to Zululand.

ANNEXATION.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 23.—Ten colonies have accepted the invitation to attend a conference here to discuss the question of the annexation of New Guinea and other islands of the Pacific.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Times, commenting on a recent article in the Berlin North German Gazette referring to the attacks of French journals on Germany, and declaring France alone threatens the peace of Europe, says the irritation shown by the Gazette cannot be explained by the reason assigned, as the French press has been very moderate in regard to Germany. The article is rather an expression of general impatience at the conduct of the French, and ought to convince them that their expeditions in various parts of the world do not add to their influence in Europe. The Gazette article has startled Paris, alarmed Europe, and caused prices on the bourses of Paris, Vienna and Berlin to fall. The press everywhere expresses surprise at the Gazette's attack, and considerable exertion is being made to repel the charge, and intimate that France is better prepared to say that Bismarck is seeking a pretext for a quarrel, or for the imposition of fresh army burdens. The Austrian press ask if the article means war. English journals think the warning overdone, and the cause of it insufficient.

CORBUC.

FIRE.—The World says that on Tuesday about noon, the residence of Mr. John Gormley, blacksmith, at Hull's Corners, was burned to the ground, the fire being occasioned by a defect in the flue. The brigade was called out, but the distance was too great for them to be in time to save the building. The Methodist church in that locality, immediately opposite the burning house, was in great danger, and was saved only by considerable exertion. Mr. Gormley had an insurance of $400 in the Phoenix of England, of which Mr. W. Smith is agent.

FIRE BY LIGHTNING.—The old mill, known as Perkins' mill, on the Fowler farm, four miles east of Corbuc, was fired by lightning during the storm on Wednesday night, and destroyed. The Corbuc Fire Brigade was called out, but found the distance too great for their services to be of any avail. The mill belonged to the Trust & Loan Company, and was rented as a barn and storehouse by Mr. William Pollock, who had an insurance of $200 on contents in the British America (S. B. Howell, agent).
The building was insured by its owners for $500 dollars in the Royal, (Mr. D. McNaughton, agent).

FIRE IN HALDIMAND.—On Saturday morning, the barn belonging to Mr. D. Pettett, near Ver-nonville, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. We regret to say that Mr. Broomefield, Jr., who was in occupation of the barn, in company with Mr. J. Johnson, lost the product of 18 acres of wheat, and a quantity of barley.
He was not insured; and this loss, following the robbery of money, supposed to be by his hired man, and chronicled in the Counties News, falls very heavily upon him. There is deep and general regret at his misfortune.

RETHBY.

BARN BURNED.—A frame barn about nine entirely consumed. Loss, about $2,000; no insurance.

Death from a Spider's Bite.

A singular case was reported yesterday of a fatal bite received from a spider. Mr. L. E.
Taylor was a Union Pacific conductor, running between Omaha and Grand Island. He had but recently taken his run, having come out from the East, and on Sunday night a spider bit him on the right side of the upper lip. The bite made him sick from the first, but he took his regular run out once during the week and then was taken to his bed at the Grand Pacific, where he died at 5.30 a. m. yesterday. The deceased was a member of Division No. 26 of the Yardmaster's Mutual Aid Association, and his funeral will be in their charge, the remains being temporarily laid out at Undertaker Jacob's. It is believed that he was a member of the Masonic fraternity, and a despatch has been sent to his wife, who is still in the East, to inform her where in regard to the disposal of the body.—Omaha (Neb.) Bee August 11.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you distressed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.
Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, relieves inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists and grocers throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

THE C. P. R.

Down the Spanish River to Algoma Mills with the C. P. R.

A special correspondent of the Montreal Star writes as follows:—

The C. P. R. own two steamers which run between the "Depot" on the Spanish River and Algoma Mills. One is an ordinary small tug and the other a handsome river steamer with good accommodation for short trips. Both are used to bring supplies from Algoma Mills to the head of navigation on the Spanish River, whence they are taken by teams to the various camps on the construction line. Lumber, provisions, clothes, fodder, cattle, horses, carts, pickaxe, shovels, wheelbarrows, powder, and all that is necessary for building the line are landed at the spacious stores there to await transportation inland to various points of destination on the way. The rapids which cross the barriers of the stream a little higher up are about as large as any of the chutes at the Sturgeon, and they bar navigation to everything except bark or Peterborough canoes. The "Depot" is thus made the distributing point for the construction line all the way to Sudbury Junction or rather now to the Vermilion crossing, where the jurisdiction of Mr. Abbott ends and that of Mr. Worthington begins. Westward, however, there are more facilities for bringing up supplies. Here the line runs parallel to the Spanish River, and small depots have been established at intervals all along the water side. At these depots the two steamers land their cargoes, and it is but a short distance from the different landings to the construction line. This is considered a great advantage by railway men, many of whom think the question of feeding the men and carrying in the supplies sometimes more serious than spanning a river or bridging a chasm. The navigation is easy, the river being free from shoals and snags, while green timber lines it, on both sides to the water's edge. Along the margin of the stream there are at places, ranges of irregular rocks, conical, table and undulating, and it is to avoid these that the railway line is laid at a little distance from the shore. There are I think between 1,500 and 2,000 men working on Mr. Abbott's portion of the C. P. R. Unlike the men at the other end of the line they all boarded by the company, and those in authority appear to think that this system secures better food and better accommodation for all. Contentment, that parent of delight, appears to be general, and it is only fair to add that the men speak in terms of generous praise of the gentleman who is entrusted with authority. But the land through which the railway runs is poor. It is nearly all marsh or rock. I only walked over a small part of it, but no attempt is made to conceal the barren nature of the soil, all along the line. It is a wilderness of boulders, turf and evergreens. A closer view of the margin of the river, however, I saw some fair land. Alluvial deposits have mixed with the sand, and at places give evidence of nutrient and warmth. There is, too, a flourishing settlement on the north side of the stream, and I saw potatoes well advanced and other crops healthy. On the south side we passed an Indian reserve where "Yellow Thunder" lords it over his swarthy tribe. I saw some of them at one of the landings.

LITTLE DETROIT AND WINDSOR.

We soon left the Indian reserve and the river widened into the north channel of the Georgian Bay where we were soon ploughing through a gentle well which rocked us in the cradle of deeper and more picturesque waters. I then heard that we were to stop at Little Detroit, and we headed for some narrow where even so small a steamer as the Edipus could hardly turn with safety. On one side of the narrow was a store and on the other side there was a shanty and no store and that was Windsor. People say that there are 90 fathoms of water in that narrow gut, which we soon left and stopped at the Spanish Mills a little further on. Here barges flying English and American flags attracted our attention, and I was told that the mills belonged to an American firm whose timber we saw scattered over the river higher up the stream. There was a dock made out of refuse boards from the mill and which appeared to be loosely piled on each other, but which had withstood the wind and weather of the bay for many a year. Returning through the narrow channel we once more passed Little Detroit and Windsor, and we were soon treading our way through the rocky groups of the North Channel. Excuse an odd gull there was not a bird to be seen, and all the way from the "Depot" to Algoma Mills we only passed one boat with an Indian doctor and a sick child on board. Rocks of all sizes and all shapes stand firm, cold and weird looking, out of the water, and the spray dashed up their slippery sides and frothed and foamed in caves which they had eaten with their fury. The wind rose a little and the Edipus rocked while the waves leaping at her weather bow made her rise with each succeeding wash and dash of the sea like a boxer warding off a blow; and still wriggle through the islands which here are as thick as plums in a pudding.

IN THE NORTH CHANNEL.

The North Channel is the Thousand Islands on a larger scale, and while it has some of the charms which comes from a close inspection yet it gains in magnitude and depth and greater volume. More than 27,000 islands, large and small, dot the waters of the bay between Collingwood and Sault Ste. Marie, and at places where they narrow, there is a variety and beauty of outline equal to the most attractive spots on the far famed islands of the St. Lawrence. At some places there are sharp pinnacles like the spires of the Alps, and at others denudation has broken the granular rock into "tors" such as may be seen on the coast of Cornwall or Devon. The rounded hills are scantily clad with vegetation, and a close inspection of the stone shows where the quartz has filled up the space between the crystals of felspar and of mud and left impressions of these minerals on tone. Beautiful fossils are found embedded ded in a limestone quarry which has been discovered on an island in the bay. They are found in masses as at Saarbeck, and some interesting remains may be dug from the stone. To our left the great Manitoulin Island looms through a somewhat misty atmosphere, and at 5 o'clock that evening we saw Algoma Mills ahead.

ALGOMA MILLS.

This is town in these parts. There are eight or ten houses, including stores, a handsome cottage for the use of Mr. Abbott, a C.P.R. workshop, a dock and wharf, and a railroad track. We are now at the other end of the iron. This is to be the present terminus of the branch line of the C.P.R. There are two docks to be built, a large hotel and a grain elevator put up, and these will give Algoma Mills an importance not possessed by any place in the region. Whether the C.P.R. will be continued to the Saginaw or not, no one seems to know. The company own 400 acres about the Mills, and the iron is laid about 25 or thirty miles along the road from here to Sudbury Junction. There is yet about 100 miles of iron to lay before the branch to Algoma is completed, and it is confidently expected that all that will be done in the boats running from Algoma Mills to Thunder Bay in May next. A walk along the track showed how well the ballasting had been done, when suddenly snakes ran across my path and made me experience the horrors of which De Quincy spoke when recording the visions of his opiated dreams. But the reptiles are harmless. There are no rattlers here, and there is no evidence of anyone ever having been poisoned by a bite from a serpent. They are numerous but harmless. After a while one can even come to like to see them gracefully raise the body into arches and glide over the ground. The thing is as incredible of doing harm as I can. I can understand a man sleeping about when he sees a Naja in India, a crotalus in Carolina, or hears a rattler on the plains, but these little things out here are as harmless as worms. Returning to town, I see the men lounging on the wharf, and learn that some are coming to and some are going from the woods. A band of Italians headed by a bagpiper who was droning out something with no melody and but little of the harmony of art. They have come from the States and are going up the line. Not one of them can speak a word of English and they regulate wildly as they pass along. Meanwhile the shadows grow longer, while flies get troublesome, and rather than to apply more tar to keep them off I seek my room, smoke a pipe and think of—to-morrow.

Not Such a Fool.

BUFFALO, Aug. 22.—Julius Behling, of Bradford, who was announced to jump from Kinross viaduct, writes his mother, who lives here, that he is not with a fool, and will not make the attempt. Mrs. Behling and Julius' sister said they were very anxious about it until they received the letter, which was shown the Globe correspondent. Miss Behling is very pretty, and her large blue eyes sparkled with delight when she said she was so glad her brother had abandoned the foolhardy undertaking.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Smith's Market.
Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

Stolen.
One of the Rochester canoeists had a fine overcoat and a pair of paddles stolen from his boat at the Midland station to-day. They were in an open box car and may have been taken in mistake.

Returning.
The campers who have been enjoying the open air and free life at Stony Lake are beginning to return. A number came down last night, the train bringing a large number of canoeists, and more came to-day.

The Weather.
The weather to-day is fine, with a cool breeze. The weather probabilities for this district as issued from the Toronto Meteorological office at one o'clock this morning, for twenty-four hours, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, mostly west and south-west. Fine weather; stationary or higher temperature.

Change of Time.
A new time table has gone into effect on the Grand Junction division of the Midland Railway. The trains now leave here at 6.30 o'clock a. m., and 3.30 p. m., arriving in Belleville at 10.30 a. m., and 7.25 p. m. The trains leave Belleville at 7.20 a. m., and 4.10 p. m., arriving here at 11.40 a. m., and 8.25 p. m. Surely the Belleville people can no longer complain that the Midland "discriminates" against that city.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.
The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

A "Tough" Settlement.
The Ontario calls Belleville a moral city, and neighbouring towns "tough places." But others do not see the matter in the same light. The Kingston News, speaking of the contemplated attack by Captain Abbie, of the Salvation Army, upon that city, says:—
"If she knew Belleville as well as some people she would probably await reinforcements before laying siege to that tough settlement."

The Ontario and News now seem to be aware that there are such things as "tough places" and "tough settlements," and their readers know that there are "tough" jokes also.

The Belleville Excursion.
The most attractive excursion of the season seems to be the one now announced for Wednesday, Sept. 5th, to the City of Belleville. Besides the opportunity it will afford to attend the first conference of the United Methodist Church, there are many features of very great interest in and about that beautiful city. A grand lacrosse tournament will at that time be witnessed by many of the visitors, in which the Ocas, of Belleville, will play with the Maple Leafs, of Kingston, as well as the club from this and several other neighbouring towns. The comfort and enjoyment of the party are assured, and we expect to see a large representation of our town on the excursion.

Pencil Points.
—Sunshine.
—Cool breeze to-day.
—The police cells were empty last night.
—A blank record at the Police Court this morning.
—A meeting of the Town Council will probably be held on Monday evening.
—A. C. A. badges and canoe club uniforms were numerous on the streets to-day.
—The Grand Junction train was a few minutes behind time at noon, and the Midland train was over half an hour late.
—A meeting of the Lacrosse Club will be held this evening at the usual place and usual hour.
—Meetings of the Finance Committee and the Fire, Water and Gas Committees of the Town Council will be held this evening.
—The train with the Midland employees' excursion party will leave the station at 7.30 o'clock to-morrow morning.
—The Norwood Register's opinion of the recent lacrosse tournament is that it was a "brilliant success."
—A Rochester party, returning from the American Canoe Association camp, were at the Oriental Hotel last night. Mr. R. J. Wicksted, of one of the Government Departments, Ottawa, is among those registered at that hotel to-day.

THE PROVINCIAL PLOUGHING MATCH.

The Prize List—The Rules that will Govern the Match—Date of the Contest.

Mr. J. B. Aylesworth, of Newburgh, visited Peterborough on Thursday, and in conjunction with Mr. Moloney, Warden, and Mr. Carnegie, visited several fields with the view of obtaining a suitable one for the holding of a Provincial ploughing match in this neighborhood this fall, and from which a selection will be made at an early date. The same gentlemen also agreed upon the following as the list of prizes to be offered at the match, and the rules which are to govern the same, viz:—

PRIZE LIST.

CLASS 1.—All Corners Match, any plough: 1st prize, $30; 2nd $20; 3rd $10.

CLASS 2.—Open to ploughmen under 21 years of age, with any plough: 1st prize, $25; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $15; 4th, $10; and 5th, $5.

CLASS 3.—Open to ploughmen under 18 years of age, with any plough: 1st prize, $25; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $15; 4th, $10, and 5th, $5.

CLASS 4.—Open only to ploughmen under 20 years of age, with No. 40, or other similar ploughs: 1st prize $15; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $8, 4th, $4; and 5th, $2.

All the prizes are payable in cash.

The following rules were adopted:—

1. Depth of furrow to be not less than six inches.

2. Time, at the rate of an acre in fifteen hours.

3. No person shall interfere or communicate with, or assist the ploughmen, except in setting his stakes.

4. No person except the Committee or the judges shall go upon the land ploughed or to be ploughed, until the prizes are awarded.

5. Tickets for ground to be drawn at 9.30 o'clock. Ploughing to commence at 10 o'clock sharp.

6. Entries may be made with the Secretary on the ground up to nine o'clock of the morning of the match, but it is particularly requested that intending competitors make their entries (by letter or otherwise) with the Secretary in Peterborough previous to that day.

7. All ploughmen residing within the counties of Durham, Victoria, Northumberland, Peterborough, Prince Edward, Hastings, Lennox and Addington, are eligible to compete at this match free.

8. On finishing the ploughmen will place their numbered stake in the centre of their land, and forthwith report to the Secretary.

It was also decided that the match should take place on Thursday, the 18th October, next. Mr. Carnegie will discharge the duties of Secretary. The prize list will be issued as soon as the field in which the match is to take place has been finally decided upon.

Champagne Cider.

The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in kegs expressly for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.

Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

Rebuilding.

The work of rebuilding the buildings on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, which were destroyed by fire on the morning of Friday, the 17th, has been commenced. The blacksmith shop will be larger, and the marble factory much the same as before the fire. The cabinet factory will be greatly enlarged, as the front part of the building will be three stories high, with a mansard roof, and an addition of thirty-six feet, two stories high, will be built to the rear of it. This will give Mr. Comstock increased room and better facilities.

Railway Notes.

Passengers going to Toronto by the Midland route have to change cars at Wick now, as the train from Midland goes through to Toronto.

The Port Hope Times says that among a number of new machines recently brought from other shops on the Midland Railway to the one in this town is a large and powerful steam-hammer, which is capable of striking a blow of several tons. Some heavy pieces of iron were shown us which had been beaten out by a couple of blows to an extent which would have required the exertions of two strikers at least fifteen or twenty minutes.

The same paper says that on Saturday evening, in shunting cars around in the Midland yard, the brake on one of the cars was defective and not sufficiently strong, and the consequence was that a couple of cars went through the Midland elevator, smashing the doors in their progress, and ran against the northern door of Mr. King's elevator, breaking it also. An investigation will be held by the railway authorities.

The Mail says that a meeting of the directors of the Ontario and Quebec Railway was held on Wednesday afternoon for the discussion of ordinary business matters. A meeting for the ratification of the agreement with the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway will be held on the 12th of September. The workshops of the railway will soon be in course of construction, the only drawback now being the grading of the road as far as Yorkville. This will be necessary in order to admit of the heavy hauling of stone, etc., required for construction.

A Terrible Epidemic.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 23.—The Mexican journals say the black smallpox prevails with great mortality in the towns of Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz. In the State of Jalisco yellow fever, smallpox, and typhoid fever are prevalent. Three out of five cases are fatal. The black smallpox and typhoid are prevalent in Guatemala. The mortality is great, principally among the foreigners in San Dionisio. In Oaxaca there were 100 deaths from cholera from July, and at Vera Cruz during the same period the mortality was 477, principally foreigners, residents, or travellers, and a few unaccustomed Mexicans. At Cienfuegos, Cuba, for the week ending August 18th, it was reported that several cases of yellow fever existed, and that the city was in a bad sanitary condition. At Matanzas, Cuba, there are a few cases of yellow fever and one or two of smallpox, but the disease is not epidemic.

FROM WOOD AND FIELD.

Rare odors float through wood and field, And to the dawn their fragrance yield;

Borne from the woodbine's waxy cells, The honeysuckle's soundless bells;

The intricate foliage of the vines Where morning's earliest dew-drops shine;

The moisture lingering o'er the thorn, The ribbons of the ripening corn;

The wheat where wanton shadows play, The healthful incense of the hay;

The aromatic pines that spill Their resinous perfumes o'er the hill;

The feathery ferns by lake and ledge, The wild, wet grass, the silvery sedge;

The light leaves half inclined to press Their bitter bark in tenderness;

The green boughs, as they softly brush The breast of mocking-bird and thrush;

The honey of the wild bee's home, Shrouded in the cloister of the comb;

All these the heart of Nature holds, And to the morning wind unfolds.

—William H. Hayne.

A Grievance on a Tombstone.

A gravesite in the East Hartford Cemetery bears this inscription:—"Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Hannah Smith, second wife of Deacon Moses Smith. She departed this life May 24th 1799, in 58th year of her age. Deacon Smith's executors kept all her property and refused to pay any of her funeral charges, even the sexton's bill. This monument was erected by the friends of the deceased."—Hartford (Conn.) Post.

Oil Works on Fire.

HUNTER'S POINT, L. I., Aug. 22.—A fire broke out shortly after eleven o'clock in the packing shop of the Empire oil works, Long Island City. The shop is brick, 250 feet by 700 feet. Over 100 men and boys were employed, and the wildest excitement prevailed.

The shop was soon a mass of flames. The tin shop, 175 feet by 250 feet, next caught, followed by the barrel shop. The fire spread to one of the largest agitators in the yard, containing 505 barrels. The Brooklyn fire department sent several engines, but the flames spread. The Howe lard oil works are in great danger. Patrick Cooney is very badly burned, and three others are injured by a falling wall. The fire is believed to have been caused by a workman accidentally dropping a hot cinder in an oil can. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Machinery worth $400,000 was destroyed.

Filling Sawdust.

Numerous methods have been devised to utilize sawdust, thousands of cords of which are annually consigned to the flames for the purpose of getting rid of it. Compressing machines have been invented to press it into solid substances for use as fuel, and for other purposes, and the inventive genius of the country is still engaged in the attempted solution of the problem, "what shall be done with the sawdust?" A new idea has lately materialized, according to an exchange, which says: "Fine sawdust, highly compressed, has been successfully used to make up center frames of carriage wheels. It is said to be so solid that it will bear a pressure equal to 23 tons per square inch. As sawdust has also been used for partition and bricks, its application to the production of complex carvings and mouldings does not seem to be far off. This opens up quite a new market for sawdust, which has hitherto been a comparatively waste product."

A. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING

THE CONCLUSION OF THE ANNUAL CAMP WITHOUT A DRAWBACK.

The End of the Regatta—Presentation of Prizes—The Camp, Breaking up—A Most Successful Meeting.

A. C. A. CAMP, STONY LAKE, Aug. 23.—There was a fine day for the conclusion of the regatta, a bright sky and a fresh breeze.

PADDLING—16 FEET, 30 INCHES. 1st, M. F. Johnston. 2nd, J. M. Adams. 3rd, J. L. Weller.

There were five starters, three with double blades and two with single. A double blade was first by some distance and next came two single blades.

PORTAGE RACE. 1st, G. W. R. Strickland. 2nd, R. C. Strickland. 3rd, R. W. Baldwin.

The race was under paddle from Juniper Island to Bear Island, portage across it and then sail back to starting point. There were four starters, two single and two double blades.

George Strickland was the first to land with his dugout, and Roland Strickland second with his open basswood canoe. They appeared round the point in the same order.

PADDLING RACE TWO MEN. 1st, G. Fitzgerald and A. Hage. 2nd, J. M. Adams and J. L. Weller. 3rd, G. W. and R. C. Strickland. 4th, John W. Edwards and R. T. Strickland.

There were six starters who got off very fairly. The pace was very good the canoes came in, with little interval, in the order named. A protest was lodged by the second canoe against the first for fouling at the buoy.

PADDLING SINGLE CANOE. 1st, J. M. Adams. 2nd, Dr. Douglas. 3rd, J. L. Weller.

There were four entries, one double blade and the rest single. A. Strickland broke his paddle early in the race, and had to wait for another, which was thrown him. Dr. Douglas in a heavy boat was a fair second, and Weller was close behind him.

PADDLING CANOES UNDER 16 FT. 1st, J. L. Weller. 2nd, A. Lowenthal.

There were only two entries for this race, one single and one double blade. The single blade came in a little ahead.

UPSET RACE, CLOSE CANOES. 1st, M. F. Johnston. 2nd, R. W. Gibson.

There were only two starters, who rounded a flag and upset at the sound of a pistol shot. Gibson in the Snake, who had gained on turning the buoy, was quick in getting into his canoe again, but Johnston was too much for him.

UPSET RACE, OPEN CANOES. 1st, J. L. Weller.

There were three entries. J. L. Weller emptied his canoe cleverly and paddled to the winning post, leaving his competitors in the water.

In the interval between the morning and afternoon races the ladies gave a reception at their camp, which was very prettily decorated to receive their guests.

A. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING. The business meeting was held on Thursday afternoon with Commodore Edwards in the chair.

The Commodore in the name of the Canadian members expressed their pleasure at welcoming their comrades from the States, and the satisfactory nature of the meeting. He also expressed his satisfaction at the success of the Association, the membership having increased to 450, having thus been doubled. He regretted the unavoidable absence of the Vice and Rear Commodores, and of Mr. Bishop, the founder of the Association. He praised the organ of the Association, the American Canoeist, and strongly recommended it.

Dr. Neide, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, read his annual report. During the past year he had paid out $202.27, which did not include the local expenditure for the meeting. He had received $500, which did not include the local subscriptions. The report was adopted.

A report was read from the judges, that in the paddling race, for which a protest was made, Johnston had fouled the buoy and was, therefore, disqualified; the second man, Weller, having won a previous race, was disqualified for a junior race, and, therefore, the first prize must go to the 3rd, Mr. Strickland. The report was adopted.

It was resolved that $150 be appropriated for clerical assistance to the Secretary during the coming year.

The Commodore read the report of the nominating committee, suggesting the following names:—

COMMODORE—F. Nickerson, Springfield, Mass.

VICE-COMMODORE—C. K. Munroe, New York.

REAR-COMMODORE—Col. H. C. Rogers, Peterborough, Ont.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—Dr. C. A. Neide, Schuylerville, N.Y.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—R. J. Wilkin, New York; Hugh Nelson, Toronto; W. B. Wackerhagen, Albany, N.Y.

The recommendations were adopted one by one and the above named officers were elected, and returned thanks to the members.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Secretary-Treasurer for his past services.

The Rev. G. L. Neide was requested to act again as assistant Secretary-Treasurer and was thanked for his past services.

A vote of thanks was passed to Commodore Edwards in warm terms, and he responded by expressing his pride at being Commodore of such an association, and his gratification at the success of the meeting, to which so many had contributed by their presence and assistance.

Thanks were voted to the local committee, and due responses were made.

Gen. Oliver suggested that the executive committee should consider the sailing rules, and a discussion arose as to several points. A resolution was adopted in favour of abandoning the distinction between seniors and juniors.

There was also a discussion as to the place of meeting for next year. Lake Memphremagog, Long Lake in the Adirondacks, the Thousand Islands and other points, were all suggested and discussed. The secretary was instructed to put a notice in the organ of the Association, asking for an expression of opinion.

The meeting then, after a little further talk on some points of interest, was adjourned.

A. C. A. CAMP, STONY LAKE, Aug. 24.—Last night the concert that was to have taken place on the previous evening, but was prevented by the thunder storm, took place with somewhat shrunken proportions, owing to the departure of the Rochester club. There were, however, some very good songs and most amusing jokes.

The prizes were then presented to the successful paddlers and sailors, who were loudly cheered as they came up to receive them.

Mrs. Edward Leigh, of Toronto, an experienced camper and paddler on Stony Lake, and the generous donor of six handsome flags for prizes for the meeting, was elected an honorary member of the Association.

A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. A. White, of the Midland Railway, for his efforts to accommodate the members of the Association.

This morning several of the clubs left and many local members, but there are still a considerable number of tents standing.

This may, in fact, be considered the end of the meeting of the A. C. A., which has passed off most successfully. There has not been an accident of consequence, hardly a single hitch in the management, and the members, both from the United States and Canada, seem to be well satisfied with the whole meeting and especially with the pleasant associations to which it has led.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

RESIGNATION.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Sir Stafford Northcote will probably, on account of poor health, resign the leadership of the Conservatives.

A PARLIAMENTARY DEADLOCK.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A committee of the House of Lords will meet to-day to consider the course to be pursued in connection with the deadlock which threatens to grow out of the second refusal of the House of Commons to adopt the amendments to the agricultural holding bill as agreed to by the House of Lords, and on the passage of which Lord Salisbury two days ago announced that he should insist. Strong efforts are being made to influence the Conservative leader's decision. It is believed that Lord Salisbury will yield, and that some compromise will be reached.

THE CHOLERA PLAGUE.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 23.—There were thirty-three deaths from cholera here yesterday, and none at Cairo.

THE FRENCH IN TONQUIN.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The French commander at Tonquin, in a despatch giving the details of the fighting near Hanoi, says owing to the French reconnaissance the enemy have abandoned their positions and fallen back to Sontay. He reports the enemy's loss 300 killed, and 1,000 wounded. It is stated that no further operations in Tonquin will be possible till October.

COMTE DE CHAMBORD'S DEATH.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Republican journals speak respectfully concerning the death of De Chambord, and unite in paying homage to the sincerity of the deceased. The Royalist papers appear with mourning borders. They are reserved in their comments regarding the consequences of the count's death. The body will be buried by the side of that of Charles X. The count's will will be opened in the presence of a high Austrian official.

AMERICAN.

LORD COLERIDGE'S ARRIVAL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Lord Chief Justice Coleridge arrived from England to-day. He was besieged by reporters this afternoon. When he was shown the paragraph stating that the dynamiters intended to give him a warm reception he said that he never paid any attention to such reports. Threatening letters and messages were very numerous in Ireland, but they were not given any heed in England, and he presumed nobody was frightened by them in this country. The Chief Justice refused to be interviewed with regard to the trials of the dynamiters, but said the dynamite conspirators had been the cause of great concern to the British Government, and it had been determined to nip their plans in the bud at any sacrifice.

RAT PORTAGE TROUBLES.

Another Encounter Between the two Rival Forces.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—Another encounter between the two police forces at Rat Portage occurred last night. Charles Diamond, of St. Paul, a well-known character, who is now a Mowat special, was creating a row. He had a brick in his hand, and was threatening to smash the Manitoba police, but other Grit specials attempted to interfere, when they, too, were landed in the goal.

This morning Diamond had an attack of delirium tremens, and was remanded till to-morrow; so were his brother specials. Particulars of the row were telegraphed to Attorney-General Sutherland to-day, and a reply was sent to have the defendants arraigned before Captain Breton.

CAMPBELLFORD.

HAVOC BY LIGHTNING.—The lightning made havoc in this section on Wednesday night. Wm. Glen, of Seymour, had his barn and contents burned; Patrick Higgins, of Percy, barn and contents burned; the contents belonging to Jeremiah Collins. Other lights were observed, but their consequences are unknown. The storm lasted for about an hour.

The Salvation Army.

Captain Ludgate of the Salvation Army was fined $5 or thirty days in goal by the Police Magistrate at Hamilton on Friday, on complaint of a constable that the captain broke a city by-law by shouting on the public streets. The captain declared he would not pay but would go to goal. The magistrate gave him till Monday to reconsider.

Death of a Senator.

Hon. David Price died on Wednesday at his residence near Quebec, aged 57 years. Deceased was born at Quebec, where he was educated and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He took an interest in the militia, being lieutenant colonel of the Chocomaque battalion, and was a prominent agriculturist. He sat in the Parliament of Old Canada for different constituencies until Confederation, when he was called to the Senate, being a Liberal Conservative in politics.

British Columbia Land Difficulty Settled.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 24.—Subject to the sanction of Parliament, all the matters in difference with British Columbia have been satisfactorily settled. Dunsmuir & Co. are to undertake the construction and operation of the Island railway. The graving dock is to become a Dominion property. The lands in the railway belts on the mainland and on the island are to be thrown open for sale and pre-emption to actual settlers, excepting squatters' rights, which will be protected. General satisfaction is felt here at the satisfactory settlement of the misunderstanding.

Don't forget the Ferris' excursion on Thursday next, 30th August, to Coochiching Park and Orillia. See large posters and banners.

THE POSITION OF A CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNOR.

A CORRESPONDENT asks the Globe:—
Supposing Lieut.-Governor Letellier had simply dissolved Parliament and ordered a new election, would he in that case also have been informed that his usefulness was gone?

And in the course of its reply the Globe correctly enough says:—

According to the well understood constitutional principle, the Sovereign, Governor, or Lieut.-Governor can perform any official act only through a responsible Minister. Lieut.-Governor Letellier would have acted unconstitutionally if he had taken the course indicated by our correspondent. It is believed that the circumstances required a dissolution, and his Minister refused to advise such dissolution or accept the responsibility for it, his proper course was to dismiss his Ministers, and call others to his Council who would be willing to assume the responsibility, who may be fairly presumed to have the confidence of the country, the Sovereign or Governor must call back the dismissed Ministers, and submit to their advice or accept the advice of such Government as he could form. This right of dismissing the Government and dissolving Parliament should be the prerogative of the Crown. It was a prerogative, however, the exercise of which only extraordinary circumstances would justify. Properly used it may save the country from all evils which an unprincipled Cabinet, sustained by a corrupt Parliamentary majority, may inflict upon it, and it may be the only means by which the country could be relieved from such a Government as sustained. But it may well be doubted whether it would not in most cases be better that the country suffer much than this prerogative be exercised often or lightly. As a minister of fact it has been very rarely used since Parliamentary Government attained its full development. It was used once by William the Fourth and once by the present sovereign.

It should not have omitted to point out that Mr. Letellier never gave the De Boucherville Government an opportunity of appealing to the people; that he never gave them an opportunity to "refuse to advise a dissolution" or to "accept responsibility for it," but dismissed them and installed their opponents, without any reference to the dissolution which was only ordered after the existing legislature had refused to accept the ministers which he desired to force upon them. Had Mr. Letellier, instead of pursuing the course which he did, said to the De Boucherville Ministry: "I disapprove of your measures; I am convinced that the people of the Province would condemn your policy if they had an opportunity of pronouncing upon it; I therefore believe that the 'circumstances' will justify a dissolution, and that the interests of the Province require that a new election should be held; will you advise and accept the necessary responsibility for such a course?" he would have been acting within his constitutional rights, and been justified in dismissing that administration, had they refused to either advise a dissolution or to have placed their resignation in his hands, and it was for not pursuing such a course as that we have indicated, and which would have been within his prerogative, that Mr. Letellier was dismissed.

But to have supplied this omission would have been to have denied itself the opportunity of inculcating the false, although expedient doctrine in the present situation of Mr. Letellier, that since the dismissal of Mr. Letellier, "our Lieut.-Governors have ceased to have the right or the power to dismiss a ministry that has a majority in the Legislature, or to refuse to do anything that such a ministry advises." No matter "how the majority has been obtained," or how much "the people condemn their conduct," or how "scandalous" their conduct may have been. Still (says the Globe) in view of the dismissal of Mr. Letellier, "the new doctrine is that the sovereign or the governor must see nothing except by the eyes of his ministers, hear nothing except by their ears, do nothing but what they advise, and refuse to do nothing that they ask."

This certainly is a new doctrine. One which the Letellier case does not justify, and one which cannot be either justified or tolerated under our system of Government. The Lieut.-Governors of the Provinces have their duties and their rights and they cannot be permitted either to neglect the one or to exceed the other. It no doubt would be a convenient thing for the Mowat party at the present time were this "new doctrine" generally accepted as the correct one, seeing that it would leave Mr. Mowat at full liberty to obtain a majority by the most unscrupulous and scandalous means, and if only successful in obtaining and maintaining a majority, it would enable him to defy the people for another four years, and hence the Globe's present line of argument.

Instead, however, of misrepresenting the real issue involved in the Letellier dismissal, the Globe and its friends should be particularly thankful that he was dismissed. Had his conduct been approved, what would now stand in the way of Mr. Mowat being dismissed, and Mr. Meredith being installed in his place at any moment? Nothing! How speedily and how easily would a repetition of Lieut.-Governor Letellier's act by Lieut.-Governor Robinson turn the present evenly balanced political scales in this Province in favour of the Conservative party, and ensure to them beyond peradventure, not only Algoma and West Simcoe, but every seat which may be declared vacant, and the support of every member who dreaded a fresh appeal to the people. Truly, if we were disposed to look at this matter from a purely party standpoint we should regret that Mr. Letellier had been dismissed seeing that by the adoption of the same course in Ontario we might long ago, as a party, have been in full enjoyment of the sweets of office. What a difference it would have made in the contest in this country last February if it had only been Mr. Meredith instead of Mr. Mowat who had the disposal of that registration—as might have been the case had Lieut.-Governor Robinson only been in a position to do as Lieut.-Governor Letellier did, dismiss Mr. Mowat and install Mr. Meredith without consulting or saying to the electorate "by your leave" in the first instance. Truly if there were any thankfulness in the Grith heart it would be thankful to-day that Sir John Macdonald did not permit Mr. Letellier's autocratic action to become a precedent for others in a like position to follow.

FIRE AT RAT PORTAGE.

RAT PORTAGE, Ont., Aug. 20.—The new mill of the Rainy Lake Lumber Company was entirely destroyed by fire early this morning. Whether the result of accident or design cannot now be determined, but circumstances point to incendiarianism as the cause. The watchman about three in the morning noticed fire in the conveyor for carrying the sawdust from the mill to the yards, and says that the fire was in the sawdust at the opening of the conveyor in the wall of the boiler-house, and that on going inside he found the roof of the boiler-house in flames, rapidly extending to the mill proper, which in a few minutes became a sheet of fire. He gave the alarm to the foreman and another man who sleeps in the mill, and they had barely time to escape with their lives. The foreman rushed for the cord which blows the whistle, but found it was not there, having apparently been cut off. This gives color to the suspicion of foul play. The hose, which had been thoroughly tested and found efficient the night before, was burnt away, and was useless. No human aid could now avail to save the mill, and it was burnt to the ground. The morning was calm, and the lumber, which was piled across a swamp at a distance, was saved. It required, however, great exertions later in the day to save it, as a storm came on and the wind was at times like a hurricane. The mill was the finest in the North-West. It had been two months in operation, and was fitted up with most up-to-date American and Canadian machinery. Its capacity was 200,000 feet per day of twenty-four hours. The company had made over 20,000,000 logs, only a small quantity of which had been sawed into lumber. The shareholders are Hugh Sutherland, M. P., Simon J. Jones, (contractor) and Wm. Buckingham, John Rose, (contractor) and James Crocoran, Stratford. The loss will be a severe one to them, as the property destroyed is not half covered by insurance, and their operations are at an end for the season. The companies who carried the risk are Imperial, Commercial Union, London, Liverpool, London & Globe, Citizens', Phoenix, of London, Quebec, Western, and British America, each $2,000; the Phoenix of Brooklyn and Northern each $4,000; City of London, $6,000. Total $30,000. The occurrence is a severe blow to this place, as it stops the principal industry in Rat Portage. It throws out of employment from one hundred to two hundred men.

True Heroism.

A passenger, writing to a Quebec paper, records an act of bravery on the occasion of the stranding of the s.s. Nettleworth on the Magdalen Islands, 24th July. When the vessel went ashore a very heavy nor'-east gale raised a tremendous sea, and the lives of those on board were in great peril. It was impossible to launch a boat or get assistance from shore; the only thing was to get a line to or from the shore. Fortunately our gallant captain was equal to the emergency, and at the imminent risk of his life plunged into the terrific sea (having a deep sea line made fast around his body), and struck boldly for the shore. It would be impossible to pen even a faint description of the scene; every one on board the ship was anxiously following the brave commander's herculean and seemingly futile battling with the elements; one moment tossed high above us on the summit of a fierce wave, to be hurled the next moment out of sight in the trough of the sea, each moment seeming like hours to the little band of watchers on the ship. At last after a hard struggle Captain Whyte managed to reach the shore. A brazier was hauled ashore from the ship and made fast to the trunk of a tree, after which a "cradle" was rigged, thus establishing a communication. Captain Whyte, although impeded by his wet clothes, started on foot to the nearest telegraph station, a distance of five miles, to wire for assistance to Sydney, C. B., which, though sent, was not required, as the captain got the ship off without assistance other than the appliances on board his own ship, and that, too, after the assurance of the fishermen and other experienced persons on shore, that the vessel had better be abandoned, as she was a hopeless case, and could never come off. Such conduct deserves more than a passing comment, for it truly is heroism.

First-class railway accommodation can be relied upon at the Foresters' excursion to Orillia on Thursday next. Return tickets only $1.00.

A Strange Bat.

Two well-known sportsmen of this place were recently casting flies for trout in a stream some twenty miles from this village, when a singular thing took place. They had tried several kinds of flies without success, notwithstanding the fact that quantities of fine fish were plainly to be seen swimming about near the surface. Every attempt to induce them to rise to the fly was unavailing. Suddenly, our informant states, as he gave his line a smart fling a bird, commonly known as the "teeter snipe," flitted across the stream just in time to have the hook strike its body and detach small feather. No sooner had the hook, with the snipe feather attached, reached the water than it was seized by a fine trout. This fish, with five others, were quickly landed, when the snipe's feather became detached and was lost. Then the sport was at an end, for the fish would not rise to any other sort of fly.—Peoria Times.

MIDLAND.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—The Free Press says that at about five o'clock on Saturday evening a man named John Stewart, sawyer in McLeod & Cameron's mill met with a painful accident. While adjusting a saw he had his fingers and arm badly cut. Medical aid was at once secured and the patient is now doing well.

A Man Killed by Lightning.
During Wednesday's storm a man named Lighton, employed by John Breit, near Primrose, Ont., was killed by lightning while unloading grain. The barn was saved.

A Young Lady Killed With Lightning.
On Wednesday evening about 7 o'clock the stone house of George Thompson, three or four miles from Maxwell, Ont., was struck by lightning. The building was badly damaged, and Miss Bella Thompson, a young lady about sixteen years of age, was killed.

The Minnesota Cyclone.
Further accounts of the cyclone in Minnesota on Tuesday evening give heartrending reports of the suffering and desolation in the path of the storm. Great loss of life was caused, and there is an immense number of wounded, many of whom are not expected to recover. The loss by destruction of houses and crops is unparalleled.

Chasing a Husband.
Yesterday afternoon a woman ran down St. Dominique street in rear of a carriage. The woman, it was learned, was in pursuit of her husband who was running away with another woman, leaving his wife with three children. The wife was unable to overtake the vehicle, and was so overcome by the shock that she fainted, and had to be taken home in a carriage. —Montreal Witness.

Breaking all Records.
On Friday, July 27, F. R. Fry, of the Clifton Bicycle Club, in England, broke all the existing records, professional and amateur, from 50 up to 100 miles. His performance was accomplished on the Crystal Palace track in an amateur race with Douglas Smith, of the London Bicycle Club. Smith gave out after riding 41 miles, but Fry kept on and completed the 100 miles in 5 hours 50 minutes 5-25 seconds. The best previous 100-mile record was 6 hours 29 minutes and 57 seconds, so that Fry beat it by nearly 40 minutes.

A New Comet.
Dr. Lewis Swift, director of the Warner observatory in Rochester reports concerning a comet he observed on Wednesday evening, that it seemed to be a comet in the ankle of the constellation of Andromeda. The clouds, however, obscured the vision almost instantly. As there are no doubt a few of the Swifts in our midst, let us determine its motion. If this discovery turns out to be a comet Dr. Swift wins the first $200 prize for 1883, offered by Mr. H. H. Warner, the founder of the Warner observatory, who, however, made W. R. Brooks, of Phelps, a special award of $250 for the discovery of a comet the day before the prize for this year was announced. Dr. Swift has won about $1,200 by his cometary discoveries.

ANNAMITE IMPALEMENT.

The Inconceivable Torture of the Orient and Historical Insurance.

The Annamese have brought the science of impalement to a much finer point than might be inferred from the process heretofore described. A French officer, who witnessed an execution in Tonquin before the recent troubles, gives a very curious account of the apparatus of impalement. A lofty stake, with sharp point, is fixed into the ground as firmly as a telegraph pole, and with the upper part of a chair of iron, having an orifice in the centre of the seat, is connected. The point of the stake fits the orifice in the chair, and the latter is raised or lowered by machinery not in motion by a crank so that several feet of the pole can be forced through the body of anyone seated in the chair, where he is immovably chained. Then the stake is turned forty or fifty times—the stake being buried further and further in the criminal's body at each turn.

All this appears unutterably horrible to Europeans; but the Orientals are not constituted as we are. They fear ordinary forms of death very little; and decapitation or hanging has little terror for them as the workhouse of the common Anglo-Saxon criminal. Moreover, their nervous system—especially that of the Chinese and kindred races—is not altogether similar to the nervous system of Aryan races. The French officer who witnessed the method of execution above described avers that the criminal continued to eat a banana until the operation was half completed, and many travelers concur in bearing evidence that the Chinese exhibit under torture a degree of fortitude equal, if not superior, to the well-known stoicism of the American Indian. But it is rather strange to learn that the part of the iron machinery used in the impaling process referred to bears the trade mark of a French ironmaster.

Return tickets for the Foresters' excursion on Thursday next to Orillia, and good for 3 days, only $1.00.

An Extraordinary Story.

A wonderful story of a child's escape from a position of extreme peril is told in a letter from Morehead, a watering-place in North Carolina, and printed in the Greenboro Patriot. A Mrs. Elliott and her daughter, a child of between two and three, were on the terrace in front of one of the Morehead hotels, when an itinerant vendor of toy balloons presented himself with a stock of these articles. A Major Hawkins, of Alabama, tied a string round the infant's waist, attaching the other end to the balloons, and tossed her two or three feet in the air, holding out his arms to catch her as she fell. Far from falling, however, the child was instantly borne beyond his reach by the balloons, and she continued to ascend, rising rapidly above the house-tops. All the men in the hotel started out in boats, as the little one was drifting out to sea. Fortunately Mr. Charles J. Voorhees, of the Southern Express Company, one of the most expert riflemen in the States, was out taking a sail, and had his rifle with him. On seeing the child floating over his head he at once took in the situation. The child was then 400 yards high in the air, rising higher every minute, and moving seaward at the rate of ten miles an hour. He determined to fire at the balloons at all hazards. The first four shots missed, but the fifth cut away one of the balloons. The three succeeding shots were equally successful, and then the child began to descend very gradually, not in a straight line, but in a southerly direction, toward Barker's Island, on the sandy beach of which she landed alive and unharmed. Mr. Voorhees sat in the boat with a death-like palor on his countenance, not daring to land, in his fear that one of the bullets might have hit the infant. When he learned that she was unharmed his emotion overpowered him and he cried like a child.

A Ship Canal.

The bill for a ship canal to Manchester, England, has passed the House of Commons, burdened with conditions which will make a very uncertain enterprise. The promoters are required before commencing work to go to Parliament for a fresh bill showing exactly what work they intend to carry out in the estuary of the Mersey, they are also forbidden to do anything at the canal proper or to deviate any railway until they have progressed so far with the works in the estuary as to show what the effect on the regime of the channel and the approach to the Liverpool docks is likely to be and these works are to be so constructed that they can be removed if any detrimental effects are likely to be produced. The House of Lords will probably pass the bill in this form, but it will, we should think, be difficult to raise the large capital required, under such burdensome conditions.

The New Brazilian Steamship Line.

The first vessel of Mr. Bentley's new line from Hamburg and other European ports to Montreal and Brazil has arrived at Montreal after a pleasant passage. She is a fine vessel of fifteen hundred tons, elegantly fitted up, and a fast sailer. Owing to there not being sufficient time to arrange for her going to Brazil on her first voyage she will return direct to Hamburg, to which port she will carry a full cargo from here. The first steamer to proceed to South America will be the Bannwall next month. There are now the best of hopes entertained for the success of this most important enterprise for Canada, and it should have all the encouragement and support of commercial men in the Dominion. It is only by maintaining a direct line with the continent that importers can get their goods in the cheapest markets and brought here at the lowest rates.—Mail.

Malaria prevails alarmingly at several of the New Hampshire ocean summer resorts. Several cases of typhoid fever occurred, and two deaths are reported.

Another crank has turned up who is desirous of seeking death in the whirlpool rapids. This one hails from Buffalo, and is unusually confident of his success.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that, and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

It is reported that the German ambassador at Paris recently complained against the street sale of an anti-Prussian journal which has since been stopped.

A French aeronaut had a terrible experience last week, being caught by his two fingers in a rope just as the balloon was ascending, and in this manner dragged four miles through the air in excruciating agony.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes: "I have suffered for over four years with night terrors and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

THE United States Lighthouse Board have decided to erect at Hall's Point a tower, 250 feet high, on which will be erected six electric lamps of about 4000 candle power each, so as to illuminate the adjacent waters. This is expected to render the passage of Hall Gate as safe by night as by day. The estimated cost is about $20,000.

THE proprietors of the Great Eastern steamship, which has been lying idle so long, seem to have found another scheme of utility for the floating monster. It is proposed to employ her in the coal carrying trade, for which her capacity will be 20,000 tons. This is stated to give a large reduction in the cost of coal carried by her. The ship has always been kept in good repair and can be made ready for business in a very short time.

A Slaughter of Indians.

LIMA, Aug. 23.—The Chilean commander at Huancayo was informed that a large body of Indians were in the neighborhood and intended attacking the city to castigate the party in favor of peace when the Chileans evacuated it. The commander made a false movement on Aug. 15, surprising 8,000 Indians, killing 400, and capturing 1,000. He is now in the city, and the Chilean loss was insignificant. There is great excitement and anxiety in the neighborhood.

A Fatal Fire.

The American Lumber Company's barn at Dollarville, Mich., caught fire on Wednesday from sparks from a log heap, and in a short time half the buildings in the place were in flames. The barn was burned to the ground, together with sixteen dwelling houses and all their contents. Two children were burned to death, and a great many people escaped with only the clothes they had on. The loss is estimated at $120,000, partially covered by insurance.

The Algoma Election.

This election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a useful hint to intimate that an absolute lead at the polls may be obtained by the judicious distribution of the electors of Putnam's Corn Extract, the great remedy for corns. Every sufferer would be made happy, and would certainly vote for the person affording him relief. Safe, sure, painless. Beware of dangerous substitutes. They are now being offered as "as just as good." Use only Putnam's.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

Koch's Theory Disproved.

Dr. Spina claims to have disproved Prof. Koch's theory concerning the Tubercle Bacillus. Regardless of the many directly opposite theories of the ablest pathologists of the world, the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, using the spirometer, the wonderful invention of Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, an ex-aid surgeon of the French army, are curing monthly hundreds of cases of bronchitis, consumption, asthma, catarrh, and catarrhal deafness. W. A. EDGARS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

There is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

The best dollar excursion of the season will be on Thursday next, when the Foresters of Peterborough will picnic at Couchiching Park, Orillia.

Smith's Market.

Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

Lacrosse Note.

It is probable that the first match for the cup presented by Mr. W. A. Sanderson will take place some day next week. The conditions that are to govern the matches have not yet been decided upon, but they are to be drawn up immediately.

Going Ahead.

The Lindsay people are going ahead with their Exhibition. The prize list will be quite as liberal as that of preceding Central Exhibitions held in that town. As it will be open to exhibitors from all parts of the Province, there is no reason why our county friends should not have a hand in when the prizes come to be allotted.

Champagne Cider.

The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in kegs expressly for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.

Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

The Fire Brigade Band and Peterborough Orchestra accompany the Foresters' excursion to Couchiching Park on Thursday next, 29th August. Round trip only one dollar.

A Large Excursion.

The excursion of the Midland railway left here this morning at 8 o'clock. There was a large attendance from this part, and the excursionists were accompanied by the Fire Brigade Band. The previous excursions of the Midland have all been very successful, but this one will cap them all, as the day is all that could be desired and the train, which was a long one, was crowded.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Railway Notes.

The Post says that the mason work for the railway bridge at Midland is nearly finished and the material for the iron bridge is being shipped from Toronto. The bridge contractors will be at work next week, and by the middle of September at latest trains will be running over the bridge.

The Post also says that a portion of the car penier car shop at the union station has been taken down. The switch on the mainline to the new branch was laid out directly through the end of the building and crossing the avenue at the end of the roadway. The connection with the main line, for south bound trains, is nearly finished and ready for the iron.

The Buckhorn Locks.

The Lindsay Post says that work on the Trent Valley canal locks at Buckhorn is going on with the greatest activity, a force of over fifty men being employed. The lock cutting is on the north side of the dam and then through the disused mill property on that side of the river. The cutting has been done for about the capacity of the lock proper although an additional distance will have to be excavated to allow of passage. The work is carried on night and day, the bulk of the drilling with a powerful steam rock drill being done after nightfall. As fast as the holes are drilled they are charged with dynamite and fired about five o'clock, leaving the debris to be handled by the day laborers upon coming to work. Six portable steam engines are employed furnishing power for several derricks, steam for the drills and for a powerful pump which clears the excavation of water. The banks of the cutting are lined with derricks by which the rock is handled. Loose earth and small fragments of rock are loaded on to the trucks of a narrow gauge tramway and hauled off to be dumped in the edge of the river below the dam. The laborers employed are mostly Italians and they are pushed to the utmost exertion by the contractors. At the present rate of progress the cutting will be finished before the beginning of another winter and ready for the masonry.

New Dress Goods in all the popular shades and fabrics now offering at Turnbull's.

The Puget.

The celebrated Jesuit lecturer, Rev. Father Ryan, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, will preach on to-morrow evening in St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough.

The Town Brink.

The streets have been thronged all day, and no doubt the business men have done a good trade. Considering the busy season of the year with the farmers, there was a large representation of them in town to-day.

The Cells.

The police cells were untenanted last night, and there was a blank at the Police Court this morning. It is quite evident that Peterborough is not such a bad place as the Belleville Ontario would make people believe.

The Late Accident.

The victims of the late accident are still in a critical state. Octave Beauvais, the man who was injured at the Point St. Charles saw mill, is no better, although he will ultimately recover. His injuries are said to be very severe, and it will be some time before he is able to resume work. Mr. James Howden's son, the victim of the gunning accident, is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances, and if the inflammation can be kept down he will also recover, although he is, as yet, not out of danger.

Personal.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, the energetic and popular foreman of the Lindsay Post, called on us on Friday. He has been spending a week at the A. C. A. camp, and looks as though "life on the ocean wave" was a benefit to the printer as well as to every one else who took an "outing" among the thousand islands of the back lakes. Mr. Geo. H. Harris, of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Peterborough, called on us yesterday. He has been spending a holiday at the A. C. A. camp, and like all the other campers looks and feels well.

The A. C. A.

A number of A. C. A. canoeists are parading our streets to-day, previous to their departure for home, and to a reporter of the Review expressed themselves highly delighted with Peterborough. They speak in the highest terms of their "meet," and are one and all loud in their praise of Canadian hospitality. This afternoon a party of eight start on a long cruise. They will paddle to Rice Lake this afternoon, and from Rice Lake down the River St. Lawrence to the Thousand Islands, and from thence to Lake George. The party will be captained by Dr. Neide, the Secretary of the Association.

The Weather.

To-day is cool and pleasant with a gentle breeze blowing. Last night was quite cold, but not at all uncomfortable. It is an agreeable change from the intense heat of the last few days, and according to "probe," we will have a continuance of this sort of weather for the following twenty-four hours at least. The weather probabilities for this district as issued from the Toronto Meteorological office at one o'clock this morning, for twenty-four hours, are as follows:—Lakes and Upper St. Lawrence—Moderate winds, mostly south and south-west. Fine weather; slightly higher temperature.

A Spirited Team.

The team that draws the watering cart is evidently too lively for the work, as they took it into their heads this afternoon about 3.30 to have another escapade, and suiting the action to the thought they came dashing down George street at a lively rate. They ran from the hydrant at Mr. Yelland's, where the cart was being filled, and when going over the crossing in front of Mr. Thos. Kelly's store one of the front wheels came off, one of the horses was thrown to the ground, and the cart generally "broke up." The water poured out of the cart and the horse that was down got quite a shower bath.

That Excursion.

Our Belleville friends are evidently getting excited over the prospects of the large crowd they are to have on the 5th of September. Here is what the Intelligencer of the 22nd inst. says:—

"Wednesday, the 5th of September, is likely to be a 'large' day in the city, the prospects being that we will have a great number of visitors. Our Methodist friends from all over are to be here, and the Grand Trunk having given reduced fares, will induce many more to come, while the excursion over the Midland from Peterborough promises to be a large affair. The fare is exceedingly low, and the tickets being good for six days, many will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit Belleville for some days. We learn also that on that day a lacrosse tournament is to be held here, the Peterborough club to meet the Oshawa, and some other clubs to play."

Peterborough's Market.

It is a question whether there is another town in this section of Ontario that can boast of as good a market as Peterborough. The square was literally packed with buyers and sellers this morning, and good prices were obtained for the different articles. Hay sold at $3, and oats brought from 40 to 45 cents. Pears were offered, and buyers were prompt to purchase at 10 cents a quart. $1.50 a bag was asked for apples, a good article at that; and 30 cents by the peck. Pork was offered in small quantities (salt); pig's cheek brought 5 cents per pound, and shoulder pieces 10 cents, for which a ready sale was obtained. Potatoes sold at 15 cents a peck, and cabbage at from 10 to 15 cents a head. Beets, carrots, onions and radishes brought 5 cents a bunch. Tomatoes sold at 30 cents a dozen, and were sought after. 15 cents per dozen was asked for eggs, and was freely given, while butter brought 30 cents. Chickens (alive) brought 40 cents a pair, and last year's (dressed) sold at 90 cents. A quantity of corn sold at 10 cents a dozen, and found, in most cases, a ready sale. Blackberries and raspberries sold at 60 cents a peck. Lamb, mutton and veal was on sale in large quantities, lamb selling at 10 and 11 cents, mutton 9 and 10 cents, and veal 6 to 8 cents per pound.

"Nearer My God to Thee."

No matter how delightful it may be to get far away from religion in fine weather, most people like to get very near to God in a storm. When black clouds hovered over Lake Michigan last week, and all the indications favored an imminent and destructive cyclone, masters and men of several vessels dropped on deck in prayer. On one schooner the Bible was brought out of the cabin, and the captain and crew all knelt and prayed. Suddenly the scene lighted up again, and the dire threatening all vanished. The captain, who was a fine vocalist, broke out with "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the crew helped him with a will, and all say they never felt happier in their lives.

MONDAY, AUGUST 27, 1883.

The petition against the return of the Hon. T. B. Pender to Lambton has been dismissed with costs against the petitioner. The evidence adduced given on behalf of the petitioner, as published, was certainly very weak, and not of such a character as to justify the filing of the same.

Two Hours of Fun.

Heller, the illusionist, with his company, will give an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House this evening. Each person attending will receive a present.

Revengeful Woman.

Revenge is sweet to a woman. When the excursion train was returning from Lindsay on Saturday night many ladies were standing in a crowded coach, while several young men had seats. An official went into the coach and ordered the men out of the seats so the ladies could sit down. One young man, who did not regret so much leaving the seat as the person who occupied it with him, borrowed a ladies' all cloth cloak and hat and patiently waited for the railway official to pass him. The official did pass him, thinking him a young lady, but a woman who longed for the seat called the official back and the disguised young man had to travel. This made room for two, as the young lady left the seat also. The woman said she did not care so much for the seat, but she wished to have revenge for the insult offered to her sex by such a selfish and ungentlemanly person wearing their habiliments.

THE N. T. & C. RAILWAY.

The New Company Formed—Work to be Begun and Completed by Nov. 1st.

On Tuesday last week, underway between the Railway Company and Messrs. E. W. Rathbun and Geo. A. Cox, were closed and a new Company formed. There was a full attendance of the directors of the old Company, with the exception of Mr. J. S. Hayden, who is absent at Old Orchard Beach, and both Mr. Rathbun and Mr. Cox were also present. The agreement was drawn by Mr. John Bell, solicitor of the Grand Trunk, Belleville, and having been signed by Mr. Cox, the others having affixed their signatures last week, the work of organizing the new company was proceeded with. Mr. Rathbun having taken an equal number of shares with the old company was entitled to four representatives on the Board, therefore it was necessary for some of the old board to resign, and this was done by Messrs. Roe, Conolly and Caton. Another of the old directors has yet to resign. The following directors were then elected:—Messrs. R. Henry, W. F. Hall, E. W. Rathbun, Geo. A. Cox, R. C. Carter, W. R. Aylsworth, Peter Vanliven, E. W. Benjamin, and J. S. Hayden. The officers are as follows:—Alex. Henry, President; Geo. A. Cox, Vice-President; E. W. Rathbun, General Manager; W. S. Williams, Secretary; F. S. Rathbun, Treasurer. The contract with Mr. M. C. Cow for completing the road was finally awarded and its guarantee to have it in running order by the 15th of November was accepted. The ties are now being delivered on the ground, and we understand the rails have been bought. Mr. Row will commence work as soon as the engineer arrives. Mr. M. J. Butler, C. E., who is now superintending the construction of Messrs. Rathbun's branch railway at Gananoque will, it is expected, be the engineer in charge.—Napanees Express, Aug. 24.

Federatians.
The Northern Advance notices the walking match which will take place here on the evening of Sept. 10th, for the purse offered by Mr. Tom McNaughton, and says that "Barrie will be there."

Personal.
Mr. Chas. E. Stewart, of the Boboysgon Independent, registered at the Calise House to-day.

P. C. Fidgeon, who has been away a week on holidays was in town to-day. His furlough does not expire for another week.

Council Meeting.
Notice has been issued calling a meeting of the Town Council in the Council Chamber this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Something unusual is evidently expected, as placards have been posted up advising the ratepayers to attend the meeting. If any exciting subjects should be discussed it is to be hoped that the Councilors will deal with them calmly, stating their views concisely, as no doubt they will.

A. C. A. Notes.
Mr. Wilkin, of the Knickerbocker Canoe Club, ex-Commodore Edwards, of Peterborough, came down the river from Lakeside this morning. They had a splendid run, making the six miles from Lakeside to Nassau Mills in forty minutes.
Mr. Hand, of the K.C.C., New York, left for home this morning. Messrs. Wilkin, Brentano and Keyser, of the same club, and Mr. Kerr, Toronto C.C., are in town to-day, and will depart in the morning.

The Salvation Army.
A ripple of excitement was caused at noon to-day by the appearance on the streets of an officer of the Salvation army in uniform. As it had been currently reported that the army was about to invade Peterborough, the friends of the leader against whom the army fights, began to tremble. But the army is not going to torment them before their time. Lieut. Woodyard, for that is the officer's name, was on a visit to the Midland railway office to secure reduced fares from Lindsay to Toronto on the occasion of the celebration of the army's anniversary in Toronto on the 3rd of Sept., and he was successful. The gallant officer is very brave, as he says it is the desire of himself and the army to attack Satan's greatest stronghold, first, and to thus more quickly exterminate his influence. The Army intends to make Peterborough the scene of a bloodless conflict soon, if they can secure suitable barracks in which to hold their knee drills. Barrie was invaded on Sunday. The lieutenant says that the enemy has lost much ground in Lindsey, but they do not consider that they are in possession of the field yet, and they wish to stay there until they are conquerors.

Collisions at Sea.
LONDON, Aug. 26.—The French steamer, St. Germain, Captain Bonneau, Havre for New York, and the steamer Woodburn, from the east, collided off Eddystone lighthouse at 3 o'clock this morning. The Woodburn sank immediately, and eighteen of her crew were drowned. The St. Germain, which was disabled, has arrived in Plymouth with her passengers, and the saved from the Woodburn. The steamer Palermo, Hamburg to Lisbon, collided off Ushant with the steamer Rivoli from Balboa to Middleborough. The latter sank; five persons were drowned. A thick fog prevailed.

Ancient Circular Saws.
That the hard basalt and granite used in Egyptian buildings of some 4,000 years ago, were cut by circular saws of some sort, is proved by recently examined specimens with the tool marks fresh upon them. The circular marks are as distinct on these imperishable stones as on a fresh pine plank. The proof of the existence of ancient circular saws is curious, for that form of saw has been believed to be of modern invention.—The Wood-Worker.

Borford's Acid Phosphate
IN DEFECT.
Dr. W. H. Holcombe, of New Orleans, La., says: "I found it an admirable remedy for debilitated state of the system produced by the wear and tear of the nervous system."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE DEAD DE CHAMBORD.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The Press says the will of Count de Chambord was opened on Friday and nothing found referring to the political wishes of the count. The count left a large legacy to the Pope, who has consoled with the family. The funeral will be the occasion of a grand legitimist demonstration. They will go into mourning for six months.

ANOTHER FRENCH VICTORY.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—A telegram received by the Minister of Marine from Saigon to-day announces that the French had bombarded and captured the forts and batteries at the mouth of the Hue river after a brilliant land attack. Seven hundred Annamites were killed during the engagement. The only casualties suffered by the French were several men slightly wounded.

HIS COURAGE FAILED.

LIMERICK, Aug. 25.—At the examination of Dr. Connolly and Patrick Connolly, brothers, who were arrested at Bruff on a charge of implication in murder and conspiracy, Michael Dineen testified that the Connollys compelled him to swear he would shoot John Carroll, the rent warner of Earl Limerick, and promised that the head centre would pay him £50 for so doing. The prisoners and himself laid waiting several times for Carroll, but witness' courage failed and he did not shoot him.

AMERICAN.

FATAL FIRE.

Boston, Aug. 26.—Fire broke out this morning in a two story tenement in Thatcher's court, occupied by eight families. Before the inmates could be rescued four were smothered and one fatally injured by jumping. The killed are Geo. and Thos. McLaughlin, 14 and 11; Mrs. Fred. Savage, Kate and Mamie Savage. John and Fred Savage and John McLaughlin had been drinking and were engaged in a row. One threw a lighted lamp at another, which started the fire. The three have been arrested.

FIGHT AMONG INDIANS.

Fort Buford, Mon., Aug. 25.—There is great excitement over a fight at Little Muddy between the Cree and Grosventre Indians. Many were wounded. The former stole horses from the latter. Troops are in pursuit of the thieves.

Two Children Fatally Poisoned.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25.—Two children, 8 and 5 years old, of Thomas Fraser of Mount Brydges, died from the effects of strychnine administered by mistake. Criminal proceedings will probably be taken against Dingman, the druggist who supplied the poison.

Sworn by His Dagger.

A sensational despatch comes from Halley, I. T., to the effect that a gang of cowboys has been organized and are now on their way to capture President Arthur and party and hold them for ransom. The last sentence of the despatch is quite amusing. "A grand council was held night before last on the prairie, when every man swore by his dagger in the daylight to do his duty."

Crushed in a Tunnel.

FOURMERE, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Three young men, Fatham Freeman, and Henry Mitchell, of Cambridge, Mass., and a stranger said to have been a waiter in the Parker House, Boston, got on top of a sleeping car on a New York Central train at Peekskill last evening, to steal a ride to Albany. When passing through the Redhook tunnel Mitchell and the waiter had their skulls crushed and were killed. Freeman was uninjured.

Suspicious.

A skeleton was unearthed at Port Franks last week, and the case excites a suspicion of foul play. Some men in the employ of the Port Franks mill were digging in a bank and discovered the skeleton of what is supposed to be the body of a girl about nine years old, with long golden hair. The tragedy, if tragedy it was, must have taken place about twenty years ago. No coffin enclosed the remains, which were only a foot or two under the ground, and only covered by a rough board placed all over the body.

A Windfall.

Andrew Weaver, Esq., of Bothwell, has received official notification that he has fallen heir to $1,250,000. Mr. Weaver's great grandfather was a German, who settled in England with a considerable fortune more than a century ago. His means were invested in real estate and in public securities, which have become immensely valuable. Mr. Weaver's father died four years ago in Sydney, and was the sole heir to the property. Mr. Weaver, of Bothwell, is the only living heir to the property. The real representatives have recently communicated with Mr. Weaver, and he expects to go to England in the autumn for the purpose of a final settlement with the officials of the Court of Chancery for the surrender of the property. In other words, Mr. Weaver has had spun out for him in the loom of fate a golden web, in which he can lie coiled for the rest of his days.

Don't forget the Foresters' excursion on Thursday next, 30th August, to Connechie Park and Grifflin. See large posters and banners.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottle free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

There is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Barbock's Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

If Dr. Carraw's Stomach Bitters will be found a specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

"Why, Argentin, where did you get those beautiful hair colors de your 'beard'?" "Ah! they lovely!" "I dyed them with the Triantic Fooding Dye." 16c.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, AUGUST 27, 1883.

This petition against the return of the Hon. T. B. Pender to Lambton has been dismissed with costs against the petitioner. The evidence adduced given on behalf of the petitioner, as published, was certainly very weak, and not of such a character as to justify the filing of the same.

Two Hours of Fun.

Heller, the illusionist, with his company, will give an entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House this evening. Each person attending will receive a present.

Revengeful Woman.

Revenge is sweet to a woman. When the excursion train was returning from Lindsay on Saturday night many ladies were standing in a crowded coach, while several young men had seats. An official went into the coach and ordered the men out of the seats so the ladies could sit down. One young man, who did not regret so much leaving the seat as the person who occupied it with him, borrowed a ladies' cloth cloak and hat and patiently waited for the railway official to pass him. The official did pass him, thinking him a young lady, but a woman who looked for the seat called the official back and the disgraced young man had to travel. This made room for two, as the young lady left the seat also. The woman said she did not care so much for the seat, but she wished to have revenge for the insult offered to her sex by such a selfish and ungallant person wearing their habiliments.

THE N. T. & Q. RAILWAY.

The New Company Formed—Work to be Began and Completed by Nov. 15th.

On Tuesday the negotiations, referred to in the Express last week, underway between the Railway Company and Messrs. E. W. Rathbun and Geo. A. Cox, were closed and a new Company formed. There was a full attendance of the directors of the old Company, with the exception of Mr. J. S. Hayden, who is absent at Old Orchard Beach, and both Mr. Rathbun and Mr. Cox were also present. The agreement was drawn by Mr. John Bell, solicitor of the Grand Trunk, Belleville, and having been signed by Mr. Cox, the others having affixed their signatures last week, the work of organizing the new company was proceeded with. Mr. Rathbun having taken an equal number of shares with the old company was entitled to four representatives on the Board, therefore it was necessary for some of the old board to resign, and this was done by Messrs. Roe, Conolly and Caton. Another of the old directors has yet to resign. The following directors were then elected:—Messrs. R. Henry, W. F. Hall, E. W. Rathbun, Geo. A. Cox, R. C. Carter, W. R. Ayleworth, Peter Vanhook, E. W. Benjamin, and J. S. Hayden. The officers are as follows:—Alex. Henry, President; Geo. A. Cox, Vice-President; E. W. Rathbun, General Manager; W. S. Williams, Secretary; F. S. Rathbun, Treasurer. The contract with Mr. M. C. Cow for completing the road was finally awarded and his guarantee to have it in running order by the 15th of November was accepted. The line is now being delivered on the ground, and we understand the rails have been bought. Mr. Row will commence work as soon as the engineer arrives. Mr. M. J. Butler, C. E., who now superintends the construction of Messrs. Rathbun's branch railway at Gananoque will, it is expected, be the engineer in charge. Napance Express, Aug. 24.

The Northern Advance notices the walking match which will take place here on the evening of Sept. 10th, for the purse offered by Mr. Tom McNaughton, and says that "Barrie will be there."

Personal.
Mr. Chas. E. Stewart, of the Bobcaygeon Independent, registered at the Calise House today.

P. C. Pidgeon, who has been away a week on holidays was in town to day. His furlough does not expire for another week.

Council Meeting.
Notice has been issued calling a meeting of the Town Council in the Council Chamber this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Something unusual is evidently expected, as placards have been posted up advising the ratepayers to attend the meeting. If any exciting subjects should be discussed it is to be hoped that the Councillors will deal with them calmly, stating their views concisely, as no doubt they will.

A. C. A. Notes.
Mr. Wilkin, of the Kickerbocker Canoe Club, and ex-Commodore Edwards, of Peterborough, came down the river from Lakefield this morning. They had a splendid run, making the six miles from Lakefield to Nassau Mills in forty minutes.
Mr. Hand, of the K.C.C., New York, left for home this morning. Messrs. Wilkin, Brentano and Keyser, of the same club, and Mr. Kerr, Toronto C.C., are in town to-day, and will depart in the morning.

The Salvation Army.
A ripple of excitement was caused at noon today by the appearance on the streets of an officer of the Salvation Army in uniform. As it had been currently reported that the army was about to invade Peterborough, the friends of the leader against whom the army fights, began to tremble. But the army is not going to torment them before their time. Lieut. Woodyard, for that is the officer's name, was on a visit to the Midland railway offices to secure reduced fares from Lindsay to Toronto on the occasion of the celebration of the army's anniversary in Toronto on the 3rd of Sept., and he was successful. The gallant officer is very brave, as he says it is the desire of himself and the army to attack Satan's greatest strongholds first, and to thus more quickly exterminate his influence. The Army intends to make Peterborough the scene of a bloodless conflict soon, if they can secure suitable barracks in which to hold their knee drills. Barrie was invaded on Sunday. The lieutenant says that the enemy has lost much ground in Lindsay, but they do not consider that they are in possession of the field yet, and they wish to stay there until they are conquerors.

Collisions at Sea.
LONDON, Aug. 26.—The French steamer, St. Germain, Captain Bonneau, Havre for New York, and the steamer Woodburn, from the East, collided off Eddystone lighthouse at 3 o'clock this morning. The Woodburn sank immediately, and eighteen of her crew were drowned. The St. Germain, which was disabled, has arrived in Plymouth with her passengers, and the saved from the Woodburn. The steamer Palermo, Hamburg to Lisbon, collided off Eddystone with the steamer Rivoli from Balise in Middleborough. The latter sank; five persons were drowned. A thick fog prevailed.

Ancient Circular Saw.
That the hard basalt and granite used in Egyptian buildings of some 4,000 years ago, were cut by circular saws of some sort, is proved by recently examined specimens with the tool marks fresh upon them. The circular marks are as distinct on these imperishable stones as on a fresh pine plank. The proof of the existence of ancient circulars is curious, for that form of saw has been believed to be of modern invention.—The Wood-Worker.

Borford's Acid Phosphate IN DEBILITY.
Dr. W. H. Holcombe, of New Orleans, La., says: "I found it an admirable remedy for debilitated state of the system produced by the wear and tear of the nervous energies."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE DEAD DE CHAMBORD.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The Press says the will of Count de Chambord was opened on Friday and nothing found referring to the political wishes of the comte. The count left a large legacy to the Pope, who has conduced with the family. The funeral will be the occasion of a grand legitimist demonstration. They will go into mourning for six months.

ANOTHER FRENCH VICTORY.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—A telegram received by the Minister of Marine from Saigon to-day announces that the French had bombarded and captured the forts and batteries at the mouth of the Haie river after a brilliant land attack. Seven hundred Annamites were killed during the engagement. The only casualties suffered by the French were several men slightly wounded.

HIS COURAGE FAILED.

LIMERICK, Aug. 25.—At the examination of Dr. Connolly and Patrick Connolly, brothers, who were arrested at Bruff on a charge of implication in murder and conspiracy, Michael Dineen testified that the Connollys compelled him to swear he would shoot John Carroll, the rent warner of Earl Limerick, and promised that the head centre would pay him £50 for so doing. The prisoners and himself laid waiting several times for Carroll, but witness' courage failed and he did not shoot him.

AMERICAN.

FATAL FIRE.

Boston, Aug. 26.—Fire broke out this morning in a two story tenement in Thatcher's court, occupied by eight families. Before the inmates could be rescued four were smothered and one fatally injured by jumping. The killed are Geo. and Thos. McLaughlin, 14 and 11; Mrs. Fred Savage, Katie and Marie Savage. John and Fred Savage and John McLaughlin had been drinking and were engaged in a row. One threw a lighted lamp at another, which started the fire. The three have been arrested.

FIGHT AMONG INDIANS.

PORT BUFORD, Mon., Aug. 25.—There is great excitement over a fight at Little Muddy between the Cree and Grosventre Indians. Many were wounded. The former stole horses from the latter. Troops are in pursuit of the thieves.

Two Children Fatally Poisoned.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25.—Two children, 8 and 5 years old, of Thomas Fraser of Mount Brydges, died from the effects of strychnine administered by mistake. Criminal proceedings will probably be taken against Dingman, the druggist who supplied the poison.

Sworn by His Dagger.

A sensational despatch comes from Halley, I. T., to the effect that a gang of cowboys has been organized and are now on their way to capture President Arthur and party and hold them for ransom. The last sentence of the despatch is quite amusing. "A grand council was held night before last on the prairie, when every man swore by his dagger in the freight to do his duty."

Crushed in a Tunnel.

FOURCHES, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Three young men, Fathem Freeman, and Henry Mitchell, of Cambridge, Mass., and a stranger said to have been a waiter in the Parker House, Boston, got on top of a sleeping car on a New York Central train at Peekskill last evening, to steal a ride to Albany. When passing through the Redhook tunnel Mitchell and the waiter had their skulls crushed and were killed. Freeman was uninjured.

Suspicious.

A skeleton was unearthed at Fort Franks last week, and the case excites a suspicion of foul play. Some men in the employ of the Fort Franks mill were digging in a bank and discovered the skeleton of what is supposed to be the body of a girl about nine years old, with long golden hair. The tragedy, if tragedy it was, must have taken place about twenty years ago. No coffin enclosed the remains, which were only a foot or two under the ground, and only covered by a rough board placed all over the body.

A Windfall.

Andrew Weaver, Esq., of Bothwell, has received official notification that he has fallen heir to $1,250,000. Mr. Weaver's great grandfather was a German, who settled in England with a considerable fortune more than a century ago. His means were invested in real estate and in public securities, which have become immensely valuable. Mr. Weaver's father died four years ago in Sydneyham, and was the sole heir to the property. Mr. Weaver, of Bothwell, is the only living heir to the property. The real representatives have recently communicated with Mr. Weaver, and he expects to go to England this autumn for the purpose of a final settlement with the officials of the Court of Chancery for the surrender of the property. In other words, Mr. Weaver has had spun out for him in the loom of fate a golden web, in which he can be contented for the rest of his days.

Don't forget the Forsters' excursion on Thursday next, 28th August, to Conchaling Park and Orillia. See large posters and banners.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and exalts into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. LORD COLERIDGE.

A REVIEW OF HIS CAREER.
Lord Coleridge bears a name associated not only with some of the masterpieces of English literature, but with the legal history of England for the last century. His grandfather, the Rev. John Coleridge, a goodly pastor and an author of some talent, still lives in the recollections of his Devonshire circle as an eccentric genius. He kept a school, wrote books, and sermonized his flock, but all on a novel method of his own, and his dissertation on the seven-tenth and eighteenth Books of Judges begins with a well-written preface on the Bible and his method of teaching Latin. A kindly but absent-minded man was the Rev. John, who was the father of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, the poet, and of the Right Hon. Sir John Taylor Coleridge, the father of the present Lord Chief Justice. Sir John Taylor Coleridge stands eminent among the judges of England, though his own honours have been transcended by those of his son. He was one of the judges of the Court of Queen's Bench from 1835 to 1856, when he retired full of honours, but still with nearly twenty years of his life before him. His influence upon his son's career must not be underestimated. His own career as a lawyer, a jurist, and a judge, was so distinguished, extending over the whole period of his son's rise and training up to the very time of his assuming the bench, that it is impossible to ignore the effect or rightly estimate the influence which such an example, together with constant and familiar intercourse with a man like that of Sir J. T. Coleridge, had upon the development and prospects of John Duke, now Lord Coleridge. It is mainly owing to his father's position that the career of the Lord Chief Justice has been one of such uninterrupted success.

EDUCATION AND EARLY LIFE.
Born in the year 1821, Lord Coleridge had the advantage of an Eton curriculum under his uncle, the Rev. Edward Coleridge, and in course of time passed on to Oxford University. As an undergraduate he was distinguished for his studiousness and varied scholarship, and as a speaker and debater at the "Union" debating society he was never surpassed. He obtained a scholarship at Balliol College after a keen competition with some of his fellow students, and was afterwards elected to a fellowship at Exeter College, graduating as bachelor of arts in 1847, and as master of arts in 1849. Called to the bar at the end of the same year, he entered upon his career with every advantage which fortune could bestow upon him. His career as an advocate was to him much what his father's had been—one unobscured by his whole temperament, but which he was obliged, in the course usual in the profession of his choice, to pass through. When his father, some seventy years of age, announced his intention of going into the law, his friend, Sir Joseph Arnold, did all he could to dissuade him, not because of doubt of his success, but because his feelings were strong against the painful necessity which advocates were under of maintaining a certain cause, and knowingly suppressing truth.

ON THE HIGH ROAD TO FAME.
Upon the Western circuit, whether Mr. Coleridge was at that time a prominent position. He was remarkable for his great forensic powers, associated with an eloquence far above the ordinary range of the bar, and he accordingly ran rapidly to the front rank, and became leader of the circuit. His rise was then assured and some nine years after his call to the bar he was appointed recorder of Plymouth. His training as a judge, so much more congenial to his temperament, now began, and before his father retired from the bench in 1856 he saw his son well on the high road of success. In 1856 he was made Queen's Counsel, and nominated a bencher of the Middle Temple. Then according to the fashion in England, having secured a Parliamentary seat, he was made one of the chief law advisers of the Crown, and was knighted in the usual course upon obtaining his peerage. In 1858, upon the formation of Mr. Gladstone's government, he was selected to fill the office of Solicitor-General, and three years later, upon the resignation of Sir Robert Colclough, to a judgeship in the judicial department of the Privy Council, Sir J. D. Coleridge succeeded him as Attorney-General. This order in the normal one, although the two offices are of equal rank, and have merely a specified division of duties among the great departments of State. The Attorney-Generalship of Sir J. D. Coleridge was but short. The year 1873 brought with it two offers of almost equal brilliancy for him. Lord Romilly retired from the Mastership of the Rolls, and the Attorney-General, in spite of the fact of his being a member of the common law bar, received the offer for the appointment. This, after mature consideration, he, however, decided to decline, and the honor was subsequently conferred on the recently deceased Sir George Jessel. Sir John Coleridge was at that time earning a very large income as Attorney-General, and he had no wish to leave the bar, but a few months later he had no choice left.

THE LAST LORD CHIEF-JUSTICE OF THE COMMON PLEAS.

Sir William Bovill, the Lord Chief-Justice of the Common Pleas, died prematurely in the plenitude of his powers, and, as Attorney-General, Sir John Coleridge was entitled by prescription to the inheritance. He had no alternative but to accept the traditional right thus thrust upon him. The whole bar, the press, and the public were unanimous in their opinion as to his fitness to succeed, and in November, 1873, he was sworn in as Lord Chief-Justice of the Common Pleas. A year later he was raised to the peerage of the United Kingdom; and thus his father, two years before his death, had the satisfaction of seeing his son complete a career which, at the university, at the bar, and on the bench, had been but a repetition, only with still higher distinctions, of his own. The circumstance rendered the elevation of the Lord Chief-Justice unique, indeed almost unparalleled in the history of the profession. There is no more modern instance of the kind than that of Sir Thomas More, who was Chancellor while his son was a judge. The Earl of Camden, son of Chief-Justice Pratt, became Chief-Justice and Lord Chancellor, but not until after his father's death.

AS A JUDGE.

As a judge, Lord Coleridge has not had to decide upon any great cases, nor does he yet rank among the most eminent judges or Lord Chief-Justices of the past; but a jurist he has many eminent qualifications, and his views on jurisprudence are considered sound, and as leading to the higher development of modern law. One of his earliest functions was his appointment as secretary, to a commission to enquire into the great unimproved corporation of London. This was in 1854, and he then distinguished himself to the complete satisfaction of those who engaged him. Thirty years have elapsed, and he is again at the present time one of the Royal Commissioners associated with Lord Derby and the Duke of Bedford, who have been appointed to pronounce a final verdict upon the administration of these old guilds and their accumulated charitable funds. It is understood that the legal acumen and knowledge of Lord Coleridge have largely contributed to the Radical basis of the report which asserts that all property devised to them within the last fifty years is held to be sacred in respect to the views of the donors, but that all property acquired anterior to this period should be held to have the hand of the dead man taken off it, and should be now administered by the living to objects in which the living are interested. This is a new departure in the promulgation of opinions relative to such subjects, and the weight and authority of his name, coupled with that of Lord Derby, will no doubt secure important results to the citizens of London.

AS A WRITER.

To his gifts as an orator, a judge and a justice, Lord Coleridge adds those of a writer, and he has contributed several articles of considerable importance on the controversial questions of the day to the Edinburgh Review and other periodicals. An attack upon his father for a sentence on a man for blasphemy, written by Buckle, the historian, in Fraser's Magazine, in 1857, called forth an answer from the pen of Lord Coleridge, which made the public feel that Mr. Buckle had gone out of his way to make a most unjustifiable attack upon a judge whose decision was unimpeachable. It was the first and only time that the Lord Chief-Justice was drawn into a personal controversy, and the majority of people considered his conduct not only justifiable, but perfectly warranted by the uncalculated forerunner of the calumny.

THE TIMID TIGER.

Indian Carelessness in the Matter of Mortal Dangers.

As a matter of fact, the tiger is not a specially ferocious animal. As the greatest authority on Indian natural history says, it is a "harmless, timid animal." It feeds on animals that are prodigiously injurious to crops, and there are on record in India the complaints of villagers on the increase of deer and wild pigs in consequence of the destruction of the tiger in their neighbourhood. When it gets too feeble to catch wild animals it begins to eat tame ones, or, easier victims still, the men or women who are in charge of the cattle. It then becomes, as a "man-eater," a criminal against humanity—and death cannot overtake it too soon. But it is only those who know the Hindoo thoroughly who can credit the amazing apathy of these men even when in imminent danger. So long as it is not actually visible they refuse to take precautions against peril, and I remember during the Afghan war assisting to thrash some lazy fellows in order to rouse them to a proper sense of the necessity of saving their lives. They had squatted down to smoke by the roadside in the Khyber pass, though they knew the enemy was lurking in the rocks above them, and in the gleam behind them; though they had their own eyes upon the corpses of camp followers, lying where they had been murdered when they sat down to smoke. In the very same way the herdsmen come lazing home in the twilight, singing a song of the country as he goes (let the tiger know that he is coming, probably), and suddenly out of the sugar cane flashes the tiger, and then there is an end of that herdsmen. But the next man will take another road, of course, on his way home, but he will lag behind his cattle and sing to himself in the same ridiculous way, and on from under the pair tree sprang the same old tiger. Indeed, it is one of the problems of Indian administration how to keep the natives from suicide. They prefer to have half the village down with smallpox and then to carry a dead chicken round the stricken hamlet on the end of a pole than to be vaccinated. They prefer to lose a prodigious number of their acquaintances by drowning than protect their wells. They prefer to have tens of thousands of men and women bitten by snakes in the toes and thumbs, and die therefrom, than let enough light into a hut to see the difference between firewood and cobra.—Belgrave.

A TOUCHING STORY.

In a pottery factory here there is a workman who had one small invalid child at home. He wrought at his trade with exemplary fidelity, being always in the shop with the opening of the day. He managed, however, to bear each evening to the bedside of his "wee lad," as he called him, a flower, a bit of ribbon, or a fragment of crimson glass—indeed anything that would lie out on the white counterpane and give a colour to the room. He was a quiet, unassuming man, but never went home at night without something that would make the wee face light up with joy at his return. He never said to a living soul that he loved that boy so much. Still he went on patiently loving him. And by-and-by he moved that whole shop into positively real, but unconscious, fellowship with him. The workmen made curious little jags and cups upon their wheels, and painted diminutive pictures down their sides before they stuck them in the corners of the kiln at burning time. One brought some fruit in the bulk of his apron, and another engraved in a rude scrap-book. Not one of them whispered a word, for they put them in the old man's bag, where he found them, so he understood all about it, and bore it in such silence, as you will, but it is a fact, that the entire pottery full of men, of rather coarse shaven beards, grew quiet, as the months drifted, becoming gentle and kind, and some dropped weeping as the weary look on the patient fellow-worker's face told them beyond mistake that the feeble shadow was drawing nearer. Every day now some find a piece of work for him, and put it on the plank to dry so that he could come later and go earlier. So, when the bell tolled, and the little coffin came out of the lovely door, right round the corner, out of which there stood 1000 hardworking men from the pottery with their clean clothes and some of whom gave a half day's time for the privilege of taking part in the simple procession, and following to the grave that small burden of a child which probably not one had ever seen.—Cinead's News-Journal.

The best dollar excursion of the season will be on Thursday next, when the Foresters of Peterborough will picnic at Conningham Park, Orillia.

Romance of a Russian.

A strange case has come to light in Washington in which, it is said, a nobleman is involved. Many people have noticed, in the early morning, walking close to the curb in the line of the street sweepers, a man past the middle age. The man would walk along muttering, and, with a frequent stooping to pick up something, which he put in his pocket. When daylight arrived he would walk to the northern part of the city, going above the boundary for a north-easterly direction. He had his abode in a little hut about a mile this side of the Soldier's Home. He was known to his neighbors as "Old Tom," his real name being unknown. No one seemed to know anything about him, for he was there before they came. He was quiet, rarely speaking, and never seemed to smile. About a month ago he disappeared, and his neighbors missing him began to enquire about him. On Thursday last a number of them broke in his house, and found that he had entirely disappeared and left no trace of his whereabouts. A small catch of Russian leather was found in a closet, and upon its being opened a package of letters was disclosed. The letters were from Russia, and bore the address, "Voetsa Sazouloff, city post-office, Washington, D. C., while in one corner was a request to please hold until called for. The contents of the letters were in Russian, but one in English spoke of "Old Tom" as the Count Parouff, and informed him that his father had long since regretted what he had done, and implored his return home. The letter went on to say that the death of the late Emperor had ended his sentence of banishment, and he was at liberty to return. The letters were held by a Mr. Woodson, living near by, so that in case they are called for they can be found.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. ALL FOR $3!

THE HOUSEHOLD.

FOR ROUGH OR CHAPPED HANDS.—Three ozs. lemon juice, 3 ozs. white wine vinegar, 1 pt. white brandy, 1 oz. glycerine.

TOILET WASH.—Here is a very nice one for the toilet. Four ozs. maris ammonia, 4 ozs. pulverized borax, 8 ozs. soda, 1 gal. hot water.

FRUIT PASTES.—Take small onions, tomatoes, string beans and cauliflower; cook them in salt and water; when done bottle and pour over them boiled vinegar, which has been thickened with mustard.

TOMATO CATSUP.—To one gallon of pulp put half a pint of vinegar, one teaspoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and salt, half a tablespoonful of black and cayenne pepper. Boil down one-half.

FACE WASH.—One oz. bay rum, 1 oz. eucalypti, 1 oz. liquid potash, 1 oz. oil of lemon, 1 oz. of glycerine, 1 1/2 ozs. flake white. Mix all together and shake well before using. Apply with a sponge. This is said to cure pimples on the face.

CHILI SAUCE.—Ten ripe tomatoes, eight green peppers, six onions, one tablespoonful of salt, a half cupful of sugar, one quart of vinegar; chop onions, peppers and tomatoes very fine, and boil all together for two hours. If a larger quantity is needed double the proportions.

REMOVAL OF FRECKLES.—The careful application of a small piece of the ointment of the ointment of copper at night upon retreating will usually remove freckles. The ointment is usually prepared by dissolving one drachm of the salt of copper in sufficient oleum of olive.

FOR A BRUISE.—To prevent the skin from discoloring after a blow or fall, take a little dry starch or arrowroot and merely moisten it with cold water and lay it on the injured part. This must be done immediately, so as to prevent the action of the air upon the skin. However, it may be applied some hours afterward with effect.

ARTIFICIAL OYSTERS.—Take young green corn, grate it in a dish; to one pint of this add one egg well beaten, a small teaspoon of flour, half cup of butter, some salt and pepper, and mix well together. A tablespoonful of the batter will make the size of an oyster. Fry them a light brown and when done butter them; cream, if it can be procured, is better than butter.

A NICE BREAKFAST DISH.—Remove the skin from a dozen tomatoes; cut them up in a saucepan; add a little butter, pepper and salt; when sufficiently boiled heat up five or six eggs, and just before you serve turn them into the saucepan with the tomatoes and stir one way for two minutes, allowing them time to be done thoroughly.

OLD MANUSCRIPTS.—While transcribing a large number of manuscripts of an old and rare book, I was struck with the clearness and legibility of the writing, owing in a great measure to the permanent quality of the ink, which had not faded in the least, although many of the manuscripts were 200 years old, says a writer in Notes and Queries.

It was remarkable, too, that the writer must have been celebrated in his day for the excellence of his calligraphy, for I met with a letter or two from his correspondents in which there was a request for the recipe of the ink he used. The recipe is as follows:—Rainwater, 1 gallon; galls, bruised, 1 pound; green copperas, 4 pounds; gum arabic, 30 ounces; 6 drams, 1 scruple. Not requiring so large a quantity at a time, I reduced the proportion by one-fourth, and the recipe stands thus: Rainwater, 1 pint; galls, bruised, 1 1/2 ozs.; green copperas, 6 drams; gum arabic, 10 drams.

The galls should be coarsely powdered, and put into a bottle, and the other ingredients and water added. The bottle, securely stoppered, is placed in the light (sun, if possible) and its contents are stirred occasionally until the gum and copperas are dissolved, after which it is enough to shake the bottle daily, and in the course of a month or six weeks the ink will be ready for use. I have ventured to add 10 drops of carbolic acid to the contents of the bottle, as it effectually prevents the fermentation and growth of mold without any detriment to the quality of the ink, as far as I know.

For beauty and durability of color the Triangle Pack is the best. If you never used, try it before, so you will be convinced. 10c.

THE EYE.

The eye shows character. The eyes of great warriors have almost always been gray, their brows lowering like thunder clouds. Inventors have large eyes, very full. Philosophers, the most illustrious have had large and deep set eyes. The poets all have large, full eyes; and musicians eyes are large and lustrous. Buffon considers that the most beautiful eyes are the black and blue. We think we have seen black and blue eyes that were far from beautiful. Byron says the gazelle will weep at the sound of music. The gazelles eyes have been called the most beautiful in the world, and the greatest compliment an eye can pay to its mistress is to compare her eyes to a gazelle's. Cleopatra had black eyes. Mary Queen of Scots had liquid gray eyes. Dark eyes show power, light eyes gentleness, and gray eyes sweetness. There is great magnetic power to the eyes of several of the lower animals. The horse's eyes and the serpent's eyes are all magnetic. It is well known the serpent with charmed birds that are flying above it, until in desperate haste they will sweep down to the destruction that awaits them. A friend of the writer, a doctor, was one day walking in the fields, when he saw an adder lying on a rock. He drew near to examine it, and presently looked at its eyes. He was attracted by their great beauty, and involuntarily stepped forward two or three steps. Beautiful light flowed from them and seemed to bathe the very coils of the serpent. Gradually he drew closer, until, just as he was about to strike the reptile's head, he fell, feeling, as he had afterwards, as though he had been struck by a stone. When he became conscious his head was in a friend's lap. His first words were: "Who struck me?" "No one struck you, doctor. I struck it with a stone." He had struck the snake, and the doctor had felt the blow.—Chicago Eye.

ITCHING PILLS.—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are, itching, redness, swelling, and a burning sensation, particularly at night, when the patient is unable to sleep. It is caused by a parasite, which is a small, white, worm-like creature, which is found in the folds of the skin, particularly in the folds of the neck, and in the folds of the arms and legs. THE HOUSEHOLD.

FOR ROUGH OR CHAPPED HANDS.—Three ozs. lemon juice, 3 ozs. white wine vinegar, 1 pt. white brandy, 1 oz. glycerine.

TOILET WASH.—Here is a very nice one for the toilet. Four ozs. maris ammonia, 4 ozs. pulverized borax, 8 ozs. soda, 1 gal. hot water.

FRUIT PASTES.—Take small onions, tomatoes, string beans and cauliflower; cook them in salt and water; when done bottle and pour over them boiled vinegar, which has been thickened with mustard.

TOMATO CATSUP.—To one gallon of pulp put half a pint of vinegar, one teaspoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and salt, half a tablespoonful of black and cayenne pepper. Boil down one-half.

FACE WASH.—One oz. bay rum, 1 oz. eucalypti, 1 oz. liquid potash, 1 oz. oil of lemon, 1 oz. of glycerine, 1 1/2 ozs. flake white. Mix all together and shake well before using. Apply with a sponge. This is said to cure pimples on the face.

CHILI SAUCE.—Ten ripe tomatoes, eight green peppers, six onions, one tablespoonful of salt, a half cupful of sugar, one quart of vinegar; chop onions, peppers and tomatoes very fine, and boil all together for two hours. If a larger quantity is needed double the proportions.

REMOVAL OF FRECKLES.—The careful application of a small piece of the ointment of the ointment of copper at night upon retreating will usually remove freckles. The ointment is usually prepared by dissolving one drachm of the salt of copper in sufficient oleum of olive.

FOR A BRUISE.—To prevent the skin from discoloring after a blow or fall, take a little dry starch or arrowroot and merely moisten it with cold water and lay it on the injured part. This must be done immediately, so as to prevent the action of the air upon the skin. However, it may be applied some hours afterward with effect.

ARTIFICIAL OYSTERS.—Take young green corn, grate it in a dish; to one pint of this add one egg well beaten, a small teaspoon of flour, half cup of butter, some salt and pepper, and mix well together. A tablespoonful of the batter will make the size of an oyster. Fry them a light brown and when done butter them; cream, if it can be procured, is better than butter.

A NICE BREAKFAST DISH.—Remove the skin from a dozen tomatoes; cut them up in a saucepan; add a little butter, pepper and salt; when sufficiently boiled heat up five or six eggs, and just before you serve turn them into the saucepan with the tomatoes and stir one way for two minutes, allowing them time to be done thoroughly.

OLD MANUSCRIPTS.—While transcribing a large number of manuscripts of an old and rare book, I was struck with the clearness and legibility of the writing, owing in a great measure to the permanent quality of the ink, which had not faded in the least, although many of the manuscripts were 200 years old, says a writer in Notes and Queries.

It was remarkable, too, that the writer must have been celebrated in his day for the excellence of his calligraphy, for I met with a letter or two from his correspondents in which there was a request for the recipe of the ink he used. The recipe is as follows:—Rainwater, 1 gallon; galls, bruised, 1 pound; green copperas, 4 pounds; gum arabic, 30 ounces; 6 drams, 1 scruple. Not requiring so large a quantity at a time, I reduced the proportion by one-fourth, and the recipe stands thus: Rainwater, 1 pint; galls, bruised, 1 1/2 ozs.; green copperas, 6 drams; gum arabic, 10 drams.

The galls should be coarsely powdered, and put into a bottle, and the other ingredients and water added. The bottle, securely stoppered, is placed in the light (sun, if possible) and its contents are stirred occasionally until the gum and copperas are dissolved, after which it is enough to shake the bottle daily, and in the course of a month or six weeks the ink will be ready for use. I have ventured to add 10 drops of carbolic acid to the contents of the bottle, as it effectually prevents the fermentation and growth of mold without any detriment to the quality of the ink, as far as I know.

For beauty and durability of color the Triangle Pack is the best. If you never used, try it before, so you will be convinced. 10c.

THE EYE.

The eye shows character. The eyes of great warriors have almost always been gray, their brows lowering like thunder clouds. Inventors have large eyes, very full. Philosophers, the most illustrious have had large and deep set eyes. The poets all have large, full eyes; and musicians eyes are large and lustrous. Buffon considers that the most beautiful eyes are the black and blue. We think we have seen black and blue eyes that were far from beautiful. Byron says the gazelle will weep at the sound of music. The gazelles eyes have been called the most beautiful in the world, and the greatest compliment an eye can pay to its mistress is to compare her eyes to a gazelle's. Cleopatra had black eyes. Mary Queen of Scots had liquid gray eyes. Dark eyes show power, light eyes gentleness, and gray eyes sweetness. There is great magnetic power to the eyes of several of the lower animals. The horse's eyes and the serpent's eyes are all magnetic. It is well known the serpent with charmed birds that are flying above it, until in desperate haste they will sweep down to the destruction that awaits them. A friend of the writer, a doctor, was one day walking in the fields, when he saw an adder lying on a rock. He drew near to examine it, and presently looked at its eyes. He was attracted by their great beauty, and involuntarily stepped forward two or three steps. Beautiful light flowed from them and seemed to bathe the very coils of the serpent. Gradually he drew closer, until, just as he was about to strike the reptile's head, he fell, feeling, as he had afterwards, as though he had been struck by a stone. When he became conscious his head was in a friend's lap. His first words were: "Who struck me?" "No one struck you, doctor. I struck it with a stone." He had struck the snake, and the doctor had felt the blow.—Chicago Eye.

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY

THE ANNUAL EXCURSION OF THE EMPLOYEES OF THE COMPANY.

A Monday Gathering at Hutton's Grove, near Lindsay—A Long Programme of Sports—The Prize Winners—A Pleasant Ending.

The annual excursion and picnic of the employees of the Midland Railway of Canada was held on Saturday. Hutton's grove, about two miles on the far side of Lindsay, was the picnic ground, where the employees from along the line and their friends assembled. The train from Peterborough was expected to leave at 8 o'clock, but it was a few minutes after that hour before it arrived from Lakeside, and it was half-past eight when it got away from the Peterborough station. The train from here consisted of eight coaches, all well filled, and the party was accompanied by the Fire Brigade Band. The Port Hope train was waiting at Millbrook when the Peterborough contingent arrived there, and the two trains were joined in one, making an immense train of twenty-eight cars. From Millbrook to Lindsay three locomotives drew the train, and from that station to Lindsay two engines did the work. Lindsay was reached at eleven o'clock, and there the train was delayed for over an hour, and it was after twelve o'clock when the excursionists arrived at the picnic ground. Hutton's grove is an excellent picnic ground, as it is large, well covered with trees and grass and free from underbrush. There was a good level place for the sports, and it would be difficult to find a place better adapted for the purpose.

The first event on the programme after the arrival at the grove was dinner. The grove was transformed, as by magic, from a quiet wood to a populous town of about five thousand inhabitants. Every tree was a house, under the shelter of whose "roof tree" a family took shelter; and many of the larger trees were tenanted by houses, where more than one family party lodged.

Dinner, having been partaken of, the sports began. A large dancing platform was continually occupied, the music for the dancing being furnished by Harris' string band, of Lindsay. A large crowd

WITNESSED THE SPORTS, while others amused themselves in various ways. The programme was a very long one, and the fact that it was fully carried out is creditable to the committee of management. The prizes were valuable, and the greater part of them were presented by the business men of Peterborough and Port Hope. The judges were Messrs. C. H. Croft, W. H. Morris, John A. Cheer, Capt. James R. Mitchell, A. Spooner, H. O'Leary and F. R. Randall. During the progress of the sports the Peterborough band played several selections. The following is a list of the events and the prize winners:—

HURDLE RACE (400 yards)—T. Sharp 1st and H. T. Hamby 2nd.
QUARTER MILE RACE (employees under 18 years)—M. Foley 1st, J. McCannell 2nd, and T. Houston 3rd.

COMMITTEES' RACE (100 yards)—J. McMillan 1st, H. Henderson 2nd, W. Chislett 3rd, and T. Walton 4th.
TWO OF WAR (section men and shop men)—Won by the shop men.
LADIES' CONSOLATION RACE—Miss Hamilton 1st, Miss Walton 2nd, Miss Simpson 3rd, and Miss Chislett 4th.
CONSOLATION RACE—Cromson 1st, J. Young 2nd, and W. Riddle 3rd.
TWO OF WAR (shop men and high-end train men)—Won after a hard struggle by the high-end men.
QUOT RACE—Cheer and Arnold 1st, and Campbell and Driscoll 2nd.

DANCING.

While the other sports were going on, the dancing platform was cleared and a competition began for prizes. This competition was very interesting, and the crowd gave evidence of the pleasure felt by repeatedly cheering. There were eight prizes for dancing, and they were won as follows:—
WALTZ—Mr. W. J. Foster and Miss Maggie Foster.
SCHOTTISCHE—Mr. Curran and Miss Scott.
IRISH JIG—Mr. J. Driscoll and Mrs. J. Mercer.
BEST LADY STEP DANCER—Mrs. B. Kelly.
HORNPIPE—Miss Mary Mohar.
The sports were concluded at about six o'clock. During the afternoon there were a number of toy races for children under eight years of age, which caused considerable amusement for the children and for older persons also. At six o'clock the grove was almost empty, the crowd having gathered at the railway track waiting for the train. Here the prizes were distributed by Mr. H. O'Leary, the Secretary reading out the names of the prize winners.

The following telegram, addressed to W. Gathwaite, Chairman, and W. H. Rowland, Secretary of the Committee, which had been received during the afternoon, was read in the hearing of the crowd:—
"PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 25.
"I regret very much that I am unavoidably prevented from being present at the picnic to-day. I had fully intended being there, but other pressing engagements deprived me of the pleasure. I wish you all a very pleasant day."
"GEO. A. COX."
Three rousing cheers were then given for the President of the Midland Railway.
The Cobocook and Midland north train first departed, followed by the Hallburton train and the Toronto and Whitby regular trains. The Peterborough and Port Hope train departed at about 7 o'clock, but was again delayed some time at Lindsay. Between Lindsay and Millbrook the cars uncoupled twice and a portion of the train was left behind, causing further delays, as the engines had to back up after them. At Millbrook the cars for Peterborough were soon switched on to the proper track, and the Peterborough Station was reached at twelve o'clock.

The picnic was a most successful one in every way. The attendance was very large, the sports were a success, there was plenty of enjoyment, and no accidents reported. The committee had a great deal on their hands to look after, but they appeared to be equal to the occasion, the only thing, perhaps, that could be complained of being their inattention to the requirements of the band, the members of which protested that they could not play without "a good square meal." This annual excursion was ahead of all previous ones, and will long be remembered by all those who attended it.

The Fire Brigade Band and Peterborough Orchestra accompany the Peterborough excursion to a lunching Park on Thursday next, 30th August. Round trip only one dollar.
Railway Notes.
The noon Midland train was half an hour late to-day and the Grand Junction train about two hours late.
A cow was run over by the excursion train on Saturday night between Lindsay and Otonabee.
St. Peter's Cathedral.
On Sunday evening the Rev. Father Ryan, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, a celebrated Jesuit lecturer, lectured in St. Peter's Cathedral, his subject being "Catholic culture." There was a large congregation present, and the lecture was an able one, impressively delivered.

Sold from a Window.
A little son of Mr. T. H. Munro, late of the firm of Messrs. Munro & Alexander, who has removed to Belleville to enter into business, fell from a window in the third story of the Dufresne House in that city on Saturday morning. The child is about three years old, and the distance he fell was about thirty feet. It is feared the child has sustained internal injuries. Mr. Munro's friends in Peterborough will regret to hear of this misfortune.

Venue's Almanac for 1884.
The Gemette Printing Co., Montreal, have acquired from Mr. Venue the copyright of his Almanac for next year, and it will be issued by them in October, printed on good paper, and otherwise got up in an attractive form. Mr. Venue states that the contents will be of unusual interest, several new features being added. Booksellers and news agents should send in their orders early, and applications for advertising space or almanacs should be addressed to Mr. RICHARD WATTS, Managing Director Gemette Printing Co., Montreal.

MOWAT CONSISTENCY.

A new charge against Sir John Macdonald brought by the Reform press is that in consequence of his personal the Orangemen of Ontario are about to apply for incorporation to the Provincial Legislature next session. There is no reason to suppose that Sir John gave any such advice, but if he did it would not be a grievous sin. We are reminded, however, that such an application would be very unpleasant to Mr. Mowat, who as a member supported such a measure in the House, and then in council as an adviser of the Lieutenant-Governor, recommended its not being allowed to become law. This is we believe the only instance on record of a cabinet minister under a British constitution thus disgracing himself, by either supporting a bill which he thought should not become law, or prostituting his official position to prevent a politically inconvenient measure from being placed upon the statute book, though he could not himself oppose it. Then there was the additional inconsistency of his inviting disavowance of a Provincial measure by the Dominion, a step which he considered such an outrage.

Still the Globe persists in calling those Conservatives who protest against the Mowat civil war "Copperheads." It has the amusing effrontery to say that it does not use the epithet as a mere nickname, as it leaves the practice of flinging epithets of this kind to its opponents, who have always had a monopoly of it! Surely by this time the Globe might have realized the absurdity of its blunder, in so misreading history. The "Copperheads" of the United States civil war were, like the Globe and its allies, men who pushed to its extremity the doctrine of State rights even at the cost of disruption. If the Globe must use abuse for want of argument, it might at least endeavor to avoid such a display of gross ignorance.

The Hamilton Spectator has the following remarks in reference to the choice by the Mowat Government of a turning officer for Algoma:—

"The Mowat Government is quite aware, of course. There is no need to make extra efforts to carry Algoma! And yet Mr. Mowat, after placing the writ in the hands of Sheriff Clarke, of Port Arthur, and discovering that that gentleman was minded to conduct the election fairly, requested him to resign, and handed over the position to A. W. Thompson, of Port Arthur, a good sound Grit."

THE MINNESOTA CYCLONE.
Deaths from the Calamity so far Reported—More Expected.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 25.—Governor Hubbard yesterday made an excursion about the ruins. He suggested that the Relief Committee prepare five thousand circulars. The circulars are written, and will be sent to all parts of the State. It recites the details of the loss by the cyclone—that 135 dwellings were destroyed in Rochester and the buildings of about forty farms. The business men of the city are all heavy losers, and cannot do as much as they would for the sufferers' relief. The committee rooms are crowded with applicants for provisions and shelter. It is estimated that 150 families in the city and 50 in the country are destitute, or 500 persons who require to be almost supported by charity for some days or weeks. About 200 were fed yesterday at the committee's lodges, besides meals that were sent out. The committee have determined to rebuild roughly the cyclone sufferers, but the sufferers which were demolished by the storm. These will number at least 50, and will cost from $350 to $1,000 each. The railroads will transport the lumber free. Sixteen car loads have already been ordered, and a call will be issued offering employment to hundreds of carpenters. Meanwhile the homeless families will be provided for in warehouses, although some sleep in the open air. The deaths so far reported are:—In Rochester and vicinity 29, two in Byron, two in Haverhill, two in Merriam. A mangled tramp was found south of the town yesterday who will die. Other deaths reported are, at Salem, John Lillier, John Anderson, Mrs. Mulda; at St. Charles, Job Shearington and Mr. Wells. At the improvised hospital there are twenty-nine patients, all doing fairly well, although two deaths are expected.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 26.—Twenty-five thousand dollars has been contributed towards the relief of the cyclone sufferers, but the funds are still inadequate. A hundred and fifty destitute are relying on outsiders to shelter them. Two more victims died today.

LAKE WINNIPEGOSIS.
A Torontonian's Trip to St. Large Trees and Big Pelicans.

Mr. McLean, of Toronto, a capitalist widely known in financial circles, has been prospecting among the timber limits at the northwest end of Lake Winnipegosis during the past month. He believes that the timber on the slopes of the Porcupine hills is unequalled in any other part of the Northwest, and is not surpassed on the whole continent. There is an abundance of trees measuring from 4 to 8 feet in circumference, and some of them measure 18 or 20 feet. The scenery in some parts is spoken very highly of by Mr. McLean. He was particularly charmed with the portion of the Red Deer river between Red Deer Lake and Lake Winnipegosis. The river is about two hundred yards wide and studded with small islands, which Mr. McLean describes as perfectly fairy-like. Salt springs are to be found here and there, marked by the peculiar greenness and luxuriance of the surrounding vegetation. At the mouth of the Red Deer river there are some springs from which Mr. McLean manufactured a quantity of excellent salt. He mentioned the vicinity of Deep Rock river and Salt river as other places where he had found salt springs. Ducks, geese, and geese, as well as pelicans, abound on Lake Winnipegosis at its northwest end. What particularly struck Mr. McLean was the immense size of the pelicans. Some of them, he says, measured nine feet between the extremities of the wings, while others would not have been less than nineteen feet.—Winnipeg Sun.

A Romantic Marriage.
A rather romantic marriage, says the Strathroy Dispatch, is that chronicled in our columns this week between Mr. James Anderson, sr., and Miss Bertha Curston, which event took place in St. John's Church on Saturday last, the holy rites being performed by the Rev. H. Hanwell. The bridegroom in question is a youth of three score and ten, having formerly been a respected citizen of Adelaide township. He has been just twice as many summers as his bride, if such a description can be permitted under the circumstances. The bride, though unfortunately blind, in a musician of superior attainments, and performs on the pianoforte with much skill and ability. After the ceremony the bridal party sat down to a rich wedding dinner in the Queen's hotel, which being done justice to, the happy couple took the afternoon train for a brief honeymoon trip. We offer them our cordial congratulations, and trust they will be spared to live long and happily together.

From Over the Sea.
At the arrival by the steamship Parthena at Rimouski on Saturday were the Marquis and Marchioness of Besano, Mrs. Carmichael, Col. M. J. S. Dennis, Mr. W. T. Hooley, Mr. and Mrs. Jameson and family, Mr. Z. A. Lash, Hon. Oliver Mowat, Miss Michie, Sir Leonard and Lady Tilley, Principal Smith of the Ontario Veterinary College, and Brig.-General Guver.

Manufacturing Spoils.
The spool factory at Piccadilly, eight miles from Sarnia, N. B., employs fifty hands. Twelve cords of wood per day are used, and spools of all sizes are made. The factory is turning out now about 10,000 gross per month, but it is equal to 17,000 gross per month, if necessary. Clark & Co., of Paisley, and other English thread manufacturers, are supplied.

North-West Salt.
A specimen of salt from Great Slave river, or rather Salt river, was brought in from Peace river lately. It is the only salt used in the Mackenzie, Athabasca and Peace river districts. It is perfectly pure, clean and good. It is superior in every particular to Gieseler salt.

Nerviline, What is it?
Police's Nerviline is a combination of the most potent pain relieving substances known to medical science. The constant progress made in this department of science points upward and onward. Nerviline is the latest discovery. For neuralgia, cramps, pains in the head—external, internal and local—Nerviline has no equal. Expend 10 cents in the purchase of a sample bottle of Nerviline and be convinced of the marvellous power over pain. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's. Large bottles 25 cents.

Concluding Park is one of the most popular and delightful summer resorts in Ontario. The famous excursion there Thursday next. Return tickets only.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE CHANNEL COLLISION.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The captain of the tug Recovery, which was towing the steamer Woodburn when the latter was sunk by the St. Germain, states that he had two bright lights at the topmast head, which was a clear indication that she had a tow. The St. Germain ported her helm at the last moment, thus causing a collision. The damage to the St. Germain is heavy. She filled with water to the lower bunk. There was a hundred and fifty tons of water in the fore compartment, and she was only prevented from sinking by the holding out of the bulk-head.

PERSECUTING THE JEWS.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—At Ekaterinodar, the scene of the riots against the Jews, 346 houses were wrecked and plundered. The losses are estimated at 611,000 roubles. Fourteen Russians wounded by the troops have since died. Total killed, 28. Numerous cases of Jew-baiting are reported elsewhere. The police and troops in most instances promptly suppressed the outrages. At Berdiansk eighty houses of the Jews were burned. The former inmates were without shelter.

ANTI-MAGYAR.

AGORA, Aug. 27.—There have been fresh anti-Magyar disorders. A Serb peasant demolished the Government notice boards as an intimation that the people do not recognize the Hungarian Crown. The mayor, communal notary, and a gendarme were badly wounded in a battle. Four persons were killed. The troops hurried to the scene. The disturbed districts have been proclaimed.

THE KING AND HIS TROOPS.

MADRID, Aug. 27.—Among the troops which the king reviewed at Logrono on Saturday was a regiment of Numancia cavalry which participated in the late revolt. The king rebuked it, and urged the men to be true to their country, so that Spain might be able to hold her position. The regiment cheered him. The Cabinet Council to-day, the king presiding, discussed the king's proposed visit to Germany, and suspension of the constitutional guarantee. Nothing was decided. The king expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the army, and the feeling of the people of the Province. The loyalty of some of the troops at Valencia having been suspected, a number of officers were transferred to Madrid. The journals who support the pretensions of Zorilla have started subscriptions for the relief of the families of the sergeants executed for taking part in the late revolt. Several well-known Republicans have subscribed largely.

TEXAS FEVER SCARE.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 27.—The cattle brought here by the steamer Ontario from Montreal were slaughtered, being suspected of having had Texan fever.

THE CHOLERA.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 17.—Seventeen deaths from cholera occurred here yesterday.

MADAGASCAR.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Times says the release of Rev. Mr. Shaw, British missionary in Madagascar, settles the Tamateve difficulty. France is really anxious for peace. The article of the North German Gazette attacking her was a waste of paper.

A FORGERY.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Dr. Ginsburg in his report to the managers of the British Museum, declares that the Shapira manuscript of the Book of Deuteronomy is a forgery.

SUBMISSION OF ANNAM.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A telegram from Chochoin China says the Emperor of Annam received the French Envoy on the 23rd inst. The Emperor showed complete submission. Annam will be compelled by treaty to pay the costs of the war, the French to retain the forts on the Hue river pending payment. The Annamite troops in Tonquin will be placed at the disposal of the French commander, and a prompt settlement is expected. Fifteen hundred reinforcements will embark for Tonquin in a fortnight.

RUMORED REVOLUTION.

HONG KONG, Aug. 27.—It is rumored that a revolution has broken out at Hue.

The Boston Oil Well.

On Saturday afternoon last the Boston oil well reached a depth of 1,004 feet, and work was discontinued, awaiting the further dictations of the directors of the company. In the last thirty feet two distinct veins of solid rock salt were gone through, varying from six to twelve inches thick, so nearly so could be ascertained by the drillers. In the last three feet the contents of the sand pump were found to be very salty, and it is the general belief of all interested that we have only to go a few feet further to obtain a bonanza salt well. A meeting of the directors was held on Monday evening, and Mr. Ward was settled with for the work done, and the future of the experiment was talked over. Every body was of the feeling that the well should not be left at this point with such bright prospects in view of the unearthing of an industry that would be such an important factor in the future prosperity of the place. It was decided, therefore, that a meeting of the stockholders be held and the affairs of the company explained, and that the shareholders do then decide what shall further be done—whether the well shall be continued or abandoned.

Don't forget the Forerunners' excursion on Thursday next, 28th August, to Cocklebury Park and Orillia. See large posters and banners.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. Fittig's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

There is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered Liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

In Dr. Cassen's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, AUGUST 28, 1883.

Desk Diaries.

Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

The Cells.

One prisoner, arrested for vagrancy, occupied the police cells last night.

Y. M. C. A.

The weekly young men's prayer meetings will be recommenced in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms this evening.

Journalistic.

The Toronto Evening Canadian has been permanently enlarged, a proof of success which is well deserved.

Cricket Match.

The Peterborough Cricket Club will play a match on Thursday, the day of the Foresters' excursion, at Orillia, with the club of that town.

Smith's Market.

Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

Personal.

Among those registered at the Oriental Hotel are Messrs. E. King Dodds and J. C. Bailey, of Toronto, and Mr. E. Davis Barnatt, of Port Hope.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cool and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district as issued from the Toronto Meteorological office at one o'clock this morning, for twenty-four hours, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh westerly to southerly winds; fair to cloudy weather, with local rain, followed by westerly winds, clearing weather and higher temperature.

Champagne Cider.

The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in large casks for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.

Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

First-class railway accommodation can be relied upon at the Foresters' excursion to Orillia on Thursday next. Return tickets only $1.00.

The "Illustrator."

Mr. Heller gave a performance in Bradburn's Opera House last night. The performance consisted of tricks and "illusions," and presents were distributed. The tricks were pronounced by those who attended to be "good of the kind," and we suppose the same might be said of the presents, although more disappointment was expressed in regard to the gifts. They were cheap affairs.

Railway Notes.

The noon trains were about twenty minutes late.

The Guide says that on Saturday morning while making up the excursion train in the yard at Port Hope, George Thompson, a brakeman, falling from Orillia, got his hand crushed between the buffers.

The Guide also says that a young lady came near being killed on Saturday evening on the excursion train, and that a man nearly lost his foot on the same occasion.

Notes of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.

East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Lacrosse Notes.

A match is being played this afternoon between two junior clubs of Peterborough for the Junior Championship.

It is expected that the Maple Leaf Club, of Kingston, will make an attempt this season to wrest the Gliderdale Cup from the Peterborough Club.

The following paragraph appears in the Kingston News of Saturday:—

"We were sorry to hear reports yesterday to the effect that discontent (which appears to be catching now-days) has crept into the Maple Leaf Lacrosse Club, and was showing itself. Rumors that morning not only confirm the report, but say that there is a probability of a disbandment. It appears that some of the members do not want to go to Belleville on the day named, having made previous engagements; others want to go to Peterborough first and play at Belleville on the way home, and others are desirous of carrying out the arrangements effected regarding the visit to Belleville. Some have threatened to leave the club before they will comply with the arrangements. This is a sad state of affairs, and many will regret to learn of it."

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Aug. 28.—Mr. Jas. Stevenson, J.P., and Mr. T. Mowles, J.P., presided at the court this morning.

VAGRANCY.

John O'Brien was charged by P. C. Adams with being a vagrant. He had only been a short time out of gaol, and was sent back for six months.

ASSAULT.

Rose Ann Bell was charged by Bridget Flaherty with having assaulted her. Evidence was taken and judgment was reserved.

The Junior Championship.

The following rules have been adopted in connection with the junior lacrosse championship of Peterborough and Ashburnham, and to govern the matches for the possession of the cup presented by Mr. W. A. Sanderson:—

1. Any junior lacrosse club in Peterborough or Ashburnham shall be entitled to play for the said championship, provided none of the players are over sixteen years of age.
2. The club holding the cup on the 31st of October, 1884, shall be considered the winners of the same, and can dispose of it in any manner they may think proper.
In other respects the championship matches will be governed by the Association rules.

Town Council Notes.

There was a very large attendance of ratepayers at the council meeting on Monday night, and they manifested their approval of the remarks made by Councillors by frequently applauding them. The remarks thus applauded were often intended more to be witty or humorous than instructive. The Councillors extended a hearty welcome to their audience.

The rate of taxation for this year was struck at 13 7-10 mills on the Protestant assessment and 14 8-10 mills on the Roman Catholic assessment. The rate last year was 11 1-10 mills. The explanation of the increase was that the purchase and erection of buildings had caused it. Councillor Sawers said that he had seven resolutions to move, but the other business took up so much time that he had not an opportunity of presenting them.

The question of communication between the fire hall and the waterworks pump house was referred back to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, so that a decision was postponed for a week.

Messrs. Fairweather & Co. sent in an account for $11.19 for goods damaged by water during the waterworks test.

There were some caustic remarks made during the evening, and the word "false" was used a couple of times, still the meeting was more humorous than acrimonious.

The council did not adjourn until twenty-five minutes to one o'clock this morning, and at that hour they had quite an audience, although it rapidly decreased after eleven o'clock.

FIRE ALARM.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I was very much amused last night in listening to the squabbling of our "old women," as regards communication between the fire hall and pump house. Now sir I have a few suggestions to make. In the first place, as Mr. Cahill truly said last night, the most natural thing for a man to do is to go to sleep. Now, of course I do not mean to say that a man who knows his duty will go to sleep of purpose, but the best will sometimes do it inadvertently. Now the first thing you want is an appliance to waken the engineer in case he is asleep. Now this can be had in the shape of a large electric bell, say one four or five inches in diameter, placed right over the engineer's chair which is the most likely place he would sleep. Well when the first fireman who arrives at the hall presses the electric button, he then makes sure of having a pressure of water sufficient to begin work with.

We will suppose the existing pressure proves insufficient, now all you want is a smaller electric bell with a regular code of signals to raise or lower the pressure, say every time there is a lower ring the pressure be raised 5 pounds. We will suppose the pressure to have been raised to 80 pounds, which continues for half an hour by which time the fire is pretty well quenched and we want the pressure lowered. Well, the person who gives the signal, gives two or three short, sharp, quick rings, then the engineer will know that all signals after that mean to have the pressure lowered, signals for lowering to be the same as those for raising. If the existing pressure is 80 pounds and the fireman want it down to 50, all that is necessary is to give 6 short rings, and you have the required pressure. Now Mr. editor, I think I have explained this sufficiently, and I may say that I think it much more efficient than a telephone. Every one knows what a small sound a telephone bell makes, not enough to awaken a man out of a day-dream, much less a sound sleep. On the other hand, I think it would be unwise to follow Mr. Cahill's advice and get an appliance to shake the teeth out of the engineer, because the town would be expected to get him a new set of false teeth, which would cost at least—well, never having had to get a set, I do not know what they would cost, but at any rate would bring up the price of communication beyond the price we would like to pay. Now the price of said electric bells would not cost any more than a telephone, at the same time much more efficient. Thanking you Mr. Editor for the space in your valuable paper.

I am yours, &c.,

PROTECTION.

MIDLAND.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Monday morning Mr. W. J. A. Johnston was at work in Mr. Clarke's planing factory, and while putting a belt on a pulley, was caught in a shaft and so badly mangled that he lived but twenty minutes.

Instantly Killed.

TAMMOR, Aug. 27.—This morning a young man named Fred. Morley, employed in Gilman's lumber yard, was accidentally thrown from a cart which he was driving, and his head striking a post he was instantly killed.

The Algoma Election.

This election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a useful hint to estimate that an absolute lead in the polls may be obtained by the judicious distribution to the electors of Putnam's Own Estimates, the grand remedy for cure. Every elector would be made happy, and would certainly vote for the person who had been so kind as to send him such a valuable document. There is no need of saying more. The only thing to be said is "be good." Use only Putnam's.

A BRIDE IN A BLOUSE.

About six or seven weeks ago the steamship from San Francisco brought a number of hands for the railway works at Yale. Among the number were two who seemed to be much attached to each other. The elder was a man of about 60, quite plain in appearance, but evidently a well educated gentleman. The younger appeared to be about 16 years of age, with a remarkably winning face, wearing a large hat drawn well over his eyes, small hands and neatly little feet. With the party these two left the city for Yale and immediately commenced work on the road, the supposed boy doing his share of the sawing and chopping with the rest and gaining many friends by his gentle and unobtrusive manners. After about ten or twelve days the elder of the two friends became sick and had to be removed to the hospital, where he was followed and nursed by his devoted little companion. The medical attendants soon discovered, however, that the supposed youth was a young lady and the wife of the sick man. She was immediately taken to the house of a lady residing at Yale, where, after discarding her masculine attire and assuming more becoming garments, she disclosed the fact that with her husband she had eloped from San Francisco, where her father and step-mother lived. They had objected to her choice and wanted her to accept the attentions of a man she disliked. Her lover persuaded her to leave home, and after being married they took the steamer for Victoria—the young wife disguised as a boy in order to elude pursuit.

The enthusiasm and admiration of the rough men with whom the young lady worked knew no bounds when they learned that their quiet little companion was a girl, and that she had endured the hardships of camp life in order to be near her husband. The husband returned to San Francisco a fortnight ago, leaving his wife with some kind friends at Yale. Having secured a house and furnished it he wrote for his young wife to come, and the brave little lady arrived down by the steamer R. F. Rithlet. She sailed for San Francisco on the Dakota to join her husband.—Victoria Press.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP CUP

The Cretes and Clippers Play For the Junior Championship—Cretes Victorious.

The first lacrosse match for the junior championship of Peterborough and Ashburnham, and the cup presented by Mr. W. A. Sanderson, was played on Tuesday afternoon between the Cretes and Clippers, both belonging to the town. Mr. H. LeBrun was chosen referee, and Messrs. P. Rudkins and M. M. Hackett acted as umpires. The teams took their place on the field shortly before three o'clock. The teams were composed as follows:—

CLIPPERS.	CRETES.
W. McNamara.....Goal.	F. Phelan
McDonald.....Point.	E. Stratton
McGee.....Cover Point.	P. Parnell
O. Martin.....Defence Field.	G. Gilbie
McNamara....." "	B. Duncan
A. Mitchell....." "	J. Connal
O. Watson.....Centre Field.	H. Huston
W. Kelly.....Home Field.	W. Trotter
J. Allen....." "	R. Manning
F. Goyette....." "	F. McNaughton
F. Traynor.....Outside Home.	J. Barry
C. Robertson.....Inside Home.	C. Manning
Jas. Sheehy.....Field Captain.	J. O'Brien

The first game was won by the Cretes in 19 minutes. At the face Watson got the ball and it travelled towards the Cretes goal, but it was soon returned, and the play continued lively.

Both teams had a strong defence, but the Cretes had better home players, McNaughton, who played home field, being generally pronounced by the spectators the best player on the field.

The boys played very well indeed, but the first game was ended by McNaughton throwing the ball on the goal and Canning putting it through.

The second game was stubbornly contested, both goal keepers and McDonald, of the Clippers (the Ross McKensie of the Otab), and Stratton, of the Cretes, doing some good playing.

The absence of rough playing was noticeable, and considerable really scientific playing was done. The second game lasted 48 minutes, and was won for the Cretes by Canning. The third game was a short one, lasting only four minutes, Trotter putting the ball through the legs and winning the third game for the Cretes.

The Cretes thus won the match and the championship by three straight games. Rain fell during the time of the match, and the boys had difficulty in keeping on their feet on the wet grass, but if they continue to practice they will be excellent players when they are old enough to take a place in the senior club.

Number One Company.
The Company will muster at the drill shed on Monday evening next at 7.30 p.m., to prepare for camp. There is room for a number of recruits. Apply to Captain Edwards, or any of the non-commissioned officers.

East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th.
Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

THE RAT PORTAGE TROUBLE.
Would not be Purchased—Specials in the Dock—A Magistrate Arrested.

The following is from the special correspondence of the Mail:—

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—The carpet-baggers at Rat Portage have tried to buy the Progress, for which $500 cash was offered, and declined with thanks. They thought the proprietors wanted more, and asked them to name a price, but were given to understand that Conservatives were not for sale. They then tried to bulldoze and intimidate, threatening to start an opposition paper, but it was no go. The Progress has always been independent, but is out this week as a square-toed Conservative.

The trial of the ex-Minnesota gaol-bird and Mowat policeman who ran amuck on Friday last with a brick in each hand is going on; also the trial of the two Mowat policemen who tried to rescue him.

Rat Portage advises that yesterday afternoon McLeod, known as "Jack the Bum," and J. Barr had a rough-and-tumble fight at Rat Portage. Barr had one ear badly bitten.
McLeod was arrested by a Manitoba constable.
He was taken before Superintendent Breerton this morning, and remanded till to-morrow.

Jas. McKay, a Dominion constable, swore out an information against Chas. McCabe, the Dominion magistrate, for obtaining money under false pretences. He secured a warrant from Superintendent Breerton, and went to arrest McCabe. James Gore, of the Queen's Hotel, and Bishop, the manager, obstructed McKay in making the arrest, when the officer drew his revolver, and ordered them to resist at their peril. Gore threatened to shoot McKay arrested for threatening to shoot. Barr was accepted by Breerton, but McCabe refused to go at liberty, and is now in the lock-up.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.

A Steamer Blown Up at New York—Several Persons Killed and Many Wounded.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Riverdale started up the Hudson on a trip to Haverstraw at 3 o'clock with fifty passengers which she took aboard at Harrison street. When opposite Eleventh street the boilers exploded. Eyewitnesses say that it seemed as if the whole inside of the steamer flew into the air. The shell of the hull careened, and continued up stream from the momentum of its own speed until it went down, bow first, at the foot of Fifteenth street. About twenty passengers, including everybody in the cabin, were blown up. The rest escaped life preservers and jumping over the rail into the river, were picked up by boats that had at once put out from New York and Jersey wharves to their assistance. How many were saved and how many were drowned and killed is yet unknown. Most conflicting reports are in circulation. Not over ten lives are positively known to be lost.
Among those blown up and badly scalded is said to be Gardner, the Evangelist. On the arrival of ambulances the body of Mrs. Dixon, of Tarrytown was brought ashore. Her grandson, whose name is Chapin, jumped from the upper deck and was picked up. This was the only body recovered at four o'clock, half an hour after the explosion. Captain Smith, commander of the Riverdale, stated that while on deck he heard a low rumble, and immediately the boilers blew up. He could not explain the cause of the explosion. Tugs are now cruising about the scene. George A. Davies, fireman, terribly scalded, was picked up by a tug. The Riverdale was an old boat.

LATER.—From the best accounts obtained it seems that the number of persons killed is small, as there were few in the cabins. No exact statement can yet be given as to the number of passengers on board, or the number of lives lost.
Accounts of the number of passengers vary from fifty to two hundred, and of the killed from ten to fifty. Most trustworthy accounts place the number of killed at six. There is reason to believe that nearly all had a chance to escape. The engineer was about to enter the engine room to slow up, another steamer being at their landing at Twenty-second street, when the explosion occurred.

Mermaid's Rescue.

NEWCASTLE, N. H., Aug. 22.—Fort Cottage is a neat wooden structure situated near Fort Constitution and about 200 feet from the sea, upon a rough and craggy ledge of rocks from which a good portion of the walls of the old fort was taken. In the surf just in front of this house, during a south-east gale, as a few of the islanders were gathered near the beach to witness the effects of the storm, a mermaid made her appearance three times on the top of huge waves, showing to the crowd a head well crowned with long, heavy hair streaming over the shoulders and bosom, a pleasant face and long muscular arms. Taking a long look on shore, this daughter of the sea waved her fair hand and threw a kiss to the spectators on the strand, and departed again for her haunts in the depths of the ocean.

for debilitated state of the system produced by the wear and tear of the nervous organism."

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

CORK, Aug. 28.—Three bakers have been arrested here on a charge of concealing arms. A rifle, revolver, bayonet, and an infernal machine identical with that found in the possession of Deasy, the Liverpool dynamite conspirator, were discovered on the prisoners' premises.

JEWISH PERSECUTIONS.

BOERNE, Hungary, Aug. 28.—Large bands of peasants, armed with guns and axes, entered Zalaoe to-day and plundered thirteen Jewish shops. They subsequently left, but threatened to return. Troops have been summoned. The annual fairs have been forbidden, and a Government Commission has been ordered to inquire into the disorders.

VOLCANIC ERUPTION.

BATAVIA, Aug. 27.—A terrible detonation was heard yesterday evening from the Island of Krakatoe, audible at Saerabaya, on the Island of Java. Ashes fell as far as Cheribon; flashes visible in Batavia; stones fell in a shower on Serang, which was in total darkness. Batavia was nearly so, all the gas lights having been extinguished. Communication with Anjer was stopped. It is feared there has been a calamity there. Several bridges between Anjer and Serang were destroyed and the village washed away, the rivers having overflowed because of the rush of the sea inland. North Bantam, in Java, is covered with ashes, mud and stones.
The crops are ruined, roads and bridges damaged. The European quarter of Anjer and the Chinese camp at Merak have been swept away by an overflow of the rivers, and a tidal wave swamped the lower quarters of Batavia.

FOR FARMERS' SONS.

A Scheme to Encourage Them to Study Agricultural Science.

A deputation composed of Mr. Chas. Drury,
M.P.P., Mr. John Carnegie, M.P.P., and Professor Mills, of Guelph Agricultural College, waited on Hon. James Young, Commissioner of Agriculture, yesterday, in regard to the scheme of the Agriculture and Arts Association for the examination in agricultural subjects of such of the farming community as desired to present themselves for examination. This project was inaugurated by the Board some time ago, the idea being to encourage the study of agricultural topics among the young farmers of the Province, and the deputation sought to secure the assistance of the Government so that examinations on those subjects should take place at the same time as the intermediate examinations of the public schools. After hearing the views of the deputation the Commissioner expressed his approval of the scheme, which he thought was one which, if successfully carried out, would be highly beneficial to the agricultural interests of the Province; and he indicated that such facilities as were within the power of the government to grant would be rendered the board in carrying out their views.—Globe, Aug. 21.

POISON IVY.

The following letter appears in the Scientific American:—

"Having lived more than fifty summers in well-founded dread of any chance contact with the three-leaved pest, Rhus toxicodendron (or Rhus radicans—which is it?), I deem it a duty to publish the only effectual remedy of the many I have seen recommended and have tried in the course of my extended sufferings—now for some years happily ended. Four or five years ago
I was led to try Erythrina alba. The tincture did no good. The next season that I have used the poison, I tried Bryonia in the third (homoeopathic) attenuation, as an antidote, in alternation with sulphur (same attenuation), to relieve the itching and burning; taking one in the morning and the other at night. The result was immediately satisfactory in both respects. The attack passed off gradually, with little eruption or distress. Next season, for a test, I fortified myself with a prophylactic dose of Bryonia, and marched boldly on my business through and through a field overgrown with the malignant weed, adding a second dose at night. For the first time in my life I looked on poison ivy with munity, and even tramped on it. This summer, grown careless with security, I have several times blundered into a bed of the stuff, without taking either prophylactic or remedy.
The poison asserted itself feebly, with moments of the unmistakable burning itch characteristic of it on parts of the skin which it frequents most, but this only when provoked by friction, and presently passing off, with no eruption. It seems evident that the antidote I have used has not only overcome the poison, but the susceptibility to its influence, which is well known to be relative and constitutional, many persons being naturally quite exempt.

An Octopus Kills a Japanese Boy.

It is not strange that outle fish should damage vegetables growing in fields by the seashore, but the surprising news reaches us that a boy has been killed by one of these hideous creatures. We hear that some few days ago a boy about 14 years of age was fishing at Tomoka-mura, Amakusa, Hizen, and a huge cuttle fish stretched two of its tentacles out of the water and grasped the boy's right arm. The boy shouted for assistance, as the fish was dragging him in, and some men who were near released the lad by cutting the tentacles. When the boy reached home his arm was cold and motionless and, notwithstanding medical aid was called in,
he died five days afterwards.—Hirog News.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and All Threat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & Mc-Donald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Bilelessness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

MUSKOKA.

GREAT is the jubilation of the Reform press over the violence of the Muskoka election and the prospect of Mr. Faugquier's disqualification. They altogether ignore the fact that such a result would only be an offset for the loss of their seat in West Simcoe, to say nothing of other cases in which their candidates are still awaiting the decision of the judges. After their loud accusations of general bribery against the Conservative party, their shouts of triumph at such an insignificant advantage, show how insincere were their boasts, and how willing they are to be thankful for small mercies. They seem to forget also that in Muskoka only one side of the story has yet been heard, and that there is another aspect of the case. As to the polling of residents from organized townships in the unorganized districts, and their conveyance for that purpose, a scrutiny would show that these practices were not confined to one party. In fact it is by such means that the Reformers have heretofore carried the constituency, and the Mowat Administration repelled the attempt of the Conservatives to put an end to this exceptional manner of voting. Mr. Faugquier's supporters did not meet their opponents with their own tactics. So, too, in the cases of bribing and treating, trivial in comparison with those proved against Reformers in other constituencies, though the practices must be condemned, it was, after all, but fighting fire with fire. It would be vain to pretend that the supporters of Mr. Bettos were purists in this respect. Why, that staunch Reform journal, the Port Hope Guide, gave a graphic account of the proceeding in Muskoka of one of the supporters of the Mowat Administration, though probably the tale would not have been told so faithfully but for a mistake as to the side for which he was working. So far there has been nothing in these election trials to reverse the old record of the Reform party of Canada of combining corruption and undue practices with boundless hypocrisy.

There is also another aspect of the matter. If an equal number of seats were vacated on both sides, there is manifestly every probability of Conservative gains and Reform losses. And the turn of two or three seats would effectually dispose of the slim majority of members now supporting Mr. Mowat, though the majority of the electors have pronounced against him.

The Essex Review has the following remarks upon the efforts of one of Mr. Mowat's allies to stir up civil war in Canada:—

"The Hon. David Mills is bloodthirsty. In a letter he states that Ontario will fight to gain possession of the Disputed Territory. Mr. Mills may fight if he wishes, but the people of Ontario are not fools enough to allow themselves to be killed, or to kill other people, just to assist Mr. Mowat and the Grit party in a little election trickery. Oh, no, people are not showing each other over political trifles this year away."

According to the Portage La Prairie Review some Indians have broken into the goal to release one of their comrades who had been imprisoned. Probably they had heard some report of the proceedings of the Mowat invaders at Rat Portage, and thought they had an equal right to break goal. They also may have believed, like Mr. Mowat, that they had a just cause, that they might be judges in their own case, and might enforce their opinion by violence. This is not an unnatural position for savages to take, but is hardly a dignified manner for a Province like Ontario to enforce its claims.

Mowat's Consistency.
We heard a good deal, and with some show of reason, at the last Dominion elections about the impropriety of not putting the writs into the hands of sheriffs and registrars, but according to the Pioneer the parties who were loudest in these complaints have followed the same policy in Algoma. Our contemporary alleges that neither the Sheriff nor the Registrar of Algoma, it seems, could be depended upon to conduct the election in a sufficiently partisan spirit to suit the emergency, hence Sault Ste. Marie, the county town and seat of judiciary, has been passed over and the writ taken to the western extremity of the district, over 400 miles from the most eastern polling station. A more inconvenient arrangement could not well have been made. Mr. Mowat should have more confidence in his own officials than this.—Toronto Evening Canadian.

The Magnates in the West.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—The special train with the Canadian Pacific magnates and distinguished guests from America and Europe arrived at an early hour Sunday. The trip from Emerson was made in an hour and a half. The party breakfasted at the depot, took a short drive around the city in carriages provided, and started for the Rockies in less than two hours after arriving. The run to Brandon was made in three hours and forty-five minutes. The party numbers, all told, forty persons, and the train consists of seven sleepers, one hotel car, one smoker and a baggage van.

The Rape of the Lock.
Mrs. Ferrell, living near Wellsville, Ohio, was endowed with an unusually beautiful supply of hair. On Monday, while alone in her house with her babe, two men entered and asked her the price of her hair. The woman became frightened and was about attempting to escape when the men seized her, forced her into a chair with a drawn revolver, and deliberately shaved her luxuriant locks from her head. After carefully packing it up and taking a few dollars in money from the house, the strange robbers fled.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

KEARNS' CAMP ON EAGLE MOUNT.—Mr. W. J. Kearns' large dining tent on Eagle Mount, during the stay of the A. C. A., was a complete success, and a great boon, indeed, to parties who visited our back lakes during the two weeks camping out time of the Association. Mr. Kearns went to considerable expense in getting beds and other necessary articles for the comfort of his guests. The Peterborough Fire Brigade Band played at this camp on Thursday evening, and were treated to an excellent supper by Mrs. Kearns. All who visited Eagle Mount were well satisfied with the kindness and attentions shown to them.

THE SHANTIES.—Messrs. Ulyot & Sadler have already commenced to cage stuff to their depot in Burleigh for use in their shanties next winter.

DUCK SHOOTING.—Duck shooting around these waters is now nearly a thing of the past; a good deal of powder and shot wasted, but no ducks bagged.

THRESHING.—A good many of the farmers around here have threshed their fall wheat and barley. Both grains have turned out very well, and a very fair sample.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met at the call of the Reeve. All the members present, the Reeve, Henry Collins, Esq., in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A communication was received from the County Clerk and Treasurer stating that $1,200 would be required for county purposes. School trustees' applications to levy the following sums on their respective school sections were received:—S.S. No. 1, $400; No. 2, $475; No. 3, $300; No. 4, $180. On motion of Mr. Brealy, seconded by Mr. Browncombe, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

James Lillie, 15 loads of gravel $1 50
40 loads of gravel 2 00
H. Collins, attending committee of Cavan Council 2 00

By-law No. 307, 308, and 309, authorizing the levying of County, Township and School rates for the current year, were introduced, went through the usual forms, and were finally passed, signed and sealed. On motion of Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Dunlop, James Davidson and Gordon McKee were each granted $2 as an equivalent to the amount received from Smith for repairing boundary line. On motion of Mr. Browncombe, seconded by Mr. Brealy, the Council adjourned to meet again at the call of the Reeve.

FENELON FALLS.

THE MARY LOUISE.—The Gazette says that the steamer Mary Louise will run daily trips between Fenelon Falls and Lindsay.

FATAL MILL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday, the 14th of August, Francis Dymally, twelve years of age, was killed in Messrs. McArthur & Thompson's saw mill, by being caught in a grindstone belt and whirled around the shaft, his head alternately striking the floor and a stick of timber. The mill was kept idle from the time of the accident until the funeral.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Duggan, of the Township of Brock, fell from a load of grain which was being taken to the barn, and was killed. The whiffle tree broke came off and the pole fell down, throwing him off.

DIED OF STARVATION.—The dead body of a minkinogee, 4 feet, 11 inches in length, was found floating near Red Rock in Pigeon Lake. The fish had probably died of starvation, as its jaws were held together by the hooks of a spoon bait.

CETEWAYO'S ESCAPE.

He Files from the Battle-Field With a Wounded Leg.

A Durban despatch of the 8th instant, to the London Standard says:—"During the past two days rumours have been coming from Zululand to the effect that Cetewayo was not dead as reported, but had managed to escape from Ushibepu's followers and conceal himself, with some of his women, in an isolated kraal on the banks of a small stream between Ulundi and the White Umfolomi river. Although but little credence was at first given to these reports, further inquiry showed that they came from a good source, and I am now in a position to say that there is considerable probability of their proving true. Shingana, the king's half-brother, has sent messengers, who state positively that Cetewayo is alive and safe, suffering only from two slight wounds in the leg. These are, probably, the wounds which my correspondent at Ulundi described as having been inflicted by two of Ushibepu's followers, who, afterwards frightened at what they had done, returned to their chief and told him of it. Ushibepu, it will be remembered, at once sent out men to search for Cetewayo, but they were unable to find any trace of him. I have just seen William Grant, of whose appointment as resident adviser to Cetewayo I informed you shortly before Ushibepu's victory, and he assures me of his full belief, from what his messengers tell him, that the King is alive. It is now reported that Cetewayo has succeeded in reaching the Residency, where he is at present with Mr. Osborn."

Hard Wood Flooring.

The use of beech, birch, and maple has been restricted to a few specific purposes, but the example of the builders of the new Flint Mill at Fall River, in flooring with these woods, will probably be followed by others. The narrow Southern pine planks that have been so long and extensively employed for flooring require to be culled with great care to insure an even floor. They must be straight grained, or they will bend and splay by use, splintering into short splinters dangerous to the feet, and collective of all the dust and fibrous dirt with which they come in contact. The heart of the pine is especially open to this objection. But a beech or maple floor will wear evenly and smoothly, and has greater endurance for heavy rolling weights than that of the Southern pine. It is more cleanly, and is not so readily inflammable. The birch when properly seasoned under cover, or kiln dried at a heat not sufficient to vaporize its contained oil, makes a durable and evenly wearing floor. This cheaply estimated wood is really elegant also for furniture purposes. It shows well in cabinet work alternated with maple or apple, and it is fully as valuable for drawers and chests in defending the contents from moths as is the red cedar. The best qualities of birch timber come from the black birch or the yellow birch, the white birch wood being too open or porous for fine finish or durability; and the yellow and black birch grows also to a larger size generally.

The New York Evening Post says that the new building of the Pacific Mills at St. Lawrence, Mass., is to be floored with hard wood, some 200,000 feet to be used, and that other mills throughout Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, have also ordered this hard wood flooring, and it is very evident that Southern pine flooring will find a serious competitor. A good hard pine mill floor board, free of sap and coarse knots, will cost about $25 per thousand feet in large lots, according to the quality, while hard wood flooring will cost from $30 to $40 per thousand feet all dressed and delivered.—Scientific American.

VACATION VISITS.

One of the principal advantages of vacation outings is that of change—change of companionship, change of scene, change of food, and change of air. To some the scenes and associations and breathings of the seaside are a grateful change. To others the dim forests, the balsamic air of piney woods, the breezy perches on the mountain top, are the necessary changes to give a new impetus to the sluggish blood, and new ideas to the tired brain. In either case a sense of rest and freedom from care must accompany the change of locality, or all the benefit of the effort is lost. The "shop" must be left behind.

But the air and sun are the great curatives. The seaside goes to the surf bath is the reason and secret of restored energy; but they give too little credit to the open-eyed sun and free blowing air of the sea-shore. An air bath and sun bath have as much to do with the renovation of jaded human frames as the direct contact of salt water. The Philadelphia Ledger says that "the tonic influence of the salt air is, at least, equal to that of the bath, and it may be superior. At the seashore a large proportion of the daily life of the visitor is outdoor life, as contrasted with the indoor habit of many (and, indeed, most people) during the rest of the year. There is that health giving change to begin with. The visitor has more fresh air, then as to the air itself. First, it is free from the many impurities that more or less pervade the atmosphere of large and densely compacted cities, the products of combustion thrown out from hundreds of thousands of chimneys; the exhalations from a crowded population; the gases from factories, laboratories, culverts, closets, and various other sources of contamination that need not be recited here. Second, the shore air, almost exclusively from the sea, bears wholesome, natural elements with it, so subtle and penetrating that their precise individual influence cannot be traced, but we know what the effects are in their health renewing combination."

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliaryness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or who ever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

WILLIAM DOUGLAS' DEATH.

Further Particulars of a sad Drowning Accident at Fenelon Falls.

From the Fenelon Falls Gazette we take the following further particulars of the death of Mr. William Douglas:—"On Saturday the 11th of August Mr. William Douglas, a river driver of long experience, in the employ of Mr. J. M. Irwin, of Peterborough, was drowned in the Fenelon River close to this village. The raft on which he had come down the slide got into the eddy instead of going down stream, and several attempts were made to get it into the right course. At last it was worked to the foot of the slide, and Mr. Douglas caught one of the timbers with a pike pole while his three or four companions, who were behind the caboose, tried to force the raft into the proper channel. Suddenly a gush of water from the slide struck the bows of the raft, and in his effort to catch it he fell from the raft and was carried into the river. Passing under the raft he arose to the surface and seemed to look for the cause, but it was out of his reach, and he then appeared to be carried by the current rather than to swim towards the shore, within about twenty feet of which he dropped his head forward, made a few motions with his hands and then sank to rise no more in life. One of his companions on the raft, a young man named Herbert Surtis, bravely sprang into the water and swam to his assistance, and was within a few feet of him when he went down. As soon as possible after the accident a number of men—one of whom was Mr. Thomas Douglas, foreman of the drive, and brother to the deceased—commenced to search for the body, and all possible means of recovering it was tried during the remainder of the afternoon and throughout the whole of Sunday, but without avail. The opinion entertained by almost everybody was that further search was useless and that nothing would be seen of the deceased until nine days had elapsed, but about 11 o'clock on the following Wednesday morning, as Mr. Thomas Douglas was standing on the bank of the river and looking down at the spot where his brother was drowned, the body suddenly rose beneath his eyes. It was at once secured and towed to Fowler's landing and sheltered beneath a boat for some time, after which it was placed in a coffin and taken to Peterborough for interment. As deceased was an exceptionally good swimmer it was believed that he must have been struck by something while in the water or he would not have been drowned, and this belief was strengthened by the appearance of his neck and the back of his head, which was much swollen. He was about 42 years of age, and left a wife and one child.

A MINNESOTA TORNADO.

Perils of a Family in the midst of the Storm. A Terrible Scene.

One of the sufferers of a recent Minnesota tornado gives the following graphic description of the scene:—

A cloud, black as the raven's wing, appeared in the west. Suddenly it split, and between the two black trains expanded the most fearful, diabolical sky I ever saw. The color was green—grey—yellow, and it darkened the sun so it became as twilight. The carpenters had gathered together with us on the porch.

"This must be a hailstorm," one of them said; "now we will pretty soon hear of disasters." Suddenly the old woman between the two black clouds wings, and the upper one came with a terrible speed, flying back towards us. "Let us walk in," I said. "It seems as if we, too, shall get a taste of it." We went in, and our parker looked quite dark. We had scarcely looked the door before we heard the roaring of the storm coming.

In a moment we were surrounded by a white cloud, and the wind and rain lashed the house, which groaned and shivered. It was not rain, it was furious torrents of water mixed with heavy hail, which poured down from Heaven. The storm tried to burst open the door, and five men pressed against it with all their might. The wall seemed to give way and stood in a hole, the building shook as if in convulsions. I felt a tightening of my heart every time the house seemed to be lifted from the ground and dropped down again.

Twice we had these terrible shocks; then in a moment house, men and furniture were hurled through the air 100 feet away. I do not remember anything till I found myself on the ground crawling among the ruins of my house. The first I discovered was my wife, with a child in each arm, lying at my side. Men and children were scattered around among lumber and shingles, whether alive or dead nobody could tell.

A table and a staircase came flying through the air; some men met them and pushed them away, so they did not kill my wife and children; bits of wall and roof whirled round us; here it was impossible to remain. We crept and crawled and ran for our lives down to the forest. As we found each other there, we were only six: a friend of mine, a farmer, and one of the small girls in his arms, my wife, another, and one of my sons clinging to me. But where were the rest of the children? I had myself seen one of the carpenters run with my third little girl—but the eldest and youngest boy? Killed, perhaps, or lying mutilated among the ruins, and it was impossible to look for them. The hurricane would have swept us away as soon as we had moved from the wood. The only thing to do was to press the children to us and give them as much shelter as we could with our broader backs. The rain and the hail lashed us, the oak shrubs were blown flat to the ground, and their limbs struck our heads and shoulders like whips.

Condensing Milk.

A factory for condensing milk and making cheese has lately commenced operations in Truro, Nova Scotia. The following account of the process is taken from the Truro Sun:—

The milk is first received from seven to nine o'clock, a.m., from one hundred different dairymen, brought in new three gallon cans. After delivery it is thoroughly inspected by Mr. Young, who is an expert in the business, and thoroughly tested as to temperature, quality and purity. The milk is then strained into large tin and copper vats, where it is again thoroughly examined. It is next placed in a copper vat which has a capacity of about 4,000 lbs., and heated by a steam pipe, or worm, coiled inside the vat, 212° of temperature Fahrenheit. At this stage sugar is added in a quantity proportionate to the quality of the milk. After sugaring the milk is conveyed to a tin vat and is there super-heated, a process which takes out impurities. From there it goes to the vacuum-pan or condenser, where the final process of condensation occurs. The condenser is a most elaborate machine. It is composed entirely of copper, and has a capacity of three tons. The milk is pumped into the machine and is heated by steam, making a total manufacturing capacity of 10 tons of milk per day.

The entire process is gone through in one day, that is, the milk received each morning is all manufactured at once and can be shipped the same night, if necessary, in the condensed state. There are about 100 dozen one pound cans dished up at present and the condenser is used but once. If occasion requires this can be increased and the condenser can be tilted three times daily, making a total manufacturing capacity of 10 tons of milk per day.

The cheese making is simply an auxiliary to the principal object, it being usual in every factory of the kind to have facilities for this purpose in order to use the surplus milk that cannot be conveniently condensed. At present the average is about six cheeses daily.

Insects Indian Exhibition.

It is publicly announced in Montreal that in the middle of next month the Iroquois Indians on the Caughnawaga reserve will hold their first great exhibition in agriculture and their own native industries. Among the novelties introduced in the prize list will be competitions for the best produce, for the best display of bead and fancy work, for the best collection of Indian antiquities, and for the best basket work. Among the prizes in the agricultural department will be some for the best set of agricultural implements, the best team of horses, the best eggs and butter, etc. The list will be made still more comprehensive if the funds are sufficient to allow it. Following the example of the attractions at the past exhibitions in Montreal, the Indians are arranging for a number of outside attractions during the time of their exhibition, among which will be canoe races, war dances, and a lacrosse tournament, in which the Caughnawaga will cross sticks with teams from all the other Indian reserves in Canada.

A Fatal Family.

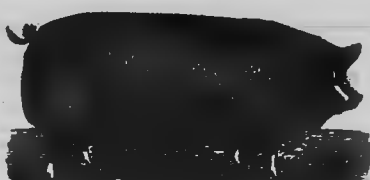

James Knight, of Chatham county, N. C., lost three children from diphtheria last week. On Sunday his wife, while tending her baby, heard screams, ran out and found two children in the yard dying from a rattlesnake bite, returning to the house she found a pot of boiling soap had fallen from the stove, fatally scalding the baby, her last remaining child.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and outcries? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It will cure the child in a few days. It will restore the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures diphtheria and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the oldest and best family medicine and is sold in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cool and cloudy. The weather probabilities for this district as issued from the Toronto Meteorological office at one o'clock this morning, for twenty-four hours, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly northerly; fine, cool weather.

A Bicycle Ride.

The Port Hope Guide of Tuesday contains the following:—
"J. M. Bligh, of St. Catharines, has made the trip to Kingston on a bicycle, and round by Peterborough on the return trip. He arrived here at noon to-day, making the distance from Peterborough since nine o'clock—thirty-two miles. Who can beat this?"

Medical.

Dr. Pigeon, of the Royal College of Surgeons of England and Scotland, has commenced the practice of his profession on Charlotte street. From the favourable impression made upon those who have already become acquainted with Dr. Pigeon, it is evident that he will be an acquisition to Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. W. A. Morrow went to Belleville this afternoon to attend the adjourned meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, which opened there to-day. The Rev. Mr. Shaw was unable to attend, as he is unwell. He will probably go later.
The Rev. W. Joffe and the Rev. J. W. Butcher are at present attending a meeting of the Bible Christian Conference.

A Runaway.

A team attached to a heavy wagon, which was tied in front of Mr. Stethem's hardware store, was frightened by a dog at about six o'clock on Tuesday evening, broke the halter and ran away. They were stopped at the corner of Simcoe street. The dog was tramped on by the horses and laid perfectly still on the street, as if dead, till a small crowd gathered around him, when he suddenly jumped up and ran as if his life depended on it.

C. E. T. S.

On Tuesday evening there was a meeting of the St. John's Church branch of the Church of England Temperance Society. The meeting was held in the chapel at half-past seven o'clock. After the opening hymn and devotional exercises, the rector and Mr. Hoyle, of Toronto, delivered addresses explaining the aims and progress of the society, in which there are two classes working together on an equal footing, total abstinence, and those who, while using in moderation, are opposed to excess, and favour temperance. Much stress was laid by both speakers upon the evil custom of treating. Many new members were enrolled, and after prayer and the closing hymn the meeting adjourned for a fortnight.

Pencil Points.

—The weather to-day was cool.
—There was a small attendance on the market this morning.
—The police cells were empty last night, and there was a blank at the Police Court this morning.
—The Midland noon train was ten minutes late and the Grand Junction train over an hour late.
—Temperance and religious tracts were distributed on the market this morning, and the gentleman who had them addressed words of counsel to those around him.
—A baseball match was played on Monday between an Ashburnham club and a Peterborough junior club. The score was: Peterborough, 16; Ashburnham, 12.
—To-day is Millbrook's Civic Holiday. An excursion from this village to Lakefield passed through here at 3 o'clock this morning. The train consisted of six or seven coaches, containing about three or four hundred persons.

Belongs in the Wilderness.

Our local contemporary opens its mouth to put its foot in it. Speaking of absentee Ministers—by the way, is Mowat referred to—it says that so long as there is a dollar in the Treasury they will not suffer for the lack of holidays, "wholly unlike those John spent in the wilderness of Judea!" The organ's allusion to the gorge in the wilderness, in view of the great Corkscrew trip to Keewatin, is singularly apt. Catch the late Lieutenant Governor of Ontario and the Ministers and ministerial aspirants who accompanied him, limiting themselves to a daily ration of locust and wild honey! Not they! Everything that the Ontario surplus could afford in order to sustain them in their pilgrimage, to the extent of $5,000, these gentlemen took along with them in rotund hamper. The great orgy in the wilderness of Keewatin has passed into Ontario history as a signal illustration of Grit extravagance and reckless conviviality, at public cost. And when Mr. Mowat's Ministers "got out of the wilderness" and arrived in grand state at Chicago, on the return journey, their drinks and cigars at the public bars—no rhyme intended—and tickets to the theatre, were all charged to the Surplus with a marvellous unanimity, exactness and plenitude. Our contemporary does well to recall these things to public mind. —London Free Press.

Koch's Theory Disproved.

Dr. Spina claims to have disproved Prof. Koch's theory concerning the Tubercle Bacillus. Regardles of the many directly opposite theories of the ablest pathologists of the world, the surgeon of the International Throat and Lung Institute, using the spirometer, the wonderful invention of Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, an ex-aid surgeon of the French army, are curing monthly hundreds of cases of bronchitis, consumption, asthma, catarrh, and catarrhal deafness. Physicians and sufferers are invited to try the Spirometer free. Call or write, enclosing stamp, for list of questions and copy of International News, to 173 Church street, Toronto, or 13 Phillip's Square, Montreal, P. Q.

A VOLCANIC OUTBREAK.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF LIFE AND PROPERTY IN JAVA.

Thousands of Human Beings Perish—Whole Cities Swallowed by the Rising Waters.

BATAVIA, Aug. 29.—Volcanic eruptions in Java began on the Island of Krakatau, in the Straits of Sunda, 100 miles from the coast of Java on Saturday night. By Sunday the disturbances had extended beneath the waters of the strait, causing great waves and a rise of 20 degrees in the temperature of the sea. By noon Maba Meru, the largest volcano in Java, was in violent eruption, and shortly the Gunung crater, which is the largest in the world, and fifteen of the other forty-five craters in Java were either in active eruption or seriously threatened. At dusk Mount Gunung sent out streams of white and sulphurous mud, with an explosion of cinders and stones, which carried

DEATH TO ALL ABOUT THE VALLEY.

The clouds were charged with electricity, and fifteen waterfalls were seen simultaneously. The inhabitants fled terror-stricken. Hundreds were buried under the houses or crushed by the masses of rock and mud. Gunung Tengger, which has had an eruption since 1800, shot out great red-hot boulders, which crashed through the huts of the Chinese fishermen. Fissures and yawning chasms appeared. Fertile valleys covered with flourishing plantations, were now but mud and stone, and lava covered the fields with destruction. There will probably not be a single crop in Java saved. At the entrance to Batavia was a large group of houses, occupied by Chinamen. This portion was entirely swept away. Of 25,000 Chinese, about 5,000 were saved. Of 3,500 Europeans, 800 perished. At Anjer the European and American quarters were first then the waters came up and swallowed the ruins, leaving nothing, and causing a loss of 200 lives. Bantam, once a prosperous native city, abandoned by Europeans many years ago, was entirely covered by water, and 1,200 to 1,500 people drowned. The Island of Serang was completely inundated, and not a soul remains at Cheribon, where the loss of life and property is considerable. Buitenzorg suffered very seriously, as did Samarang, Jagakarta, Sourakarta, and Sourabaya, while meagre reports from its lesser towns indicate their loss to be as great in proportion. The violence has abated somewhat, but it is feared the disaster will be the most frightful ever known.

OVERWHELMED BY ROCKS, MUD AND LAVA,

TOWNS ENTIRELY DESTROYED.

The towns of Anjer, Jirangine, and Telokabalong have been destroyed by volcanic eruption. All light-houses in the straits have disappeared; where the mountain of Krakatau formerly stood the sea now flows. The aspect of Sunda straits has much changed and navigation is dangerous.

Canada Ahead.

The three-mile single-scutt race on Tuesday between Jake Gaudaur and Capt. Harry Parker, the local champion, was won by the Canadian. The course was on the west side of the Mississippi, near the mouth of the Missouri river, the distance being three miles with a turn, and the purse $300 in gold. The day was beautifully clear, pleasant and calm. The water was in splendid condition, being perfectly smooth—not being disturbed by even a ripple. The two men appeared dressed in flesh-fitting costumes—Parker in blue, Gaudaur in red. At 5.30 the men rowed out to the line, and fifteen minutes later the signal for the start was given. Both men took the water quite even, and kept so for the first half mile. It was evident, however, that Gaudaur was rowing within his ability, and would lead before the close, which he did by about a length.—Mail.

Not a Failure.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Mr. Johnson, of the Strathroy Bank, claims that he has not failed, but is merely retiring from business and takes his own way of doing so. He states that all depositors have been paid, except a few whose accounts are small and have not been called for; that the office is still open and fully able to meet all demands. Mr. Johnson further states that he has had less than $100,000 accommodation, for which the bank is well covered, and that he retires from business with a handsome surplus.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Commencement of the Masonry—Laying the First Stone.

FENELON FALLS, Aug. 29.—Messrs. Manning & Macdonald, contractors for the Trent Valley locks and canal here, have completed the heavy rock excavation in one lock, and commenced the masonry on Monday. The stone is brought from their fine quarry at Bubbysgon by Sadler & Needler, of Lindsay, who are delivering the same by their line of boats.

Mr. Joseph McArthur, Reeve, with Mr. Ramsay, inspector, had the pleasure of laying the first stone, some three or four thousand people having witnessed the ceremony.—Mail.

RAT PORTAGE TROUBLES.

Mowat's Specials Sentenced to Six Weeks in Gaol.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29.—Interest in the Rat Portage troubles is revived by the intelligence this morning that the two Mowat constables, McDonald and McLean, charged with obstructing Manitoba constables, had been sentenced by Magistrate Breton to six weeks' imprisonment in the gaol at Winnipeg. The prisoners are expected to arrive to-night in charge of Manitoba officials.

PROBABLE ATTEMPT AT RESCUE.

The Mowat missionaries are greatly excited over the sentence passed upon their pets, and are now closeted discussing the situation. There is talk of rescuing the prisoners when being put on the cars for Winnipeg, and the Manitoba officials are prepared for the emergency.—Mail.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

Attempt to Blow Up a Brick Building and Subsequent Incendiarism.

St. Johns, Que., Aug. 26.—Shortly before one o'clock this morning a heavy explosion took place, arousing the town, which proved to be an unsuccessful attempt to demolish the three-story brick building No. 104 Richelieu street, owned by Mr. H. Corran, of Montreal. A large piece of the wall was blown out, and the windows smashed. The building has for some time been looked upon as in a dangerous state. Our steady-going citizens had hardly settled back to their peaceful slumbers when they were again aroused by an alarm of fire, which soon illuminated the heavens over Irberville. It broke out in two or three different places, and is supposed to have been the work of incendiaries. Mr. Duchesneau lost a barn, Mrs. Roy, a grocer, lost her outbuildings, and the Institute Canadian, and all wooden outbuildings were destroyed. The loss is about $3,000.

AN ALLEGED FEMALE BLACKMAILER.

Lily Murphy of Sydenham-lane Avoids a Warrant for her Arrest.

A number of cases of blackmailing have been recently reported to the police in which a young woman named Lily Murphy, whose parents reside in Sydenham-lane, is stated to have been figuring rather conspicuously. It is alleged that she has been baiting various prominent legal and mercantile gentlemen in the city with variable success, some of whom, in order to save their good name from contamination, have actually been compelled by her to hand over to her sums of money. These sums she is stated to have demanded as an explanation of their alleged indecent conduct towards her. Her name is supposed to have been working for many months, or even years, but for some time back a private detective has been on her track. At the late trial of Wm. Murphy for robbing Henry Beasley, caretaker at the Normal School, a young lady of blonde complexion and dark hair, who was supposed to be his sister, was a constant attendant at the trial. Her appearance answered exactly the description given by gentlemen injured by the fair blackmailer. She was soon found to be the same person, and a warrant was issued for her arrest, but she in the meantime left the city and has not been heard of since. The matter has been creating some sensation in police circles of late.—Globe.

THE NORTHERN.

The Toronto Globe grows eloquent over the alleged misgovernment of the Northwest. "As the plains of Asia Minor," exclaims our contemporary, "once the richest as well as the most fertile part of the world, the abode of many millions of happy, prosperous people, have been reduced to a state of misery and desolation by the misrule of the Turk, so the bright prospects of the Canadian Northwest have been blighted, and its vast tracts of fertile land doomed to no longer sterility by the misgovernment of Canadian Tories."

Ah, yes, indeed. The golden age of the Northwest was that period when poor Mr. Mackenzie was advertising in vain for private capitalists to undertake the construction of the C. P. R., and floundering in the water stretches and swamps between here and the Landing. Those were the halcyon days when Reformers amassed fortunes in the Northwest, and the immigration chiefly consisted of Reform officials with good salaries and great "chances." But, except these officials and their retinue, nobody up here cares to see Reform rule again. The Globe may rest assured of that.—Winnipeg Times.

Lady Godiva.

A person who described himself as a "descendant of Leofric and Godiva," has written to a London newspaper protesting against the Godiva festival at Coventry. He is indignant that the memory of his fair ancestress and excellent ancestor should be kept alive only by a fable—a fable, too, which, as he says, is "a disgrace to English history." This "descendant" tries to show that Godiva never did ride naked through the market-place, and that Leofric, Earl of the Mercians, who is spoken of by Mr. Tennyson as the "Grim Earl," was a wise statesman, a loyal subject, and a devoted husband.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

Is Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

A GENEROUS GIFT.

EDINBURGH, Aug. 29.—The free library given to the town of Dunfermline, Scotland, by Andrew Carnegie, of New York, was opened to-day by Lord Rosebery, who spoke in praise of the generosity of Mr. Carnegie.

THE BEST SYSTEM.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—M. Raynal, French Minister of Public Works, at the opening of a new railway yesterday, said the recent election for Council-General showed that France had found the best system of government. The period of revolution was ended and peace alone could secure prosperity.

REJECTED BY JAPAN.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The Gaulois says that the Minister of Foreign Affairs proposed to the Japanese envoy an alliance against China, but the proposal was rejected.

THE EMPEROR AND GUARDS.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The Emperor William viewed the Guards at Berlin to-day instead of on the anniversary of the surrender of Sedan. It is reported that this is out of deference to the feeling of the French.

THE FALSE PROPHECY.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 29.—News from the Sudan is the effect that a large body of well-armed marauders belonging to bad predatory tribes threatens the only road leading south from Cairo to the Sudan. This, together with the fact that the False Prophet has again massed his army preparatory to beginning another struggle, causes much uneasiness here for the safety of the troops sent into the Sudan.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS.

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—A despatch from Egerzeg, Hungary, says large bands of peasants, armed with guns and axes, entered Zalaloeve yesterday and plundered thirteen Jewish shops. They subsequently left, but threatened to return. Troops have been summoned. The annual fairs have been forbidden, and a Government commission has been ordered to inquire into the disorders. Although order has been restored at Egerzeg, all the troops are still closed. The Jewish families have fled, and trade is suspended. Martial law has been proclaimed, and the troops have been reinforced.

A RISING FEARED.

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—The troubles in Croatia continue. The municipal authorities at Agram declare they would rather resign than replace the Hungarian Army and notices on the public buildings. The newspapers regard the situation as serious. A correspondent at Vienna says: "The outlook in Croatia is gloomy. A national rising is feared if the Government persists in renewing Magyar escutcheons and inscriptions at the public offices."

AN ALLY OF ROSSA.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 29.—In the examination of James McDermott at Liverpool to-day it was stated that cards were found on the prisoner signed by James Stevens and O'Donovan Rossa. On the latter's cards the following was written: "Tell the boys over there I will do my utmost to help destroy the common enemy."

DE CHAMBERD'S TITLES.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The plate on De Chamberd's coffin is inscribed, "Henry the Fifth, by the grace of God, King of France and Navarre."

THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

DUBLIN, Aug. 29.—At the meeting of the Irish National League to-day, Davitt, Parnell, and Sexton were present. Mr. Parnell referred to the success of the efforts of Irish members of Parliament to promote the Labourers, Transmigrants, and Migration acts. He believed the day was near when the Irish would gain the full programme for which they had formed. Mr. Parnell thanked the Irishmen in America and Australia for their support of the cause of progress in Ireland, which had been most encouraging. He said the bulk of the English members conceded that home rule was necessary for Ireland.

THE ISCHIA SUFFERERS.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—A fête was given at the Hygienic exhibition here yesterday to raise money towards relief of the Ischia sufferers. The affair was a grand success. Over thirty thousand were present, including the Royal Princes. A thousand musicians played at the fête.

AMERICAN.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—An attempt was made last night to wreck the Albany express, on the Boston and Albany railway, by placing two sleepers on the track above Ashland. There was a very narrow escape of a terrible disaster. The engine struck the sleepers going slowly; no damage.

A HIGH TIDE.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 29.—A high sea caused damage to the extent of $75,000 here to-day. The beach was a mass of debris. Bath-houses, restaurants, photograph galleries, stores, with dwellings attached, were carried into the ocean and beaten to fragments. Great anxiety is felt about the next high water, as the wind is increasing. Should it continue until high water tomorrow the damage will be more than double that of to-day. The Camden and Atlantic railway is badly washed. Passengers were compelled to abandon the train and walk five miles. All the railroads between here and Absecon, except the West Jersey are submerged.

Dress Reform.

A number of German women have resolved to commence a reform in the prevailing dress customs, which they deem unwholesome and extravagant. As a basis of reform, they set on these points:—1. That nothing should be "old-fashioned" which has been "useful, appropriate and becoming." 2. Nothing new to be adopted, unless it is found both to the purpose and answering the demands of good taste. 3. That all garments and of toilet that are hurtful to health be rejected. 4. To acquire whether a large saving or be effected in dress, so that the expense be more appropriate to the income.

Heriville, What is It?

Polson's Heriville is a combination potent pain relieving substance known science. The constant progress made in the latest development in this embodies the latest discoveries, cramps, pains in the head—extreme local—Heriville has no equal. Expectations of a sample bottle of Heriville of its marvelous power or Ormond & Walsh's. Large bottles?

"Why, Angeline, where did you find colors on your bosom?" "A dyed them with the Trianglo Peel."

THE PROVINCIAL ADMINISTRATIONS.

A PARAGRAPH is going the rounds of the Reform journals to the effect that out of the five older Provinces of Canada, three, Ontario, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, have Liberal Governments, while the Conservative Government of Prince Edward Island has a majority so narrow that its fate is uncertain until the new Legislature has been called together, and that even the Conservative Government of Quebec is having an unpleasant quart d'heure.

It will be observed in the first place that the consideration is limited to the five older Provinces, instead of embracing all seven, for the very simple reason, that including Manitoba and British Columbia, would, according to their own showing, prove the majority of the Provinces to be Conservative, as both the Prairie and Pacific Coast Provinces rejoice in firmly established Conservative Administrations.

But even to take only the five older Provinces this paragraph is most inexact. Nova Scotia may fairly be allowed to have a Liberal Administration. In New Brunswick there is a coalition Government, the members of which take opposite sides in Dominion politics. Ontario has a Reform Administration with a very slender Legislative majority for a time, and a minority of the votes of the electors. Prince Edward Island so far from awaiting a meeting of the new legislature with the result in doubt, has had such a meeting, when the Conservative Administration was handsomely sustained. In Quebec the only difficulty is an embarras de richesses, these being, in the virtual absence of a Reform opposition, some disagreement between the two wings of the Conservative party.

It thus appears, to give a correct summary, that of the seven Provinces of the Dominion of Canada, in no less than four there are strong Conservative Governments, in one there is a coalition Administration, in another there is a so-called Reform Government tottering to its fall, and having at its back only a minority of the electoral vote, while in one Province only there is a fairly established Liberal Administration.

In short, as in the Dominion Parliament, so in the legislatures and administrations of the Provinces of Canada, there is an overbearing majority in favour of sound Conservative and national principles, as opposed to sham Reformers with nothing to reform.

In reply to an interviewer the Hon. Mr. Joly, ex-Premier of Quebec, spoke as follows:—"It is a mistake to suppose that everybody in the Province of Quebec objects to Ontario acquiring the territory. It is only the Government party that objects. It has never been the subject of open discussion in the Province of Quebec."

Our Reform contemporaries are quoting this paragraph with glee. Both they and Mr. Joly, however, ignore the facts that the subject has been discussed in the Canadian Parliament, that Quebec rouges, as well as Quebec Conservatives voted against the award. They also ignore the very important fact that Mr. Laurier, the leader of the Quebec Liberals, urged the adoption of the award, not because it was just to Ontario, but on the ground that a fair investigation by a fair court might give Ontario its rightful territory in fuller measure than the award.

A Contrast.
A number of journalists who have just returned from the press excursion—and most of them are of the Grit persuasion, by the way—speak of the difference in the manner in which they were received by the political leaders, both of whom are summing in nearly the same locality. Sir John Macdonald was on hand at Riviere du Loup to give the visitors a hearty greeting as they landed. At a dinner in the evening he made a speech which pleased every one. "It is said," he was genial, pleasant and agreeable to all, whether supporter or opponent, and a very favorable impression was carried away. The excursionists stopped also at Murray Bay, where Hon. Edward Blake is putting up; but the leader of the Opposition there showed him his face to them. Perhaps it would not have added much to the happiness of the occasion had he done so, but it has been commented on as an example of characteristic indifference.—London Free Press.

The advance sheets of Poor's Railway Manual for 1893 show a mileage at the close of 1892 of 113,239 miles, 11,591 having been constructed within the year. The amount of share capital issued by the several companies up to the close of their respective fiscal years was $5,456,078,196, an increase from the previous year of $385,254,585. The funded debts of the several companies amounted to $3,184,415,301, an increase from the previous year of $353,554,438. Their floating or unfunded debts amounted to $253,170,053, an increase of $92,404,965 from the previous year. The total increase of share capital and of funded and floating debts from the previous year equaled $780,213,776. The total amount of liabilities at the close of 1892 was $5,895,664,358. The total per mile for completed mileage was $71,342. The gross earnings of all the routes for their several fiscal years of 1892 were $670,254,716, an increase from the previous year of $70,006,511. Of the gross receipts, $202,140,776 were received from passengers, $508,307,217 from freight, and $61,848,734 from miscellaneous sources. The net earnings for the year were $310,682,377, an increase of $34,929,199 from the previous year. The amount of interest paid was $149,296,380, an increase of $20,708,078 from the previous year. The amount of dividend paid was $102,031,435, an increase of $9,687,244 from the previous year.

HOW THEY WON.

The Canadian Artillerymen's Victory at Sheshbury.

The most popular of yesterday's contests was the fight for the Governor-General of Canada's prize, a silver cup, to be presented to the team which should perform the repository shift in "A" in the quickest time. The operation consisted in dismounting a 64-pounder gun from one carriage, moving it 20 feet to the rear on rollers, then 40 feet to flank, and remounting it on another carriage.

Just before eight o'clock, after a magnificent display of skill, the Canadians succeeded in winning the Governor-General of Canada's prize for the special repository shift. The competition commenced at half-past five, when the second and fourth detachments of the 1st Essex men came on the ground, where were assembled Colonel Strangways, the School of Gunnery Commandant, Col. Betty, R.A., Major Pearce, R.A., Col. Macdonald, of the Canadians, and his next in command, Major Short. During a portion of the contest the Marquis of Londonderry was also present. All volunteers were excluded from the ground, in order to ensure perfect fairness to everybody concerned. The Essex men did not go very quickly, and they completed the operation in 21 min. 58 1/2 sec. Next came the 11th and 12th detachments of the 1st Glamorgan. Their time was bad, viz.: 22 min. 23 1/2 sec. The first men to gain any praise from Colonel Strangways were the 2nd and 3rd detachments of the 2nd Kent, who did the work smartly in 10 min. 25 1/2 sec. Next came the squad that was looked upon as certain of being the winners—the Woolwich Arsenal (3rd Kent), under the command of Sergeant Major Horne. Dismounting the gun with remarkable swiftness, they succeeded in getting it round to the second carriage and leaving it in line of fire in 5 min. 58 1/2 sec. Just before getting the gun into position No. 1 called out: "Now, then, some strong men here," pointing to the skid or long beam on which the gun, weighing nearly three tons, was resting. The response came immediately in the shape of a number of the team getting hold of the skid and raising it bodily, so that the gun at once fell into the required position, amid cheers. Col. Strangways described it as a very fine performance. It was freely predicted that it would be impossible to beat the time made by Arsenal men, but when the Canadians paraded before the gun, under Sergeant Major Lyndon, the opinion appeared to be somewhat modified. The word of command being given, the gun, as if by magic, was dismounted and run along the skid towards the second carriage. Such was the perfection of drill that in 4 min. 36 sec. after starting the gun was left mounted in its second position in line of fire. A cheer again and again repeated, burst forth from the spectators, and Colonel Strangways, turning to the men, said:—"Sergeant Major, I am very glad to congratulate you on the splendid bit of work which you have just performed. From beginning to end there was not a single fault. The work was done quietly, quickly and safely." The Canadians then turned to camp, where they met with renewed congratulations. The other teams which competed were the 2nd Middlesex and the 1st Sussex, the former doing the shift in 7 min. 50 1/2, and the latter in 12 min. 31 1/2.

The Count de Paris, being the eldest son of Ferdinand, Duke of Orleans, Louis Philippe's eldest son is legally the head of the Orleans family. He was born at Paris, August 24, 1833, and was educated by the celebrated Adolphe Regnier. After the revolution which deprived Louis Philippe of the throne the Count de Paris and his brother, the Duke of Chartres, were by their mother taken to Germany, where they completed their education. After travelling extensively throughout Europe he took up his residence in England, and when the war of secession broke out in America he joined the Army of the North in the capacity of captain on the staff of General McClelland, and figured in the campaign against Richmond, in the siege of Yorktown, in the battles of Williamsburg, Fair Oaks and in his retreat on the James River. For Oakes and it would be too long and purposeless to investigate he left the service in 1862 and retired to England, where he remained during the war of 1870-71. When the French Republic arose from the ruins of the Empire the Count de Paris was advised to renounce all ambitious projects which might tend to replace the House of Orleans on the throne of France. His private life after his return from America was singularly happy. In 1883 the Count married his cousin, the Princess Isabelle, daughter of the Duc de Montpensier. He keeps a keen eye on the political situation, is by no means entirely hostile to the republic, and it was even rumored in the early Autumn of 1875 that he and the other members of the family were inclined to rally to the support of the new Government. He devotes himself with the same assiduity which characterized him in Germany, in England and the United States, to the study of social and economical questions. He is a tall, robust and graceful personage, noble in aspect, and the observed of all observers, even and he again surrounded by celebrities. He wanders about the industrial quarters of Paris and enters into conversation with the workmen; passes his mornings in his library and his evenings with his children or in society, and travels enough every year to keep his cosmopolitan spirit out of his ruts. He has three children, one of whom, the Duc d'Orleans, gives promise of decided genius.

A Million Capt. Webb
Capt. Webb's death at Niagara recalls the similar fate of a man in Sicily just one hundred years ago. Nicholas, surnamed "the diver," on account of his many wonderful exploits, undertook, in the presence of thousands of spectators, to dive to the bottom of the Sicilian gulf, where there is a dangerous whirlpool, and bring up something which had been thrown in. He made the attempt and succeeded. Again something more precious was thrown in, and he again succeeded. Finding that in the second attempt he encountered some submarine difficulties which he had not expected, he declined to make another attempt, but a Sicilian noble throwing in a gold cup studded with brilliant stones as the prize, he dived into the gulf and was never seen again.

Koch's Theory Disproved.
Dr. Spina claims to have disproved Prof. Koch's theory concerning the bacillus Bacterium of the tubercle. The theory of Koch, the discoverer of the bacillus of the tubercle, is the theory of the most able pathologists of the world, the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, under the supervision of the wonderful invention of Dr. M. Souville, of Paris, an ex-soldier of the French army, are curing monthly hundreds of cases of bronchitis, consumption, asthma, catarrh, and catarrhal deafness. Physicians and surgeons are invited to try the Spirometer free. REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—The September number of Harper has for a frontispiece an effective engraving by B. Hookin of "The Night's Plutonian Shore," to illustrate Poe's "Raven." F. D. Millet has an interesting contribution on "Dalcarnia," profusely illustrated in the best style of art, as is also the case with many of the other papers. Lucy C. Lillie describes "The Catechism" in a graphic manner, and J. B. Thompson treats of their well-known legend in "The Genesis of the Rip Van Winkle Legend." In "Haunts of the Swamp Fox," P. D. Hay described the exploits of Gen. Marion, a revolutionary leader of South Carolina. "An Unpublished Chapter of Hawaiian History" is full of interest as described by one of the actors, J. F. B. Marshall. In art there are two contributions, an account of the life and works of "Paul Potter," by E. Mason, and "Recent Building in New York," in which Mr. Schuyler has some trenchant criticism of modern architecture. The paper of W. R. Grace on "The Government of Cities in the State of New York," may convey some useful ideas to Canadian politicians. The serial story "A Castle in Spain," progresses with the same humorous vigor, and there are some excellent short tales and poems. The editorial miscellanies are as interesting as ever. It is evident that the "silly season" does not prevail in the office of Harper.

FORESTRY.—We have before us the August number of Forestry, a monthly magazine edited by Mr. F. C. Heath and published by Wm. Rider & Son, 14 Bartholomew Close, London, England. One of the contributions is by Mr. Wm. Little, of Montreal, on the subject of "The Alarming destruction of American Forests." There are many other papers on forest lore, one of the most valuable and interesting being that on "Re-afforesting of Ireland." It is a periodical that should be read by all who take an interest in forestry.

Stage Struck Madness.
The Clifton house, Chicago, came very near being the scene of a blood-curdling tragedy on Monday morning. At midnight shrieks and howls reverberated through the spacious halls. Joe Abbott, a young, powerful man, of handsome appearance, had locked and barred himself in the cloak room and had gone raving mad. The police patrol were called and six officers broke and scaled the bar, and, the bar down, when Abbott dealt four of them terrible blows, felling them to the floor. He then jumped head first through a window into the hall and dashed, bleeding from many wounds, into the street. When captured and handcuffed he was taken to the police station, where he was held for a few days, and then released. He had secured a $1,000 government bond from a satchel and chewed it into fragments. The proprietor of the hotel stated that it was a clear case of stage-struckness. The young man had talent, Shakespeare being his favorite, and he read his plays until he had memorized them fully. Abbott is of good family, was of good habits, and had saved considerable money.

Three Fatal Shots.
Jacob Oldenberger and Jacob Bush of Indianapolis, had a law suit which was decided in the latter's favour. Meeting Bush on the street on Monday afternoon Oldenberger shot and killed him, and turning around shot Samuel Campbell who was passing, probably fatally. Oldenberger then crossed the street and shot himself dead.

These are Solid Facts.

Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

High Poles.
The poles on Water street used for the telephone line are being taken out and replaced by new and higher poles. The poles now being put in are 40 and 50 feet high.

Railway Notes.
The Grand Junction train was an hour late last night.

Two timber trains, which have been carrying timber from Lakeside to Belleville for two weeks, have completed that work. They will be kept on carrying timber east from Waubesa.

Personal.
Mr. Thomas Menzies, Acting-Magor, and Mr. Chas. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, went to Port Hope to-day to attend the ceremonies and banquet in connection with the laying of the corner stone of the new public buildings in that town. Sir Hector L. Langvin, Minister of Public Works will lay the corner stone.

The Provincial Ploughing Match.
Some dissatisfaction being felt that no provision was made in the prize list of the Provincial Ploughing match, as published by us last week, for a class for those over 20 years of age with the No. 40, or similar plough, we understand that steps have been taken to add such a class thereto, by providing the necessary prizes by private subscription.

Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

To Arms! To Arms!
The Belleville Ontario devotes another "gospel" item to the Salvation Army and Peterborough. It says that the officer of the Army who visited here considers that Peterborough is "strongly fortified by Satan." A large company of the Salvation Army's most valiant veterans should visit Belleville at once and try to rescue the Ontario before the fate of Ananias overtakes it.

Very Dangerous.
The Belleville Ontario says:—"The Peterborough Review, taking its cue from the accurate Intelligence, asserts that Mr. Munro's little boy fell from a third-story window in the Dufresne House to the pavement below without having a broken bone. The fall was from a second-story window, which was dangerous enough, but it would have been much more dangerous from the third-story."

We thank the Ontario for correcting us in this matter. Its estimate of the danger connected with a third-story window is doubtless a correct one.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.
The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2 and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

The Midland System.
The Toronto Mail has a long article on the Midland Railway system, the greater portion of which is devoted to a description of the work for the "Missing Link." After referring to the different improvements being made, and to be made, on the line, including the line which will cross the Otonabee at the locks, the article concludes as follows:—"The total saving in distance between Toronto and Peterborough by building the whole of these links will be 25 miles. To the travelling public, to whom time is money, these improvements will be of incalculable service, while to the company, although involving an outlay of about $600,000, the returns from increased traffic will amply repay them in a few years. All these new works have been carried out under the immediate supervision of Mr. J. C. Bailey, the engineer in charge, a gentleman well known for his construction of the Credit Valley Railway, and other important undertakings. A further improvement by taking out the sharp curves between Scarboro Junction and Uxbridge at a probable cost of $200,000 yet remains to be done, and when this is finished the route will be a direct and first-class road, capable of making as fast time as either the Grand Trunk or any other railway. Another important work would be to straighten the Grand Junction, and connect as soon as possible with the Toronto and Ottawa railway already named, and such is right through to Port as originally intended."

Police Court.
There were no cases before Police Magistrate this morning.

The Foresters Excursion.
The excursion of Foresters to Couchiching Park to-day was largely attended.

Midland District Telephone Line.
The poles for the telephone line have been put in from Mount Pleasant to Peterborough, this work being completed as far as Gilmour street. This line will connect with the Midland district line (from Port Hope to Lindsay) at Mount Pleasant.

An Error.
A Toronto paper, in an account of the firemen's demonstration at London on Tuesday, says that the Peterborough band was in the procession. This was evidently an error, as there was no band from this town present on that occasion. The Trenton band took first prize in the band competition.

Acknowledgment.
We have to thank Mr. J. W. Sheridan for a constant and plentiful supply of New York and Brooklyn newspapers, especially when they contain any matter of particular interest for Canadians. Though Mr. Sheridan has left Peterborough, it is evident that he has not forgotten his old home or his friends here.

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.
The traffic of the above railway for the week ending August 25th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,476.87; freight, $13,806.73; total, $19,983.60, as compared with $19,071.47 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $912.13; and the aggregate traffic to date is $671,135.26, being an increase of $23,488.13 over 1882.

Sporting.
Sporting circles in Peterborough are agitated over a rumor of a single scull race which it is said will take place on Mud Lake in about a week for $100 a side.

A team of the Peterborough Cricket Club went with the Foresters' excursion this morning. They will play a match with the Orillia Club.

A Choir Picnic.
The choir of St. John's church held a picnic on Wednesday afternoon in the beautiful grounds of the Mud Lake Park. They left here about 8.30, and after arriving at their destination they immediately commenced a series of games at which a pleasant hour or so was spent. After tea (which was an excellent one, thanks to the ladies), a large camp fire was built on the water edge, and the merry party gathered around it, where a couple of hours were spent in singing, spinning yarns, etc. The party arrived home about 10.30, all well pleased with the afternoon's outing.

Mind Reading.
It is said that Stuart Cumberland, the English mind reader, made $25,000 by his performances in the United States and Canada. That was pretty fair pay for a light season's work, and is enough to tempt others of similar ability to give it a trial. Mr. Miller, our local mind reader, does not appear to relish the idea of giving public entertainments, although he has performed feats as difficult as those which Mr. Cumberland performed. He has, however, been giving some attention to the subject, with the intention of being able to explain the phenomenon more satisfactorily than Mr. Cumberland did.

A Victim of Lightning.
A man named James Early, employed by John Doyle, farmer, Etobicoke, was struck by lightning and killed while under a tree on Thursday. He is supposed to have been drunk, as a bottle of whisky was found beside him. His body was not found until Monday.

Northwest Bricks.
One of the most encouraging facts connected with the Northwest is the success of the brick-making enterprise at Indian Head. The bricks are white and superior to those made of Manitoba clay. One firm has already turned out 300,000 bricks, and expects to turn out another 300,000 before the end of the year.

The Hudson Expedition.
New York, Aug. 29.—No bodies have been found since yesterday. The belief strengthens that there are none in the wreck, or at most only two or three. The three injured men in the hospital are doing well, two are out of danger. Rev. Howell Gardner is dreadfully scared, but may recover.

A Fatal Fall.
WELLAND, Aug. 29.—This evening about 8 o'clock a man named James Kavoc, in the employ of Deemer and Sullivan, aqueduct contractor, was hit by a car used for running stone from the yard to the arches, and precipitated from the track, a distance of about eighteen feet, in the bottom of the dam, striking on a timber and fracturing his skull. His injuries are fatal.

Too Many Engagements.
Lord Coleridge has written a letter to Mr. Boyd, Secretary of Reception Committee of the Law Society, that the New York State Bar Association, of which he is a guest while on this continent, has made so many engagements for him during his visit that he will be unable to visit Canada. Much regret and disappointment will be felt by many by this announcement.

"Hanlan's" Closed Up.
Owing to the refusal of the city to grant him a license at his hotel on the island, Mr. Ed. Hanlan has decided to close up the whole premises. Yesterday morning workmen proceeded to board up windows, lock doors, and remove from the hotel all effects. It is stated that it is his intention to put the place into an unsalvaging shape as possible to the public, even to the extent of depriving the grounds of all light and fencing them in.—Globe, Aug. 29.

The Algonquin Election.
This election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a matter for some time before an absolute lead is gained, but it is believed that the judgment of the electors of Pessam's Cove Extension, the great remedy for corn. Every customer would be made to feel that the corn is not only good, but also that it is the best in the world. But, sure, patients. Beware of dangerous imitations. They are now being offered as "just as good." See only Pessam's.

Gold Quartz.
A Kingston despatch says that a gentleman from the rear of the county has exhibited gold quartz, which he picked up in the township of Kingston. Various knowing ones have prophesied that ere long the iron ore boom will have given place to the gold fever. The location of the precious metal is kept as much as possible a profound secret.

A Chatham Thief Sentenced.
CHATHAM, Aug. 29.—The coloured man arrested here on the 27th inst. was arraigned this morning at the Police Court, charged by the Chief of police with stealing a quantity of jewelry, the property of David Sharp, of Simcoe. He pleaded guilty, and elected to be tried by Mr. Houston, P.M. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The property was recovered, and returned to Mr. Sharp.

Life in 'Frisco.
The people of San Francisco, like those of Paris, live largely at restaurants. The number and variety of eating-houses are remarkable. They are on every street, and of all grades and finish. The proprietor of one of the largest told me they were furnishing 4,000 to 4,500 meals per day, and this number will doubtless be largely increased during the next two weeks. I know of no American city where one can live so cheaply, so far as eating is concerned, as here. Housekeeping is more expensive than in the East, as rents are very high. But restaurant living is reduced to the lowest possible cost. The result is that hundreds of couples, together with much of the single element, hire rooms and then take their meals at an eating-house.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1883.

Personal.
Among those registered at the Caiase House is Mr. H. H. Burnham, Town Councillor, of Port Hope.

Cattle Shipment.
Mr. Patrick Mohr, of Douro, shipped two car loads—forty-seven head—of cattle and one car load of hogs to Montreal to-day. The animals were purchased in this district and were fine looking ones.

A Sporting Event.
On Monday, the 10th of September, an amateur rowing race will take place on Chemong Lake between Mr. J. E. McIntyre and Mr. John Mercer, for a handsome silver cup to be presented by some of the sporting men of the town. The course will be two miles straight away. Mr. E. B. Edwards has been chosen referee. The prospect of a close race, for both the gentlemen are expert and strong scullers, has created considerable interest in the event.

Just what was Wanted.
The rowing race at Chemong Lake, which is to take place on the 10th of September, has caused such an excitement in sporting circles and general interest that it needed only a small effort to make it a general field day for sport. The Lacrosse Club has, therefore, taken hold of the matter and will hold a picnic in the grove at the lake on that day, at which a programme of sports will be carried out, and a lacrosse match will be played. The club will provide tables, hot water, &c., and the committee will spare no efforts to make it a success, and a day to be hereafter remembered in connection with sports and picnics. A string band will be in attendance on the grounds and there will be a platform for dancing.

TAXATION.—The rate for the year has been struck by the Town Council at 2 cents on the dollar.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—The Sentinel-Star says that on Saturday morning a fire occurred in the stable of Mrs. Geo. Watson's, Fourth Street, destroying it, and the flames spreading to the dwelling rendered it unfit to live in. The fire was caused by damp hay being put in the stable, which became heated. The Fire Brigade was on hand. There was no insurance.

A NIGHT ON THE DEEP.—The World says that on Wednesday night of last week, a strange and very unpleasant experience happened to our respected townsman, Mr. W. H. Eyr, Registrar, and a portion of his family. They had left their camp at Presquidale in the afternoon, in Mr. Eyr's yacht; and after calling at Grafton set out in good shape for Cobourg harbor. Just before reaching home, however, the wind increased to a gale, rendering it impossible for them to reach the harbor, as well as very dangerous to carry their canvas. To prevent a capsize, they were obliged to lower sail; and so drifted off into the lake, where, during all that night's heavy rain and terrible storm, they were knocked about to the mercy of the waves. They could do nothing to help themselves; and suffered greatly from cold and wet, besides being in momentary danger of drowning. It was a night long to be remembered—of a kind of which one is usually content sufficient for an ordinary life-time. With the advent of day and the killing of the storm, they succeeded in reaching the wharf, thankful indeed for their escape from the dangers of the deep.

BELLEVILLE.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A man named Nathaniel Vanner, about 75 years of age, fell from a wagon loaded with shingles on Thursday in the second concession of Sidney, and was killed. He was found on the road at about half-past eleven with his neck broken. He leaves a wife and family.

"Why, Angeline, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet?" "Ain't they lovely?" I dyed them with the Triangle Package Dye." 10c.

JAVANESE ERUPTIONS.

75,000 LIVES LOST BY THE VOLCANIC CATASTROPHE.

Islands with their inhabitants completely disappeared—Wonderful Phenomenon in the Heavens—Molten Sea of Lava and Solid Bed of Ice.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Particulars of the volcanic eruption in Java shows that it was even more disastrous than reported. On Sunday noon the disturbances were supposed to be at their height, but later in the day their violence increased, threatening destruction to the whole island. At midnight, suddenly an enormous luminous cloud formed over the Kandag mountains, skirting the southeast coast, and gradually spread until it formed a lurid red canopy. Meanwhile the eruption increased. Streams of lava poured down into the valleys, sweeping all before them. In the midst of the molten sea of lava was a bed of solid ice, emitted from one of the craters, which was carried along and landed at the northeast corner of the island circled by a thick envelope of sand and scoria, which are non-conductors of heat. It is supposed the ice formed the crust of some subterranean lake. At 2 o'clock on Monday morning the great cloud suddenly broke and vanished. At the same time frightful rumblings were heard, and the columns of fire and smoke over the southeast corner of the island ceased to ascend, while the craters in other parts seemed to open their fiery throats still wider. The blowing of the sea became deafening, and the waves rushed up to an unprecedented height. When daylight came an enormous tract of land had disappeared fifty miles square. In this were the villages of Negery and Negery Babawang. The natives scattered sparsely through the forests and on the plains escaped death. The loss of life at these points must aggregate 15,000. The entire Kandang range of mountains, extending 65 miles, has gone out of sight. The town of Kanerang, within 26 miles of Batavia, was swept away by a lava stream and half of the population (1,800) perished. At Speelywick red bricks set fire to the houses and swept away all the thickly settled portion of the town. Ten bazars belonging to Europeans were destroyed, but no lives are known to have been lost. The river Jacaare, on which Batavia is situated, was so dammed by lava and debris that its course is changed. Peglino was almost totally destroyed and a large number of lives lost. The island of Ona, twenty-five miles east of Batavia, is inundated and the floating dock destroyed. Catays, Claps, and Ironmeters islands are out of sight. Baby and Cherica islands, of the north coast, lost the few houses and inhabitants upon them. In Batavia the loss has largely increased since former reports. The roof of the governor's house was crushed in by mud and three retainers were killed. The town bridge is destroyed, Diamond pearl bastions damaged and Burran redoubt destroyed. In Cayamand, Malabar and Lion streets, the principal avenues the damage is very great. Fort Daryog is entirely destroyed. The town of Paggel was severely shaken and few buildings were left. A violent shock was felt on the island of Sumatra on Monday. Middah island, ten miles off the Javanese coast, was almost wholly engulfed by the sea. The small island of Singkel has disappeared. It was uninhabited. The aggregate loss of life is 75,000.

PORT HOPE.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE.—The corner stone of the new public buildings in Port Hope was laid by Sir Hector L. Langevin, Minister of Public Works, on Thursday. Sir Hector was met at the station by a deputation and escorted to the residence of Mr. A. Von Hugel, the Mayor. At ten o'clock he was driven to the Town Hall, where an address of welcome was read and he replied. An adjournment then took place to the site of the new building, where the ceremony of laying the corner stone was performed. Among those present were Mr. Hilliard, M. P. for West Peterborough, Mr. Dundas, M. P. for South Victoria; Mr. Guillet, M. P. for West Northumberland; Mayor Gravelly, of Cobourg; Acting Mayor Menzies, of Peterborough; the Mayor of Bowmanville, and Dr. Brereton, M. P. for this riding. At six o'clock p. m. a grand complimentary dinner was tendered the distinguished visitor, and was attended by the representative men of the town, and many well known people from a distance.

Quick running over the C. P. R.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30.—The Canadian Pacific Railway magnates and distinguished guests, which left Winnipeg Sunday at 8.55, (ran the trip to Calgary, 840 miles, which, allowing for stoppages, was at the rate of a little over thirty-five miles an hour. At Medicine Hat they took coal from the Galts mine, and with this fuel made at times sixty miles an hour to Calgary and back. The return trip was run at a faster rate, being at an average of thirty-six miles an hour. The party visited the Bell farm, where they saw 21 self-binders at work on Tuesday, and that day they had harvested three hundred acres of wheat. The yield will average twenty-seven bushels per acre. The party arrived from Calgary at 8.35 this morning. This afternoon they went over the South-Western branch to view the magnificent garden of the Province—South-gate Manitoba. The party go over the Thunder Bay Branch to Port Arthur to-morrow. Hon. Dr. Robt. LaPlante, Lieutenant-Governor, will return to Quebec by the lake, but the remainder of the party will return to Winnipeg, and after a brief stay as guests of the Hon. Donald A. Smith, will leave home via the Minneapolis and St. Paul Railway.

Outrage at St. John's.
From latest particulars received at Montreal there is no longer any question that the attempt to blow up Cowan's black in St. John's was the work of lawless incendiaries. A can, sufficient to hold two pounds of gun powder, was found subsequent to the explosion which weakened the townpeople, between the brick wall and the wooden casing of the premises. The motive for the infamous act is still only conjectured.

FRANCE AND ANNAM.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The treaty between France and Annam will allow France to station residents at all the chief Tonquin towns, accompanied by necessary troops. France may construct forts on the banks of the Red River, and French residents at Hue have the privilege, which formerly has been refused, of private audiences with the sovereign. Chinese money will have currency throughout Annam, and commercial customs and system of taxation to be regulated by conference, to attend to which the French envoy is about to go to Hue. Decorations and presents for the King and the Annamite Minister will be sent shortly. Harmond, who negotiated the treaty with Annam, has been appointed an officer of the legion of honor for his services.

DYNAMITE CONSPIRATORS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—The Freeman's Journal says there will probably be startling disclosures shortly with regard to the dynamite conspiracy and McDermott's complicity therewith. The Dublin officials are making an inquiry owing to the statement in a Brooklyn paper concerning McDermott.

PARNELL SPEAKS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—Parnell, at a meeting of the Irish National League yesterday, spoke most encouragingly of the progress of the National League movement in America. He had been informed that he might in time expect pecuniary assistance from America, equaling the sums received in times of urgency. He believed the immigration scheme had proved successful, thus enabling the people to keep their promise to never appeal to America for aid against famine.

ALARMING TELEGRAMS.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—It is announced that alarming telegrams with reference to the revival of the Irish conspiracy have been received from America. The police fear that the arrival of O'Donnell, the slayer of Carey, will cause trouble. A large number of Irish-Americans have arrived recently.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—The Gazette, discussing the relations between Germany and Russia, says:—Nobility in Germany or Russia desires war. Russia has no interest in attacking Germany.

WAR WITH CHINA.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 30.—The commander of the French naval division in Chinese waters has been ordered to arrest, even by force, every Chinese boat carrying arms or troops. He also has been ordered, in case of rupture between France and China, to make an immediate attack on Canton and other Chinese ports.

CANADIAN CATTLE SLAUGHTERED.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 30.—One hundred cattle from Canada, suspected of being infected, have been killed on arrival.

ROYAL VISIT TO DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 30.—The Czar and Czarina arrived and were received by the Kings of Denmark. Immense crowds assembled at the landing and along the route to the palace, and warmly cheered the Imperial visitors. They were received at the palace by the Queen of Denmark, the Princess of Wales, and a brilliant court.

The Murderer of the Cook Family.
Frederick Mann, the young Englishman, who is charged with the diabolical murder of several members of the Cook family in the Province of Quebec last year, is reported to be trying to cheat the gallows by making attempts to escape lately from L'Original goal. His first attempt was nearly successful, as he had scaled the walls surrounding the building, but some boys on the outside commenced stoning the malefactor, and the noise brought the warden in time to prevent the prisoner making off. The second attempt was also a bold bid for liberty. It appears the warden had gone away for a day, and left a feeble old man to look after the murderer. On the new keeper entering the prisoner's cell the latter saw his opportunity, and got out and looked his attendant in the face. The incarcerated man called so loudly as to attract the attention of the warden's wife, who gave the alarm, which brought assistance, and made the second trial as unsuccessful as the first. The prisoner occupied his idle time in reading and walking through the corridors and yard of the goal, seemingly quite insensible of the peril he is in. His trial will take place in September.

To Get Rid of Lawn Weeds.
A correspondent of the London Garden gives the following practical suggestions on this subject:—

During the last thirty years I have tried every mode of eradicating these, suggested by every published correspondence, and, taking the time and cost of time into consideration, I have come to the conclusion that the best method of proceeding is, after the first cutting in the spring, to put as much salt on each weed, through the palm of the hand, as will distinctly cover it. In two or three days, depending on the weather, they will turn brown. These weeds that have escaped can be distinctly seen and the operation repeated. The weeds thus treated die, and in about three weeks the grass will have grown, and there will not be a vestige of disturbance left. Two years ago I converted a rough pasture into a tennis ground for six courts. Naturally, the turf was a mass of rough weeds. It took three days to salt them, and the result was curiously successful.

I had one lawn with more daisies than grass, and on September 2nd I took up the turf, scratched the ground, re-laid the turf upside down, scratched this also, well mixed it, sprinkled it with soil, and in one month it was green and hardly distinguishable from other parts of the lawn. Similar trials have been made in each month from March, and as late as August 12th, but the earth cracked.

FAITH AND LOVE.

Beyond the clouds, beyond the encircling night,
Faint wanders a star, though the stars be dim
She sees, far off, a white-winged seraphim.
With us she will not stay—"To worlds more bright,"
She cries, "I have would pass this piteous night
Of earth I have not, may, the joyous hymn.
Through the void air I would ascend to Him
Who reigns unseen, supreme and infinite."

"Farewell, then, sister!" yes, love sighs, "farewell!"
On earth, with those I love, will I abide;
With these I love! My children, "mid the flowers,
And joys of life, contented will we dwell,
John hands, be kind, be just, fear not dark hours;
Though faith be fleet, yet love shall be your guide."

A TOW 1,200 FEET LONG.

The large sea-going towboat, Cyclops, Captain Lounsbury, and the Bertram T. Haviland, Captain Gully, from St. John, N. B., were this morning off Chatham Light, Cape Cod. The raft which they are towing to this city was reported to be intact, and they were making an average speed of sixty miles a day. They expect to arrive in New York early next week. On Saturday last the towboats encountered a severe northeast gale off Cape Elizabeth, and the hawser with which they were towing the raft parted. This necessitated about four hours' delay, until they could pick up the parted hawser, and pass to the tow two hawsers, one leading to each steamer. That day the boats just into Portland, owing to the heavy weather, but on the day following they resumed the voyage. From that time until last night nothing was heard of the tow, and fears were entertained that the raft had been lost or cast adrift by the towboats.

The great danger to be feared was the probability of a heavy sea being encountered. The raft itself is about twelve hundred feet long and thirty feet wide. It draws nearly eight feet of water. It is divided into sections of about 70 feet in length. The sections are criss, into which, when they were made at St. John, the logs (about 65 feet long by 16 inches in diameter at the butt) were rolled and stowed. Then over and around the criss strong chains were fastened. Between each crib there is a ten-foot space to permit free working of the raft in a heavy sea, for in the length of 1,200 feet which the raft covers, during a storm there may be ten or twelve different large waves, and were the raft all of one piece, there was every probability that before they had gone 100 miles it would become a wreck.

In the raft are twenty-four cargoes of 250 tons each. Were the contractor who owns it to have the spiling, of which the raft is composed, brought to New York by a sailing vessel it would have cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, as the vessels that are engaged in this kind of business demanded, on account of the enormous length of the logs, extra compensation, they not being able to take as much as a full cargo. This the contractor, Mr. James Murray, of Burlington and Front street, refused to accede to and chartered the tug Haviland and Cyclops. The tug Haviland belongs to Mr. W. H. Tebo, corner of South street and Counties slip; the Cyclops belongs to Captain C. C. Ellis, of No. 60 South street. Mr. Murray, when asked for information concerning the venture refused to have anything to say, stating that he had rather wait till the boats arrived in New York before making any statement. Mr. J. C. Ellis, son of Captain J. C. Ellis, of the Cyclops, said this morning that in the event of the undertaking proving successful, there would be a revolution in the coasting trade, between New York and ports east of Boston. "By the mode of bringing this raft here which Mr. Murray had adopted," Mr. Ellis said, "there is a saving of some $8,000 or $10,000. The charter price of the tug I am not at liberty to state, but they are hired by the day, and, of course, no matter how long it takes to bring the raft here you will lose nothing. The tow left St. John on the 7th inst. and will be here Monday. Captain Briggs, of the Portland Line steamer Elsie, which arrived this morning, reports that he met the raft about 30 miles northeast of Cape Cod; that at that time they were getting along splendidly. They laid their course straight across from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, and the greatest fear of Captain Gully and Lounsbury was that they might be caught by an easterly gale and be carried down into Cape Cod Bay, where there were ten chances to one that they, the raft and all would be lost. But everything is propitious for us now and there is no doubt that the raft will be anchored safe and intact in New York harbor within seventy-two hours.

"If the thing proves a success," said one of the most prominent towboat owners in the city, "within six months you will see the finest fleet of towboats in the world ready for service between the ports east of Boston and New York. In New Brunswick, of which St. John is the principal port, there is not one tug that can at all compare with our large ocean tug, and it will be out of the question for them to attempt to compete with us. There is, of course, a considerable amount of shingles, laths, &c., that come by sailing vessels, and these undoubtedly will be left to the coasters, but the majority of the trade is done in spiling, of which, in a short while I hope we shall be the masters. St. John is about 800 miles, by water, from New York."

The Coming Timber.

There seems to be no denial of the statement that hemlock will succeed pine lumber in the early future, and the Muskegon mill men should keep their eyes on the hemlock timbers on the Muskegon river and tributaries. Throughout most portions of the North-west hemlock is abundant. It can be bought for a song almost. The price of hemlock at ten cents a thousand is nothing, when compared with pine that will produce nothing but coarse lumber at $3 per thousand, and plenty of it has been sold at that. There are a very few manufacturers in Michigan who mix their hemlock with their pine dimension, and get the same price for it. Others make $1 per 1,000 difference. Hemlock dimension is certainly as good as Norway, and the latter sells on the cargo market here at not more than 50 cents less than white pine, and often not so much difference as that is made. Hemlock, as present prices, is a good investment, much better than pine, the way they have been buying the latter in certain sections.—Muskegon News.

The Weather.
The weather to-day is fine and warm. The weather probabilities for this district as issued from the Toronto Meteorological office at one o'clock this morning, for twenty-four hours, are as follows:—Moderate winds, mostly south and south-east; continued fine weather; stationary or higher temperature.

The Peterborough Rangers.
The time is now drawing near for the annual drill of our volunteers, which will commence at Cobourg on Sept. 11th. The Peterborough battalion and troops have done well in the past, and should take pains to maintain their old reputation. We learn that there are still some vacancies in the town companies, and recruits of the right stamp will be welcomed.

Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

Railway Notes.
The Port Hope Guide says that John Pym, aged some 17 or 18 years, son of Mr. Daniel Pym, Hope, who has been engaged for some time past as brakeman on the Midland Railway, fell off the train on Tuesday, at Waukenahe, and the cars passed over his right arm, severing it from his body. He was taken to Orillia for medical treatment, where his wounded limb was properly dressed.

Man Overboard.
When the steamer Enterprise was crossing Lake Couchiching on Thursday with a party of Peterborough excursionists, the dreaded cry of "man overboard" was raised. The gangway had been drawn up and hooked when the steamer left the park to cross to the town, and a young man from Peterborough unthinkingly sat down upon it. The hooks unhooked, and he fell out into the water. The steamer was at once stopped, and he was rescued with much difficulty, having only received a ducking in the water.

Life Preservers.
A conversation on the steamer Enterprise on Lake Couchiching, the sight of a number of life preservers leading to it:—"Father, what are those things piled up there?" "Life preservers, my son. What are they for, father?" "For people to use in keeping themselves from drowning if the boat fails to keep them up." "Do the people know how to use them?" "No, my son, all do not, and in the excitement, if an accident should happen, they would not know what to do with them." "Would you know how to use them, father?" "Let us change the subject, my son."

Lacrosse.
The Mail of Thursday says:—"The Kingston lacrosse team defeated the Otton, of Belleville, in three straight games yesterday. The Maple Leafs propose to meet the Peterborough club and play for the Glenside Cup, in a few days." The Peterborough club has not received a challenge from the Maple Leafs yet, but as it is evidently their intention to come here, for the purpose stated, the boys should practice assiduously, so that they would be prepared to meet them. The Peterborough club should make an extra effort to hold the cup this year, as at the expiration of this season it becomes their property, and it would be too bad to lose it when they have held it so long.

CANADIAN FORESTERS.

THE ANNUAL EXCURSION OF THE MEMBERS OF THE ORDER IN PETERBORO.

Over the Midland to Couchiching Park and Orillia—A Cricket Match Drawn in Favor of Orillia—How they Won It—A Very Pleasant Outing.

One of the events of each season is the excursion of the members of the Canadian Order of Foresters. This year there were two Courts of the Order, and they united in holding one excursion, which took place on Thursday to Couchiching Park and Orillia. This was one of the most successful that they have ever held. The train left the Peterborough station at 8 a.m. It consisted of nine coaches and a van for the edibles, and the coaches and the van were pretty well filled. The Fire Brigade Band accompanied the excursion and played several selections on the way in their usual excellent style. At Fraserville the number of the excursionists was increased, and at Millbrook they were joined by quite a number from that village. The run from Millbrook was made in good time, and was reached at 12 o'clock. Here the excursion party divided, about half of them going to the park and the remainder proceeding to Orillia, about a mile and a half further on. The park is an admirable place for a picnic party. It is well shaded by a natural roof of boughs, and carpeted with grass, and, which adds not a little to the pleasure of a party going there, it is well kept. There are conveniences arranged also, and a good pavilion for dancing. Being on the shore of a beautiful lake, the fresh, invigorating breeze, and the opportunity for boating, are no small advantages. It is a beautiful place, and at it a pleasant afternoon was spent. The Peterborough Orchestra furnished music at the "light fantastic" pavilion, and the usual amusements were not wanting. Two steamers plied between the park and the TOWNS OF ORILLIA during the afternoon, and the greater portion, if not all, of the excursionists visited the town. When the park was reached the band and the Cricket Club, with about half of the party, proceeded at once to the town. The band played through the street from the station to the Russell House, where they dined, while the Cricket Club went further up the street to the Orillia House. Before proceeding to the park after dinner the band played several selections in front of the hotel, and they received many compliments from Orillia townspeople, many of whom, however, had heard the band before. To "see the town" was the intention of many of the excursionists, and they carried it out. It has, like many Canadian towns, one chief business street, and it is a handsome street, on which there is, apparently, a good deal of business transacted. The population of the town is about 3,000, and it contains in its bounds several fine residences. The idiot asylum was visited by many of the visitors and the officials very kindly conducted them through the asylum and were very obliging and courteous. The first thing they noticed on entering was, perhaps, the cleanliness of the place, everything appearing to be kept in first-class order. There are in the asylum 109 females and 40 males, all hopeless idiots. The grounds in front of the large building are nicely laid out and beautiful, a large fountain in front of the building attracting much attention. The inmates were out in the yards and many of the sights there seen were painful to look upon, while at others one could not repress an involuntary smile. On the main street, near the water, there is another asylum, where a worse class of idiots were confined. Here, also, they were out in a yard during the afternoon, and many looked in upon the painful scene.

THE CRICKET MATCH.
The cricket match between the Peterborough and Orillia clubs was commenced soon after the arrival of the train. The Orillia cricket ground, which is also used for lacrosse, is a good one, being level and large. The Orillia club went to the bat first and ran up a score of 140. Of this number, G. F. Hall, who played beautifully, made 44, when he was caught out by Rutherford. J. H. Barron also did some fine playing, scoring 23 without being out. C. P. Fisher played well as also did R. G. Dalton, who did some heavy hitting. Of the Peterborough team Cooper did some splendid playing, scoring 25, and Hartley, Hallett, and Montgomery also played well. The total score for Peterborough was 95, leaving Orillia 45 runs ahead in the first innings. As there was not time to go on with the match it was won by Orillia on this innings. The Orillia club was represented by a team of splendid players, but several of them did not belong to that town. The following is the score:—

At half-past five the steamers made their last trip between the town and the park, and then was then the order of the day. The band gave the visitors and natives another sample of good music, and at 6.30 o'clock the train, HEADED HOMEWARD, began to move. The homeward journey was made in good time and without a mishap of any kind. The Peterborough station was reached at 10.20 o'clock.

The Canadian Foresters are to be congratulated on the success of this excursion. The attendance was large and all, we believe, enjoyed the day. Everything was well arranged, and much credit is due therefore to the Committee, and its Chairman and Secretary, Mr. E. Riley and Mr. F. J. Jameson. The conductor in charge of the train, Mr. Jas. Driscoll, and all the train men, were obliging and did all in their power to add to the success of the occasion. All the arrangements had been so carefully made, and were so well attended to by the Committee, that not a "hitch" occurred during the day, and the excursion was certainly most enjoyable.

SHADE TREES.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In the heat of summer we appreciate the benefit of shade trees more than we do in the chilly days of Spring, when trees ought to be planted. More trees are required to make the town look really beautiful, and if all work together much more can be accomplished than by individual effort. Would it not be well, then, that a committee of citizens should now be appointed to take charge of the matter with a view to united action next Spring? The committee could ascertain how many trees are required in each ward, how many people would be willing to plant and care for them, and then arrange for the supply of trees at the proper time and at a moderate price. What say you, Mr. Editor, and what say the public-spirited citizens of our thriving town?

Yours, &c., E. E. EDWARDS

Peterborough, Sept. 1, 1883.

TELEPHONE POLES.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I am surprised to see one of our principal streets defaced by the unsightly poles now being put up along Charlotte street, by the Telephone Company, for their wires. If I remember correctly the Town Council passed a resolution requesting the Telephone Company to remove their poles off the principal streets, which the company readily complied with, and now we are to submit to this privilege being taken by the Telephone Company without as much as saying "by your leave." If the Council permit such unsightly ornaments to grace one of our most beautiful streets (especially west of the Midland Railway track) where so many fine and costly residences have been built of late years. The people should petition against and insist on their immediate removal from such a leading street as Charlotte, to some more remote place. The Telephone Company must learn that they cannot spoil our streets at will, by such frightful looking objects as they have recently been erecting on one of our leading thoroughfares.

Yours, &c.,

Peterborough, Sept. 1st, 1883.

Baptist Picnic.

The members of the Baptist Church held a picnic at Wallis' Grove on Friday afternoon. "Business" carried the party out to the grove, where a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The usual games were enjoyed, including base ball, and the party, which numbered about sixty, had a very pleasant and sociable time.

In the Northwest.

The Minnesota correspondent of the Winnipeg Commercial writes:—"The brick block on the corner of Main and Minnesota streets now being erected for Messrs. Wallis, Ramsey & Co., bankers, is also worthy of special mention. It occupies one of the best business sites on the street, and will be a credit to the enterprise of the owners. The construction will be under the supervision of Messrs. Head & Dewar, architects, who have lately opened an office here."

Railway Notes.

The steam shovel completed its task on the big cut on the "Missing Link" line of the Midland Railway at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon. It is expected that the contractor will have his work finished by the 15th of this month. The Lindsay Post has been informed that some changes in the routes of the mail clerks on the Midland will be made next week that will improve the service. Two mail clerks will leave Toronto in the morning, and paring at Wick-up to which point they have extra heavy work—one will go to Midland and the other to Port Hope, receiving and delivering all along the way. They return in the evening. The mail clerk on the Nipissing will run from Cobocoonk to Lindsay and return.

The Lacrosse Club Picnic will be held at Channing Lake on Monday, the 10th. The Bowling Match will take place there, also a Lacrosse Match, &c.

WHIRLWIND AND LAVA.

THE WORK OF DESTRUCTION BY THE VOLCANOS IN JAVA.

Houses, Animals and Men Carried off—Folkensoes Cases Increase the Slaughter—Fourteen New Volcanic Mountains—An Ashy Desert.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Advices from Batavia say after the sudden subsidence of the volcanic disturbance in the Kingdom of Bantam, on Monday, a feeling of relief was experienced, but at 10 o'clock at night the crater became active again. The apandayang shot out three distinct columns of flames, and its surface was covered with fiery lava. A whirlwind accompanied the eruption, carrying off houses, trees, men and animals. A shower of ashes covered the roofs of the houses. At Denamo, off Point Cady, floating pumice formed a layer two feet thick, through which vessels forced their way with great difficulty. The rise of vapour produced the appearance of columns several thousand feet high, based on the edge of the crater. Suddenly the mountain split into seven peaks, and in the seams which were opened there could be seen great balls of molten matter. From fissures poured clouds of steam and lava. The exhalations of carbolic acid gas killed birds and animals in large numbers and a few human beings. The great fissures which were opened seemed to act as safety valves through which the lava gently flowed into the valleys. The volcanic fires, though still burning, at last advised had lost most of their fierceness. One of the queer incidents was the sudden rising on Tuesday of fourteen new volcanic mountains in the Straits of Sunda, forming a complete chain in an almost straight line between Point St. Nicholas, on the Javanese coast, and Hoga, a point on the island of Sumatra, almost on the top of which had been Merak and Middle Islands, which sank into the sea on Monday. In Bantam, where 1,500 people were supposed to have perished the bodies of 2,800 have already been recovered. From all over the island come reports of the loss of life and property, which, is estimated at 75,000 killed, will not prove excessive. On the low lands, where the waters receded, hundreds of mangled bodies are lying. Sanitary corps have been formed and the corpses are burned as soon as possible. A despatch from Batavia says the condition of the Strait of Sunda is dangerous. New islands have arisen, and the coast line is altered. The government is preparing to obtain new soundings. Sixteen volcanoes have appeared between the site where the island of Krakatau stood and Sibiis island. A portion of Bantam is an ashy desert.

The Greely Expedition.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Fears are felt for the safety of the Greely expedition to Lady Franklin Bay. It had provisions for two years. No tidings have been received since the colony left two years ago.

He Tried the Sea.

Captain Boynton once thought of going through the Niagara rapids in his rubber suit; but he numbered several railroad ties and sent them through. When they were recovered below the whirlpool and Boynton saw their scars, he packed up his rubber suit and left Niagara.

As Powerful as 500,000 Horses.

BUFFALO, Aug. 30.—E. Baker, the Boston engineer, claims that a power equivalent to 500,000 horses can be obtained by submerging his motor in the Niagara River, a force sufficient to pump all the city water, to generate all the electricity, and to run all the machinery of the city of Buffalo.

Cobden's Mistake.

The London Observer says:—"The plain fact is that Free Trade, though an excellent thing for England, under the peculiar conditions of her natural life, is not of necessity a good thing for nations who are differently situated. This truth Cobden himself was not far sighted enough to recognize. Experience, however, has brought it home to ordinary apprehension."

A splendid assortment of New Ulster and Mantle Cloths at Turnbull's. Cutting and fitting done on the shortest notice.

A Fight With a Shark.

The London Standard says that by the arrival at Newcastle, N. S. W., of the bark Albana, information was received of the terrible encounter which one of the crew had with a shark, from which he escaped by fighting the monster with his jackknife. The sailor was William Hyde, who, together with another seaman, was aloft bracing the yards during the prevalence of a heavy gale. Hyde was flung into the water, and, notwithstanding the fearful sea and wind the mate and two sailors put off to his rescue in a small dingy. It was three-quarters of an hour before the craft came near the poor fellow and it was then seen that he was in a partially nude state.

A shark was also close to him, and was making desperate efforts to secure its victim. Hyde had his jack-knife, and with it he managed to keep the monster at bay. When the shark saw the boat approaching it appeared to realize that it was about to be deprived of its prey, and consequently made increased efforts to close with Hyde. The nearer the boat approached the more desperate became the shark, and while one of the men was hauling Hyde into the dingy the other two had to beat the voracious animal off with their oars. The poor fellow was at last got safely into the boat, and shortly afterward reached the Albana. It seems that the shark never got sufficiently close to bite Hyde. His partial nudity was caused by the fall, as immediately on striking the water his clothes split almost in two.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if little worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barber's Itch, Boils, all kinds of crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 14 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25 (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

New Method for Drying Timber.

Although steam-pipes are largely used in drying timber, hot air circulation is being introduced, and several improvements have been made in America in this mode of treatment. Professor Carvalho's method is described as follows:—"A continuous volume of heated air is forced over the timber by means of a fan-blower, the temperature of which is gradually increased, until the boiling point of water is reached; then the water in the albumen or other substance is converted into steam. This degree of heat also coagulates the albumen, and the pores of the inner cells of the timber become filled up with the solid coagulum." The hot air is made to enter at the bottom of room, which is air-tight, and after circulating round the timber, and through the wood, is discharged through another pipe at the opposite end of the room. It is asserted that this method of drying does not discolour the wood, and is a preservative against dry rot.

A Japanese Custom.

"The following details," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "with regard to the hair-dressing of Japanese ladies may be of interest in these days and may help to elucidate much of the mystery which always surrounds the meaning of a Japanese picture. In Japan a girl at the age of nine wears her hair tied up in a red scarf bound around the back of her head; the forehead is left bare, with the exception of a couple of locks, one on each side. When she is of a marriageable age she combs her hair forward, and makes it up into the shape of a fan or a butterfly, and at the same time decorates it with silver cord and balls of varied colors. This means everything, and is fully understood by the young men of Japan. A widow who wishes for a second husband puts a tortoise-shell pin horizontally at the back of her head and twists her hair around it, while an inconsolable widow cuts her hair short and goes in for no adornments of any sort. These last are very rare. By these simple means much confusion is avoided. A glance around a ball-room suffices to tell the age and status of every lady in the place, and a great deal might be said for the introduction of such a custom into this country."

An Opinion of the Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales simply amazes everybody by his restless—or rather his unrelenting activity. One might ask with no little reason: When does the Prince sleep? He plays many parts, and plays them all uncommonly well. He is here, there, and everywhere. He is perpetual motion itself. One reads of him at York at the Exhibition in the morning, and then at the Fisheries Exhibition at London in the evening. He entertains like a Prince and is the most genial of guests in the homes of his friends, and one might say those friends are of all classes. He will be present at the International Club jubilee at Baden-Baden at the end of this present month. It is hoped that the aged Emperor of Germany will honor this occasion with his royal and revered presence. Such a feat as this promises to be will bring back the former days of Baden-Baden's glory, when the gambling tables made it one of the most enchanting, as well as dangerous, centres of European fashion. When the end of the season came it was supposed His Royal Highness would rest—that he must have rest. But no. He thrives upon this habit of unremitting activity. Soon he will be shooting grouse, perhaps in Scotland, and soon after travelling in Germany. He is a popular Prince, and it is believed he will be a wise and beneficent ruler.—Ex.

Railway Bids for Voters.

The Reform Parkhill Gazette thus deals with the Globe's silly argument in favor of Midland Railway bribing through free tickets:—"The Globe argues in defence of developments made in the South Victoria election case that the paying of the railway fares of voters brought to vote should not be considered an offence against the law for pure election contests. In the old days when the Reformers were out of office the Globe would have howled itself hoarse with indignation at any Conservative who would have hinted at such a defence. It claims that the law relating to the hiring of vehicles for the conveyance of voters to the polls was made because the hiring itself was made a species of bribery; but argues that in the case of paying voters' fares on the railway no such objection exists, as no railway company could be bribed by such a paltry consideration as the buying of a few railway tickets. But it forgets that the election act was also intended to take away the disabilities under which poor men labored before the act was passed, in obtaining a seat in Parliament. If the Globe's version of the law were correct the rich man who could afford to pay voters' railway fares would have a very great advantage over the poor man who could not afford such an outlay. One of the chief objects of the election law was to place rich and poor candidates on the same footing, and if in the South Victoria case the Reform member had violated the law in respect of paying fares of voters, the Globe is falsifying its record by supplying an interpretation of the law for his special benefit."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1883.

SOME IMPROPER APPOINTMENTS.

The notorious Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe, who never seems happy unless he is slandering some one, is now spitting his venom at the Review. In a letter dated August 30th he begins by calling us "an ill-informed Tory organ," and proceeds to make out a case against us by falsifying the facts in his usual manner. He prefaces a quotation from our editorial in which we expressed our "strongest condemnation" of the appointment of Mr. Chapleau as sheriff in the Northwest, "if it had been made," by the words, "It says:—" with the obvious intention of conveying the idea that we have only just recently spoken in this doubtful manner, and he proceeds to say that the appointment was gazetted on Aug. 4th. He conceals the fact that our hypothetical condemnation was published on that day, and two days before the Gazette could reach us. He next calls upon us to proceed to vent our indignation forthwith. As it happens we repeated our condemnation immediately after the Gazette appeared, not having one measure for our own party and another for our opponents.

We must own that there is one point on which we have not such full information as we could wish. The Globe speaks of the new sheriff as Samuel P. St. Onge Chapleau, but in the list of officers of the department both under Mr. Mackenzie and Sir C. Tupper, we can only find the name of L. E. St. Onge Chapleau, and we were under the impression that the L. stood for Lemuel. Whence does this discrepancy arise? We need not dwell upon the fact that the Globe correspondent repeatedly calls him St. Onge, for probably that is only a specimen of the good information of this very honest critic.

As to the opinion we are invited to express on the appointment to a judgeship of Mr. L. O. Lorange, we are not sufficiently acquainted with the purely local affairs of another province to have formed an opinion. We are not aware that "bribing a man to become a candidate for the Quebec Legislature" is a crime. If Mr. Lorange has been guilty of improper conduct, we condemn his appointment, but we must decline to take this for granted on the representation of such a notorious slanderer, whose blasphems would tell strongly in any man's favor.

And now in our turn we will ask our critics for an opinion. What does he think of the appointment by Mr. Mowat of two robbers to offices of trust and dignity? Does he approve of the appointment to the Bench of a man who has misappropriated and still retains the moneys of the county of which he was treasurer? Does he approve of the appointment as Registrar of a man who was kicked out of an honorable profession for robbing the widow and the orphan?

We have condemned the appointment to office of one who made an improper use of his official information, but we regret to say that we have not yet seen in any Reform journal the slightest condemnation of Mr. Mowat for appointing to positions of high trust men who have committed the far more heinous offence of such cowardly thefts from those who had confided in them.

MUSKOKA ELECTIONS.

A good deal of interest attached to the Muskoka trial. The Reformers had contrived a very cunning scheme for carrying that constituency, Algoma, and several of the frontier counties. The election law of 1875 provides that in the unorganized townships, every male person may vote who is not specially disqualified, and who is the owner of real estate in the electoral district, of the value of $200, or who has been for six months "a resident householder of such place." Under this provision the Reformers have been in the habit of taking chicanery, Indians and others, resident in the organized townships, but not on the voters' list, into the unorganized townships, and permitting them to vote there. The law appears on its face to sanction that proceeding. The person so tendering a vote is required to swear that he has been for six months "a resident householder in this electoral district" (that is in some part of Muskoka or Parry Sound districts) and that he is "entitled to vote at this election." He would of course begin by stating that he would be entitled to vote if he had for six months occupied any kind of a tenement in any part of the district, and he would take the oath.

This year the Conservatives believe that what was sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander, and they carried out the same tactics. Of course the Reformers are terribly outraged because the wicked Tories have done what they themselves have been doing for years, and what they intended to do when they cunningly framed the law to give them a pretext for doing it.

It is satisfactory to know that the court has decided such practice to be illegal. There is no reason why a man who has no vote in the township in which he lives should gain a vote by going into a township in which he does not live, and in which he owns no property. The Spectator has complained of the practice in former years. It cannot be that it has been so generally condemned, though it has been condemned at Conservative expense.

There is not a reasonable doubt that, though Mr. Faugier has been named, Muskoka will be represented by a Conservative. The constituency is one in which Government money is lavishly spent and Government favors judiciously distributed. The people there have been and to be sure have been, that if they did not vote right they would be made to suffer.

In their material interests. They, each of them, believe through sharp experience. The Conservative who lived more than five years on his lot and who had strictly performed all his settlement duties, found obstacles of all sorts thrown into the way of getting his patent, while his Reform neighbor received his patent in advance of the time. The Reform neighbor might be years away from his location working in a logging camp, and no notice was taken of the matter, but the Conservative was differently dealt with. In many ways the settler was made to feel that his interests would be promoted by voting for the Government candidate. Now the belief is general that the Mowat Government is doomed, and that the settler may assert his right to vote as he pleases without fear of consequences. Conservatives in Muskoka are taking courage. They are confident of their ability to carry the district and they believe they can carry in the larger majority than Mr. Faugier received. —Hamilton Spectator.

LINDSAY.

FIRE.—The Warder says that shortly before three o'clock on Thursday morning the house and premises owned by Mr. Brooks on Kent street, near Needler & Saddler's mill took fire and were very soon burnt to the ground. How the fire originated is not known, but the supposition is that some coals had dropped from the stove through the opening between the floor. At all events the fire had made too much headway when the firemen arrived and it was speedily burnt down, along with considerable cordwood. The occupants, named Terry, also lost considerable in furniture, &c. The building was insured.

THE SALVATION ARMY.—The Post says that on Wednesday Chief Constable Smart applied to Police Magistrate O'Leary asking if something could not be done to restrain the officers and privates of the Salvation Army from making a noise and disturbance on the streets. Mr. Smart pointed out to the magistrate that his (Mr. Smart's) duties were greatly increased in keeping order, as the proceedings of the army always collected a crowd, necessitating the chief constable being on hand to preserve order. Mr. Smart was of opinion that there was a town by-law providing for the arrest of persons disturbing the peace in the manner indicated, and asked the magistrate to look the matter up. It was found that a certain by-law covered the acts complained of. Mr. Smart notified sub-deputy Constable Bob Brown, who notified the captain and officials of the Salvation Army, who received Mr. Brown's manifesto with indifference. The army were warned that they must confine their demonstrations to their own hall, and the officers are reported to have said that if arrested for singing on the streets they would sing in the lock-up. We shall see what we shall see.

THE RAILWAY BRIDGE.—Mr. J. Milburn, who has had charge of the masonry of the piers of the bridge, has completed his work, and the engineer of the road has expressed to the contractors his satisfaction with the solidity and finish of the job. Mr. Milburn has had charge of the quarrying of the stone as well as the work of the building of the piers. The stone was taken from the quarries near Bobcaygeon. Mr. Milburn will probably take charge of a part of the work on the Trent Valley locks at Fenelon Falls. The first instalment of iron for the new railway bridge came in on Tuesday, being the large iron girders which reach from the abutments to the centre pier. The centre span of the bridge will be of the "truss" pattern, the materials of which will arrive in a day or two. The contractors for the bridge proper, the Hamilton Bridge Co., at first proposed to place the girders on scows at the wharf, and tow them up the river to the bridge piers, where the girders would be raised by derricks. This plan has been abandoned, and the place of track from the station to the bridge will be put down at once, and the iron passed down to the bridge. Three weeks will probably see the bridge in operation.

BOBACAYGEON.

BRIDGE.—The Independent says that foreman Kennedy has all the material ready for raising the swing bridge, and placing it on a new turning gear. A temporary bridge is constructed ready for use, and the Superintendent is to be here at once to give instructions.

LOGS.—The last drive of logs has passed through. It contained about 25,000 logs, belonged to J. M. Irwin, and was in charge of Bob Douglas, assisted by Clerk Hoxie. The drive came from the remote north, and had an unfortunate run, experiencing a constant succession of adverse winds, and losing a man at Fenelon Falls.

QUARRY.—The Ontario and Quebec Railway quarry has closed down for the present. A large quantity of fine stone has been shipped. The stone for the Midland Railway bridge has also been shipped, and four massive piers have been constructed there. The piers are eleven feet under water, and the bridge will be 36 ft. above water, which will allow boats to pass under, and avoid all delay of boats and trains. On the completion of this bridge by Messrs. McNealey and Walters, the Lindsay wharf will be abandoned. The cost of the contract will be about $50,000, a portion of which has fallen to the lot of Bobcaygeon.

STERLING.

A COW'S DEATH.—The News-Argus says that some weeks ago Mr. S. J. Danford, of Rawdon, lost a cow. It was some time before he learned anything of its whereabouts. Finally she was found but a few rods from his house, dead, with her foot caught between a root and a rock. Then Mr. Danford remembered having heard a cow bawling for days in that direction, the sounds, before they ceased, becoming short and almost continual, as though of an animal in distress. At the time it was supposed it was sick cow on a neighbor's farm, and afterwards ascertained that the neighbor also heard the notes, but took the impression that Mr. Danford was dealing with sick stock, and paid no attention to it. So it seems between the two the poor brute actually starved to death, being unable to extricate herself from the trap. The cow was a valuable one, but aside from that Mr. Danford felt that she should have met such a pitiful death so near at home, when help was "so near and yet so far."

An Airy Bed.

It was a cool and airy bed in which Jack Donegan, a fireman of a telephone company in Kansas City, sought "nature's sweet restorer." Some men lingering in the streets at midnight were considerably surprised to see this original and daring individual climbing a telegraph pole, and carrying a board he had "borrowed." They became horrified when they saw him place the board across the wires, roll up his coat for a pillow, and stretch himself on the swaying threads for a sound sleep, into which he soon fell, as was evinced by his snoring. A policeman mounted the pole and awoke the sleeper, and took him to court, where he was fined $5 for drunkenness, though Donegan asserted he was sober and that sleeping as he did was one of his favorite practices.

MURDERED BY A POLICEMAN.

Clubbed to Death by a New York Officer—A Brutal Affair.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—A terrible case of police brutality occurred in this city last evening. John Smith, a deck hand on the schooner Ellen Hasbrook, now lying at her dock at Philadelphia, was brutally clubbed to death by officer McNamara, of the Mulberry police station, at the corner of Canal and Mulberry streets, at 7.30 p.m. Smith had been visiting Patrick O'Donnell, second mate of the same vessel, who lives at 88 Mulberry street. When they parted Smith was the worse of liquor, but started for his home at the corner of 63d street and 3rd avenue. He had not gone far when he entered the doorway of No. 121 Mulberry street and fell asleep. Mrs. Hughes, who resides in the house called officer McNamara to get the man out. The officer entered the hallway and at once commenced to club Smith in the most brutal manner. Smith got up and proceeded up Mulberry street, followed by the officer, who kept clubbing him about the back and arms. Smith remonstrated with the officer, who became greatly excited and on reaching Canal street he struck the unfortunate sailor two murderous blows with his club, one on the neck and the other on the chest, and Smith fell dead on the sidewalk. A stretcher was sent for and the dead sailor was removed to the station house, where the officer reported him sick, and as in all such cases he was treated with indifference. The excitement in the neighbourhood became so great, and such demonstration was made by the crowd that the body was finally examined, and then it was learned that he was badly bruised and his neck broken. Several respectable citizens called at the station-house and left their names as witnesses. McNamara was arrested, and held to await the result of the coroner's inquest. This is the second time he has been charged with a similar offence.

A Baby's Adventure.

A remarkable incident, a correspondent writes, has occurred on the Midland Railway at Birmingham, Eng. A lady on reaching Saltley Junction with a quantity of luggage and a baby, was told that she must change for New Street Station. In her hurry she placed her baby in a first-class compartment, and then went to the goods van to see after her boxes, but before she could return to the compartment where she had left the infant the train started, leaving the terrified lady standing on the platform. Almost distracted, she cried about for help, and fainted away, but on recovering consciousness was placed in a cab with instructions to be driven to the Central Station, Birmingham, as fast as possible. The baby, in the meantime, had been carried through the tunnel, kicking and screaming to the alarm of other passengers in the train, and on the arrival at New Street was found to the astonishment of the railway officials to be the only occupant of the railway carriage. It was at first imagined that some one had deserted the child, and a conference was held as to what had best be done with it. Just at this time a gentleman stepped up, and inquired what was the matter. Before an explanation could be given him, the baby, who had so far been crying and screaming lustily, suddenly began to clap its hands and look pleased, whereupon the gentleman exclaimed: "Why, dear me, this is my own little niece." The gentleman had arrived at the station with the intention of meeting his sister. Naturally the greatest excitement prevailed as to what had become of the mother, but the arrival of the frightened lady in a cab, however, quickly set matters right.

Where William Black Should Go.

A few adventurous Englishmen have borne the reputation to the old country, and the fame of Alaska as a wonderfully picturesque region is even better known across the sea than on the American Continent. Lord Dufferin made a trip up the British Columbia and Alaska coast while Governor-General of Canada, and his descriptions of the Archipelago and its scenery are among the most vivid and enthusiastic sketches that he has written of the new world. When a second William Black shall have arisen to paint the wonders of its high mountains, its dense forests, its clear, emerald waters, its skies, its fogs and sunsets; to tempt the angler with his tales of the great salmon; to excite the hunter with hints of the deer, the bear, the mountain sheep and ruffed grouse that crowd these untrodden wilds, and to lure the artist and the lover on to these shores of eternal beauty, the Scotch Hebrides will be forgotten, and the placid waters of these picturesque channels and inlets will reflect the shapely hulls of unnumbered yachts. A summer spent in the Alexander Archipelago will mean more to the fashionable and aesthetic mind than six seasons off the coast of Maine, and two winters on a tedious debauch of the Nile. The sea-sick sufferers on other salt waters can sail the brine sea for three weeks, and a month, without experiencing a quail unless a great gale should blow when they cross the forty mile stretch of Hecate Strait and Dixon Sound, where the boundary line separates British Columbia and Alaska.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. A. H. Marsh's Arrest.

A writ was issued at Osgoode hall yesterday morning by Mr. Aylesworth as solicitor for Mr. A. H. Marsh, claiming damages for malicious arrest and malicious prosecution against Lorenzo Adolphus Cameron, James and Wilson W. Webb of Colborne. This case will be remembered as growing out of Mr. Marsh's arrest in this city, his being taken to Colborne, and his subsequent acquittal. There was apparently no cause whatever for Mr. Marsh's arrest.—Toronto World.

FROM ALL OVER

ANNAPOLIS exported to Boston last week 50,387 dozen eggs.

THERE are fifteen applications for the post of chief of police at Trenton.

U KAN'T KOFF.—Climax cough cakes. Quick, sure cure; of all dealers; 15c.

At New York, Bertha Heyman, the confidence queen, has been sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

DON'T PULL IT.—Use Newton's one minute toothache cure. Relief at once; of all dealers, 15c.

MESSRS. RHODES, CURRY & Co., intend to use the electric light in forwarding their contract for the new railway office at Moncton and will have a night and a day force of men at work.

THE Crown Prince and Princess of Germany will spend part of their English visit at Balmoral, where the Princess has not been for many years and where, twenty-seven years ago, the Prince proposed for her hand.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

At Cumberland, near Ottawa, on Thursday, a man named Howson was feeding a threshing machine, when his clothing became entangled in the machinery and he was drawn in and instantly killed.

W. A. EDGAR, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

JOHN LOWE, for many years a leading ship-builder at Moose's River, N.S., committed suicide by blowing out his brains with a revolver. He had been mentally deranged for some time, the malady being brought on it is supposed through financial difficulties.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

LIGHTNING struck the school house at Underhill, Vt., while the school was in session, tore up the floor, threw down the ceiling, tore the soles from one boy's shoes, and made a little girl deaf, while many of the children were hurt by flying splinters.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

In Fairfield, Maine, is a manufactory of ready-made buildings, which is said to be the largest in the world. It turns out dwellings in many sizes and shapes, as boots and shoes are turned out in other parts of New England. The capabilities of the factory range from a shanty to a $50,000 hotel, with every room pointing toward the sea.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

15 yards of Good Grey Cotton for one dollar at Turnbull's.

Sheep Killed by Lightning.

On Wednesday evening last Mr. Fred Young of East Garside lost fourteen fine sheep and lambs by lightning. Some of them were torn by the fluid and thrown in a heap promiscuously on the ground. His loss is over $100.

Nerviline, What is it?

Poleon's Nerviline is a combination of the most potent pain relieving substances known to medical science. The constant progress made in this department of science points upward and onward. Nerviline is the latest development in this movement, and embodies the latest discoveries. For neuralgia, migraine, pains in the head—external, internal and local—Nerviline has no equal. Expend 10 cents in the purchase of a sample bottle of Nerviline and be convinced of the marvellous power over pain. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's. Large bottles 50 cents.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 21st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

MRS. S. L. MOORE.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.

Sold by all Druggists and at Depot 150 St. James St. West, Montreal, Price 50c.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the Review stationery store.

Smith's Market.
Choice Virginia grapes 2½ lb boxes only 50 cents; Delaware peaches $1.75 per basket; Jenny Lynn melons, water melons, apples, pears and plums.

New Jewellery Store.
Get your Watches, Clocks, Jewellery, all repaired at Huggan's New Shop. Remember the place, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

No. 3 Company.
A meeting of No. 3 Company, 57th Batt., will be held on Tuesday evening next, September 4th, at the Drill Shed, Ashburnham, at 7 o'clock. A few recruits are wanted.

See Turnbull's Grey Flannels at 25 cents per yard. You will be surprised at the value.

Next Wednesday.
Some fears having been expressed that so great would be the number who would go to Belleville next Wednesday that there would be a great deal of crowding and consequent discomfort, we learn from the Committee that the Railway Company have promised such ample accommodation that there need be no fear of overcrowding.

Champagne Cider.
The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in kegs expressly for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.
Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Bush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

Where to Eat.
For those who take their basket with them on Wednesday, the City Hall in Belleville will be secured for "pic-nicking" in, and as the train will stop directly opposite that building, baskets will only have to be carried across the street. Those who do not want to be bothered with baskets will find arrangements made for supplying dinner and tea at the Pinnacle street station. Of this, however, the excursionists will learn more on the train. Though the hotels of Belleville are already full, every arrangement will be made so that no one need be hungry.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.
The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Badly smitten.
There is a young man in this town just now who appears to be in a bad way. On the 24th of August he wrote a note to a young lady in one of our hotels, whom he had only seen and admired at a distance, asking her to meet him at a place appointed. The appointment she, of course, did not keep. Then on Wednesday last he wrote again. His first letter had been a mild one, but into the second he threw all the fervour of his love, beseeching her to meet him at the Court House Park gate on Saturday night (to-night), at a quarter to eight. This impassioned letter (oh! the treachery of those females!) has fallen into our hands. He had seen the fair one in the Opera House on Monday night, and he says, "Mary, you were the most charming creature in the hall, and I don't know how any person could look at you without falling in love." Evidently he has fallen in deeply, for he writes, "Now, Mary, do not disappoint me; please don't, for if you do you will drive me mad." He closes the ardent appeal as follows: "Now, do meet me, and you will make me the happiest person on earth. Your ever admiring friend." Mary is going to coax her big cousin from the country to remain in town to-night, and to meet the young man and to embrace him for her—with a club.

Remember the Sculling Race, La-crosse Match and Sports at Chemong Lake on Monday, 10th Sept. Lacrosse Club Picnic.

Surveying the Course.
Two gentlemen went out to Chemong Lake to-day to survey the two mile course for the sculling race, which is to take place on the 10th of September.

Music in the Park.
The Fire Brigade Band gave an open-air concert in the Court House Park on Friday evening. They had a fair sized audience. The band did not turn out in full force, but the music was good.

Division Court.
A session of the Division Court was held on Friday, His Honor Judge Dennistoun presiding. The Court being held only every two months makes it more tedious when held, and the Court was in session all day.

Town Council.
There will be a meeting of the City Fathers on Monday evening, when we believe that Mr. Sawers will again bring forward his motion in regard to town finances, and as charges have been made against some members of the Council a lively time may be expected.

Personal.
His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto is at the Calase House. Mr. J. Hackett has returned home, after visiting the Old Country and spending some days in the United States.

The Rev. W. Joliffe and the Rev. J. W. Butcher returned on Friday night from attending the Conference of the Bible Christian Church, which decided in favor of a united church by a vote of 43 to 3.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, Inspector of Weights and Measures of Belleville, was in town to-day.

No. 1 Company.
All persons having rifles loaned for target practice, or other property belonging to the Company, are requested to return the same into the armoury at once. The old members of the Company and those intending to join will meet at the drill shed on Monday evening at 7.30. The Company is determined to maintain the reputation of "Number One" at the approaching camp. There are on hand several valuable prizes for competition, including the one of $15, secured by Mr. Fred Birney, an old member of the Company. There are also special prizes offered for competition amongst the recruits.

The Volunteers.
The camp this year will be specially interesting to our volunteers on several accounts. For the first time in several years the infantry and cavalry go out together. Last year the 57th Battalion easily stood first as the best Battalion in camp. This year they will meet the "crack" 46th, and no doubt the friendly rivalry as to which Battalion shall bear the palm will be very strong, and for the credit of our county each man should do his best to maintain the honor and standing of the "57th." The cavalry under the command of Col. H. C. Rogers will always give a good account of themselves.

The Volunteer Camp.
Arrangements have been made for the transportation of the 57th Battalion to Cobourg as follows:—The Peterborough companies go down the river on the steamer Golden-Eye; Norwood and Hastings by the steamer Butte; and the Keene company by the steamer King-Fisher. They meet at Harwood at 2 o'clock, where the train will be in waiting to carry them on to Cobourg. The Peterborough companies will be accompanied by the champion band; Norwood and Hastings by the Norwood band; and Keene company by the Keene band. The battalion will leave on the 11th Sept. and return on 23rd, putting in 13 days' drill.

That line of Fancy Brocade Dress Goods Turnbull is selling at 15 cents a yard make a pretty school dress.

Pencil Points.
—Fine weather.
—The cells were empty last night.
—A blank at the Police Court this morning.
—There was a good attendance on the market this morning.

—The splendid band of the Peterborough Fire Brigade.
—Lindsay Post.
—There will be a meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday evening.

—The schools of the town will open on Monday. Prepare your books to-night, children.
—The Post is anxious to know where "all the good looking ladies" who attended the Midland picnic came from. Most young men would be satisfied with knowing the address of one or two.

—The weather probabilities are as follows:—Moderate to fresh southeast to south winds; i.e., clearing clouds, with showers and possibly thunder by evening.
—An elderly gentleman delivered a religious discourse on the market square this forenoon. He had a large and attentive audience. He does not belong to the Salvation Army.

A Pleasant Pic-Nic.
The seventh annual excursion of the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was held on Friday. These excursions, which have always been held on Calcutt's line of steamers, have never failed to be successful, and this one was one of the most successful they ever held. The King Fisher left the wharf at 8.30 a.m. with about fifty persons on board and made a good run to Campbelltown, where the party disembarked. At the picnic ground the day was pleasantly spent. A number of races and games were improvised, including a quail match, in which Mr. D. Galletly came out ahead and Mr. J. Spence second. Boating was indulged in largely and enjoyed immensely, and one of the features of the day was the launching of a new boat, which was christened by Miss Logan with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. C. Cameron delivering an address suitable to the occasion. A very lengthy foot race took place between two well-known gentlemen, which had to be run twice on account of a "fool" being claimed. There was an organ on the ground, and vocal and instrumental music added to the enjoyment of the occasion. After a pleasant return trip, the party arrived home at about 9 o'clock.

The New Pain King.
Polson's Nervine cures flatulency, chills, spasms, and cramps. Nervine cures promptly the worst cases of neuralgia, toothache, lumbago and sciatica. At Ormond & Walsh's. Nervine is death to all pain, whether external, internal or local. Nervine may be tested at the small cost of 10 cents. Buy at once a ten cent bottle of Nervine, the great pain remedy. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's.

The Algoma Election.
This election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a useful hint to intimate that an absolute lead at the polls may be obtained by the judicious distribution to the electors of Putnam's Corn Extractor, the great remedy for corns. Every sufferer would be made happy, and would certainly vote for the person affording him relief. Safe, sure, painless. Beware of dangerous substitutes. They are now being offered as "just as good." Use only Putnam's.

If you are troubled with a disordered Stomach, Dr. Carson's Bitters will afford prompt relief. It is the best Family Medicine, far Superior to Pills. All Druggists sell it.

For beauty and durability of color the Triangle Package Dyes "beat the world." If you never used dyes before, do so now and be convinced. 10c.

RAT PORTAGE TROUBLES.

A Little Game Thoroughly Exposed—Desperate Efforts of the Grits to Carry Algonia.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 2.—Brigadier Burden has arrived here, some say for campaign literature, others to secure if possible the release of the Ontario special in goal for interfering with the Manitoba police at Rat Portage. Mr. McMahon, Q.C., does not deny that an effort will be made to secure the release of the said special, but refuses to give any particulars regarding the probable proceedings. Burden is very uneasy. He refuses to be interviewed.

MOWAT EXPOSED.

The Rat Portage Progress, which the carpet-bagger made an unsuccessful effort to purchase has a two-column editorial in which Mowat is handled without gloves. It tells how he refused Rat Portage incorporation two years ago, how, when the people were content and prosperous, with a civil and criminal court and registry office under Manitoba's carpet-baggers arrived and disturbed the peace. It exposes the game of the Grit Government trying to catch votes by street repairs. It refers to the Mowat party as a grand aggregation of stupidity and imbecility, and concludes:—"Mowat's game is too thin. He might have established some claims had he shown an inclination to listen to petitions in the past, but as there was no election pending then he refused our requests. Let us repay him with interest when he seeks through well-paid tools to purchase our votes now."

A GRIT SLANDER REFUTED.

The Progress also deals at length with the insinuation of the Grits that the Sutherland mill fire was the work of Manitoba constables, showing that the slander was deliberately concocted by the Grit press, and that the first intimation that the Portage police of the suspicion was when a Winnipeg Grit paper containing the fabrication arrived.

DESPERATE EFFORTS TO CARRY ALGONIA.

A despatch received from Rat Portage last night says the Grits are desperate in their efforts to carry Algonia. Dominion Magistrate McCabe is recognized as a tool of Mowat's officials. They are trying to make it appear that they sympathize with him because of his arrest for obtaining money under false pretences.—Mail Special.

Bismarck's Start in Life.

The Post of Berlin says that Bismarck's wonderful political career grew from a very trifling circumstance. It was in August, of 1861, that he was intrusted with the legation at Frankfurt. Prince Guillaume, then Crown Prince of Prussia, halted there, and took him among his escort when going from Frankfurt to Mayence, where a grand review was to be held. Military etiquette is exceedingly strict in Germany. However, it was so hot in the royal car that every officer and the Prince himself loosened their uniforms. On arriving in Mayence the distinguished party were to be met at the railroad station by troops under arms. The Crown Prince buttoned up again his uniform, but he forgot one button. Fortunately, as he was to leave the car, Bismarck, always on the alert, saw the awful infringement of military etiquette, and rushing to Guillaume, "Oh! Prince," he said, "what are you going to do?" and, forgetting that no one is allowed to touch a royal personage, he forced the refractory button into its proper place. The Prince thanked the diplomatic young man who had been so rigorous, and whose name and features were now fixed in his memory. Hence the brilliant future of the "Iron Chancellor." Why not? Did not poor, humble Jacques Laffitte, son of a carpenter, pick up a pin in the yard of Perreux, the rich banker, and make out of it a fortune of more than $15,000,000?

A STORY FROM THE SEA.

A Ship Wrecked Ten Years Ago Found Near Tor Bay, N. S.

The brig, New Dominion, of this port, Captain Israel Hilton, sailed from Cow Bay, C. B., on the 11th December, 1873, for Yarmouth, with a cargo of coal consigned to her owner, Capt. N. K. Clements, she was not heard of, no tidings were received concerning the fate of the crew, and the existence of the vessel has passed out of the recollection of most of our readers. An interesting story has recently come to our knowledge, which decides the location of the disaster that befel this vessel, causing the loss of all on board. It appears, a few weeks ago, one of the divers engaged on the wreck of the ill-fated steamer Cedar Grove at Walker's Head, near Tor Bay, on the southern coast of Nova Scotia, (the water being unusually clear that day) described what appeared to be the sunken wreck of a vessel not far from the Cedar Grove, and on being brought to the surface of the water asked for and obtained permission to explore the newly found wreck. He was lowered at once and walked to the spot and read distinctly on the stern the words "New Dominion, Yarmouth, N.S." She was rigged as a brigantine, with spars standing and yards across, was sitting upright being borne by the water. The wreck was thought to be so old that scarcely any one would recollect her. The story was related to Mr. Wm. T. Sterritt, on board the steamer Rimouski, from Canoe to Port Hood, by a lady who had been visiting at Canoe where the divers resided. It is supposed the New Dominion struck the reef on which the Cedar Grove was wrecked, came off, and sank.—Yarmouth Herald.

Carrying off Mail Matter.

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Robert Hornridge, who has been on duty as a policeman at the Canadian Pacific Railway depot, will be brought before the Police Magistrate to-morrow on a charge of carrying off a bag of mail matter. It seems that when the courier who carries the mails between the station and the post-office arrived at the latter place last night with the mails from the west one bag was missing. In a few minutes Hornridge appeared with the bag and demanded a dollar before giving it up. Mr. Bates, the clerk in charge, said he had no authority to pay anything, whereupon Hornridge turned and walked off, taking the bag with him. Mr. French, post-office inspector, was then sent for, and while the clerk and inspector were consulting at the latter's residence as to the best means of recovering the bag Hornridge again appeared, and this time insisted on getting a dollar and a half before giving up the bag. The money was paid him, the mail matter recovered, and a warrant at once procured for his arrest. Hornridge formerly belonged to the Toronto police force and until recently to the city force here.

Fish vs. Snake.

A letter from Stroudsburg, Pa., says:—"Rifle Range lake is a celebrated resort for pickeral fishermen in this county. A party from this place were fishing there a few days ago. Towards evening a splashing and commotion was seen in the water about a hundred yards from shore. A boat was rowed out to the spot. The cause of the disturbance was a struggle between a large pickeral and a rattlesnake. The pickeral had the snake between the jaws, having seized it midway between its head and middle. The snake was at a great disadvantage, because the fish was at home under the water, and the moment the snake was pulled under the surface its power was gone. The fight seemed to be an effort on the part of the snake to keep his head out of water, and determination on the part of the pickeral to draw it in. The snake was under the water and down it. The snake was of unusual size, and was more than the fish could carry off bodily. The combatants seemed to pay no attention to the spectators in the boat, which had been rowed to within three feet of them. The water was covered with blood, all of which seemed to have been shed by the snake. When the fishermen saw that the pickeral would conquer the snake in a short time, one of them drew his revolver and shot it, the ball passing through the snake's body at the same time. The pickeral drew it up to swim across the lake, and the pickeral, notwithstanding the great size of the serpent—five feet long, and as big around in the middle as a man's wrist, and had thirteen rattles—had seized it for his supper. The pickeral weighed five pounds."

Lions and Tigers Cowed by a Snake.

Your lion-tiger-bear article from Belmaria calls to my mind an incident that occurred in Para, Brazil, a few years ago. Chirint, the circus man, arrived there with a company and a few cages of wild animals, intending to do the Brazil. With him was a tamer named Henller, who had a cage of "Real Tiger Bengal." This was an attraction in that country, which boasts at best of its ounce or huge tiger-cats. Meeting this tamer one day I asked him why the show did not open? What caused the delay? He told me the reason was that the tigers were too rough; that the ship ruled so much that he could not attend to his cage of animals, and that the lions and tigers had become frantic; and now they were in this hot climate—their native element—they were so ferocious that he dared not enter the cage. He remarked that in a cold climate anybody could be a tamer, with nerve and a quick eye. He said if he could get a snake they would be cowed in an instant adding, "They talk about lions and tigers being the kings of beasts; it's all nonsense; a snake is the boss." I, being familiar with that country, said: "There's no trouble about getting a snake here, for there's scarcely a store that hasn't got them. Come in here; here is a box full of them and large ones." "Oh!" he said, "the worst of it is I am afraid of a snake." "Well, my friend," I said, "I know a woman who has a good sized tame snake. I remember it five years ago, the day it was born. Her husband left it to her as his only legacy. She has had it in the cradle with her only child for a year or more. Come with me, I will get it. She will sell it or lend it to you." Well, we got the snake, employing a negro boy to carry it to the tent. I put it into the cage of tigers, and they slunk back to the further end of the cage and trembled with fear. Henller took his whip and entered the cage at once, soon asserting his power and mastery. I taking the snake as it crawled out when he entered. We next put in the lion's cage and with the same result. That night the show was opened.—Cor. N. Y. Post.

"Why, Angeline, where did you get those beautiful caters for your show? Don't they love you?" I said with the Trianglo Package Ry."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

COMMUNICATION STOPPED.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 2.—It is believed that 100,000 persons perished in North Bantam in the recent calamity. It is also believed that the garrison and Fort Anjer were swept away. An extensive plain of volcanic stone has formed in the sea near Lompong, Sumatra, preventing communication with Telkbelong and southwest Java.

THE VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Despatches from Batavia report that fears of further eruptions in Java have subsided. All efforts are concentrated on the burial of the corpses, which are thickly strewn on the coast. The vapours issuing from the fissures in the divided mountains have caused unusually rapid decomposition of exposed parts of the great rocks at the summit of the peaks. A number of them split apart suddenly on Wednesday morning, releasing tons of depending earth. This caused several huge landslides, carrying destruction and death on the edge of the town of Narra. Fifteen Chinese in a section of the sanitary corps were buried. A vessel which attempted to enter the Straits of Sunda on Wednesday had a hole stove in her bow. The coffee and sugar crops in Batavia have suffered severely from the eruptions and tidal waves. Several Europeans and officials are among the dead and missing.

THE DYNAMITERS.

GLASGOW, Sept. 1.—The police decline to reveal the source of the information which led to the arrest of the six Irishmen charged with complicity in the attempts to destroy property here. The men were all apprehended at the same time in different parts of the city. The prisoners are charged with blowing up the largest gasometer in the city, destroying a railway shed, and attempting to destroy with dynamite the aqueduct of the Forth and Clyde Canal. Another Irishman named Donnelly was arrested on the same charge.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—English commercial circles in China are greatly alarmed over the active movements of the Chinese troops, and the men at Hong Kong have furnished special information to the Government that they do not regard the French treaty with the Annamite leader as of any consequence, and believe that China may interfere at any moment, and at any cost.

CELESTIAL APPEAL.

DURBAN, Sept. 1.—Zululand is in a state of anarchy, and Celesteway has asked British protection.

INCREASE IN CATTLE DISEASE.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Foot-and-mouth disease is increasing alarmingly among the cattle.

THE CHOLERA.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 1.—It is officially reported that there have been 27,318 deaths from cholera in Egypt since the outbreak of the epidemic, including 140 deaths among the British troops.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—The Temps attributes the authorship of the North German Gazette's article against France to a clumsy subordinate, and says that it was not inspired from a high quarter. The Temps says France is too absorbed in internal reconstruction to seek adventures abroad, but is not so unfeeling and humbled as to allow herself to be the sport of unseasonable frolics.

REMOURED SHIPWRECK.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—It is rumoured at Plymouth that the General Transatlantic Co's steamer America, Capt. Santall, which sailed from Haze, yesterday for New York, has foundered. The America passed the Lizard all right last night. A heavy gale raged throughout England on Saturday night and Sunday, doing much damage to property. There are many wrecks and some loss of life. Inquiry fails to confirm the report of the foundering of the steamer America.

A Monster Turtle.

A salt water turtle, weighing 500 pounds, was captured Sunday at the mouth of the Sparrow River by two brothers named Jordan. It seems the monster got entangled in the nets these men had set, and they fastened to the turtle and towed him ashore. Monday they brought him into the city, and sold him to Captain Howard Knowlton, for his garden at Pease Island. The price paid for the turtle was $50. The broad in the shell of this monster that four boys found room to stand thereon, and the turtle was strong enough to crawl along with this load.—Main State Press.

OTTAWA.

TO BE SENT BACK TO COKE.—James Hogan, an immigrant, with five young children, recently out from Cork, Ireland, compelled his sick wife to leave the General Hospital on Sunday night, and next day she died on a bed composed of shavings spread on the floor of the immigrant shed, her husband being intoxicated at the time. The family, who are in delicate circumstances, will have their passage paid back to Cork by the authorities.

Queer Places for Teeth.

METUEN, N.J., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Samborn, ten years ago, swallowed a set of false teeth. Recently one tooth was extracted from her shoulder and slight more from different parts of her body.

Ensilage and the Milk Flow.

An additional argument for those who prefer drying their corn fodder to putting it in a silo will be found in the results of an experiment made by Prof. Henry E. Alvord, at the Houghton, Mass., experiment farm. One lot of fodder was preserved in a good silo, and another of the same weight when green was dried. Both were fed to cows in milk, and they were changed at intervals to prevent any difference in the animals from influencing the result; the dry fodder gave a little better return in milk and butter, and the ensilaged corn lasted a trifle longer; the difference being no greater than might be expected to occur in feeding two lots of ensilage or two lots of dried corn to two sets of cows in the same way. The large amount of water in their ration seemed to keep those fed on ensilage plumper than those using dry feed. The best results from feeding ensilage were produced by feeding it in connection with a little grain and other dry fodder, making the ensilage about half of the ration. It gave to the milk and butter all the fine flavour and colour of summer or grass-fed milk.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are itching, its peripartition, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-pricks were crawling above the parts affected. It is caused by constancy very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetters, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbores Itch, Itchiness, all kinds, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 25 cents; 1 box, 1.25; 10 boxes, 10.00. Address, D. E. CARLYLE's old house in Chesham-row, Chelsea, is advertised for sale. A correspondent of the Times asks: Are there not sufficient friends of Carlyle to start a subscription and buy the house? A library of the author's books, foreign translations, pictures relating to Carlyle, manuscripts, etc., might be placed in it, and the Carlyle Society could certainly find no place more suitable for their meetings.

The Union Jack is not the national banner of Great Britain, but of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. It is formed by a combination of the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick. The cross of St. George is the one with its limbs horizontal and perpendicular. The cross, shaped like the letter X, whose limbs run from corner to corner are those of St. Andrew and St. Patrick. Before the union with Ireland the Union Jack bore only the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew.

AT a conference of the Irish members of Parliament held on Saturday, Aug. 25, in London, a programme was prepared for the Convention of the Irish National League of Great Britain, announced to be held at Leeds on September 27th. The programme demands self-government for Ireland, and direct representation of the Irish labouring class in Parliament.

Old Building Material.

The Scientific American says that an extensive trade in second-hand building material has been carried on uninterruptedly in New York city for fifty years, and is largely supported by builders and joiners. The stone and brick of an old building is used in the construction of a new one, the lime-whitened bricks making the inside of the outer walls and the partitions, and the stone going into the foundations. But it is generally known that the inside woodwork is used again, frequently without radical alteration. Many builders prefer this old timber because it is thoroughly seasoned, having been defended from the weather and been subjected to the influence of a measurable even temperature for years. The firer woods which are admired for their color mellow down by age and become more valuable as the years pass. Every body knows that furniture of mahogany and rosewood that has outlived several generations is much handsomer than that made from new wood. But it has an added value as mere material. An article made from the old wood will remain its integrity in all its joints; its shrinking days are over. For the same reason the timbering, wainscoting and flooring of old buildings has an added value, although its selling price is less than that of new material.

A. D. ZIMMERMAN and Isaac Carman, Jews, have been arrested at Winnipeg for trading on Sunday. Much interest in their cases is taken in Winnipeg, as some doubt is felt there as to whether Jews can be compelled to keep the Christian Sabbath.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

The mother of twenty-eight children is living at Brownville, Ga. She is still in the prime of life and vigorous. Her husband, the only one she has had, is also alive. Twenty-three of the children are dead, though all lived several years. Among them were four pairs of twins, born within a period of six years.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

A lump of alum dissolved in the water in which you wash light blue stockings will prevent their fading.

A delicate way to vary the invalid's diet is to toast a little clear, sweet cream and dip the toast into it.

Summer squash dipped in batter and fried brown is a good substitute for egg plant. Season with pepper and salt and serve hot.

SWEET PICKLED CUCUMBERS.—For sweet pickle cucumber that will not shrivel, peel cucumbers, steam as soft as liked, and let stand over night in a weak brine. In the morning drain and put on vinegar enough to cover, and let stand over night; again in the morning drain. Take to one pint of vinegar, three pounds of sugar and one ounce of cassia buds.

CHEESE SAUCE.—Eighteen large ripe tomatoes, two onions as large round as a common teacup, four green sweet peppers, chop onions and peppers fine, four leasops of vinegar, two table-spoonfuls of salt, four table-spoonfuls of sugar, two table-spoonfuls of ginger, two table-spoonfuls of cinnamon, one table-spoonful of cloves, one table-spoonful of allspice, and one nutmeg. Boil one hour. This makes three quarts.

FRESH CAULIFLOWER.—Pick out all the green leaves from a cauliflower and cut off the stock close. Put it, head downward, into a saucepan full of boiling, salt water. Do not overboil it. Drain it on a sieve, pick it out into small sprigs, and place them on a deep dish with plenty of vinegar, pepper and salt. When they have laid about an hour in this drain them, dip them in butter, and fry in hot lard to a golden colour.

APPLE SOUFFLE.—One pint of steamed apples, one table-spoonful of melted butter, half a cupful of sugar, the whites of six eggs and the yolks of three, a light grating of nutmeg. Stir into the hot apples the butter, the sugar, and nutmeg, and the yolks of the eggs, well beaten. When this is cold, beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and stir into the mixture. Butter a three-point dish and turn the souffle into it. Bake thirty minutes in a hot oven. Serve immediately with any kind of sauce.

FRUIT FILL.—If your peaches are juicy, do not put a drop of water in a pie. Scatter at least one teacupful of sugar over the peaches in a medium sized pie, wet the edges of the crust so that no juice can escape; have the oven hot when the pie is put in, and let it cool gradually. When you can see the juice bubbling through the openings in the top of the crust, you may feel reasonably sure that the fruit is cooked enough; to be absolutely certain let the pie stand in the oven with the door wide open for five minutes, after you have noticed the bubbles, and after the crust looks done.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1883.

A LAWLESS ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The organs of the Mowat administration are defending the appointment of a partisan as returning officer for Algoma, instead of one of the officers required by law to fill the position. In the absence of any valid defence they are driven to instituting comparisons which do not apply, and to claiming as an example for their imitation a practice which they vigorously condemn in their opponents. The difference between the two cases is this: Sir John Macdonald carried out the law of the land, and in so doing selected as returning officers in very many cases the sheriffs and registrars who might be trusted, though political opponents, to do their duty fairly and honestly, as in our own County of Peterborough. Mr. Mowat, though the chief law officer of the Province, as well as the premier, has deliberately broken the laws of Ontario. The law requires that he should appoint as returning officer one of the sheriffs or registrars within the constituency, but this he has set at defiance. Does he pretend that he has offered the appointment to each of the three gentlemen thus qualified, and that it is the refusal of all of them that has left him free to select his partisan. A lawless Attorney-General is a disgrace from which Ontario should be relieved.

AN ELECTIONEERING CIVIL WAR.

The Montreal Witness appears to have a clearer comprehension of the main facts of the Mowat filibustering operations than is possessed by some of its brother Reform journalists in Ontario. It has the following editorial remarks in its issue of Sept. 1st:—

"The interprovincial war at Rat Portage is becoming more open and more bitter. The Mail correspondent of a day or two ago exultingly shouted that 'Mowat would now have to fight or retreat.' Mr. Mowat, who is, by the way, in England at present, has a representative there, however, and he has apparently recognized the truth of the Mail correspondent's description of the situation and has determined to fight. He has sworn in one hundred and thirty-five more constables and intends further to increase his force before election day, when it is expected, apparently, that the grand battle, of which the recent disturbances are but the skirmishings of outposts, will take place."

It is evident that the Witness has a correct appreciation of the two main points, namely, that the Mowat Administration has entered upon a civil, or as it phrases it, an interprovincial war, and that the central object of this piratical movement is a great battle in which the invading army is to engage on election day. The mistake, of minor importance, of supposing Mr. Mowat to be in England, is a comparatively small blemish on such a truthful summary of the situation.

ONLY ONE SIDE.

The Globe puts the following query:—
"A Tory organ says the Liberal agents were as active as the Tory agents in violating the election law in Muskoka. If they were why was the cross petition abandoned instead of being prosecuted? If Mr. Fauguel and his friends could have shown any wrong-doing on the part of Mr. Bettles they would have been only too glad to go on with the enquiry for which they had asked."

The ignorance thus displayed is probably only pretended. Mr. Bettles' friends and agents might have committed any amount of illegality, yet it would have been useless to continue the proceedings against him, as he had not won the seat, unless any personal offence could be proved. This could not be done, especially in the absence of important witnesses, and when the Court declined to grant an adjournment. The cross petition was consequently very properly abandoned. So far only one side of the story has been told in Court, but if Mr. Bettles persists in his scrutiny there will be some startling revelations of the proceedings of himself and his friends.

Nervilline, What is it?

Nervilline is a combination of the most potent pain relieving substances known to medical science. The constant program made in this department of science points upward and onward. Nervilline is the latest development in this movement, and embodies the latest discoveries. For neuralgia, cramps, pains in the head, neural, internal and local—Nervilline has no equal. Exposed to cold in the purchase of a sample bottle of Nervilline and be convinced of its marvellous power over pain. Sold at Ormrod & Walsh's. Large bottles 50 cents.

POISONED BEER.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Poison was put into the beer and food of the harvestmen employed by Mr. Leigh, landlord of New Ross, Ireland, who has incurred the dislike of the populace owing to his position in the Land League. Two harvestmen have died and others are in a precarious condition.

THE AMERIQUE SAFE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The rumour that the Amerique had founded is untrue.

ANNAM PORTS BLOCKADED.

HONG KONG, Sept. 3.—The French general has demanded a reinforcement of 5,000 men. The French admiral has declared all the ports in Annam to be blockaded. It is reported that 15,000 Chinese troops have crossed the Monghai proceeding to Naidong. A squadron is loading at Shanghai with troops, ammunition and torpedoes.

RAT PORTAGE TROUBLES.

No Appeal in the Case of the Guelled Specials—Bribes Offered to the Electors.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3.—The Grit carpet-baggers are greatly excited at being told by Mr. H. McMahon that there is no appeal in the case of the constables sentenced to six months in gaol for interfering with the Manitoba officers at Rat Portage, they having elected to be tried summarily before the Manitoba magistrate.

Brigadier Burden is still here. He has a body-guard of Mowat specials continually within speaking distance.

Late arrivals from Rat Portage say the Mowat officials are privately promising titles to persons having mining and other claims on Lake of the Woods, providing the claimants vote for Mowat's candidate at the Algoma election. The rumour is pretty well understood, and Flammery's popularity is increasing.—Mail.

POLICE COURT.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.

TUESDAY, Sept. 4.—Two charges were laid against Elijah Moore by J. H. Cobb, one for using insulting and abusive language towards him, and the other for making use of obscene and blasphemous language. Moore pleaded guilty and was fined 50 cents and costs on each charge.

New Jewellery Store.

Get your Watches, Clocks, Jewellery, all repaired at Hughan's New Shop. Remember the place, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

No. 1 Company.

The meeting held last night indicates that this company will be to the fore at the coming camp. The names of a number of recruits of the right stamp have been handed in, and the prospect is that the company will soon be filled up to the requisite number of 42 men. The old members are determined to have things in good shape, and are making all necessary arrangements for their comfort while under canvas. A committee is to be appointed for this purpose at the meeting to-night. It was resolved to have drill each evening this week, commencing this evening. Uniforms will be worn. A requisition has been forwarded to headquarters for new clothing, which is expected to arrive before the camp.

Their Value Appreciated.

The Northwestern Lumberman says:—"A treeless country is never a pleasant one, and no one fully appreciates the value of trees until he is once set down where they do not grow. Many of the people who have settled in Dakota complain more about the absence of timber than all other disadvantages combined. One gentleman in a letter says: 'A tree, next to the faces of my best friends, is what I long to see most.' This gentleman migrated from Wisconsin, and used the think, he says, that his native state was so productive of trees that they were a nuisance, but now he believes he would prefer a home 'in the woods' rather than on the treeless plains of Dakota. The fact that for miles and miles there is not a tree for fuel, shade or wind-break renders a man who is used to seeing, and being benefited by trees, a little lonesome up there."

Cottonwood.

Cottonwood, it is said, will make four rails in seven to nine years, and make the same in from eight to ten years. Cottonwood, soft maple and California redwood are regarded by many as the best trees for forest planting when quickness of growth is desired, and also when shelter belts around orchards, gardens, barns and stock yards are necessary. Many farmers have learned from sad experience that by cutting down their forest indiscriminately they have made the way clear for chilling, biting winds and frost to nip their growing fruit.

Nothing Fails—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetters, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Head-ache, all kinds of Skin Diseases. Send by mail for 10 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25 (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its Value is Incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures colic, soothes the gums, relieves inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is sold at the best, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

OUR MANUFACTURERS.

The following extract from the Monetary Times shows one of the many advantages resulting from the N. P. That we should be becoming independent of outside assistance in many manufacturing branches is certainly a benefit to Canada. Our contemporary says:—

"What has been already done in the direction of producing in Canada cotton fabrics of different textures and colors for various uses, finds creditable illustrations in the colored and checked shirtings of the St. Croix mill, the white and colored linings and shirtings from Valleyfield, the Hooberg cotton shirtings, the soft bleached goods of the Merchants Cotton Co., the colored shirtings and checks of Parks & Co., the Lybster shirtings, the Dundas shirtings, besides ducks, cotton hollands, and articles of domestic use or personal wear, which are now in the market from Canadian mills. Much has been done, and well done."

Norwegian Timber Houses.

Mr. J. C. Willocks, of Plymouth, writing to the Field, says: "Since information on this subject was asked for I happened to meet the owner of the house mentioned, and some time since visited there. It is a most commodious country residence, having side walls reaching 6 ft. above the level of the ground, with capacious cellars beneath. The whole of the superstructure is of timber, excepting the partitions through which the flues of the stoves (also Norwegian) pass. These partitions are of brick. The walls and ceilings and doors are all of varnished wood, and the decoration consists of the stem and fruit of the wild strawberry plant, the effect of which is very good indeed, and much more opposite than any decoration of more elaborate character. The stoves are very much like in appearance to church towers in miniature, and stand off about 2 ft. from the brick fire walls; they are of cast open ironwork, allowing thus the heat to pass off into the room with the greatest facility, and an elbow flue carries the products of combustion into the chimney, and heat and wood are the chief kinds of fuel used. The entire absence of draughts and facilities for warming the building are both remarkable. The cost, I am informed by the owner, has amounted to about a third of that of an English-built residence of the same dimensions and accommodation. Fire insurance about 1s. per cent. extra. Externally the house is twice painted annually, owing to our extremely uncertain climate, combined with an exposed position to south and west winds. The interior ceilings and hall being entirely varnished, no dust or dirt adheres to this smooth surface, nor is there any paper to soil or spoil. There is not a sign of damp in the house. Labour being cheaper in Norway than England, I imagine it cheaper to import a house from Norway than to prepare material in England."

Come out, Mr. Gold.

Rev. John Sunday, an Indian preacher at Hamilton, Ont., is reported to have closed a recent address with the following language:—"There is a gentleman who, I suppose, is now in this house. He is a very fine gentleman, but a very modest one. He does not like to show himself at these meetings. I do not know how long it is since I have seen him, he comes out so little. I am very much afraid that he sleeps a good deal of his time, when he ought to be out doing good. His name is Gold. Mr. Gold, are you here to night, or are you sleeping in your iron chest? Come out, Mr. Gold, come out and help us do this great work, to preach the Gospel to every creature. Ah, Mr. Gold, you ought to be ashamed of yourself to sleep so much in your iron chest. Look at your white brother, Mr. Silver; he does a great deal of good while you are sleeping. Come out, Mr. Gold. Look, too, at your little brown brother, Mr. Copper; he is everywhere. Your poor little brown brother is running about, doing all that he can to help us. Why don't you come out, Mr. Gold? Well, if you won't show yourself, send us your shirt, that is a bank note. That is all I have to say."

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-ade surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Goods are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

DR. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS are not an Alcoholic Stimulant, but a purely Vegetable Medicine, Cathartic and Tonic in its action and invaluable in all affections of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Biliousness, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

READER, if you suffer from any disorder of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin or Blood, try Burdock Blood Bitters, Nature's specific medicine for setting on those organs for the outlet of disease. 25,000 bottles sold in the last three months.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera, Malaria, Diarrhea and other Summer Complaints.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night sweats and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

The Algoma Election.

This election is now on the tapis. It may perhaps be a useful hint to estimate that an absolute lead at the polls was won by the Hon. Mr. Tupper, the great victory for the Conservatives. Every voter would be made happy and would certainly vote for the person offering the most money. The Hon. Mr. Tupper, however, is a dangerous rival. He is offering a "bribe" of $100,000 to the voters. The only person who is offering a "bribe" of $100,000 is the Hon. Mr. Tupper.

A. L. DAVIS & CO.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you costive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1883.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Board of Education.
A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Board Room at 7.45 o'clock this evening.

Methodist Union.
The resolution adopting the basis of union was carried in the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada at Belleville on Monday night by a vote of 123 to 38.

To-morrow Morning.
The excursion to Belleville to-morrow morning leaves at 7.30, and is timed to be in Belleville at eleven o'clock. This is one hour faster than regular time. We learn that a large number of our citizens intend going to shake hands with the Bellevillians. We hope the party will have a very pleasant day.

Hair Goods.
Mr. A. Dorenwald, as will be seen by his advertisement, is preparing a choice assortment of his hair goods, wigs, switches, etc., for the Industrial Exhibition at Toronto. His Peterborough customers who may visit our Provincial capital on that occasion, will no doubt pay attention to his exhibit, and call on him at 106 Young street.

An Accident.
On Friday last Mr. James Lillio, of North Monaghan, met with an accident while drawing in grain. He was sitting on the front of the load, and the sheaves slipped and threw him down in front of the wagon. The wheel struck him on the shoulder and broke his collar bone. He is doing well, we learn. Dr. Kincaid attended him.

Peaches! Peaches!
A large lot of very fine peaches will arrive on Wednesday morning at Smith's Market. This will afford a splendid opportunity to secure choice and selected peaches for preserving and other purposes, and as there is sure to be a rush for them as the season advances, parties are requested to send in their orders early.

SMITH'S MARKET.

Personal.
The Watertown, N. Y., Daily Times of Aug. 31st contains the following paragraph:—"John Hackett, merchant of Peterborough, Ont., and son-in-law of our townsman D. Lemay, arrived here Wednesday, after an absence of two months in Europe, visiting the principal cities in Ireland, Scotland and England. Mr. H. and his family return to their home to-day, accompanied by their brother, Mr. N. N. Lemay."

A. C. A.
There will be a meeting of the Local Reception Committee in the committee room on Friday next, at 7.30 p.m., to receive the reports of all sub-committees, and wind up the affairs of the committee. Persons having accounts against the committee are requested to send them to Mr. N. D. Beck before that date.

A New Storehouse.
The erection of a new storehouse for grain has been commenced in the Midland station yard on the east side of the freight shed. The storehouse is being built by Mr. James Stevenson, and will be leased to Mr. McEwen. It will be 96 feet by 26 feet, and its capacity will be 30,000 bushels. Mr. S. Gamble has the contract for the carpentering work.

Champagne Cider.
The most wholesome temperance beverage made. Put up in kegs expressly for farmers use in the harvest field. Only 25c a gallon.

FOR FAMILY USE.
Put up in bottles. Orders sent by telephone if left at Rush and Elliott's, and delivered in any part of the town. H. Calcutt, manufacturer.

Boxes of Canning Exhibitions.

OUR RAILWAYS.

Notes on the Omemee Branch of the Midland and the Ontario and Quebec.

There are at present about one hundred and thirty-five men engaged on the work of track laying, ballasting, etc., on line of the Midland Railway, under the charge of Mr. John O'Keefe, the efficient road master of the Midland branches. Part of this force is engaged on the Omemee end of the line and the remainder on the Peterborough end, and the work is being pushed forward as rapidly as it can be done.

About four miles out from the town a serious obstacle has presented itself in a boggy swamp. The ties and rails had been laid through the swamp, and the construction train made one trip over it, when the road bed sank down in two places. The holes are each of about the length of a car and a half. In one of them, the east end, fifty car loads of filling material has been emptied and in the other one ten loads. The holes are only a few rods apart. On Monday afternoon Mr. J. G. MacMillan, Chief Engineer of construction, and Mr. O'Keefe visited this place to inspect and determine the best method of overcoming the difficulty. It was found that in the first hole the track had sunk about a foot under the water, and had there, apparently, found a bottom, and it was decided to try the effect of more stone and gravel. At the second hole, in which the smaller amount of material had been emptied, the track had sunk lower. This one has the appearance of being the worst place, as the place of track has disappeared, and the earth at the side has been heaved up as if by a small earthquake. At this place, if it cannot be filled with stone and gravel, timber will be sunk to form a bottom, and the hole will then be filled up with stone and gravel. The swamp is very soft at this place, and where the first sink hole is was the natural bed of a creek.

A canal is being excavated at this place to carry the water of the creek, and the accumulated dead water, away from the road, so that it will not soak through the road bed or wash against it in the spring seasons.

The telegraph poles have been put up along the line from Omemee to Peterborough. Two lines of wire have been stretched on them, and for a part of the distance three wires.

It is expected that Mr. Beemer will have his contract completed by the fifteenth of this month. The work of track-laying and ballasting, which is done by the Midland Company, is being pushed forward vigorously at both ends of the line, and the company hope to have the road opened in four or five weeks.

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.
The work of laying the rails on this section of the Ontario and Quebec railway is progressing. The track has been laid for about three miles west of the Midland crossing, and the work is being pushed on. Ballast has been drawn and placed on the crossings, and the work of ballasting proper will commence next week. This work is under the superintendence of Mr. J. H. Barber, whose division extends some miles west of here and east in Hastings County.

The work of track-laying is also going on east and west from the Central Ontario crossing. West from that railway the track has been laid to Crow River, a distance of about four miles, and east of the Central Ontario it has been laid about two miles. The bridge is now being constructed across Crow River, and will soon be completed, when the construction of the road will be pushed on west to this town.

At Perth some eighteen miles of track has been laid. Near this place the company are having a difficulty with a sink hole.

Two sidings have been put in at the town, one near the Midland crossing and the other at the boundary. With these sidings on which to alight the cars, and the facilities which have been adopted, the work here will be pushed forward more rapidly. The company have brought here several cars suitable for boarding the men in, and when the line is constructed further out the men will lodge in these houses on wheels.

The Weather.
The weather was very cool this morning, and continued cool, with fresh winds, throughout the day. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong southeasterly varying to northwesterly winds; fair warm weather; with a few local showers in the northern portion.

The Separate Schools.
The Separate Schools re-opened on Monday after the mid-summer vacation. They opened with one change in the staff of teachers, Miss Cutler, of Tilsonburg, taking Miss Neagle's place as teacher of the Lake Street School. Miss Cutler comes to the town highly recommended. The attendance at the schools was large, there being about 170 pupils in attendance in the three rooms of the Murray Street School and the full number at the Lake Street School.

Convincing Proof.
Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arica and Oil Liniment. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine.

I am yours truly,

A Run on a Drug Store.
Never was such a rush made for any Drug Store as is now at Taylor & McDonald's for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a Trial Bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at above Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.—5

There is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 35,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY

Montreal, Sept. 4.—A modern domestic tragedy has been enacted in the east-end of Montreal, by an elderly going on there before the Police Magistrate's Court.

Her name is Mrs. O'Connell, widow of the late S. E. O'Connell, of Montreal, who died in his own home on Sunday evening, while from agonizing spasms, which it is supposed arose from the administration of strychnine at the hands of his unfaithful young wife.

When the deceased was in the agonies of death, she called in the neighbors, but in five minutes after and before a physician could be summoned, her informant declared that she saw the contents of the deceased's stomach, and the result was that there was sufficient strychnine found to kill a horse.

A druggist in St. Lawrence, who had been called in by the police, also testified that some days before the murder, he received a letter signed by Dr. King, of Montreal, requesting that a package of strychnine be sent under his name.

The unsuspecting druggist complied with the order. The postmaster of the village, where the package was claimed by and given to Mrs. O'Connell, who said she knew the druggist's name, but not the name of the person who had sent it.

She said that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine.

She said that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine.

She said that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine, and that she had seen the package, and that it was a package of strychnine.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE DYNAMITERS.

Liverpool, Sept. 4.—McDonnell, the alleged dynamite conspirator, was to-day further remanded at the request of the prosecution. It was stated that the pocket-book found among the prisoner's effects, contained important entries.

McDonnell complained, soon after his arrest, that he was subjected to every harsh treatment, though he was not even aware of the nature of the charges.

DISCHARGED.

COKE, Sept. 4.—Three bakers, arrested on a charge of having explosives concealed on their premises, were discharged to-day, there being no evidence against them.

THE ERUPTIONS.

The Hague, Sept. 4.—The Governor of the Dutch East Indies telegraphs that the town of Tolokbung was probably totally destroyed by a recent volcanic eruption. The district in which the town is situated is entirely inaccessible, all the roads are obliterated, and nothing has been heard from Lampong, on the southern coast of Sumatra.

Some light-houses in the Straits are still standing, but the lights are extinguished. The reported destruction of Tifingine by a tidal wave, and the drowning of 10,000 people is confirmed.

A RAILWAY HORROR.

BRISTOL, Sept. 4.—Sixteen men, seventeen women, and four children were killed and five seriously injured at the railroad accident at Stegton on Sunday night. The train dashed into the midst of a large crowd, killing, cutting, and hurrying people right and left. Most of the victims belong to the artisan class.

After the accident the railroad was found covered for a hundred yards with bodies shockingly mutilated. Of a family of five one escaped. The engine was covered with pieces of flesh, bones, and rags, and drenched with blood. The engine-driver was overcome by the horrible sight.

WAR INEVITABLE.

HONG KONG, Sept. 4.—Four thousand Chinese troops at Peking have been ordered to the frontier. The Anhalters still threaten Mongolia. There is much excitement in Hong Kong over the news that the Chinese are coming the Mongolia. This means that war is inevitable.

One thousand seven hundred troops from Shanghai, on the way to Canton, passed through Hong Kong to-day. More are arriving by steamers. The 25,000 troops that crossed the Great Wall yesterday have entered Tongking territory, and are marching in the direction of Hanoi, where two French companies are stationed. The missionaries have fled from the stations on the route of the Chinese. Two Annapolis convicts were killed.

Picked up at Sea.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—A steamer arrived reports having picked up two men in a dory Aug. 28th, on the banks of Newfoundland. They had been 15 hours in a heavy gale. They belonged to the schooner Reporter of Massachusetts.

Dead Corps in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—A report from the north of Ireland, that the authorities have discovered the remains of a man who had been missing for some time. The body was found in a bog, and was in a state of decomposition.

See-Will Boys.

Saw-mills, and places where steam and circular saws are used, employ a large number of boys. If you were to give a list of saw-mill boys the thing that would astonish you would be the difficulty of finding half a dozen of your guests with the proper number of fingers.

I know one little lad who is employed at pulling out the planks which have been pushed through the machine by men, and he has one hand now on which only the thumb is left. "How the poor Lave," by G. R. Sims, Pictorial World.

Elm Tree.

A large tree growing at Norwich, Conn., is over seven hundred years old, and the limbs are 30 feet from the ground. It stands alongside a house, the chimney of which has been swept away by the overhanging branches, while the tree has raised and moved the house one foot by the force of its growth. A similar instance occurred at Nassau, New Providence, one of the Bahama Islands. A colossal tree growing there has attained such mammoth proportions that it has actually lifted a large Government building.

Proposed New Ship Canal in England.

A ship canal is projected from Bristol Channel across the peninsula of Somerset and Devon, to the English Channel. The length of the canal will be 62 miles; the waterway will be 125 feet wide at the surface, 30 feet at the bottom, and 21 feet deep, the dimensions being similar to the grand ship canal of Holland from Amsterdam to the Helder. Such a canal will accommodate ships of 1,500 tons drawing 18 feet. The cost of the new canal is estimated at about fifteen millions of dollars; and twelve per cent annual dividends on the cost are expected.

A Thrilling Scene.

Recently at Perranporth, near Truro, England, the driver of a waggone party wandering on the beach found his retreat cut off by the tide. He essayed to climb the cliffs, but when half-way up he found progress impossible and descent certainly fatal. The ledge on which he was supported would only give space for one foot, and the ground to which he clung above was loose and crumbling. For some hours he endured his suspense, when the visitors descended him from above. The news spread, and a crowd congregated, but none dared venture along the slight ledge by which alone the man could be approached. To have thrown a rope would have been useless, for the effort to catch it would certainly have caused the poor fellow to fall.

A coastguardman, named Regan, volunteered to be let down 100 feet over the face of the cliff, and while he descended the excitement was quickened tenfold. The man below could only hold out a little longer, and the least disturbance of the earth around him would inevitably cause his destruction. In breathless eagerness the spectators saw the one man near the other.

A sudden effort the coastguardman clasped the man he had endeavored to save with a sudden and strong grip, and they swung off the ledge together. Even then danger was not at an end; but a descent was safely effected to a ledge below, when access to the summit was gradually gained.

The spectators were too overcome to cheer, but they did what was better—collected a good round sum for the gallant coastguardman.

The Mighty Dollar

Is long distanced by a 10 cent bottle of Fowler's Nervine, the newest and best pain remedy. It cures colds, cramps, colic, pain in the head, vertigo, pain in the chest; in fact it is equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of the great pain remover, Nervine. Sold at Ormrod & Wain's. Large bottles only 25 cents. Try a sample bottle of Nervine, only 10 cents.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

FENIAN ACTIVITY.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The police are in possession of facts which show a revival of Fenian activity in this city. All the noted rendezvous of prominent Irish agitators are again placed under strict surveillance. In consequence of the reports of the efforts to be made to rescue O'Donnell upon his arrival here from Capetown, the police authorities have adopted extra precautions to prevent such an attempt.

QUARANTINE ABOLISHED.

PORT SAID, Sept. 5.—Quarantine has been abolished on the Suez Canal and traffic resumed. The British troops are all returning to Cairo.

A DIFFERENT STORY.

DUBLIN, Sept. 4.—The poisoning of Leigh's harvest hands reported yesterday was occasioned by eating diseased meat.

NAVAL DEMONSTRATION.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The National says there is reason to believe that there will be a French naval demonstration on the Chinese coast in the direction of Canton. The Minister of Marine received a telegram yesterday according to which accounts 1,200 Annamites were killed and 1,500 wounded during the bombardment of the forts on Hue river.

VOTES AND VEGETABLES.

General Pattullo, leaving his forces in charge of the talented war correspondent of the Toronto Globe, has gone East. On his way down to Port Arthur, he visited settlers' houses for the purpose of collecting Algoma products to be shown at the Guelph and Toronto exhibitions this fall. At least he said that was his object. But the Thunder Bay Sentinel is of opinion that the able strategist was more anxious to secure votes than big potatoes. The Sentinel goes on to say: "Year after year industrial and other Provincial exhibits have been held, but the Ontario Government totally ignored this district. They have spent our money to glorify themselves and placate Ontario for successive years, but never before has that Government shown such a paternal regard for Algoma as now. The people are asking themselves whence all this new born zeal? Whence the sudden change from apathy and indifference to such keen interest and burning affection for us now?" In another article, the Sentinel says: "Our great and varied resources have been long known to the Grit Government. Private enterprise and the cupidity which ever searching for gain, ever on the alert for rich fields of investment, have contributed to make Algoma's affluent domain more thoroughly known than any other instrumentality, except, perhaps, the researches of Sir William Logan and those who have followed him under the support and orders of the Dominion Government. Now, however, that an election is approaching, the Mowat Government is much concerned that the resources of Algoma should engross general attention."

It is a splendid spectacle, that of one-half of Mr. Mowat's army facing the Manitoba constables at Rat Portage, while the gallant Pattullo penetrates the interior of the riding with the other collecting onions for the Fall shows!—Winnipeg Times.

Nine Soldiers Killed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A Springfield despatch says that while company A ninth regiment state militia, was returning to Grayville on the St. Louis and Evansville railroad a train ran over a number of cattle. The car carrying the company was overturned and nine were killed and fifteen wounded.

A Mother's Sacrifice.

ERIC, Pa., Sept. 4.—Yesterday afternoon Madalena Hehl, a young German woman, saw her little girl playing on the railroad track near the Lakeshore depot. The engine was almost upon the child which sat unconscious of danger. The mother, in throwing her daughter aside, fell under the wheels and was cut in two pieces.

Killed his own Child.

MOUNT AIRY, N.C., Sept. 4.—To-day E. D. Gallan quarreled with a neighbor. A desperate fight followed. Gallan's child, aged 6, ran behind her father's opponent. Gallan threw an axe at the man which struck the child killing her. So intent were the men in the fight that the axe remained sticking in the child's head several minutes.

A Scientific Voyage.

The Swedish frigate Vanadis, which is about to start, or has started, on a voyage around the world, will carry the youngest son of the King of Sweden, the Duke of Gotland. The vessel goes on a scientific expedition, and will be away 18 months. It will steer towards South America, and then around the Horn to the Sandwich Islands, Japan, China, India, and come home by the way of the Cape of Good Hope.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1883.

THE SCHOOL BOOK IMPOSITION.

If the object of the Ontario Department of Education is to impose upon the parents and guardians of children attending the Public Schools the greatest possible expense for books, it could scarcely have devised a better scheme for so doing than that which it has done in authorizing two distinct sets of readers for use at the same time in these schools, and leaving it with the local school boards in each section to say which of these two sets shall be used in the school under their charge.

Whether there is or is not, as is claimed in the circular authorizing the new readers, such "general dissatisfaction" with the old readers as to justify the expense necessarily involved in any change of the kind, we are not prepared to say. Neither do we propose to enter into the merits or demerits of the rival readers as compared with one another or as compared with the one which they are intended to supersede. Our present object is to challenge the wisdom of the Department in authorizing any two sets of readers at the same time, and in granting a monopoly of the publication of particular books to particular publishers.

In its wisdom the Ontario Department of Education with the sanction of the Provincial Government of the day has seen fit to provide for the withdrawal of the readers now in use in the Public Schools and the substitution thereof of either one of two sets of readers which each local school board may select, subject to the condition that after a local board has selected either one of these series the same shall not be changed until after eighteen months' previous notice.

In the circular making this announcement we are told that the object sought to be attained by the authorization of two series of readers instead of one is to secure competition and prevent a monopoly. But what sort of a competition does this arrangement secure? It secures a competition between the two firms controlling these two series of readers for the patronage of the school boards, but none whatever for the supply of the series which the board may have selected. The moment a school board makes its selection, every child attending the school or schools under its control is as effectually in the hands of a single publisher as if only one series had been authorized and a monopoly of the publication of that series had been left in the hands of a single publisher. The School Board which adopts the Nelson-Campbell series can no more permit to be used in the school under its control the Gage series than it can those of any unauthorized publisher, and vice versa. So that the moment a School Board has made its choice, that moment all competition ceases, and the parents and guardians of that section are for at least eighteen months at the mercy of a publisher who has not only to make a legitimate profit on the books he sells them, but also such further sums as will recompense him for what he has been compelled to expend in order to secure their acceptance of his series—a very good state of affairs for trustees and others having influence with the local authorities, but a very unfortunate one for the public, who will ultimately have to pay, not only for the books but for the cost of their authorization. Under such an arrangement there is no "competition" in the supply of the series selected. It is in fact but a scheme whereby the monopoly of supplying nearly half a million school children with readers will be divided between two rival publishers.

But we will be told that when these rival publications were authorized the people's interests were protected by fixing the prices at which they are to be sold. This is true, but when we inform the reader that in the new series the books have been reduced in size and bulk while the price has been advanced, as much as twenty-five per cent. in one instance, they will be inclined to think with us that the interest of the publisher was much better looked after than that of the public, and that at the margin of profit allowed them will prove ample, not only to allow them a fair profit on the actual cost of production, but also upon the large sums which the rival publishers are now expending in various ways for the purpose of securing each for themselves the authorization of the local boards.

Feeling, no doubt, the weakness of the course about to be adopted, and the condemnation which it was certain to receive, the authors of this movement inform us in their circular, as an excuse for what is being done, that there are "practical difficulties" in the way of the Department holding the copyright of any series of school books and arranging for their publication. There may be, but we fail to see them. In the first place there could be little difficulty in obtaining the copyright of suitable books for our schools, inasmuch as no educational works can be used in them without they are authorized by the Department. That being the case the copyright of such books, so far as the Ontario Public School trade is concerned, is practically valueless, and so being and there being more than one set suitable for the purpose, it is obvious that in making such a bargain it is the Province, not the owner of the copyright who would be in a position to dictate terms. No practical difficulty can therefore be in the way of obtaining the necessary copyrights.

Then as to publication. It does seem to us that under existing circumstances there would be little difficulty in getting almost any number of publishers to come forward. A slight permission to publish one or more of a series of books which are required for daily use by nearly half a million pupils. So long as the works in question remained on the authorized list, their steady sale is assured, while the character of the market for them combined with the use of stereotyped plates, would enable the publishers to meet the demand as it arose without the carrying of stocks which would not go off, before any change could be effected. All that is wanted to save thousands of dollars to the people of this Province in the matter of school books alone is the application of a little common sense to the subject, and a determination to deal with it as a business man would deal with a business matter of like character.

In view of all the circumstances, and especially in view of the fact that the authorization of these books must engage the attention of the Legislature at its approaching session, and that the old readers may even under the present Order in Council remain in use for two years, we would strongly urge upon local school boards the inexpediency of their taking any step at the present time towards introducing either series of these new readers. A little delay can do no possible harm, while it may prove the means of saving those whom they represent the needless expenditure of their hard earned money. While it is difficult to predict what may be the result of the discussion which must take place in the legislature, one thing is pretty clear, and that is that no one approves of the present action of the department as final or one that should be allowed to go on without change. That being the case, the wise will wait and see what a few months may bring forth before they commit the fortunes of their school sections to either of the monopolists, who are so anxiously spreading their nets for them at the present moment.

THE MISSING LUDWIG.

Hope Given up—A Sketch of the Line—Another Ship Chartered to Take her Place.

Hope for the SS. Ludwig appears now to have been abandoned alike by the owners and agents, the friends and relatives of those on board and the public generally. She is sixty days out from Antwerp to-day, and her longest antecedent time for making the passage being from fourteen to twenty days, little doubt can be entertained as to her fate. The more hopeful refer to the fact that the Dominion steamship Quebec was fifty-two days in making her voyage from Liverpool to our port last spring and was forty days without being sighted or spoken; but she was sighted and frequently spoken subsequently. Of the Ludwig no vestige has been discovered. Theories as to her fate are various, but the most feasible and the one indeed given expression to by those more directly interested in the ship is, that she has struck an iceberg or been run into by some other vessel during the night, breaking in two or more of her compartments and sinking almost instantly. Under such circumstances no time would be left to get out the boats or arouse the passengers. The Messrs. Steinmann & Ludwig, founders and owners of the "White Cross" line of steamers, the line to which the ill-fated ship belongs, are among the most substantial and enterprising promoters of Atlantic transport services in Europe. Their line consists of eight first-class steamships, six of which run between Antwerp and New York, and the remaining two, the Helvetia and the Ludwig between Antwerp and this port. The line was established about forty years ago, and the Messrs. Steinmann and Ludwig may be considered in the fullest sense the pioneers of naval commerce between Antwerp and Montreal. For many years they used sailing ships, but more recently exchanged them for steamers, trade having expanded and they having entered into contract with the Dominion Government. The Company have chartered the SS. Surrey, in Antwerp to take the place of the supposed lost ship Ludwig, but they intend to build a first-class vessel at once to fill the gap in their line. The Surrey sails for Montreal on September 8th.

The proprietors have lost only two vessels since the establishment of the line, these being on the New York route. Their voyages to and from Montreal have been singularly successful, the Ludwig, if lost, being the only disaster worthy of the name. This is saying much when the perils of the sea, especially from ice in the straits of Belle Isle, are considered. In connection with this matter, a glance at some statistics regarding British shipping in general for some years past may be interesting. During the year 1882 as an example we find in Lloyd's Register that no less than 996 vessels sailing under British colors, were returned as lost, broken up or not heard from. The aggregate tonnage of these vessels was 373,700 tons. The number of ships built during that time was 873; an aggregate of 929,369 tons, showing that there were 118 more ships lost belonging to the United Kingdom than were built there and registered. The aggregate tonnage of those built exceeded those lost by 554,664 tons. During the year four ships a day were lost.

The present season appears to have been unusually prolific of disasters such as that which has probably befallen the Ludwig; the number of steamships, in all waters taken together, during the first six months of the year, which sailed from their ports and have never since been heard of, being no less than 27.

HIGH-MAILED FRENCH SKANEN.

They Strip Three British Barks and will likely have to suffer for it.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 4.—Admiral Comma of the British flag is investigating an outrage recently perpetrated on four British vessels by French fishermen, headed by the shore captain at Cape Orleans, northeast coast of Newfoundland. Early in August four British fishing vessels anchored at Cape Orleans for food fishing. As soon as they launched a skiff a number of Frenchmen ordered them to weigh anchor and quit. They refused, whereupon the Frenchmen commenced to unbend their sails, seized their guns and carried them ashore. Having stripped three vessels they boarded the schooner Comet. Capt. Aylward showed fight, delivering some lusty blows on the Frenchmen and putting them to flight. The assailants then attacked Aylward and crew with bayonets and gaffs severely maltreating them. They then stripped his vessel. Two days after the French war cruiser arrived and after inquiry restored the sails and gear to the vessels but ordered them to quit the harbor. The people of Newfoundland are indignant at the outrage, which may lead to international complications.

Well Rewarded.

For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

TERRIBLE STORM.

Appalling Loss of Life and Great Destruction to Vessel Property.

St. Pierre, Sept. 4.—Thursday's storm exceeded in violence the cyclone of the previous Sunday. The damage to shipping is incalculable. A large proportion of the fishing fleet is disabled. Some fifty vessels have already arrived completely stripped. The loss of life is appalling. Jacques's barker lost six men, Hardy's vessel six, Vincent's six, Leon's four, Demalvillain's two, and almost all one or two men. Louis Jourdan's vessel foundered after the storm subsided. The crew were saved. Over thirty vessels are missing. Not the slightest intimation of the approach of the storm was given, except a rising of a dense black cloud on the eastern sky with loud peals of thunder. Before half an hour elapsed the wind was at its height and the sea mountains high.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board will be held in the Council Room on Tuesday evening next, the 11th inst., at 7.30 sharp.

POSTAL FACILITIES.

The management of the Midland Railway, notwithstanding Mr. Cox's public promise last winter to give Lakefield better railway facilities, by erecting an enginehouse, and having a train to leave Lakefield in the morning and return in evening, has, it seems, decided to allow this village only one train a day. Hence the business men of Lakefield are denied the privilege of answering letters the same day they are received. Lakefield is an important centre in many ways, and the Post Office Department at Ottawa should give it proper and fair postal facilities either with or without the Midland Railway. Very few of our people doubt but that the village was made to suffer by this railway on account of the pronounced political sentiments of the people, and the Dominion Government are bound in fairness to come to the rescue. Lakefield will insist upon having one mail at least each way daily. The mail by railway is so annoyed at present that a letter written in business houses in Toronto on Monday would not reach Lakefield until Tuesday afternoon, and an answer to which could not reach Toronto until eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, and hence could not be distributed until Thursday. It will therefore require four days to send a letter from Toronto to Lakefield and get an answer thereto, and vice versa. This state of affairs should not be tolerated.

HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Harvey Council met at Lark Hall on Aug. 27th. The members were all present. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. A By-law was passed, signed and sealed levying the rates and taxes on the township of Harvey for 1883. County purposes, $738.58; township purposes, $262; amounts to be raised and collected from the several school sections, viz., S.S. No. 1, $200; No. 2, $200; No. 3, $200; No. 4, $200; No. 5, none; No. 6, $178.19; and No. 7, $219.20. A By-law was passed, signed and sealed to open up and establish certain new roads, one on line of road on parts of lots 24, 25, 27 and 28, concession 13, Harvey. Also the line of road on part of lots 26 and 27, concessions 8, 9, and 10. Also one line of road across the east half of lot 21, concession 12, and also one line of road on lots 3 and 4, concession 13, Harvey. A By-law was passed, signed and sealed to close and stop up that part of the communication road on the east half of lot 20, concession 16. A By-law was passed to provide for the conveyance of the road so closed up to the owners of the lands adjoining, and through which it passed. A motion was passed authorizing the reeve and Mr. Clark to make a contract with McGuire & Son, for building a bridge across Sandy Creek on the 14th concession line. The Treasurer was instructed to accept the orders of the road commissioners for 1883. James Ingram was appointed road commissioner for the nineteenth concession of Harvey. The clerk was instructed to charge on the collector's roll all the statute labour on the road warrants that are not returned before the collector's roll for 1883 is made out. The following accounts were passed and orders drawn on the Treasurer for payment: A. L. Wilson, $3. J. H. Thompson, $17. The Council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office on the second Monday in October.

An Old Forester.

The Brantford Courier says:—"The present alarm which is being manifested throughout the country with reference to the consequences likely to accrue upon the wholesale destruction of Forests, had its key note struck as far back as the sixteenth century by a Mr. Hamson, who, in an 'Historical description of the Island of Britain' devotes a curious chapter on Wood and Marshes, after referring to the general decay of the forests in the land he goes on to say: 'I would wish that I might live no longer than to see four things in this land reformed, that is: The want of discipline in the church; the conscious dealings of some of our merchants in the preference of the commodities of other countries, and hindrance of our own holding of fairs and markets upon the sundays to be abolished and refer to the necessities; and that every man in whatsoever part of the champaign soil enclose forty acres of land, and upwards, after that rate either by free deed, copie hold or fee farm, might plant one acre of wood, or sow the same in one must, hazel, beech, and sufficient provision be made that may be cherished and kept. Mr. Hamson was evidently a philosophical old gentleman, for he ends his reflection thus: 'But I fear that I should live too long, and so long that I should be weary of the world or the world of me.'"

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1883.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the Review stationery store.

Journalists.
We have received the first number of the Brandon Daily Mail, which is a credit to that young and progressive city.

The Cells.
One prisoner occupied the police cells last night. He was brought before the Court this morning and discharged.

Lawn Tennis.
The team that went to Whitby to play tennis in the tournament there carried off their share of the honors, which would have been greater if singles, as in England, had been the order, instead of doubles. The "hop" to wind up with was very enjoyable.

A Singular Accident.
On Wednesday Wm. Trotter met with a peculiar and painful accident. He was lifting a quarter of beef, and a darning needle, which was sticking in a cloth around the beef, entered his hand at the side and penetrated across the palm, nearly the whole length of the needle.

The Weather.
Last night was cold, and to-day the weather is fine. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds mostly westerly; fine weather and higher temperature.

Peaches! Peaches!
A large lot of very fine peaches have arrived at Smith's Market, George Street. This will afford a splendid opportunity to secure choice and selected peaches for preserving and other purposes, and as there is sure to be a rush for them as the season advances, parties are requested to send in their orders early.

Smith's Market.
On Wednesday afternoon about thirty Italian labourers arrived and were sent out to Indian River to work on the Ontario and Quebec Railway. There was one woman in the company.

An exchange says that Sir Henry Tyler, President of the Grand Trunk Railway, has gone to Utah. He will return to New York about Sept. 15th, and sails on the 22nd for England.

Change of Business.
Messrs. Fair & Van Every, from Port Hope, are about commencing business in the dry goods line in the store so long occupied by Mr. Thos. Bradburn, on George street, at the sign of the Golden Lion. They propose carrying a stock of first-class goods, purchased in the best markets, and from their well-known business habits, energy, and skill in supplying the wants of their customers, they will no doubt secure a large amount of the custom of the town and surrounding country.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.
The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th.
Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th.
Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd.
West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.
East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.
Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th.
Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13.
East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th.
Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Acknowledgements.
The ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge and return thanks for the following donations, received in answer to their appeal to the public:—In January, a parcel of clothing and 1 doz. tins of Johnston's fluid beef, from Mr. Erskine; February, parcel of hats, cloaks, &c., Munro & Alexander; March, from Carleton, order for $15, in lieu of barrel of flour; May, donation $8; for the furnishing of a sitting room: Mrs. Cox, carpet, pictures, &c.; Mr. Courtney, rocking chair; a lounge, Mr. Langford; half dozen chairs, D. Bellaghe; a lamp, Mrs. Walsh. Milk each day, Mrs. Kingan; $25, J.F. Dennistoun; $10, Mr. Moore; $1, anonymous; $5, Hanes, &c., Mrs. C. D. Moore; $1, from a friend; $5, another friend; parcel of clothing, from Mrs. A. Smith.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Sept. 6.—Mr. James Stevenson, J.P., presided on the bench.

A WAGES CASE.

Thos. McDonald brought a case against Wm. Hetherington to recover $22 which he claimed to be due him as wages. Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. R. E. Wood for the defendant.

Mr. Wood objected that the court had not jurisdiction to try the case. He contended that the town was now without police protection, so far as the Magistrate was concerned, as when the Police Magistrate was absent the Mayor should act in his place, and a Justice of the Peace could only act when requested to do so by the Mayor.

Mr. Moore said that the Police Magistrate had given Mr. Stevenson written authority to act at the Police Court during his absence, and that was sufficient.

Mr. Wood still held that the Court had not jurisdiction.

Mr. Moore—Then if a murder should be committed, and the criminal was likely to escape, a Justice of the Peace could not interfere—we would be without law.

Mr. Wood—I am afraid so.

Finally the case was adjourned until Monday, both Mr. Moore and Mr. Wood agreeing to the adjournment.

ABOUT A WATCH.

Wm. Trotter charged Jam. S. H. Irewing with having taken his watch to repair it and refusing to return it to him at the time the work was to have been done. Irewing said that there was no time stated at which the repairing was to be finished, and when Trotter called for it the work was not done. The watch was handed over to its owner and the prisoner was discharged, Trotter to pay the costs.

Foot Ball.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Foot Ball Club was held on Wednesday night at the Casino House. There was a large attendance of those who delight in this manly game. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT—F. J. Lewis.
1st VICE-PRESIDENT—H. K. Coleman.
2nd VICE-PRESIDENT—A. St. A. Smith.
SECRETARY—TREASURER—J. Morris.
CAPTAIN—W. H. Budden.

COMMITTEE—P. Cooper, R. B. Rogers and R. M. Hamilton.

The subject of matches for the season was discussed, and it was proposed to play the Military College Club, Kingston, on Thanksgiving Day, and also to arrange a match with the Toronto Club. Tuesdays and Saturdays were fixed upon for practice days. The first practice will take place on Saturday afternoon next at four o'clock, and it is hoped that there will be a good turn-out in order to make a good commencement for the season.

The Excursion to Belleville.
The excursion to Belleville on Wednesday was largely attended, the train consisting of 11 coaches, all of which were well filled before Belleville was reached. The excursionists arrived in the city at noon, and found the streets quite lively and thronged with people. The General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada had just adjourned, and a large number of delegates had arrived to attend the united conference of the Methodist Churches. Besides these there were excursions from other places. The Peterborough visitors proceeded to view the city, and spent about six hours very pleasantly there. Belleville has a good business street and some exceedingly fine private residences, and the building for the public offices, recently erected, attracted attention. The new store founded in a large building, and is a valuable addition to the industries of Belleville. The church in which the United Conference holds its session is a beautiful one. The excursion train departed from Belleville at about six o'clock, and arrived here at about a quarter to eleven.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The conduct of the Town Council excites interest and begets suspicion. One member makes certain allegations, and the majority, instead of assisting in a careful investigation to right any wrong or errors, unite in an effort to prevent any movement or measure to disprove the charges and thereby establish themselves in the confidence of the ratepayers.

The Acting Mayor, by accepting amendments to a resolution, matter entirely new and wholly foreign, is certainly evidence either of ignorance or a willingness to lend himself to a movement that will prevent an honest enquiry by the Council, and that necessarily must force a reference to the county judges.

The moment the Council was made aware of a doubt as to the securities held for the faithful performance of duty by the respective officers of the corporation, the whole question should have been referred to the Town Solicitor for his early report, but on the contrary the majority seem to have acted as if they knew all was not right. How long will the ratepayers remain patient?

Councillor Sawers' manner and ways may not be appreciated by councillors of long experience in their neglect of duty, but his matter and its vital importance to the people ought to command the immediate and willing attention and co-operation of every member of the Council.

Yours, etc.,

FAIR PLAY.

Peterborough, Sept. 6, 1883.

Affairs in South America.

PANAMA, Sept. 3.—So convinced are the Chileans that the treaty with Yglesias will be carried out that they have determined to evacuate Lima, Sept. 15th. Yglesias will enter the city with 3,000 men and a constitutional convention will at once meet. Montero remains at Arequipa, but fears he will have to fly to Bolivia. The Cuban Montoneros chief Ponce de Leon was recently attacked by the Chilean cavalry; 1,000 of his men were killed.

A Single Trial.

Is all that is needed to prove Polson's NEURALGIA is the most rapid and certain remedy for pain in the world. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove NEURALGIA to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try a cent sample bottle. Sold at Orono & Walsh's. Large bottle 25 cents.

"Why, Angeline, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet?" "Ah! they're lovely!" I dried them with the Triumvirate Pasteurizer." 10c.

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-side surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the throat, lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 15 Phillips Square, Montreal.

Pencil Points.

—A light fall of rain to-day.
—The police cells were empty last night.
—No business before the Police Court this morning.

—The 57th Battalion will leave for Cobourg on the Golden-Eye at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

—The furniture in the hall on the corner of Water and Simcoe streets has been purchased by court "Little John" C. O. F. This is a good hall and it is well furnished.

—A number of Italians are keeping "bachelors' hall" in a house on Aymer street, between Simcoe and Charlotte streets.
—Some of our exchanges say that the Salvation Army has attacked Peterborough. It has not, as yet, but we believe it is their intention to come. If half of what a Lindsay and a Port Hope paper say about Peterborough was true, they should come at once, but empty police cells, the long succession of blank days that appear on the police court record and our orderly streets are an emphatic contradiction to their statements.

BELLEVIEW.

FIRE.—While some of Mr. Albert Geen's employees were burning alcohol on the second floor of his drug store on Thursday morning the fluid ran over the vessel which contained it and exploded. One part struck a section of shelves and another a partition wall, and both were set on fire. The flames were readily subdued, and the damage to the building, which is owned by Jacob Cronk, is covered by insurance in the Liverpool, London, & Globe. Mr. Geen's loss is covered by insurance in the Royal and Western.

From Prince Edward Island.

Crops on Prince Edward Island are better than have been known for many years. Wheat and oats are particularly good. The potato crop promises well. Two new starch factories are being built, and a large manufacture of the article is expected this winter. The lobster fishery was not as large as the previous year, but prices are improving. Two new cheese factories have been built in Prince county this year.

Waylaid for Wealth.

A man named Bailey, from Westminster, driving from Appin to Glenora, on Wednesday night, was waylaid by three men in a buggy and robbed of over $1,000.

DRIFTING INTO WAR.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Times says France is steadily drifting into war with China. The latter is vulnerable only in those ports which occupy a quasi international position, and any blow struck would be felt throughout Europe. The shock to English trade in the East Indies would be most disastrous and the relations between England and France would be seriously embittered. The dislocation of the cotton trade would destroy the employment of thousands of operators in the Lancashire factories, and the revenue to the British Crown for India would show a serious deficit. The Americans, Germans, Japanese and even Chinese themselves would secure more of the foreign and coasting trade in the East than the French.

READY FOR WAR.

HONG KONG, Sept. 6.—The people seem to have little fear of the result of war with France. Considering China's new armaments and the vastly improved discipline of its force, the Chinese papers urge immediate action to be taken to prevent the annexation by France of any portion of the Chinese territory.

FRANCE MUST WITHDRAW.

HIANGPO, Sept. 6.—The Chinese Ambassador under instructions from his Government, has demanded the withdrawal of France from the Hue treaty. The French Prime Minister refuses to comply, but assured the Ambassador that France is willing to give China the necessary guarantees for the integrity of her frontier.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Lord Hartington, Secretary of State for War, speaking at Sheffield today, said it was a mistake to suppose that the arrest of Shaw by the French in Madagascar was not sufficient ground for quarrel with France, and that the release of Shaw removed all ground for offence. The Government hoped that France would make a satisfactory explanation of the matter. Nobody, he added, could suppose any sane statesman in France desires to quarrel with England or any other powerful nation at the present moment.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

LIMERICK, Sept. 6.—Richard O'Shaughnessy, who recently resigned from Parliament, has issued an address to his electors expressing his conviction that the measures of the English people are honestly anxious that Irish affairs should be regulated by Parliament with a careful and generous regard for the condition and necessities of Ireland.

CHAMBORD'S WILL.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The will of Chambord gives half a million francs to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 100,000 to the poor of Paris, 150,000 to the convent at Goris, a large portion of the fortune to the Duke de Parma, and a smaller portion to the Count de Bardi, and the income of the estate to his widow. The total personality was 8,000,000 francs.

"THE KING OF FRANCE."

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The Count de Paris has informed a friend that he did not attend Chambord's funeral because "the King of France cannot take second place." Unless he repudiates this statement the Count will be ordered to quit France.

FOUNDERED.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The British barque Carnatic from Tai Wan Foo, May 21st, for New York and Montreal, has foundered. The crew arrived at St. Helena.

ZULULAND.

DURBAN, Sept. 6.—A correspondent returned from a tour through Zululand reports that the natives are now on the eve of a war of mutual extermination.

DEATH OF MARWOOD.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Marwood, the hangman, is dead, having succumbed to an attack of inflammation of the bowels and jaundice. He had been ailing for some time, though he has not missed officiating at any execution at which his services have been desired. He was noted as the advocate of the long drop, and though in one or two cases he nearly decapitated his victims, yet it is generally conceded that he was an improvement as a hangman over Calcraft, whom he succeeded.

THE WAR CLOUD.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The latest advice from Hong Kong states that Admiral Meyer, commander of the French fleet, has received sealed instructions from his Government. What these are has not been reported. It is rumored, however, that instructions are warlike, but are so contradictory as to embarrass the admiral. It is known that Admiral Meyer has been ordered to intercept the southward movement of Chinese vessels of war and at the same time make a naval demonstration off Canton, and retain Saigon as the naval station. No war having been actually declared it is not known how the French admiral can either interfere with the free movements of Chinese war vessels or prevent them from landing Chinese troops upon Chinese territory, no matter how contiguous to Tonquin they may be.

Loss of a Montreal Vessel.

St. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 6.—The Cromwell line steamer Canina, Captain Farquhar, from New York for this port, this morning struck on Gull Island, at the mouth of St. Mary's Bay and sank almost instantly. The passengers and crew, 60 in all, got ashore on an island rock about a mile from shore. The schooner Thistle has been dispatched to the scene to render assistance. The latest despatch from Trepass Bay says the Canina struck in a dense fog with a heavy sea running. The passengers and crew had to leap for life, and saved nothing. The ship sank without giving time to procure provisions.

Their Value Appreciated.

The Northwest Lumberman says:—"A treeless country is never a pleasant one, and no one fully appreciates the value of trees until he is once set down where they do not grow. Many of the people who have settled in Dakota complain more about the absence of timber than all other disadvantages combined. One gentleman in a letter says: 'A tree, next to the faces of my best friends, is what I long to see most.' This gentleman migrated from Wisconsin, and used the think, he says, that his native state was so productive of trees that they were a nuisance, but now he believes he would prefer a home 'in the woods' rather than on the treeless plains of Dakota. The fact that for miles and miles there is not a tree for fuel, shade or wind-break renders a man who is used to seeing, and being benefited by trees, a little lonesome up there."

Howards' Acid Phosphate

IN DEBILITY.
Dr. W. H. Holcombe, of New Orleans, La., says: "I found it an admirable remedy for debilitated state of the system produced by the wear and tear of the nervous energies."

PUGET SOUND.

The Lumber industry of Puget Sound, says the Post-Intelligencer, has reached a point of development which must command attention. There will be cut in Washington Territory during the present year 500,000,000 feet of lumber. This product is distributed, as nearly as can be estimated as follows:—

Export to California.....250,000,000
Export to foreign ports.....80,000,000
Home consumption.....170,000,000

This vast product represents in round numbers a value on the wharves ready for shipment, or at local mills ready for delivery, of $12 per thousand, or an aggregate of $6,000,000, which is net revenue to the territory from this one industry. The 330,000,000 feet exported requires the service of a goodly number of vessels. Taking all classes of craft on which lumber is exported, the average cargo is about 500,000 feet, which would make necessary the shipment of 660 cargoes. Another and the most notable feature, one which more than others evidences the rapid settlement of the territory adjacent to Puget Sound, and the cities and villages situated thereon, is the item of home consumption. The lumber for export is mainly cut by seven large mills on the Sound. That for home consumption employs as many as 40 smaller ones, with a daily output of from 2,500 to 75,000 feet each, and an average of about 12,000 feet. These mills are constantly crowded with orders. Builders are forced to wait their turn, and there is no evidence of a falling off in the demand. The amount of improvement this large quantity of lumber represents in buildings of various classes, wharves, sidewalks, railway ties, etc., is an evidence of prosperity conclusive and incontrovertible. Within the city limits of Seattle there is being cut at this writing an average of 160,000 feet per day, and within 30 days this capacity will be increased to 200,000 feet per day. All this lumber is used here, and the demand is still greatly in advance of the supply. The prospective magnitude of the lumber interest of northwestern Washington is as yet hardly realized. It is to be the most potent factor in the growth and production of permanent wealth to our people. From Puget Sound ten years hence the exports of lumber direct to foreign ports will exceed those of the balance of the Pacific coast. We shall ship to every known port, and the flags of every nation will be seen floating at our wharves. The interior will also demand attention and our home consumption should and will double every year. We shall be prepared and will furnish our brethren east of the Cascade and on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad, as far east as the demand may reach, houses made of the finest of pine, cedar and fir, framed, fitted and ready for immediate erection, put up in packages and shipped to destination for less money and of better class than they can be built upon the ground, saving freight, wastage and time to our eastern customers and creating for ourselves an industry of illimitable extent and undoubted stability.

The Effects of Lightning on Trees.

Our Geneva correspondent writes:—"The frequency of thunder storms in Switzerland this summer (we have on an average two a week) has afforded Prof. Colladon, of Geneva, a great authority on electricity and meteorology, ample opportunity of continuing his observations on the effect of lightning on trees and vegetation generally. He has ascertained that when lightning strikes a tree it leaves very few marks of its passage on the upper part and middle of the trunk, a peculiarity which he ascribes to the fact of those parts being more impregnated with sugar, a good conductor, than the lower part. As the electric fluid descends to the neighborhood of the heavier branches, where there is less saccharine matter, it tears open the bark and in many instances shivers the tree. It is no uncommon thing to find the lower part of a tree literally cut by the lightning, while the upper portion and the higher branches seem to have suffered hardly at all. Oaks, however, would appear to present an exception to this rule, for they are often found with tops quite blasted and the passage of the lightning-furrows down marked by a groove-like furrow. These furrows sometimes go completely around the tree like a crew, the reason of which, says Prof. Colladon, is that the lightning follows the cells of which the bark is composed lengthwise, and in certain sorts of wood these cells are disposed spirally. A curious effect of lightning on vines is that it invariably strikes a great many vine stocks at the same time over a space, for the most part circular, from 8 metres to 25 metres in diameter, and containing, therefore, several hundred vines. The plants most effected are those in the centre of the circle, and the number of burned and yellowed leaves diminished in proportion to their distance from that point. In July two vineyards in this canton were struck by lightning, and the first idea of their proprietors, on seeing their shrivelled vines, was that a still more dreaded foe, phylloxera, had been at work, but when the Professor was called in he was especially enlightened then as to the cause of the mischief, and, in proof of his diagnosis, pointed out that the ground in the centre of the circle was strewn with torn leaves and freshly broken twigs."—London (England) Times.

Still a Profound Mystery.

It is now about two years since Victoria Badgely's little girl, two and a half years old, was lost near Union, Ameliasburg, and nothing is yet known of her fate. The mystery is as profound as ever. When last seen she was playing near the house at which her mother and grandmother were visiting, and when thought a few minutes after she could not be found. Fields and woods, swamp and marsh, land and water, were searched for days, and up to the present no tidings nor trace can be discovered. Every method of accounting for her disappearance seems unsatisfactory, and it is probable that in this world her fate will never be known. At the time of the disappearance cruel suspicions were cast upon the parents of the lost child, which the lapse of time has shown to have been without an excuse. The circumstances of this case are so remarkable and unprecedented they should be more thoroughly examined. The child must have been carried off by some straggling Gipsy or some wild animal. The first is considered improbable, and the latter impossible. Then, what has become of the child?—Bellefonte Ontario.

BASTINGS.

At Rest.—The Star says that Mrs. William Gilchrist, whom it will be remembered made an attempt upon her life some time ago, and removed to the Insane Asylum in Toronto, died at that institution on Saturday last. Her remains were brought down by train on Tuesday for interment at Westwood. Mr. Gilchrist has the sympathy of the entire community in his affliction.

ACCIDENT.—On Friday evening Miss Bridget Convey and Miss Gilmurray had a very narrow escape from severe, if not fatal injuries. They, with two of F. Convey's children, were returning in a covered buggy from a school in the east of Percy, when at the foot of Armour's hill the horse shied and upset the buggy. All escaped but Miss Convey, whose collar bone was broken. The buggy is a complete wreck, and it is a miracle how the party escaped so well.

COMMENCED PRACTICE.—Our young townsman, Dr. Richard Coughlin, has commenced the practice of his profession, and has opened an office in Wallace's drug store. Mr. Coughlin has, since the completion of his medical studies, and until quite recently, been engaged professionally at Florence, N.Y., where he secured a large practice, a result which we trust will attend his efforts in this neighbourhood.

PASTORAL VISIT.—On Sunday, the 2nd inst., His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto made a pastoral visit to the Anglican churches of Hastings and Alnwick, when confirmation services were held, there being 22 in the former church and 35 in the latter. The services were very impressive, and a large number of communicants, completely filling the churches in both places. His Lordship is a fluent speaker and a thoroughly energetic man. During His Lordship's visit here he was the guest of Dr. O'Gorman at the Clarendon.

PERSONAL.—Father Quirk having obtained three months leave of absence, his duties will be performed by the Rev. Father Connor of Fenelon Falls. The rev. gentleman officiated here and in Norwood last Sunday.

PORT ROYAL.

Severe by Lightning.—The Times says that during the severe thunder storm of Tuesday evening last, the electric fluid struck the residence of Mr. Chas. Merrifield, on Margaret street, and tore off the upper portion of the second story window in the gable facing the east, ripped off a number of the clapboards, splintered the sash and frame of the window, tore off two yards of plaster, and raised some of the roof boards and twisted some of the rafters. It then ran along the zinc which was nailed on the roof of the summer kitchen and the side of the house, burning holes in its passage resembling those made by bullets, and in one place a number of holes were made like those caused by small shot. It then burned a hole in the eave-trough and ran down the side of the building, loosening some of the clapboards at the lower part of the wall and leaving its mark on a hand-basin which stood on a bench near by. The damage will not exceed $20, and will be repaired by the company in which Mr. Hugh Matland, the owner, had the house insured.

The Port of Quebec.

From a comparative statement printed in a recent issue of the Quebec Chronicle, showing the number of sailing vessels and steamers entered inwards and outwards at the port of Quebec from the opening of navigation to June 30th, 1882 and 1883, we find that 311 vessels arrived this year, against 239 vessels in same period of 1882, showing a good increase on 1883. Of this number there were this year 193 vessels under the British flag, and 223 arriving from the United Kingdom, against 150 and 176 vessels respectively last year. The outward vessels this year numbered 198, in total of which 121 were British, and 176 for this country, against 185 vessels, 115 British, and 111 for the United Kingdom last year. This likewise shows an increase for the present year. Another statement gives the following return of vessels inwards and outwards for the fiscal years ending June 30th, 1882 and 1883:—Inwards, 1882, 682 vessels, British 447, steamers 152, sailing vessels 530, from United Kingdom 516. 1883, 642 vessels, steamers 148, sailing 494, British 412, from United Kingdom 409. Outwards, 1882, 833 vessels, steamers 111, sailing 542, British 417, to United Kingdom 506. 1883, 680 vessels, 148 steamers, 534 sailing, 460 British, and 568 to United Kingdom. As will be seen, there was an increase of forty vessels inwards this year, but a decrease of twenty-seven leaving the port.

Looking for Timber.

The Winnipeg Times of Aug. 29 says:—Mr. Alex. McKay, of Ottawa, accompanied by a friend, a gentleman also belonging to that city, have returned to Winnipeg after quite a lengthy trip to Lake Winnipeg and vicinity.

In reply to a question by a Times representative one of the gentlemen said:—

"We spent considerable time looking over the Lake Winnipeg and Bearings rivers district."

"With what result?"

"Well, we are satisfied that there is considerable spruce there. We were disappointed in not seeing any pine. There is none of any size."

"What do you think of the Bearings River?"

"It is pretty rough and the rapids are numerous. I think, however, that there should be no trouble in driving logs on it."

"Have you a limit in the districts you visited?"

"Mr. McKay has a 50 mile limit at Bearings River. I have no interest."

"What will be the outcome of your trip?"

"That we cannot say as yet. The cost of handling the logs will be considerable, but all considered lumbering there may be made to pay."

U KANT KOFF.—Climax cough cures. Quick, sure cure; of all dealers; 15cts.

A GRAND stand containing thousands of people fell at Havre de Grace, Md., on yesterday. Many were hurt but as yet there are no fatal results.

DON'T PULL IT.—Use Newton's one minute toothache cure. Relief at once; of all dealers, 15cts.

ONE HUNDRED and one buildings have been erected in Port Arthur since the 10th of April last and the Sentinel knows of contracts for eleven more, five of which are to be of brick.

LIFE-PRESERVERS are not always what they seem. A yacht upset in long Island Sound, and the crew, though encircled with what appeared to be some cork preservers, were drowned. It was found that sawdust had been substituted for cork.

La Press has an account of a peasant named James Zygelof, who has just died at Odessa, aged 147 years. His son is still alive at the age of 115; he has a grandson of 85, and a great-grandson of 40 years. He never drank or smoked.

DR. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS are not an Alcoholic Stimulant, but a purely Vegetable Medicine. Cathartic and Tonic in its action and invaluable in all affections of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

MISS DELIMA DEMERS, a well off young lady of the village of Laprairie, has taken out an action of breach of promise of marriage against Francois Xavier Herbert, a wealthy bachelor, 45 years of age, of the parish of St. Philippe. The damages are laid at $5000.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

Second Growth of Timber.

The Northwestern Lumberman says:—From a pamphlet by the board of trade, Bangor, Me., we learn that the value of the products turned out in 1882 from the wood-working establishments of that city, omitting ship-building and the furniture and carriage business, is placed at $3,522,425, or something over half of the value of the entire products of all the mills and factories of the city. It is also estimated that the amount of lumber cut on the Penobscot from 1816 to the close of 1882 was, in round figures, 4,843,000,000 feet, 1,277,000,000 of it being pine, 3,026,000,000 spruce, and the balance, 440,000,000, hemlock and other woods. Notwithstanding this drain on the timber tributary to the river the compiler of the report says:—

The trade in lumber, which in the past has been the leading industry and the chief source of income to the inhabitants, is still in the flourishing condition, and the timber supply shows no sign of exhaustion. The quantity now standing is likely to last for generations to come, and manageable new forests are springing up and growing with marvellous rapidity. It is said by competent judges that there is more standing timber in Hancock county to-day than 20 years ago, and the same may be truthfully said of other sections of the state. Furthermore the system of cutting only the larger trees and carefully protecting the remainder prevails in northern Maine, and allows the forests to be profitable work over at state intervals, thus insuring their permanence. It is true the immense pine logs of former years are no longer seen floating down our rivers to the mills, but the numberless new and important uses which have been found for the smaller and cheaper woods, all of which are of rapid growth, have more than supplied the deficiency caused by the diminished size of the pine and spruce.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1883.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Personal.
The Rev. T. Manning, B. A., the Register says, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist Church in Norwood on Sunday, the 16th.

A Fine Front.
Mr. D. Bellaghem has got the new front of his furniture ware room completed, and it is one of the handsomest in the town. The plate glass windows are in themselves a great improvement, and the wood work is very tastefully painted and ornamented.

The Weather.
The weather to-day is cool and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south-west, veering to east winds; fair to cloudy weather, with local rains.

Norwood's School Building.
The Register says that the contract for the erection of the new school building at Norwood has been awarded to Mr. John Alford, of Peterborough, for the sum of $6,350. Mr. Alford's tender was the lowest, and consequently was accepted by the Board. The new building is to be completed by May, 1884.

The Methodist Churches.
The Rev. E. A. Stafford, M. A., formerly of Montreal, and now of Winnipeg, will occupy the pulpit of the George Street Methodist Church at the morning service and of the Charlotte Street Church in the evening on Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Stafford is one of the most able preachers in the Methodist Church in Canada.

Peaches! Peaches!
A large lot of very fine peaches have arrived at Smith's Market, George Street. This will afford a splendid opportunity to secure choice and selected peaches for preserving and other purposes, and as there is sure to be a rush for them as the season advances, parties are requested to send in their orders early.

Royalty and the Volunteers.
We learn that His Excellency the Governor-General and the Princess Louise will visit the volunteer camp at Cobourg and review the troops there assembled for their annual drill. It is to be hoped that the Peterborough volunteers, horse, foot and artillery, will give a good account of themselves and maintain their old reputation under the eyes of royalty.

To Overcome Sink Holes.
The Kingston Whip, of Sept. 5th, says that Mr. John Ryan, contractor of the Ontario and Quebec railway line from Sharnburt lake to Perth reports rapid progress all along the line. The rails will probably be laid to Sharnburt lake next week, and the ballasting trains be at once begun. The big sink hole near Mabrey has been filled and trains can pass over it without fear. His idea is that these sink holes were originally small lakes, but debris from the hills and vegetable matter had collected and filled the lakes up, making them veritable bogs. The only way to secure a passage over them is to dump in earth and afterwards form a platform with timber. He had encountered many such bogs in New Brunswick. They were always found in sections of country made up of granite rocks. The bog just bridged is about 40 feet deep.

Enlargements.
An addition is being erected in the rear of the premises occupied by Mr. Adam Hall and Mr. J. D. Tully. The size of the new building, which is of brick, is fifty by forty feet and two stories high. Mr. Hall's shop will be further improved by a new front. Plate glass will be put in with side lights, and large windows be put in the rear of the store—or rather where one would suppose the rear to be, for there will be two "fronts" to the shop. The lower storey will be used for the store and show room, and the upper storey to give more space for the manufacturing department, the premises at present being too small for the increased business in the manufacture of stoves and tinware. A new front will also be put in Mr. Tully's drug store, and while this will improve these premises greatly, it will also add to the general appearance of the street. Mr. Geo. A. Cox is the owner of the buildings, and the work is superintended by Mr. James McLellan.

To the Toronto Exhibition.
The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company will send some saw sharpeners made by them to the Toronto exhibition.

Lumbering.
The lumbering season has commenced. Messrs. Ulyott & Sadler sent a number of men north to their limits last week, and a further force this morning. Their timber limits are in the townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, Peterborough County, and Anson, Victoria County. The first week in September is about the usual time the work in the woods is commenced. It is expected that the total cut this year will be smaller than last year. It will probably not amount to over two-thirds of last year's cut. Mr. Irwin has also sent men north to his limits.

She Told a Frightful Tale.
This forenoon an elderly woman, quite respectable in appearance, appeared at several places for monetary aid. She said that she had a daughter living in Chandoe and another at Niagara. Her daughter at Niagara had written to her two years ago, she said, to go and live with her and she had gone, but her son-in-law drank a great deal and at last she was forced to leave. Her daughter gave her two dollars, and the old lady started to return to Chandoe. She had managed to get this far, and she wished for aid to assist her to reach her destination. The story was told in a sorrowful tone, and in a manner calculated to move even a hard heart to pity her. She did receive money from several, how many is not known, and finally she entered a store on George street. When she asked for assistance there it was not given, as the merchant remembered having seen her before. Two years ago she wished to go to Niagara, and had applied for help at that time. In this store, however, where she had occasion to use money, she showed a large roll of bills, and as she at that time told an equally pitiful tale, and wished assistance, while at the same time she had a large amount of money in her possession, the conclusion was naturally arrived at that her story could not be implicitly relied on. If she calls on any of our readers for a contribution, it would be in order for them to ask her to explain.

Port Hope Shipwrecked.
If, when the representatives of the greater part of the wealth and business of a town are shipwrecked, the town can be said to be shipwrecked, Port Hope met with that fate on Thursday. A number of gentlemen of that town have every year a pleasure excursion, or as some of them term it, a jamboree, and this year they took passage on the steamer Beaver and went down Rice Lake, risking all the perils of the deep for the pleasure of getting away from business and from the smoke and heat of the hamlet to the south of us. All went well for a time, and the fun ran high, but the excursion came to a sudden and unexpected end. A rock which rose high enough in the water to catch the boat was struck and the party had to disembark. They reached the shore in safety, and rode on sole leather to the Grand Junction Railway. They came to Peterborough on the Grand Junction evening train and remained here over night, the guests of the Oriental, Calise House and other hotels. A solemn convocation was held at the Oriental Hotel, where the particulars of their adventure were discussed. It is natural for passengers who have been shipwrecked to feel grateful to those who have rendered them assistance in their time of need, and the feeling was not lacking in this case, as the following document, which was adopted by the assembly and signed after mature deliberation, will testify:—

"Geo. A. Cox, Esq., President of the Midland Railway:—Dear Sir, The undersigned, comprising the shipwrecked party, have assembled at the Oriental Hotel, and wish to assure you that they most deeply appreciate the extreme courtesy which you have extended to them, and they tender you their very best thanks for the same."
This was signed by A. v. Hugel, Chas. Stuart, W. W. Renwick, John Walker, Hugh Ross, Joseph King, W. Quay, Peter Robertson, A. J. Galletly, Jas. H. Hagerman, A. Hamilton, M.D., Chas. Daebler, James O'Brien, John Curtis, J. C. McNaughton, Jr., Thos. H. Goben, T. O. Gander, P. R. Randall, W. Read, A. A. Adams, Geo. Wilson, J. L. Thompson, R. Chalk, Wm. Marchel and R. Bruce Williams. The party went to Port Hope this morning on the 6.15 train, and will no doubt meet with much sympathy on account of their misfortune, and many congratulations because they escaped without more damage than they received.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.
The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warran, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Visit to Peterborough.
Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Calise House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-side surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 13th. Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th.

Myself.

The Lindsay Post says that an event of much interest in many circles in Lindsay and Peterborough, was the marriage on Wednesday morning of Mr. M. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, son of the recently deceased "lumber king," to Miss DeGrazi, the amiable and accomplished daughter of Dr. DeGrazi of this town. The ceremony took place in St. Paul's Church, which, despite the early hour, was thronged by friends, acquaintances and interested spectators. Rev. Rural Dean Allan, of Millbrook, and the Rev. S. W. Jones, incumbent, were the officiating clergymen. The bride was attired in an elegant costume of white satin, with train, and was the admired of all beholders. Miss Bridgeman, a cousin of the bride, made a very pretty bridesmaid, in white muslin. The groom's best man was his younger brother, Mr. Willis Boyd. After the ceremony the guests, who were limited to relatives and intimate friends, repaired to the residence of Dr. DeGrazi where a wedding breakfast was partaken of. The happy couple left by the ten o'clock train for the east, amid a shower of slippers, rice and congratulations. The wedding presents were numerous, costly and elegant. Among them we may mention a magnificent solid silver tilting ice pitcher and goblets, presented to Mr. Boyd by his employee. The valuable piece of plate was accompanied by a very flattering address. Mrs. Boyd also received at the same hands a beautiful silver fruit stand also accompanied with an address. The gift of Dr. and Mrs. DeGrazi was a magnificent silver tea service. Edwards & Co., of Bobcaygeon, sent a very valuable tea water service. A large number of handsome gifts were included in those received from relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd.

Another Escape from the Central.

It is only a few days ago that a convict who became weary of the monotony of life at the Central prison concealed himself in a Grand Trunk box-car and was carried out to liberty, which he still enjoys. On Tuesday night another of the goal-birds managed his escape. His name is said to be Oxford, and he had two or three aliases which were used whenever occasion required. From what could be gathered it appears that he was sent out after dark along with a guard to the brick-yard for some purpose, and as the opportunity was one not to be missed he slipped away in the darkness without even saying good-by to the guard. The latter had to return to the prison without his man, and by the time a pursuit was organized he was beyond reach of the repeating rifles of his pursuers. The authorities at the prison declined to impart any information, as they had "an object in view" in doing so.—Mail

Delaying Her Majesty's Mails.

A peculiar case, involving a nice legal point, came up for consideration before the Police Magistrate at Ottawa, on Tuesday. Constable Horridge was charged with delaying her Majesty's mails. It appears one of the mail bags, through the negligence of an employee of the contractor for carrying the mails, was left behind under the wheel of the car, and on being picked up was handed to the police officer, who went to the expense of hiring a carriage to lose no time in getting it to the city post office. There he asked for $1.50 to reimburse him, and on being refused by the clerk Horridge kept the bag in his possession for forty minutes, and handed it over to the contractor on payment of the sum demanded. The Police Magistrate stated that the facts sworn to constitute a legal detainee of the mail bag, no matter how honest the defendant might be in making his claim. The case was sent to the Assizes, the prisoners own bail being accepted.

An Electric Gun.

Colonel Fosbery created a sensation at a lecture he recently gave to an assembly of officers, small-arm inventors, and other experts, at the Royal United Services Institution, by suddenly drawing from his place of hiding under the table a wonderful new gun, which he had just brought from Leipzig. He called it a "baby electric gun." It looked like a pretty carbine, but it had no mechanism, and could not possibly go off until connected with the source of electric force. This, said, it could be fired with amazing rapidity, 100 rounds having a few days before been fired from it by its inventor, M. Pieper, of Leipzig, in two minutes. Colonel Fosbery fired two rounds with infinitesimal powder charges. He had prepared himself by covering under his vast small circuit of wire and putting on a banderole, supporting the gun like a two-ounce vial, but was in fact an electric accumulator, with sufficient stored-up energy to discharge 1,000 rounds. The cartridges were innocent looking little, and contained no detonating substances—nothing, in fact, but simple powder and a wad. The opinion was expressed by various speakers that the electric gun must come more revolutionize the manufacture of small arms within a brief period.

Postponed.

The ten mile foot race, which was announced for Monday night, has been postponed, because Raine, one of the best runners who had entered, met with an accident and was unable to come. Persons who have purchased tickets can have their money returned.

A Break Down.

When Mr. T. Smith attached his horses to the corporation wagon on the market square this afternoon, and proceeded to turn the horses around, the pole fell down, having broken off about the centre. A mark on the pole gave evidence of a wagon wheel having passed over it, which no doubt caused the breakage.

The Weather.

The weather to-day was cloudy and very cold. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Northerly winds; cooler, cloudy weather, with occasional rain during morning, followed by clearing weather; frosts probable in some localities on Sunday.

The Late Dr. Bennett.

On Friday morning Mr. Henry Bennett, M. D., died at the residence of his father, Mr. Joseph Bennett, sen., in North Monaghan. Dr. Bennett was well known in Peterborough, having resided here. He studied medicine with Dr. Kincaid, of this town, and having received his diploma entered upon the practice of his profession at Catocton, where he resided for five years and had established a good practice. Last July he went to Ireland, accompanied by his brother, hoping that the voyage would prove beneficial to his health. He returned, however, without the improvement hoped for, and arrived home on Thursday, the 30th of August. He survived one week after reaching his father's. Dr. Bennett was a comparatively young man, being thirty-one years of age. He was generally liked, and had before him a promising career, but was carried away by that destroyer, consumption. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and will be attended by the members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, as he was a member of Peterborough Lodge.

Roman to Gladstone.

O'Donovan Rossa cabled the following from New York to Gladstone:—"Abandon the mock trial of your spy Jim McDermott. When the British empire plays such a farce as this you must be hard driven."

No sham About Them.

The feature of the grand army encampment at Princeton, N. J. was a sham battle. In the excitement of the fight the veterans became reckless and used their weapons at close quarters. A large number were wounded; thirteen were sent to the hospital for aid. Most of them will be around as soon as the wounds are dressed. Three or four are in the hospital.

A CREEP DANCE

The London Spectator prints an extract from a letter by a settler living near Q' Appelle giving the following account of the mode of testing the bravery of the young men among the Cree Indians. He says:—"Last week I saw a religious dance among these people; the spectacle was so atrocious that I nearly fainted. The object was to test the endurance of their young fighting men. A large conical tent, supported by a central pole, was erected, of which one side was occupied by a band of drummers and by the chiefs; the other side was left at open space for the administration of the proposed test of manly virtue. The performance began by a chorus of tremendous shouts and outcries from the men around, to an accompaniment of prolonged tomtomming on the drums. The men were got up in wonderful style, some painted in coloured stripes to resemble tigers, with scalp dangles round their waists and wrists, and tomahawks hanging in the belts. Their extremities were covered with Indian leggings, faced with beads and porcupine quills. Their faces were painted in all the colours of the rainbow, and a good many more. After a short silence, a young man came forward, about twenty years of age. Him they seized, and immediately cut a slit through each breast, and then passed through this a pole or stout stick. To these sticks they fastened ropes, the other end of which were firmly tied to the central pole of the tent. The young man then went to the extremity of the rope and leaned back with his whole weight, being supported by the sticks through his breast. He pulled the stick right away from his bones, and in that awful position, without a cry ceasing him, he began to dance to the thundering music of the band. He continued dancing forty-five minutes, when he fainted. Fifteen others then passed through the same ordeal. The trial was some what varied for some of them, by setting them to pull guns through the grass while harnessed in the same frightful fashion, or by swinging them to trees with hooks fastened in their backs. This band of Indians is only two miles from our settlement, so that you see we form a mixture of both civilized and savage people.

AFFECTING TRADE.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 7.—The critical relations between France and China are the source of discouragement in the cotton goods markets. Purchases are made sparingly. Prices are firm.

MISREPRESENTED.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The Marquis Tseng declares that the movements of the Chinese troops have been misrepresented, as only the necessary precautions have been taken to secure the frontier. China was unable to renounce the suzerainty over Annam, but did not wish to make it more pronounced than hitherto. She will be satisfied with status quo ante.

THE ERUPTIONS.

BATAVIA, Sept. 7.—The official report of the recent disaster is not yet published. The number of natives killed at Bantam and Lampong is estimated at thirty thousand. The number of Europeans lost is unknown. The garrison and Dutch resident at Telokbetong were saved. Terrible distress prevails at Telokbetong, as it is unapproachable by sea owing to the bay being filled with pumice stones.

DESIRIOUS FOR PEACE.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—France and China are equally desirous of a peaceful solution of the Tonquin question with honour. The general sentiment favours the arbitration of England. Orders have been sent to have transports ready for embarkation the latter part of September of 10,000 men for China. It is reported here that French troops have burned Loango, in West Africa.

CHINA'S PROPOSAL.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Among China's proposals for a settlement which the French Minister of Foreign Affairs considers worthy of consideration in the Tonquin difficulty were the following:—Firstly, settlement of the question of Chinese suzerainty in Annam in form to be discussed hereafter; secondly, the delimitation of the frontier, providing for a neutral zone between certain points.

INDIGNANT.

NAPLES, Sept. 7.—The Committee for the relief of the Ichia survivors yesterday adopted a resolution declaring that they would refuse all outside proffers of aid on the ground that when charity is offered them to serve as a pretext for insulting their King they feel it to be their duty to reject such charity, not only from France, but from the whole world.

CHARGE AGAINST A KING.

ROME, Sept. 7.—An article in the Paris Intransigent by Rochefort has aroused intense indignation throughout the whole of Italy. The article accused King Humbert of having pocketed money subscribed by the French people for the Ichia sufferers, while at the same time urging Germany to annihilate France. An Italian officer demanded satisfaction, but Rochefort refused a hostile meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1883.

HERE BRAGGADOCIO.

If one were to believe the Globe, one would suppose that the Mowat Government had been triumphantly sustained at the polls last February, instead of sustaining, as they did do, a practical defeat.

The Globe is fond of quoting from the columns of its opponents, when it suits its purpose so to do. Let us return the compliment. On the 26th February last, the day before polling day, the Globe, under the heading of "The Last Words," said:—

"No one seriously doubts whether the Mowat Government, with its splendid legislative and administrative record, will be sustained. The question is one of majority, and that is a most important question. It is not enough to send back with a mere working majority in the assembly the Premier, who has made no determined stand for his Province in the face of pressure without and treason within. His present large majority should be increased, so that the voice of the people may have its true significance. And not only should the Mowat Government be returned with a larger majority that ever, no stone should be left unturned to secure as large a popular vote as possible for the friends of provincial rights. It is now a common fashion to sum up the total vote cast at each general election in order to show how much larger the Parliamentary majorities are than they ought to be. On this occasion let the popular majority for the Government be so large that the majority in the House will lose none of its significance by comparison."

Well, now let us see what answer was given by the people of Ontario to these last words: On the 26th February, the day following the day of polling, this same Globe was compelled to admit that "the result of the contest is the return of the Mowat government with a considerably diminished majority," and that "it would be affectation to pretend that this result is not somewhat disappointing." So that according to itself the electorate, instead of giving Mr. Mowat the increased majority which it declared was so "important," left him with the "mere working majority" which it declared was "not enough," while the "popular majority" had so completely disappeared that the Globe dare not even mention such a thing. Again, on the following day, (the 1st. March), the Globe said:—

"During the whole of yesterday the greatest anxiety was felt all over the province—and, as our despatches show, even outside of it—to know precisely the result of the contest which culminated on Tuesday. It is not possible even yet to settle all doubtful points, but enough is known to make it quite clear that the Mowat administration will have a working majority in the new assembly."

On the Monday "no one seriously doubted," according to the Globe, that Mr. Mowat would be sustained. Yet on the Thursday following this same Globe was compelled, oh, how unwillingly, to admit that throughout the previous day "the greatest anxiety was felt" as to the result. Why such anxiety if it were not very doubtful whether Mr. Mowat had even that "working majority" which on the Monday was "not enough?"

Thus it is seen that all we have to do to prove that Mr. Mowat came out of the contest very much weakened, if not actually defeated, is to quote the Globe's "last words" before the battle and its first words after it.

But this is by no means a true or full statement of the result of the contest. As the Globe correctly enough impressed upon its readers in its "last words," the chief issue of the contest was between the Mowat and Meredith policies as to the boundary imbroglio. For four years Mr. Mowat's policy had been sustained in the Legislature by a majority of two to one, and if the same policy were to be continued in the future, its only hope of ultimate success rested upon the "increased majority" and the large popular vote which the Globe so earnestly urged upon its friends should be given Mr. Mowat. Well, Mr. Mowat has failed to obtain either. His majority in the Legislature, instead of being about the two to one of the last Parliament, will not be a majority, at any rate, of more than the votes represented by the members of the Government—even if that, while the popular majority, as we have already proved, is on the side of the Opposition or Meredith policy. And this, too, be it remembered, despite the government and railway influence which was so openly and so unblushingly used to aid in securing the return of supporters of the Mowat Government.

These being facts which cannot be successfully disputed, it is nothing but mere braggadocio for the Globe to say, as it said on the 6th inst., that the Mowat Government has not as yet shown a "sign of weakness." Not a sign of weakness! Why, what was it but their weakness that compelled them to keep Mr. Wood on as a member of the government for months after he should have given place to some one possessing the confidence of a constituency? And what was it, when they dare keep him in such a position no longer, that compelled them to go to North Brant for a Treasurer, instead of going east of Toronto for one, but the fact that there was not another constituency which they dare open? and what was it but their weakness that has driven two-thirds of the members of the Mowat government into four adjoining constituencies—three of these four having been rejected by the electors in which they reside? and what was it but a fear of the result and the necessity for retreating their army of occupation in marching order first, that has caused them to delay the Algoma election to almost the last possible moment? and why was not the Peterborough registration filed long ago, but that they in their weakness required to use

It and still require to use it for election purposes? and what was it that caused the Globe to go wild with delight in a double-headed article over the assumed purchase of the support of a member by the withdrawal, or rather non-presentation of a petition against his return, if it were not its knowledge of the weakness of the Mowat position? People don't generally buy that which they do not require.

And yet, notwithstanding all these facts and all these signs of weakness, the Globe has the audacity to declare that the Mowat government has not as yet shown a single sign of weakness. Such braggadocio may deceive some, but it will not be a great many even of its own readers.

WHAT DOES MR. MOWAT SAY?

The entire success of the bludgeon policy, had it been achieved, would have left the people of Ontario little to boast of, in view of the bad precedent set, and the evil feelings engendered by it all over the Dominion. It would not have been a happy consummation, by any means. But what is to be said, now that the filibustering experiment has proven so ridiculous a failure, so wretched and costly a fiasco? Ontario is to-day humiliated and put to shame through the bungling and blundering of its foolish and headstrong agents, who were sent on the most dangerous mission without the Premier being at his post to guide and direct them. It is to him that the people look, however, for the short time longer that he is to fill the position, to steer the ship of state aright. Yet here are a couple of impetuous and hot-headed subordinates plunging the Province into strife, and claiming for themselves a responsibility which belongs solely to the head of the Government, and which he could not get rid of if he would. Mr. Mowat must indeed feel a sense of shame in contemplating the wild schemes of destructiveness that have been going forward in his absence, and the bogs and shoals among which the ship has been run by the recklessness and inexperience of those left in command. Mr. Mowat has lost caste with his own followers in the country through these proceedings. It is felt that the conduct of the Ontario agents in Keewatin has been discreditable to a great people; and all the more so because of their absolute failure either to conciliate or subdue. What does Mr. Mowat say to all this? And what will he do?—London Free Press.

FALSE PRETENCES

The London Advertiser says that some unregenerate editors sneer at the phrase "Christian Statesman." We plead guilty to having a most profound contempt for any hypocrite who assumes that title, and then stoops to all the arts of the ordinary politician who makes no such pretensions. We prefer the frank recklessness of the brave Cavalier to the dark dishonesty of the designing Roundhead. If we must make a choice of evils give us Rob Roy before Uriah Heep. Schuyler Colfax was the first great professional Christian statesman of this continent. No Sunday School convention or tea fight was complete without him. He sold himself body and soul to the Credit Mobilier conspiracy, and his reputation. He was succeeded by Rutherford B. Hayes, who stole the Presidency, and retired to oblivion. Then came Garfield, who was closeted daily with corrupt politicians, and who broke faith over with them. We do not say that Mr. Mowat has been guilty of anything so bad as this, but he is no better than other politicians, as witness his violation of the law passed by himself making sheriffs and registrars retaining officers. A genuine Christian statesman would not have done this. —Toronto Evening Canadian.

PRESENTATION.

An Address to Mr. H. H. Boyd, of Hecray, given, from his Employees.

The numerous employees in connection with the Little Bob Mills hearing of the intended marriage of Mr. Boyd, determined upon making him some suitable presentation. Accordingly the proper steps were taken and on Monday evening a deputation consisting of Capt. Lane, Mr. Gidley, and Mr. Grant, waited upon Mr. Boyd at his house and presented him with a remarkable handsome, chased silver tilting fitz and goblets, and also with a very beautiful silver mounted, cut glass fruit stand for the bride. An address accompanied each which were read by Mr. Wm. Gidley. Mr. Boyd replied at some length, in feeling terms. He assured them that his surprise could only be surpassed by the gratification it afforded him in accepting such a gift, a gift that he must prize above all other considerations as an evidence of the unanimous good will of those in his employ. In concluding he trusted that their good wishes for his happiness would be realized, and thanked them for the very beautiful present to his intended partner in life, whom he was sure would fully appreciate their kindness. Mr. A. Bottom, of the firm of Edwards & Co., then presented Mr. Boyd, on behalf of his firm, with a chased silver, cut glass, and waiter, of Japanese pattern and rare design. Mr. Bottom offered his congratulations, and Mr. Boyd returned his warmest thanks. The following is the address that accompanied the gift of the employees:—

To Messrs. M. Boyd, Esq.
 We, the employees in connection with your important business enterprise, gladly embrace this happy opportunity of expressing to you our sentiments of sincere congratulation, and earnestly convey the hope that a very bright and happy future may lie before you, and that your married life be one of ever increasing happiness and contentment. We would express our acknowledgments that you have never sought to obscure the fact that we live under a law of mutual dependence, that we all must earn our bread either by the sweat of our brow or by the sweat of our brain, and we therefore the better rejoice in your ever increasing prosperity and success and expressing the cordial hope that your inner capital of true happiness, of peace, joy, and hope, increased continually by "doing justly loving mercy," may exceed the capital of material prosperity outside, preventing any interfering shadow of torturing reminiscence in old age when memory turns over its leaves and transcribes the deeds of the past into the bitter and pleasant experience of the present. We beg your acceptance of the accompanying mark of esteem and affection, and join in the earnest prayer that you and the fair partner of your life may at last achieve the brightest success of all in bearing with cool thrilling composure and sweetness smiling from the highest expression the blinding utterance of final approbation of "Servants of God, well done."—Independent.

Marwood, the Hangman.
 Marwood's appearance was quite at variance with his profession. He was in stature about five feet, eight inches, always dressed well, and looked to be a well-to-do tradesman. He had dark, restless eyes, a beaming brow, a high and expansive forehead. At one time he was a preacher, then he started a shoe shop, and being a great reader, and of a genial disposition, he was very popular amongst those with whom he associated. With these persons Marwood was always ready to talk and laugh about his different hangings. One of his grim jokes was to suggest "one of the drops" as a "sure cure" for a friend who wanted to get rid of a bad cold. In the north of England the dread of him was so great that he was often refused admission to hotels by superstitious landlords. During the twelve years of his career as a hangman he hanged nearly 400 persons. It is said he was once asked if he would like his son to succeed him in the office of hangman. After a little hesitation he replied that if he were a good honest boy he would be content; but if he were a scapegrace he would not like him to disgrace his calling.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

DECEASED.
FATAL ACCIDENT.—The Independent says that Master Herbert Trotter, son of Mr. Alex. Trotter, while in quest of butternuts, undertook to climb a large tree, and slipped on a rotten limb, some ten or fifteen feet from the ground, lost his hold and fell headlong on to a rock. The little fellow was carried home insensible, and though receiving every possible care, he died on Sunday morning.

STYLING.
ON A BURNING VESSEL.—The News-Argus says that on Saturday last Mr. Jos. Dunkley, of Seymour, received a letter from his son Albert, in California, who had been for some time previous in British Columbia, but preferred the southern side of the 49th parallel as it was too rough north. He was on board the steamer Grappler, which was burned between Yale and New Westminster last spring, on board of which was also a large number of Chinamen. When the passengers took to the water, young Dunkley, who was there, was little chance for life in the midst of struggling humanity around him, and he left them and swam towards shore, about four miles distant. About half way there he was picked up by Indians, who treated him well and assisted him to Vancouver. About seventy-five lives were lost all told.

COMING.
THE REGATTA.—The day was a fine one for yachting, for the weather was pleasant, and the wind, which blew from the north-west, was suited to show the sailing powers of the contestants. The yachts sailed over a course of 21 miles. The start was as follows:—

Iolanthe	10.33.10
Emma	10.33.40
Verve	10.40

The Verve started at 10.43.40. The crossing of the line was ordered at 10.58, ten minutes being allowed to pass it, and though the Verve lost 3.40s on the start, she was over-matched by both the Iolanthe and the Emma. Going to the south buoy the Iolanthe drew away from the Emma, but was not able to retain her place at the south buoy. From this point to the finish, the Emma gained gradually on the leader. They proceeded up to west buoy and returned to the starting point in the following order:—

Iolanthe	1.57.45
Verve	2.20.44

The Emma thus won by 4.15, with tonnage allowance 30 sec., 4.45. The race was very exciting between the two yachts, and speculation was fully indulged in as to the winner. The Judges were Messrs. George Guillett, M.P., J. Dainty and H. Holland.

NEWSPAPER.
New J. P.—The Register says that our esteemed townsman, Robt. Wilson, Esq., whom we mentioned some time ago as likely to be appointed a Justice of the Peace, received his commission last week, and is now a full-fledged J. P. Mr. Wilson is in every way qualified for the position and a better choice could not have been made.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION.—The annual exhibition of the Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer Agricultural Society will be held at Norwood on Tuesday the 9th of October. The prize list is unusually large this year, and we expect that the exhibition will be a grander success than it ever was last year. The Norwood brass band has been engaged for the occasion.

A LOON CAPTURED ALIVE.—One day last week a very large loon established his headquarters on one of Little Lake. It was doomed, however, not to remain long in peaceful possession, as it was discovered by Mr. John Woods, a crack shot with the rifle, who succeeded in wounding it slightly. A retriever dog was sent out to capture the work Mr. Woods had begun, but his attempt failed, and the loon was captured and the baffled dog was about returning to terra firma when his youthful master (a nine year old son of Mr. J. A. Livingston's), swam out to his assistance. For a time such a vigorous resistance was offered that Master Charles despaired of success. Seeing that the loon at his disposal was not sufficient to effect the object in view, he had to recourse to a stratagem. He swam out a short distance from the scene of action and urged the dog on to the attack, and during the combat that ensued, took the loon in the rear, seizing him by the neck and towing him into shore. Little Charles deserves considerable praise for the pluck he exhibited, and also for performing the extraordinary feat of capturing a live loon.

Fall Ploughing.
Fall ploughing should be done early, and as often as possible. Wheat and rye stubble should be ploughed without delay if they have not been seeded, because the covering of it under four or five inches of soil will destroy the immature Hessian flies. But it must be done at once or the flies will escape from their hiding-places to infect the newly sown grain. The stirring of the soil starts myriads of weeds into growth, which will soon cover the ground, and may be destroyed with the greatest ease by a good harrow. More can be done in this way than by any other work. Besides, this fall cultivation of the land prevents many weeds from seeding and scattering their thousands of seeds broadcast to make several years' weeding for the farmer. Another advantage of fall ploughing is that the soil is greatly benefited by its exposure to the air and the sun's heat, and it will follow by the winter's cold. —New York Times.

The Prince and the Settler.

A German settler who came from Wurttemberg last spring and took up his residence at the outlet of Fishing lake into the Qu' Appelle river, writes expressing the delight with which he received a visit from Prince Hohenlohe who inquired concerning his welfare, and that of other Germans in the Northwest. The writer states that in answering the prince's questions fully and freely he had nothing but good to tell. He also states that Prince Hohenlohe is very well pleased with the country, and shares his own views that the Northwest is the best field for German immigration. He considers that, as the prince is greatly beloved in Wurttemberg, and also in other parts of the fatherland, such an opinion from him, formed from personal observation, will exert a great influence in Germany.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you constive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

MURDER IN ALASKA.

White Man Killed by Indians.—The murderers Gaoled, but Escaped.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Commander Merriam, of the U. S. steamer Adams, now in Alaska waters, reports that on August 14 he proceeded to Junan to investigate the reports of the killing of white men by Indians. He learned that on July 18 Richard Rainer, a rum seller, was brutally clubbed by two Indians, Steve and Charley Green. They, with an Indian named Boxer, were arrested, and all put in irons in a temporary goal and guarded to be handed over to Commander Merriam on his arrival. On July 29th they were guarded by Dennis, an easy-going man, who allowed them to come out for a few minutes, leaving the Indians with two revolvers within reach. On his return the Indians asked Dennis to explain a passage in the Testament, and while he was examining it he was shot from behind. The Indians then ran away. One Grimes attempted to arrest them and was shot by Steve and struck in the back with an axe by Boxer. Charley Green and Boxer were captured, and after a trial, one by a jury and the other by a mass meeting, were hung. Commander Merriam intended sending a force to Junan, but did not anticipate further trouble.

Prince George.
Great interest was manifested in Montreal on Friday by a number of loyal citizens to get a sight of Prince George, who accompanied the viceregal party. While the train was delayed at Bonaventure station, the fine, manly, and comely young Prince paraded the platform with his Excellency the Governor-General, and was the cynosure of hundreds of admiring eyes. He was in multi and looked all over a splendid English middy who will some day uphold the honor and glory of the invincible flag of his country. His courtesy and affability to all persons with whom he came in contact made a most favourable impression. The Princess did not make her appearance, but it is said looks in vigorous health and is in the best of spirits. The enjoyment of the whole party at the splendid fishing grounds in the Lower St. Lawrence was beyond all anticipation. Her Royal Highness, it appears, achieved the greatest success in handling the rod and line. There was no reception at the depot, the citizens being unaware of the vice-regal party's arrival until the train had started for the capital. Had it been known before hand, so great was the excitement to see the Princess, there would have been thousands instead of hundreds present. It was stated by an attaché that their Excellencies would leave Canada for England a week after Lord Lansdowne's arrival, which was expected on the 22nd inst.

Death of Sir Henry Maxe.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 8.—Sir Henry Maxe, Governor of Newfoundland, died at St. John's at one o'clock Saturday morning. He was one of the gallant 600 of the light brigade who made the memorable charge of Balaclava.

A Schooner Lost.

GODERICH, Sept. 7.—The schooner yacht Explorer, with all hands, was lost on Greenough Shoal during the gale of last Tuesday. She was loaded with salt and bound from Goderich to Cove Island. She was owned by E. N. Lewis of Goderich. No insurance. The names of those lost are, Capt. Chas. Woods, John McDonald, Mr. Heale, and Walter Crane (son of Albert Crane of Chicago), who was on a pleasure trip.

Three Girls Drowned.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Three girls named Annie Schurz, Lulu Halvin, and Libbie Simmons, were drowned on Tuesday afternoon in the Genesee river, Rochester, N. Y., by the capsizing of a rowboat. They were out for a pleasure row, and in trying to change seats the boat tipped over, drawing them underneath, and they were drowned without coming to the surface. The river was dragged and the bodies found.

Attempted Suicide.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 8.—Jas. Sloan, a young man who threw himself in front of the Canada Southern train, was examined in the Police Court this morning on a charge of attempted murder. He said his name was not Sloan, but Lawrence Scanlon, and that there had been a mistake at his christening. He gave as a reason for attempting to take his life that he was about to be arrested for a board bill owed in Buffalo. He will be sent to the asylum.—Mail.

Loss of the "Canima"

ST. JOHN'S, N.F., Sept. 7.—The latest from Trepassy states that the Canima mails were all lost. Nothing was saved. The passengers were dragged ashore at Gull Island by ropes. The ship struck at three o'clock in the morning during a dense fog, a heavy rainfall, and high wind and sea. The forward part of the vessel was smashed, and the cargo floated around. The steamer Cabot, with all the passengers and crew, is now en route to St. John.

Narrow Escape.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 8.—About eleven o'clock this morning an eight-year-old son of Mr. C. A. Hagerman, of the Customs, and his little sister were crossing the foot bridge opposite the Turners' boat-house at the harbour, when the boy fell into the water. Mr. Wm. Wright, who was in the coal office, some ten or twelve rods away, ran to the spot, and without waiting to take off his boots, jumped into the water and got hold of the body after it had sunk for the last time. The child was apparently dead when taken out, but after nearly half an hour's effort consciousness was restored.—Mail.

Steel Nails.

At first the extra cost of steel nails was one and a half cents per pound, or $1.50 per keg, but it has now been reduced to $1. The great advantage of the steel nails is that they can be driven into hardwood as easily as an iron nail will go into a pine board. Steel nails have been driven into a white oak knot without bending. Nothing else is now used in laying hardwood floors, as they require no boring, but are driven readily. For all kinds of finish they are especially adapted, and as so much hard finish is now employed, their use must be on the increase. They are also used largely by builders, and box makers are increasing their demand for them. Box makers have been using the better grades of iron nails, as they desire those that can be drawn and redriven.

A Bushel of Coal.

In consequence of the practice of peddlers of coal in Boston of selling by means of short measure, getting retail price for three pecks of coal for a nominal bushel, a law has been passed specifying that in the sale by measure of coal in quantities less than five hundred pounds, the baskets or measures used shall be of a cylindrical form, of the following dimension: nineteen inches in diameter in every part, and nine inches in depth, measured from the highest part of the bottom, each of which shall be deemed to be of the capacity of one bushel; or nineteen inches in diameter in every part, and fourteen and one-half inches in depth, measured from the highest part of the bottom, each of which shall be deemed to be of the capacity of one-half bushel. Such measures, in selling, shall be filled level full, and shall be sealed by a seal of the city or town in which the person using the same usually resides or does business.

Making Cigar Boxes.

The Canadian manufacturer in a description of the industries of Galt says:—A little room breathing the incense of natural woods and occupied by a courteous gentleman, is the office of Wm. Beck & Co., who are engaged in making cigar boxes from domestic and imported woods, Canadian elm, and Spanish and Mexican cedar. The machinery used consists of small saws, planers and an exact machine that nails the scored boards together. The boxes are made to order, and the sizes are greatly diversified. Then they make whole and half boxes, or those holding 100 and 50 cigars respectively. Twenty employees make 900 boxes each day. Upstairs, in a cheery, bright room, six girls were finishing and decorating the boxes with stripes of paper, trade marks and vignettes. The girls were tastefully dressed and looked so happy that we asked them if they enjoyed their work. They assured us that they did enjoy it; that it was not from necessity that they were engaged in it, as their parents are comfortable people owning their own homes. But the girls are proud to earn their independent pocket money, from which fund they draw for dainty dresses, fees to instructors of music, drawing, and the purchase of books and pictures. Here is the beginning of the disappearance of the clinging vine idea about these young women, refreshing as a breeze from the ocean on a hot day. It speaks of a healthy moral vigor and a sturdy spirit of self helpfulness amongst these young people that insures the strength that is the pride of any country.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

FRANCE'S REGARD FOR SPAIN.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—At an interview between King Alfonso and the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, the latter gave assurance that the tone of the French papers of which Spain complained during the recent risings should not be attributed to the Government, which had never ceased to show an earnest desire for peace in Spain.

DE CHAMBORD'S LEGACY.

ROME, Sept. 8.—De Chambord bequeathed 400,000 francs to the Peter's pence fund.

SOCIALIST AGITATION IN VIENNA.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The lower classes of this city are in a ferment, which is considerably increased by Socialist agitators. A copy of Most's paper was found upon one of the agitators.

A REPUBLICAN RISING.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—At Pampaluna, Spain, a Spanish sergeant and four soldiers raised a standard on the frontier proclaiming a republic, after which they fled to France.

SOME OF THE SAVED.

TELEKREKONG, Sept. 8.—The Dutch Resident's house, fortress and prison are still standing. Everything else is destroyed. No further details have been received from the coast districts, where the destruction appears to be general. Relief has been sent to several places.

ENVOY TO CABUL.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A Teheran despatch says an envoy of the Shah is en route to Cabul. This is contrary to the engagement the Shah made with the Indian government.

PRUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Vatican has adopted an important decision regarding the church question in Prussia which will permit of the removal of misunderstandings between the Prussian Government and the Pope, and render the resumption of negotiations probable.

THE LESSING'S MISHAPS.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—A Plymouth despatch says the steamer Lessing, which arrived to-day, had her crank shaft broken, but otherwise was uninjured. On Aug. 31st she experienced a great gale, during which the sea broke clean over her. Much anxiety was felt for the vessel's safety, but she rode the gale through safely.

KING ALFONSO'S TOUR.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—King Alfonso's intention was to visit England, Belgium, Austria, Germany, and to return to Madrid via France, but Queen Victoria begged the King to defer his visit to England owing to the precarious state of her health.

KING ALFONSO AT VIENNA.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—King Alfonso arrived in Vienna this evening. He was met by the Emperor, the Crown Prince, and the Archdukes, who greeted him cordially. The King was escorted to the Imperial palace. He will remain until the 16th.

GATHERING AT A CONSECRATION.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 8.—The Russian chapel was consecrated to-day. The Czar and Czarina, the King and Queen of Greece, the Princess of Wales, and all the members of the Danish royal family were present.

THE SOBIESKI CELEBRATION.

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—The celebration on September 12th of the bi-centenary of the raising of the siege of Vienna by Sobieski was forbidden in Prussian Poland, but the prohibition regarding stage plays has been removed. Managers of theatres have, however, been warned to avoid producing anything likely to disturb public order. If the warning be disregarded offenders will be punished in the severest manner.

AN EX-SENATOR ARRESTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Ex-Senator Sharon was arrested this afternoon, and charged with adultery, as he was taking the train for the east. The charge is preferred by Miss Aggie Hill, well known in society circles. The lady claims that a contract of marriage was drawn up and agreed to between them, and that in addition she loaned him $20,000, $75,000 of which he had repaid her. She placed the matter in the hands of a man named Wm. Neilson, of unenviable reputation, with instructions to claim the balance of $12,000 said to be due her. The affair is openly pronounced a miserable case of blackmailing.

HERESY IN THE CHURCH.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Sept. 8.—Rev. J. W. White, pastor of Presbyterian Church at Millroy, was deposed from the ministry yesterday for heresy in holding that the sufferings of Christ were not in satisfaction for violated law, denying the personality of the Trinity, and teaching that men can be saved by obedience to the commandments. Eli Wilhelm, pastor at Peterburg, created excitement by stating that he agreed with Mr. White, and asked that his connection with the ministry be dissolved. The request was unanimously granted.

Floods in Texas.

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEX., Sept. 8.—The damage by the rains and high water to the surrounding country is much greater than was supposed, all the creeks, which had been dry the entire summer, suddenly becoming raging streams, twenty to forty feet deep, spread across the country, washing everything before them. Acres, cattle and sheep were seen floating by hundreds down the current; windmills and out-houses have been swept away. The loss of stock can not be estimated, as nearly the entire west is flooded. The Texas Mexican Railway lost 11 bridges and culverts and several miles of track along the coast. South-west of Corpus Christi the damage to stock is very great. The bridge at San Diego was swept away this evening. It was four hundred and fifty feet long, and one of the strongest bridges on the Texas Mexican road.

The Mighty Dollar.

WHEN I AM DEAD.

When I am dead
I would not have the rude and gaping crowd
Around me gather, and "mid lamentation loud,
Tell of my virtues, and with vain regret
Bemoan my loss, and, leaving me, forget,
But I would have the few of kindly heart,
Who, when misfortune came, so nobly did their part
And oft by thoughtful deeds their love express—
These would I have, no more, no less,
When I am dead!

When I am dead
I would not have the high and storied stone
Placed o'er my grave, and then be left alone;
But I would have some things I once did love,
Ere I did leave the joyous world above,
Placed o'er me. And each succeeding year
I'd have my friends renew them, and oft linger near,
With loving thoughts upon the dear one laid below,
And talk of times departed long ago,
When I am dead!

When I am dead
Forgive—oh this I pray for more than all—
The anguish I have caused, the deed beyond recall, Think kindly on me as I lie so still,
So poor a subject for an angered will.
Think of some generous deed, some good word spoken,
Of hearts bound up in this last long rest is mine,
And gaze upon my form with looks benign,
When I am dead!

—Franklin P. Daly in the Guardian.

My Dear Sirs,—Having tried your Fountain of Health for my complaints, I heartily urge all those suffering from Distress, Constipation or Depression of Spirits, to give it a trial, as I have been completely cured with two bottles. I never enjoyed my breakfast, and being unable to sleep well, I grew very nervous. I am aged forty-five, and have suffered for over ten years.

MRS. PHILLIPS, Caretaker Niagara Street School, Toronto, CANADA.

Gentlemen,—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. While taking it for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

MRS. FURLOWS, 109 Bellwood Ave., Toronto, ONTARIO.

Messrs. Churchill & Co.,—Your Fountain of Health has completely cured me of Dyspepsia, which has troubled me for nearly two years.

J. CLARK, 17 Bedford Street, Toronto.

SIDNEY LEBLANC.

Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of your Fountain of Health. For over nine years I have suffered from disease of the Kidneys, having a severe pain in the back a great deal of the time and a tenderness of the eye balls. No remedy that I have ever tried and I have used no end of them, gave me relief, except your Fountain of Health, which has made me feel good. I have used two of your dollar bottles.

Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM CHAMBERLAIN, 51 Edgar Street, Toronto.

The Cells.

One prisoner was lodged in the cells on Saturday night, but was afterwards bailed out. They were empty last night.

Is Your Watch Clean?

Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hughson's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

St. John's Church Organ.

A meeting of the ladies of the congregation of St. John's Church will be held in the chapel at half-past three on Wednesday afternoon to make arrangements for a bazaar for the benefit of the organ fund.

A Bad Bank Note.

A bad Dominion four dollar bill is current in town. On Saturday it was detected and traced back through several hands, persons having received it and paid it out without suspecting its genuineness. Look out for such bills.

C. E. T. S.

There will be a meeting of the Church of England Temperance Society in St. John's chapel on Tuesday evening at half-past seven o'clock. In making the announcement the Rector referred to the necessity of such organization, as shown by the display of intemperance to be seen on the streets on the previous day.

Correct.

The Lindsay Post publishes a paragraph containing the following remarks:—

"Rev. Father Conway's picnic in Wallace's grove, Peterborough, a couple of weeks ago, was a very pleasant and successful affair, realizing about $500. The genial father is very popular and is held in the highest esteem, consequently the people turned out in great numbers and had a good time."

'Twould be Worse.

Lindsay is agitated because telephone poles have been allowed to be put up on the main street of that town. The Post remarks:—

"Peterborough is convulsed because the telephone company have dared to lay their wretched base on the streets of that town and to erect poles on the street known as Charlotte street. What would the Peterboroughites think if their own town council were not only to grant permission to put up poles on George street, but to actually assist the telephone company in getting possession?"

St. John's Church.

The Rev. J. W. R. Beck will be absent for a week from Tuesday, Sept. 11th, in order to attend the session of the synod for this ecclesiastical province, he having been elected a delegate of the synod of the diocese of Toronto. During the absence of the rector his duties will be performed by the Rev. C. R. Bell, of Lakeside, and the R. T. Nicholls, of Port Hope, one of whom may be found at the rectory by those who may require his services.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

Township of Otonabee, at Keesee, October 12th. Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th.

Bay of Quinte Conference.

At the Union Conference of the Methodist bodies at Belleville, the report of the Committee on Boundaries was adopted, defining this conference as follows:—Bay of Quinte Conference, embracing Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Peterborough, Napawan and Picton districts—Methodist Church of Canada, 87 circuits, 104 effective ministers, 13 supernumerary ministers, 14,000 members; Methodist Episcopal, 34 circuits, 48 effective ministers, 10 supernumerary ministers, 4,200 members; Bible Christian, 14 circuits, 15 effective ministers, 5 supernumerary ministers, 1,300 members; total, 125 circuits, 167 effective ministers, 18 supernumerary ministers, 23,500 members. The report of the committee named this conference "Belleville," but an amendment was carried in favour of "Bay of Quinte."

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Sept. 10.—Mr. James Stevenson, J. P., presided.

Drunken.

Wm. Guthrie was charged by P. C. Fidgeon with having been found drunk in a public place on Saturday. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs or eight days in goal.

Did Not Prosecute.

Rebecca Vallois on Saturday laid a complaint against her husband, Joseph Vallois, stating that he had assaulted her and that she was afraid of him. He was arrested by P. C. Adams, and appeared in Court this morning. Mrs. Vallois did not appear to prosecute and he was discharged.

The case of McDonald v. Hetherington for wages, was settled and the charge withdrawn.

Lecture on Canada.

We understand that Dr. C. P. Mulvaney, a well known lecturer of the Province, will deliver a lecture on "The Settlement of English Canada." The doctor is a very able lecturer, and we feel confident that the audience will be a large one.

New Illustrated Periodical.

We learn that a new illustrated weekly is about to be published in Toronto, a considerable capital having been subscribed for that purpose. It will be edited by Mr. Chas. Goddard Roberts, of Fredericton, N. B., author of "Orion and other poems," and of some brilliant and markedly original poems in the "Century," one in the current number. The new serial will be non-political. Dr. Mulvaney has been invited to contribute some poems.

Personal.

Mr. Winchester, Government Inspector, on Saturday visited the Sheriff's office and the office of the Registrar of the Court of Chancery. The Rev. E. A. Stafford, M.A., of Winnipeg, occupied the pulpit in the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning and in the Charlotte Street Church in the evening. He delivered able discourses to large congregations on both occasions.

Dr. Chas. Pelham Mulvaney, whose name in Canadian literature is well-known, has been in town, having undertaken to write the descriptive portion of the History of the Town and County of Peterborough, to be published by Mr. C. Blackett Robinson.

An Oddfellow's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Dr. Henry Bennett took place on Sunday afternoon. As he was a member of Peterborough Lodge, I. O. O. F., the members of that Order attended in a body, accompanied by the Fire Brigade Band. The bearers, who were Bros. John Sawers, W. J. Green, James Kendry, S. Clegg, Jas. Byrne, and Wm. Galley, went to the residence of the late brother's father, from which place the funeral procession proceeded to Little Lake Cemetery. At Haggart's corner the cortege was met by the Oddfellows and the band. At the grave the impressive service of the Order was read by Bro. T. W. Robinson, chaplain, and the members, led by the band, sang the "Sweet Bye-and-Bye." At the conclusion of the funeral service the members of the Order marched back to the town.

Lindsay.

A RETREAT.—The Post says that a "retreat" for the priests of this diocese was held in this town last week. Bishop Jamot and other dignitaries were present. Rev. Father Ryan, of Montreal, conducted the services, and preached suitable sermons daily.

BUSINESS.—Five weddings in one day—last Wednesday, is the matrimonial record of Lindsay. Just imagine the boom among furniture men, drapers, wood-cutters, &c.

MARK TWAIN EQUALLED.—A story is reported that a Lindsay fisherman caught a large mackinon below Bobcaygeon on Monday and made a bet with a party that the fish weighed over sixteen pounds. When the fish was weighed it scaled twenty pounds. The fisherman won the wager, but he had to insert nearly five pounds of duck shot down the throat of the fish to win. The trick was worthy of Mark Twain's jumping frog.

THE BAND.—The town council has granted $100 towards purchasing instruments for the band, and it is proposed to raise $200 more by subscription.

THE SALVATION ARMY.—Meetings are held nightly by the salvation army on the market square. After half an hour of exhortation, interspersed with songs and relating of personal experiences, an adjournment is made to the hall, where hostilities are renewed. At the grand parade of the army held in Toronto on Monday last Lindsay was represented by Capt. Frere and Lieut. Woodward and a squad of converts. The Lindsay contingent "deployed into line" and marched with the procession. Returns were handed in at a general meeting, among which statistics it appeared that over 120 converts have been made in Lindsay. It is to be sincerely hoped that this latter statement is correct, and it may be estimated that there still remains about 3,471 more sinners upon whom the army can, with advantage to the community, exercise a regenerating influence.

SHOT.—The Warder says that Mr. J. Anderson, Jr., was shot through the hand one day last week while on a camping picnic. He was drawn the gun from the canoe when it went off. On returning home medical treatment was procured and no serious result is expected.

About the weight of coal.

An exchange supplies the following information, which is certainly useful, if correct. To coal purchasers it is oftentimes a puzzling question to determine whether the requisite amount of coal has been delivered. There is a simple rule for determining the quality of coal in a bin, shed or box, which is invaluable in settling this vexed question. A ton of coal contains from 37 to 41 cubic feet of hard coal, according to its condition as to size, cleanliness and dryness. Clean, dry bit coal ought to contain 37 cubic feet to the ton, while coarse, range or rag coal will contain nearly forty or more. If there is a good deal of dirt in bit coal and if it is wet it will weigh more per cubic foot than clean and dry.

A Single Trial.

It is all that is needed to prove Pulver's Hair Restorer to be the most rapid and certain remedy for baldness in the world. It costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nervine to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try a 10 cent sample bottle. Sold at Ormrod & Walsh's. Large bottle 25 cents.

Brooklyn Bridge Traction Cable.

Splicing the endless cable that is to be used in propelling cars over the New York and Brooklyn Suspension Bridge was a work requiring unusual skill, as it was an unusual task. The rope is a compound of a hemp core or center and an envelope of steel wire. It is 11,000 feet long, or about two miles. Its weight is 3.1 pounds per foot, which gives it 35,900 pounds for a total weight. The diameter is 14 inches, and it has a breaking strength of 50 net tons. The splice is 180 feet long. It would be useless to our readers to attempt a description of the method of splicing, which, however, is similar to that of hemp or Manila rope splicing so far as that is applicable to this composition cable. The skill particularly required in this work is the union of the steel wire envelope. And this work is so exactly completed that to designate the splice from the other portions of the cable it has been painted white. It is probably the longest rope splice ever made.

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Calise House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Desquamation, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

THE AQUATIC CONTEST

THE LACROSSE CLUB PICNIC AT CHEMONG LAKE PARK.

Mercer Wins the Sculling Race—A Large Multitude at the Picnic—The Prize Winners in the List of Sports.

The Lacrosse Club picnic on Monday was a decided success. Quite early in the morning the crowd from the town began to move towards Bridgenorth, and in the afternoon business in town was generally suspended. Immediately after noon the road between the town and Chemong Lake became covered with vehicles loaded with passengers, all making for the one point, and for a couple of hours it was like one long procession.

The weather was most favorable. It was not too warm for enjoyment, and the bright sun modified the effect of the cool air. It was just such weather as is required for such an occasion, and there was not enough wind to make the water rough.

Chemong Lake Park, the beautiful grove where was held under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, is well adapted for such gatherings. All that is required to make it more popular is a more convenient way of getting to it. It is large, well shaded by large trees, and free from underbrush. In the afternoon the crowds began to pour into the grounds and into the village, the chief attraction and the chief topic of conversation being the sculling match which was to take place between Mr. J. E. McIntyre and Mr. John Mercer.

The picnic committee had a dancing platform provided, and Martin's Quadrille Band furnished music for those who wished to enjoy the dance. Many took advantage of this opportunity.

During the afternoon, and while the multitude was waiting to witness the sculling contest, a

which had been arranged by the committee, was carried out. Considerable interest was taken in these events. The following is a list of the prize winners:—

100 YARDS RACE—J. Carveth.

STANDING LONG JUMP—M. C. Collins.

HOP, STEP AND JUMP—M. C. Collins.

200 YARDS RACE—James Sheehy.

QUARTER MILE RACE—P. Welch.

THREE LEADED RACE—J. Carveth and A. Mercer.

PUTTING HEAVY WEIGHT—M. C. Collins.

RUNNING LONG JUMP—W. McIlmoyle.

CLOG DANCE—Frank Clark.

WALTZ—M. Tierney and Miss Nolan.

IRISH JIG—Jas. Wallbrook.

TUG OF WAR—Team from the Lacrosse Club and from Ennismore. The Lacrosse Club won.

The Committee of the Lacrosse club had made their arrangements with care, and the success of the picnic was pronounced. An excursion party had come from Bobcaygeon and aided to the number on the grounds. Financially it was most successful, and the club are to be congratulated on the result, and on their foresight in adopting this time for their picnic.

THE MATCHED SCULLING RACE.

At about four o'clock the referee, Mr. E. B. Edwards, Captain of the Peterborough Boating Club, got aboard the steamer Eva at the Bridge-north wharf and sailed up to the starting point. Mr. McIntyre was paddled up and Mr. Mercer went up on the steamer Bella Fair. Mr. J. B. McWilliams was judge for Mr. McIntyre and Mr. A. Belcher for Mr. Mercer. The representatives of the local press were kindly allotted a place on the steamer Eva, and two or three men also gained the same privilege by palming themselves off as representatives of the Toronto press.

The betting up to the start was even. Neither side gave odds, and although as to numbers Mercer was the favorite, McIntyre's backers were ready up to the last minute to take a bet.

Mercer's colors were red and black and McIntyre's were blue.

At five o'clock the two scullers came out and took up their positions at the starting point. The referee tossed up for positions and McIntyre took the outside course and Mercer the inside course. It was agreed that the men need not go between the flags at the winning post, so long as they passed them, and the referee told them that if he saw McIntyre encroaching on Mercer's course he would give one whistle, and if Mercer was crowding into McIntyre's water two whistles would be given as a warning.

The boats the scullers rowed in were intricate lap-stroke boats. The boats were alike, so that neither would have any advantage and it would be a fair test of skill and strength. They both wore dark blue shirts and blue caps.

Everything having been arranged, "Are you ready?" asked the referee, and the answer was followed by the order "go." Both men took the water at once and at exactly the same time. The crowds on the steamers cheered and the scullers pulled steadily and rapidly. Soon, however, and kept gaining slowly but steadily.

Both men steered out of the course, McIntyre going too far out and Mercer going further in than was necessary. McIntyre, however, lost the most through the steering, and once, when he was already too far out, the other steamer gave one whistle, and he, evidently thinking it was the referee's boat, turned further out.

Mercer pulled steadily and gave a FINE EXHIBITION OF ROWING.

His strokes were admired by all. McIntyre also pulled well, but almost from the start it was thought to be evident that Mercer would win, and before they had gone very far it appeared to be generally conceded that the race was over, as Mercer held his lead and kept increasing it.

As the boats came opposite the picnic grounds the immense crowd on the shore cheered lustily. Mercer, who was close to the shore, laid down his oars and waved his hand, and then, taking up the oars again, made a good start.

Between the picnic grounds and the finish (the winning flag could be viewed plainly from the grounds), Mercer increased his lead, and as he passed the winning flag McIntyre rested on his oars.

MERCER WON THE RACE

by about ten boat lengths. It was a fair race and Mercer came in ahead the winner of an honorably contested match.

As soon as Mercer landed he was surrounded by his friends and almost smothered with congratulations. At the hotel the referee, from the platform, gave his decision that Mercer was the winner of the race by not less than ten lengths. Cheers were then given for the winner and for the referee, who had acted in a most straightforward and impartial manner.

The course was two miles without a turn, and the time was 18 min. 3s. The race was for a silver cup presented by some of the sporting men of the town.

NOTES.

No single sporting event ever created so much interest and excitement in Peterborough as this one did. Considerable betting was done, and it was estimated that, all told, there was not less than $7,000 or $8,000 staked on the result.

Mr. McIntyre took his defeat in good spirit, and it is satisfactory to know that although the contestants were both local men, backed by local men, and although there was so much excitement during the race and at the close, the best of good feeling prevailed between the winners and the losers.

As soon as the sculling match was over the crowd began to return to town, and again the procession lined the road from Bridgenorth to Peterborough. There were several break downs on the way back, and a couple of vehicles were left at the side of the road, but none of them were of a serious character.

Mercer was the heavier man of the two scullers by probably 25 or 30 pounds.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Head-ache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

REINFORCEMENTS.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—A transport sailed with six hundred troops and six guns for Tonquin from Toulon. All the evening papers insist upon the necessity of continuing to despatch reinforcements to Tonquin.

THE DYNAMITERS.

GLASGOW, Sept. 10.—Nine men charged with being connected with the attempts to destroy property by dynamite have been committed for trial.

THE VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 10.—Fifty-eight thousand guilders have been subscribed here and sent to Batavia for the relief of the sufferers by the volcanic eruptions. It is expected that an order will soon be issued by the Dutch Government exempting the population of Bantam and Lampong from taxation for several years.

A DISCOVERY.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The police have discovered that Terrance McDermott purchased in Glasgow two lots of glycerine several weeks before the explosion there, and carried them to Whitehead's factory at Birmingham, where they were probably converted into nitroglycerine and used in the attempt to destroy the public buildings in Glasgow.

USURPATION PROJECTED.

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—A despatch referring to affairs in Bulgaria says it can be positively stated that the object of Russia is to get rid of Prince Alexander and place its own nominee upon the throne. None of the Powers will tolerate the usurpation.

MEETING AT WATERFORD.

DUBLIN, Sept. 10.—The demonstration at Waterford on Sunday under the auspices of the Irish National League was attended by over 30,000 persons, and the city was profusely decorated. The meeting passed resolutions demanding a Parliament for Ireland, not only in name, but in reality, and declaring that Ireland must have that which England by necessity of time granted to Canada, because Canada was rebellious. The adoption of the resolutions was greeted with loud cheers. Davitt denounced the Land Act as entirely inadequate to the needs of Ireland. He stated that not one-sixth of the land cases had yet been heard, and that when they had been all settled the reduction in rent would not amount to a million of pounds.

FURTHER CONSIDERATION.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Marquis Tseng has telegraphed to Peking for further consideration of the basis proposed by him to M. Chailomel Lacour for a settlement of the Tonquin question. An answer is expected on Thursday. It is denied that England or America has offered to mediate.

UNFRUITFUL NEGOTIATIONS.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Figaro states that the second interview between the French Minister and the Chinese ambassador concerning the location of the frontier of Tonquin and the independence of Annam resulted in no conclusion.

A PEACEFUL SOLUTION.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The belief gains ground that the Tonquin question will ultimately be settled through the arbitration of England or America.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The joining of Roumania with Austria and Germany is the answer to the Russian coup d'etat in Bulgaria. The relations between Germany and Russia are more than cold. It is reported the Russians are concentrating an armed force north of the River Pruth, between Roumania and Bessarabia. The agents of the Czar in Bulgaria are acting in a thoroughly revolutionary manner. They do not even disdain a coalition with the Nihilists. It is feared this will bring about a crisis that will lead to a reopening of the whole Eastern question.

MILITARY OFFICERS' MOVEMENTS.

BRACOW, Sept. 10.—A large number of Russians, evidently military officers, are crossing the frontier en route to Bulgaria.

DUMMER.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BARNES BURN.—On Sunday morning early, about two o'clock, the barns of Mr. David Rose, of the 4th concession of Dummer, were burnt to the ground, with all their contents. Mr. Rose loses the whole of this year's crop, and valuable agricultural machinery. We are informed that he had a moderate insurance on the buildings, but none upon their contents.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HEAVY FROST.—A heavy frost formed a thick ice on Sunday night. The thermometer registered 24° at sunrise on Monday morning.

A Pretty Romance.

A pretty romance is told about Senator Conger of Michigan, and his wife. "In the hey-day of youth," say the Chicago Times, "the senator and the present Mrs. Conger met and courted, but fate willed it that their affections should not be cemented in marriage at that time, and their paths became divergent. The lady and gentleman married others and children were born unto them. In the course of twenty-five years or more the senator became a widower and his first love a widow. One day in Washington, a few years ago, they met by the merest accident. Old times were brought up, visits between the two grew frequent, and the love that had slumbered in over a quarter of a century was rekindled, and all at once Washington social circles became aware of the fact that the senator was to be united in marriage to the choice of his early manhood. This was done amid the general rejoicing of all concerned."

WE WANT OUR RIGHTS.

We are sorry to see that some Conservative journals are using the argument in regard to the boundary question that it would be too expensive and inconvenient to govern the disputed territory from Toronto. We think that it is premature and inexpedient to discuss that question now. Ontario should have her legal boundary determined and her rightful territory placed in her possession. When we have established our just claims it will be ample time to discuss the way in which we should deal with our property. Till we secure it we should not turn aside to consider side issues. When the Mowat administration is relieved, as is likely to be the case soon, from the power which it has abused, there will be no obstacle to our obtaining our full rights by a valid and final decision, though at present it suits Mr. Mowat and his colleagues to deny us justice by urging the acceptance of an irregular and invalid award, which, according to one of the arbitrators, decided every doubtful point against us and took from Ontario a considerable quantity of land and gave it to the Dominion.

Let us have every acre that is ours and with an unblemished title. Then we may consider the value of our territory, and the disposition of it. We will only remark that even if it should be considered that our far west territory was too distant to be profitably developed it need not be abandoned. If a farmer has an outlying field, too far from the homestead to be worked with profit, he does not let it go, but by sale, exchange, lease, a present to one of his children, or some other means, he endeavours to obtain a quid pro quo for it. Let us obtain our rightful territory by legal means, instead of filibustering, and then we may consider the best way to utilize it.

A LAWLESS ATTORNEY GENERAL.

AFTER giving a list (which by the bye is deliberately falsified) of Ontario constituencies in which sheriffs and registrars were passed over as returning officers by the Macdonald administration, the Globe says:—

"In every one of the above constituencies the proper returning officer was superseded for partisan reasons by some creature of the Dominion Government. Show us one instance in which Mr. Mowat has committed a similar villainy."

There is no difficulty in giving a very recent instance, namely "Algoma." There Mr. Mowat passed over both the Sheriff and the Registrar of Algoma to appoint a "creature" of his own, the only excuse offered for him being that the Sheriff of Thunder Bay was too ill to act. There is a wide difference between the cases. Sir John Macdonald complied with the laws of the land. Mr. Mowat, who of all men in Ontario, is especially charged with the enforcement of its laws, committed the "villainy" (it is the Globe's word, not ours) disregarding at least the spirit of the law of the Province, of which he is Attorney General, thus abusing his official power to serve his private ends by endeavoring to maintain himself in power against the will of the majority of the voters.

Which does the Globe consider "villainy," to observe the laws or to disregard them?

A GRAVE ACCUSATION.

We have had occasion to point out the inconsistency and dishonesty of Mr. Mowat's conduct in regard to the Orange Incorporation Bill. The Globe, however, is far more severe upon the Attorney-General than we have been. It says:—

"For that bill Mr. Mowat both spoke and voted, and it was unquestionably his influence that secured its passage through the Ontario Assembly."

So it seems, according to the evidence of this friendly witness, that Mr. Mowat not only, as we had said, spoke and voted for it, but that he also successfully used his influence to secure the passage of a measure which he thought so bad as to oblige him to use his official power to prevent it from becoming law, actually advising the Lieutenant-Governor not to assent to his own bill.

The Evening Canadian shrewdly remarks as follows:—

"We have seen no sound argument against the establishment of a government telegraph line. The Globe fears that despatches of Reformers would not be safe in the offices of a line controlled by the political opponents. The same argument might be employed against our postal system. Nobody proposes to abolish the post-office because the letters of Conservative Ministers were stolen a few years ago."

A Royal Example.

It has been particularly noticed lately that the daughters of the Prince and Princess of Wales are always dressed with great neatness and with a charming simplicity. It would be well if the mothers of many of the other children, and what Lord Beaconsfield termed "unfledged" girls, who are constantly seen about, were to imitate the princess in this respect, and array their offspring in a quiet style, which would be more in accordance with their years than the gaudy costumes which their dissipated fancies lead them to think are becoming.

A Test.

To ascertain if any textile fabric is of vegetable or animal material take a small piece of it, and hold it near the glowing coals. Cotton or linen fibres will burn with flame, and leave only a slight ash. Woolen or silk fibres will not blaze, but smoulder until reduced to a heavy ash. Another method is to put some of the threads, separated into small fibres, into boiling nitric acid. Silk will turn to bright yellow, wool to a darker yellow, and cotton or flax will remain colourless. If the fibres are boiled with the acid while the proportion of vegetable or animal material can be judged by the amount of coloured and colourless threads.

SUNDAY LIQUOR SELLING.

Mon. Mr. Mowat's Political License Officials Work the Crooks' Act.

The following extract from the report in the Fenelon Falls Gazette, of the proceedings of the village council on Sept. 3rd, is only another instance of the way in which Mr. Mowat's political license officials neglect their duty. It will be seen that the Council had a correct appreciation of where the blame attached:—

"A deputation of the resident clergymen waited on the council in reference to the illegal sale of liquor on Saturday nights and Sundays, and presented the following petition:—

To the Council of the Village of Fenelon Falls: The petition of the undersigned humbly sheweth: That the liquor law is openly and systematically broken in this village by the sale of liquor on the Lord's Day; that it is the duty of the council to enforce the law through their officer, and that the object of this petition is simply to call the attention of the council to this violation of the law, that it is not only the duty but the interest of every one owning property in the village to have the law enforced, since lawlessness and immorality are calculated to keep from the village that class of inhabitants which we much need to build up its prosperity. We desire to say that we have no wish to interfere with the lawful business of the innkeepers, but only to have Sabbath desecration, arising out of this crying evil, stopped; and your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

SMITH.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met pursuant to adjournment on Aug. 26th. All the members present, the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. A By-law to levy a rate of three mills in the dollar for county purposes, and 1½ mills for township purposes passed its several readings, also a By-law to levy the amounts required in the several school sections. The Reeve and Mr. Middleton were authorized to take legal advice to ascertain the powers of the council in compelling the Midland Railway to improve and widen the road at the crossing on the 2nd. con. line of Smith. On motion of Mr. Middleton, seconded by Mr. McMillan, Wellington Boyce was voted the sum of $15 for the support of John O'Neill for eleven weeks while he is laid up with a broken leg. Moved by Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Garbutt.—That the following sums be paid:—

James Brown, building culvert on R. D. No. 17 $ 10 00
 Mrs. Moffat, support of John Parsons 12 00
 Toker & Co., printing and stationery 7 77
 T. E. Bell, gravel 4 20
 R. A. Angley, work on R. D. No. 18 18 00
 John Fairclough, work on R. D. No. 50 10 00 and that the Treasurer be and is hereby instructed to settle with James H. Mann, and Thos. Milburn for gravel, and with James Sanderson for building culvert over creek on R. D. No. 52.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Clegg, seconded by Mr. McMillan.—That the sum of $10 be granted to Mrs. Clegg as charity, and that the same be placed in the hands of Mrs. S. McKibbin, to be expended as necessary.—Carried. The council decided to examine the road on the quarter line between lots 6 and 7 in the 2nd con., on Saturday, the 8th. Sept. The council then adjourned till Monday, the 3rd day of December next.

FENELON FALLS.

A SNEAK THIEF.—The Unsettled says:—Between 8.30 and 11 o'clock last Wednesday night some person entered Mr. Smith's bedroom in the Simpson House and stole a tin box containing $23.50 in cash, a ledger and cash book, and a book belonging to Mr. D. Scully and relating to his business affairs. Mr. Smith did not miss the box (which was deposited in one corner of the room between a trunk and the wall), until he awoke next morning; but it must have been taken between the hours mentioned, as he locked the door of his room before going to bed. The theft of the money is not of much consequence, as the amount was small, but the want of the books will occasion much trouble, inconvenience and possible loss; and as they are of no use whatever to the person who has them, it is to be hoped he will adopt some means of returning them.

A PETTY THEFT.—Some small souled pilferer lately dug up and carried off a quantity of potatoes growing in a field owned by Mr. Cupplestone, of Fenelon. There were two lots of potatoes, planted at different dates, in the field, and these farthest advanced were so to Mr. Jos. McFarland, of this village, a day or two before the others were stolen, which makes their loss more severely felt.

What Mr. Wrote Before and After.

The following story of the veteran writer, John Timbs, is interesting. Whilst sub-editor of the Illustrated London News, he sent a cut of a hop field to a contributor, and asked him to go down to Maidstone, visit the hop-gardens, take a note of all he might see and hear, and describe the scene as faithfully and accurately as he could. The contributor, who was a "copy" man, spent a day and a night amongst the "savory" hop-pickers. Next day he took his "copy" to his office. The venerable Mr. Timbs adjusted his spectacles and began to read. Before he had got through the third slip he burst out with "What's this, Mr. Smith? Do you really think we would put this in the News—oaths, intemperance, impiety, debauchery, licentiousness—why, sir, what were you thinking about? This will never do!" "No, I thought not," replied the writer, "but you told me to describe exactly what I saw and heard." "Yes, but really, you know, this is too gross, too gross." "Perhaps this will do better," calmly remarked Mr. Smith, as he handed another MS. to Mr. Timbs. "Read it, sir, read it," said the sub-editor. Mr. Smith read aloud and his listening chief was charmed—such well-turned phrases, such happy conceits, such poetic descriptions! "That is better, Mr. Smith, much; just what I wanted." "Ah!" said Smith, quietly, "I thought you would like that; it's what I wrote before I went down to Maidstone!"

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

A Terrible Affliction.

At Guadalajara there exists an individual having a scaly skin exactly like that of a viper even to the green colour. He has, besides, the viper habit of changing or shedding his skin every year. The skin comes off in a single piece, and not, as might be supposed, in parts. On the man's head there is not a single hair. A sister of the man, who died some time ago, manifested the same phenomenon, and toward the close of her life began slowly to grow blind, owing to the viper's skin encroaching on the eyes to the extent that she could only see through a narrow aperture at each eye. The same thing is now happening to the brother. He can scarcely see any object and the head presents the repulsive aspect of a viper. In Cuautla these unhappy beings have been known as the "viper man and woman," and the phenomenon is attributed to the fact that their mother ate an excess of viper's meat to cure a disease of the blood. In Cuba it is a common practice for people to eat viper's flesh as a remedy for blood diseases.

WHY INDIANS HATE WHITE MEN.

By a "good Indian" we mean a dead Indian. One was found by Mr. Swan near Piney about two weeks ago, with a bullet-hole through his body. From the appearance of the camp it was surmised by Swan that the red man had been killed and robbed. The body was lying in the brush close by the wickiup. Not relishing the air of this particular spot, Mr. Swan mounted his horse and rode on up the creek. Towards dark he ran across a white man who had his camp on the creek. Dismounting, Swan accepted his hospitality and they had supper. During the course of conversation the man asked Swan if he had seen any one on the creek. "None," replied Swan, "except a dead Indian." "Oh!" he said, "I suppose they got fighting and one killed the other. I heard a terrible noise, yelling and shouting in the direction of their camp after I left them. I traded with them and I expect they got quarrelling about the money." Swan made no answer. He had heard enough to put him on his guard, and he watched the stranger closely. He had Indian ponies, saddles, and a general Indian outfit in his possession. Finally bed-time came, and they turned in. About midnight the stranger reached for his rifle, which was near the bed. Swan made a quick turn, and muttered that he could not sleep for the flies. The man pulled his hand in quickly and said nothing. Toward morning he made another attempt to get his rifle, but was again foiled by Swan, who got up on the excuse that he could not sleep. Shortly afterwards he saddled his horse and went off and not before an hour's hard riding did he breathe freely. Word was sent to the Shoshone Agency about the discovery of the dead body, and a few Indians came to the place and found it. The red warriors now indulge in threats, and they make no secret of them, that they will avenge the death of their brother by killing the first white man they meet alone on the hills.—Sweetwater Gazette.

Concerning Funerals.

There are certain things with reference to funerals which our people strangely forget, and need to be reminded of. Attention to them would help them in obeying more strictly the Apostle's command, "Let all things be done decently and in order." In the first place, the elegyman of the parish should be promptly notified of the death of a parishioner or other person, at whose funeral he is expected to officiate. Too often the time is fixed and the notice printed without saying a word to him about it. In fact, in this part of the country, this seems the usual way, even among those who ought to know better. The clergyman may, and often does, have other engagements or purposes which it is a serious matter to him to set aside; and yet, should he decline to comply with your arrangements, made without any consultation with him, it would inevitably be accounted a great grievance. Now in nine cases out of ten, by simply consulting the clergyman beforehand as people are surely bound to do, when he is one of the principal parties concerned, the matter could be satisfactorily arranged to suit everybody. Then, when a funeral is to take place, whether it is held in the house, at the church, or, which is best, at the cemetery chapel, church people in attendance ought to bring their prayer-books with them and use them. It is a dull, cold way to stand up and look about you, while the clergyman reads the psalm by himself. Here, as elsewhere, the service is to be congregational and united. How much better it would be if all would take part in the responses! Many a time are we grieved at this neglect to join in the psalm, and even more so, when by the graveside, those assembled do not even respond in the short versicles, or say together the Lord's Prayer. Is this a time to be mute, when the service speaks in such thankful tones of those who are gone, and ask God to accomplish the number of elect and to hasten the Kingdom? The people, too, should remember the proper posture. Why will they remain standing while they ought to kneel? A little thoughtfulness and good sense at such times, will have very much to do with all things being done "decently and in order." It ought not to be necessary to constantly remind our people of such seemingly obvious things.—St. Luke's Parish Church Work.

Tree Planting and Preservation.

Mr. Phipps is sending out the following circular, and would be glad if any of our readers could send him information, so as to further his work in a matter of great public importance: Sir,—Having been instructed by the Ontario Government to make certain inquiries relative to the desirability of tree planting and forest preservation, I should be much obliged if you would send me word if any plantations of forest trees have been established in your neighborhood, whether only a few trees or many, as even the experiment of a solitary tree is valuable. Also, if you happen to know or can readily ascertain, what such were planted, what varieties have been found to thrive best, and on what soils, and what method of planting has been used. I may be passing your way, and would be glad to see and inquire personally into any improvements of the sort; but circumstances may forbid this, and a line from you would be valuable in the meantime. At the same time, I would gladly know whether, in your neighborhood, any change in rainfall, or drying up of creeks or rivers, seems to have followed the clearing of the forest. An early answer will greatly assist me.

Yours truly,
R. W. PHIPPS,

Clerk of Preservation of Forests, Ontario, 233 Richmond Street west, Toronto,

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, soothes the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

A Single Trial

Is all that is needed to prove Polson's BLOOD PURIFIER is the most rapid and certain remedy for pain in the world. It costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove BLOOD PURIFIER to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try a 10 cent sample bottle. Sold at Ormond & Watson's. Large bottle 25 cents.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you costive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

No. 1 Co., PETERBOROUGH—Capt. E. B. Edwards, Lieut. N. D. Beck, and Lieut. M. Deniston.

No. 2 Co., PETERBOROUGH—Capt. W. Langford and Lieut. R. J. Lee.

No. 3 Co., ASHBURNHAM—Lieut. R. B. Rogers and Lieut. Haultain.

No. 4 Co., KEENE—Capt. R. E. Birdsall, Lieut. Hammond and Lieut. Campbell.

No. 5 Co., NORWOOD—Capt. Thos. Burke and Lieut. F. O. Brennan.

No. 6 Co., HASTINGS—Capt. J. A. Howard.

Companies No. 1 and 2 marched from the drill shed down George street at about ten o'clock, headed by the Peterborough band, which accompanies the battalion, to the Golden-Eye wharf on Sherbrooke street. The Ashburnham company was already on board, and soon after the steamer departed. There was quite a number of persons on the wharf to see the soldiers off. They marched very well down the street, and the marching and playing of the band was favourably commented on.

The Peterborough contingent of the Durham Field Battery, under the command of Lieut. Sanderson, departed on the 6.15 train this morning. They went to Port Hope, the headquarters of the Battery, and from thence proceeded to Cobourg.

No. 3 Troop of Cavalry, officered by Lieut. Col. H. C. Rogers and Lieut. E. Snyder, departed at about eleven o'clock. They march to Cobourg, riding their war horses on the way. Their numbers were not large leaving here, but they pick up members of the troop on the way.

None of the companies were full on leaving, but some of the men had gone on Monday with the battalion quartermaster, and the 57th expect to make a good turn out. The members of the band are also taken from the number of the town companies.

Personal.

Mr. James Stewart, of Young's Point, has gone to New York for a ten days' visit.

Mr. G. B. Sproule and Mr. J. Stenson returned at noon to-day from a visit across the Atlantic to the Old Country.

A Bad Place.

There is a hole on the road on Reid street, north of McDonnell street, near the residence of Councillor Rutherford, that should be attended to. A wagon broke down going through it on Monday evening.

Peterborough Horticultural Society.

We beg to remind our readers that Thursday next, the 13th inst., has been fixed upon for the annual exhibition of the above society. It is to be hoped that the friends and patrons of the society will do what they can, and send all they can to the show. We understand that in addition to the show, a programme of choice vocal and instrumental music is being prepared. The names of those who are to take a part are a sufficient guarantee that there is a musical treat in prospect.

Change of Time.

Some changes have been made in the Midland time table. The evening train formerly leaving Peterborough at 8 p. m. for Port Hope and points east, now leaves at 7.45 p. m. The trains for Belleville now leave at 7 a. m. and 4.05 p. m., and arrive at Peterborough from Belleville at 10.35 a. m. and 7.35 p. m.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

"LETTERS have their time to tell," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

W. A. EDGARS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "WAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blisters, a' only, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25, (in stamps). Address, DR. WAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

A Certain Remedy for Corns.
This is the universal testimony and expressed by every one who has used PUTNAM'S CORN EXTRACTOR. Thousands in Canada have used it with gratifying results, and if you will take the trouble to ask any druggist he will give you the names of many persons of your acquaintance who have been radically cured of the worst kind of corns. Sold everywhere. Safe, sure, painless, and vegetable in composition. Try it. It never fails. Take no substitute. Many of them are positively dangerous. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

LEGAL NEWS.

Local Cases at Osgoode Hall, Toronto—Grand Junction vs. Peterborough.

Several cases of local interest are reported in the Toronto Mail.

GRAND JUNCTION vs. PETERBOROUGH.—Judgment on motion to stay all further proceedings in this suit until the costs of a former proceeding have been paid. Order made as asked. A. H. Marsh for the motion; P. McPhillips contra.

CHAMBERLAIN vs. CLARK.—An appeal by the defendants from the judgment of Proudfoot, J., in an action by a mortgagee to compel the creditors, who had been paid in full, to refund, so that the plaintiff and other creditors should receive a proportionate amount of the estate of the deceased mortgagor, O. Moss, Q.C., for the appeal. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and E. A. Peck, (Peterborough) showed cause. Appeal argued and judgment reserved.

HILLIARD vs. THURSTON.—An interesting action of negligence has recently been tried in Ontario in the shape of a claim by Mr. Hilliard, a large mill-owner in Fenelon Falls, against Mr. Thurston, the owner of the steamer Ontario, running on Fenelon river, for damages for the loss of his mill, which was destroyed by fire caused by sparks from the steamer. The case was tried before Mr. Justice Proudfoot, who found in favour of the plaintiff, and the damages were afterwards assessed at $3,800. From this decision the defendant has appealed to the Court of Appeal. The defendants also appeal from the judgment of Proudfoot, J., dismissing a motion for a new trial on the ground of the discovery of fresh evidence. C. Moss, Q.C., and Adam Hudspeth, Q.C. (Lindsay), for the appeal; S. H. Blake, Q.C., and E. A. Peck (Peterborough), contra. Argument concluded on Tuesday and judgment reserved.

BELLEVILLE.

INCENDIARISM.—The Intelligencer says that about midnight on Saturday night a daring attempt was made to burn the frame shed in the rear of the Neilson property, nearly opposite the City Hall, was made. On a small pile of lath which laid against the side of the shed, coal oil was poured and the match applied. The blaze was noticed by Mr. James D. Clarke, who acted promptly and put the fire out. Mr. Clarke says that before he observed the fire he heard some one prowling around the yard, and on the appearance of the blaze the stranger hurriedly went away. No clue.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any Drug Store as is now at Taylor & McDonald's for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a Trial Bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at above Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.—5

POISONING AT SHERBROOKE.

Verdict of Wilful Murder Against the Deceased's Wife.

SHERBROOKE, Sept. 11.—The Coroner's jury in the case of Sterne Coates, of Bulwer, Eastern Township, which was adjourned to obtain an analysis of the stomach of the deceased, continued its sitting here yesterday. The evidence adduced showed that Emma J. Coates, the wife of the deceased, was on terms of intimacy with a young man named Oscar Laborer, of Easton, and that a few days before her husband's death she obtained his permission to visit some friends in Montreal and while absent the said Laborer. They drove to Coaticook and stayed there in an hotel over night. While there he went to a drug store and purchased chloroform and perfume, and then drove back to Sherbrooke. It also appeared that he sent to a druggist under the fictitious name of Fred King, a forged order purporting to be signed by Dr. Fitzsimmons, of Great Falls, N. H., for fifty cents worth of strychnine to kill foxes and which was to be sent and was sent by mail. The jury found a verdict of "death by poisoning, administered by Emma Coates." The woman is in prison awaiting trial.

The Jordan Canal.

Although the Jordan Canal would wipe away many interesting landmarks of Biblical history, Sir Admiral Inglefield states that so far he has received only encouragement to go on with the work from clergymen who have written to him upon the subject. They regard the enterprise, it appears, as the fulfilment of a prophecy to be found in the forty-seventh chapter of Ezekiel. If one will turn to that portion of the Old Testament he will see how it speaks about bringing out the waters towards the east country into the desert and then down to the sea. It mentions, moreover, the healing of the waters and the appearance of a great multitude of fish. The coincidence of these passages with the details of the Palestine channel scheme is very curious, for the first may be taken to indicate the eastern flow from the Mediterranean through the cutting across the plain of Esdras, and thus on by way of the desert to the Red Sea, while the second may be thought to foreshadow the fate of the Great Dead Lake of the Scriptures, its waters sweetened by contact with the invading stream.

A Blackmailer Caught.

A young man employed as a clerk in a law office has just been caught in the act of blackmailing a number of prominent merchants in this city. The young man wrote to different merchants signing himself "D. F. G." stating that if they did not forward him a sum of money he would make it known to the public that they adulterated their groceries. Other schemes were resorted to by this young man. The replies were to be addressed to his initials at Shaftesbury Hall. At the request of several of the merchants Mr. Sandham, Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, employed a private detective, who placed an envelope bearing the initials in the letter rack, and awaited results. Before long the decoy letter was taken by the young man in question. The detective then charged him with blackmailing, and the culprit replied that he did it in fun. Mr. Sandham has the young man's name and address should any merchant have been victimized.—Globe.

A Singular Wager.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Wm. Kitzig, a labourer, aged 32, to-day attempted to mount a flight of 45 stairs 300 times in ten hours for a wager. He began his task at 7.45 this morning, and made the trip 100 times in the first hour and a half. At 12.30 he had climbed the stairway 175 times when he stopped for dinner. After a rest he resumed the task, but he was showing considerable weariness. At 1 o'clock it was evident that he could not go on without stimulants. He then began drinking Rhine wine, which he kept up during the afternoon. As it grew dark his system he revived, his legs began to swing automatically, and he completed the 300th ascent and won the wager with 19 minutes to spare. A large crowd congregated, and the police were compelled to clear the street.

Steamboat Accident.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—The steamer Lily, of the Winnipeg and Western Transportation Company, which was rebuilt this season at a cost of $35,000, struck a rock and sunk while on a trial trip in the South Saskatchewan River, about 60 miles west of Winnipeg. It is not known whether or not the passengers escaped, the accident having occurred fifty miles from a telegraph station.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it without any advertising, we have concluded to place it extensively on the market, so that those who suffer may have a perfect cure. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

Minister West's Private Car Smashed.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 10.—On Friday night, after leaving Helena and when on the mountain the coupling of the private car occupied by British Minister West, his daughter, and some others broke, and the rear car ran into Mr. West's car, breaking it, but the inmates were uninjured.

Awarded a Silver Medal.

A special despatch to the Globe from London, Eng., on Sept. 11th, says that the joint exhibit of the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at the North Lancashire Agricultural Show at Liverpool was awarded a silver medal.

Damage By Frost.

In Canada the frost appears to have been a general one, and there are indications of great damage having been done at Picton, Belleville, St. Catharines, Kingston, Hamilton, and other places.

A Certain Remedy for Corns.

This is the universal testimony and expressed by every one who has used FUTMAN'S CORN EXTRACTOR. Thousands in Canada have used it with gratifying results, and if you will take the trouble to ask any druggist he will give you the names of many persons of your acquaintance who have been radically cured of the worst kind of corns. Sold everywhere. Safe, sure, painless, and vegetable in composition. Try it, it never fails. Take no substitutes. Many of them are positively dangerous. Use Futman's Corn Extractor.

RIOT AT CANTON.

HONG KONG, Sept. 11.—A Chinese mob at Canton burned the houses of several European merchants, also the wharves. The foreign residents sought refuge on board vessels. No violence was offered to their persons. Chinese troops dispersed the rioters. Several gunboats from Hong Kong have been sent to Canton to protect the foreign merchants.

HOW THE RIOT COMMENCED.

HONG KONG, Sept. 11.—The riot began when the steamer Hankow arrived. Boarding house runners attempted to force their way on board, and one of them was accidentally drowned. A large crowd immediately gathered and began to throw stones. The steamer then dropped down the stream, when the crowd increased and fired a number of houses on the wharf. They then got kerosene oil and fired several other houses, and eight were burned and many gutted. The foreigners are leaving and the telegraph wires have been cut.

MEN-OF-WAR ABSENT.

HONG KONG, Sept. 11.—The authorities were slow in repressing the disorder, and although order has been restored great excitement prevails among all classes. Much indignation is felt at the absence of men-of-war to protect the Europeans.

FRENCH REINFORCEMENTS.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The Chinese Ambassador, prior to leaving for London, communicated with the French Minister relative to the reinforcement of the French forces in Tonquin. The Minister says he cannot stop the despatch of reinforcements. While there is danger of war, this can only be removed by the settlement of the basis for treaty.

THE DYNAMITERS.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Government has obtained from the detectives who have just returned from Antwerp important information respecting a large supply of materials for making nitro-glycerine shipped from that city. It is probable that witnesses will shortly arrive from Antwerp to testify in the trials at Liverpool and Glasgow of the dynamiters.

RUSSIANS IN BULGARIA.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—The signatories of the Treaty of Berlin are debating whether they shall protest against the entrance of Russian officers in disguise into Bulgaria.

CHOLERA ABATING.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 11.—The average daily death rate from cholera is reduced to four. The mortality in the provinces is rapidly diminishing.

CATTLE PLAGUE SPREADING.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The continued spread of the cattle disease in nearly every portion of England causes the greatest uneasiness. In some sections only American beef is now to be obtained.

IRISH POLICE IN EGYPT.

LONDON, Sept. 31.—Clifford Lloyd, who was recently sent to Egypt, has formed a new Egyptian police, the backbone of which is Irish, as the four sub-inspectors and four head constables composing the official staff of the force are Irishmen. He has invited also a large number of volunteers from among those personally known to him to be competent to act as head constables promising that the government will keep their places open for a year, pending their decision to remain in Egypt or return home.

DUNFERMLINE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met at Warsaw on Friday, Aug. 24th. All present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. On motion the township assumed the repairs of the Warsaw bridge, to the amount of $200, and substituted the following for a former appropriation for roads:—Division No. 1, $80; No. 2, $80; No. 3, $100; No. 4, $60; No. 5, $60. On motion John Hunter was appointed township collector at a salary of $400. The Clerk was instructed not to place the following statute labor on Collector's Roll of 1883:—Mrs. Ann Dwyer, 2 days; Mrs. Walter Kidd, 1½ days; and Mr. N. Robinson, 2 days. John Wason, Jr., postmaster, got an order for a refund of $3.50 of a statute labor tax of 1882, paid by parties in his division, to be expended in the same year. The Clerk was instructed to take the bonds of the collector and his sureties, and also to strike such rates as will be required by the trustees of No. 6 and No. 11, when their regulations come to hand. Orders granted.—To Jas. E. Stratton, printing account, $30; W. Darling, part salary as clerk, $50. Rates struck and amounts levied:—County rate, 2 19 20 mills, equivalent to government grant for schools, 11 30 of a mill; road at a rate of 3½ mills for county, leaving out R. C. Separate School supporters' township rate, 1 mill; S. S. No. 1, $300; No. 2, $250.06; No. 3, $488.33; No. 4, $198.77; No. 5, $219.07; No. 9, $230.44; Separate School No. 4, Asphodel, $23.14. By-laws passed:—One to levy rates for 1883, and one to appoint collector. Council adjourned to meet in Warsaw, 27th of October next.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from the principal trade centres of the United States report that the first week in mail reports bear striking testimony to the opinion that the general jobbing trade of the country is experiencing a genuine revival. Stocks of staples in jobbers' hands with the exception of dry goods have been kept low, and sales have been kept well in hand and at short terms of credit. At the present time the fall demand has not only plainly showed itself, but is visibly increasing. Even from the eastern cities which have been slower to feel the renewed movement than those closer to the great grain and cattle growing regions. Word comes by telegraph that the past week has shown an unexpected gain in orders and shipments. 143 failures are reported during the week, 16 more than the preceding week. The Middle States had 24, an increase of 5; the New England States 28, an increase of 1; the Southern States 19, a decrease of 4; the Western States 48, an increase of 16; the Pacific Coast States and Territories 23, an increase of 8; Canada and Provinces 17, a decrease of 5.

HIS PRIVATE AND PUBLIC LIFE.

The Toronto Telegram vouches for the excellence of Mr. Mowat's "private life," and we are quite willing to believe it. As journalists, however, it is not Mr. Mowat's "private life," but his public life with which we have to do. We do not suppose that Mr. Mowat in his private capacity would choose as his confidential agent a man who had stolen money entrusted to him, but in his public capacity he appointed such a man to the Bench. We do not believe that he would select as his private secretary a man who had been publicly disgraced and degraded for robbing widows and orphans, yet as Premier he considered such a man good enough to be made Registrar of a county. We do suppose that in his law office he would advise a client to apply for a mortgage to a certain company and prepare the necessary papers, and then as a director or legal adviser of the company recommend the rejection of the application; yet such was his tricky conduct in reference to the Orange Incorporation Bill. We feel sure that Mr. Mowat would not advise a client to abandon proceedings against a supposed wrong-doer, because the assumed culprit promised to give a valuable consideration for the immunity thus accorded; but this is what the Globe informs us that Attorney General Mowat did in the case of an election petition.

No doubt Mr. Mowat is a very good man in private life, but we would strongly advise his disinterested admirers not to bring this excellent private life into contrast with such very disreputable public acts, which seem even blacker, if possible, from the comparison.

The London Free Press commenting on the exaggerations of the Reform journals in regard to the Muskoka election says:—

"Do we not know that on a memorable occasion, in this very city, after an election that had been won by the Grits by the expenditure of an enormous sum of money—we refer to the election of 1873—Mr. Mowat justified it in public by saying that it was sometimes necessary to 'fight the Devil with fire'? The weapon which Mr. Paquet used on one occasion was not as terrible as that, for his demonstration consisted only in paying for some beer."

The Winnipeg Times, alluding to our reputation of some false charges brought against us, says:—

"The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe and the editor of the Peterborough Review are in death-grips. The Review's last blow was a heavy one."

THOSE CREAMERIES WANTED.

It appears that others, besides ourselves, are anxiously looking for those promised creameries. The Hamilton Spectator says:—

"The Peterborough Review wants to know where 'those creameries' are. Just before the election the Reformers announced with a great flourish of trumpets that they were going to teach everybody how to make butter, and if the creameries made the butter worth only two cents a pound more than before, the butter makers would benefit to the extent of $2,000,000. It rather spoiled their argument when they complained because the National Policy had put up the price of butter; but then it is nothing strange for a Reformer to argue on both sides of a question at the same time; and any one of them is equal to the task of proving that an increase in the price of butter produced by the Tory N. P. is very bad, while an increase produced by a Reformer creamery is very good. However that may be, six or seven months have passed away since the creameries were promised, and none of them have been seen yet. Is it possible the promise was only an election dodge? Can it be possible that the saintly Reformers who are just now gripped in spirit because the wicked Mr. Faugier corrupted the elections of Canada with 80 cents worth of beer, could have promised the creameries in order to secure a few votes? We shudder to think of such a thing."

STOCK-RAISING IN THE NORTH-WEST.

A Cattle Ranch to be Started Thirty Miles from Winnipeg.

The people of Manitoba and the North-West are slowly beginning to see that too much attention has been paid, too much money spent, and too much enterprise wasted in building up the numerous towns in this country by agriculture, stock-raising, etc. Mr. Fred J. Stewart is about to start an enterprise in Manitoba of the right sort. This gentleman is well-known, having been in the city about a year establishing the business of the British Canadian Colonization Company. He has associated with him Messrs. R. & F. George, formerly of Winnipeg, but now residing at Dunsmuir, Scotland, and intends starting a large cattle ranch about thirty miles west of the city, where a large tract of land has been purchased. It is in the vicinity of Nettley Creek, and one of the best spots for stock-raising in the country. Years ago, when the Hudson's Bay Company were engaged in the cattle trade, their cattle were kept there. Mr. Stewart's company will begin with one hundred and fifty head of cattle, which have been purchased in the vicinity of Sarnia, and are expected to arrive in the city daily. They are all Hereford and Short Horn breeds from the best families in Ontario, thoroughbred bulls and high grade heifers. They have been shipped by the Beatty line via Port Arthur. It is the intention to put them on the ground at once, in order that they may graze before the cold weather sets in. Large stables are being built on the ground for the purpose of housing the cattle during the winter, and about six thousand tons of hay have been moved away.—Winnipeg Free Press.

TOWN COUNCIL AND HIGH TAXATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In the reports by the local press of the last meeting of the Town Council it is stated by Councillor Rutherford that the increase in taxation this year is due to my extravagance in the Council, of which he then proceeds to give instances.

Had Councillor R.'s misstatements been confined to the Council Chamber, where his want of veracity is thoroughly understood, and his statements taken at their true value, they would not have deserved this public notice from me, but the publicity given to his gross misstatements through the columns of the local papers induces me to make the following reply, which I must ask you to publish in the interests of fair play, and for the benefit of those who might possibly give some credence to Mr. R.'s charges:—

Charge No. 1.—That I moved to codify (to use Mr. Rutherford's own word, which he acknowledged at the time that he did not understand) the by-laws of the town at a cost of $1,000.

My resolution, as taken from the Review's report, 17th January, reads as follows:—
 "Moved by Councillor Sawas, and seconded by Councillor Maxima,—That the Clerk be instructed to give a list of all the by-laws passed by the Council; a statement of the names, occupations and duties of the officers of the town for 1882; a statement of the books, both of account and reference, used by the clerk and treasurer, and a statement of the bank arrangements as to deposit and discount."

Councillor R. opposed this and it was lost. Mr. Rutherford well knows that this would cost the town nothing, as the work was to be done by the town clerk, and the $1,000 charge exists only in Mr. Rutherford's charged imagination, for in such misrepresentations as to deposit and discount.

Charge No. 2.—Voted for $100 additional to assessors.
 My recollection of this matter is that it was unanimously voted (not reported).

Charge No. 3.—Voted $20 extra to auditors.
 If I am not mistaken Councillor Paterson moved and Councillor Rutherford seconded the motion for this (not reported).

Charge No. 4.—Prime mover in the purchase of Bank of Toronto buildings, and responsible for high taxes this year.

What are the facts, as taken from the Review's reports?
 Review, March 27th, 1883.—Speaking of the stable, Councillor Rutherford said:—
 "He believed it was contemplated for the town to purchase the buildings known as the old Bank of Toronto, which could be converted easily into a Council Chamber and city offices."

This was the first intimation I had about the purchase of these buildings.
 After this meeting Councillor Cahill and I spoke of the matter and examined the premises together, and we came to the conclusion that it might be well for the Council to enquire into the matter.

Review's report of meeting, April 10.—Speaking of the police cells, Mr. Rutherford is reported as follows:—"Councillor Rutherford said he had examined the building purchased the block known as the old Toronto Bank building the difficulty would be got over."

Later on at this meeting the following resolution was moved and carried:—
 Councillor Sawas moved, seconded by Councillor Paterson,—That it is desirable that the town should consider the propriety of purchasing the buildings erected on the town property on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, and east of the engine house, and known as the Bank of Toronto buildings, for town offices, &c., and that the matter be referred to a special committee composed of Councillors Paterson, Rutherford, Douglas, Denie and Hartley, to report to this Council.

Councillor Rutherford said that he understood that there was a place in the building that could, by slight alterations, be made a good council chamber.
 Review's report of meeting, April 17th.—"Councillor Sawas read the report of the special committee appointed on purchase of the Toronto Bank buildings."

Here follows the report recommending the purchase, and showing that Mr. Stevenson would take debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over 10 or 20 years.

The discussion on it was as follows:—
 Councillor McNamara asked if it was intended to pay for the buildings with next year's taxes?

Councillor Sawas said that the consideration of that question would be left to the Finance Committee. Councillor Hartley said he had examined the building, and thought the Engineer's report quite correct. It would cost in the neighbourhood of $1,500 to make the alterations.

The Clerk, in reply to the Mayor, said that the present offices were leased until two years from next January.

Councillor Maxima moved that the report be referred to the Finance Committee to report.

Councillor Rutherford said that after a special committee had carefully investigated the matter, to refer it to the Finance Committee would be an unusual course.

Councillor McNamara said that he wished to find out how the money was going to be raised.

Councillor Paterson said that it was proposed to issue debentures.

Councillor Cahill said that that part of the question with which the Finance Committee had to deal was referred to it by the motion, namely the financial question. A lock-up had to be provided anyway, and he knew of no place where it could be put up. With this building they would have a place for a lock-up, and they would have good town offices, which would cost them $106 a year, instead of over $600.

The amendment was lost and the report adopted.

Report of meeting, 11th May.—"Councillor Cahill read the following report of the Finance Committee:—
 "To the Town Council of Peterborough:—
 "Gentlemen, Your Committee, to whom was referred the matter of obtaining the money necessary to purchase the old Bank of Toronto buildings, beg to report, and recommend that the Town Treasurer be authorized to pay Mr. James Stevenson on the 1st of July next the sum of $1,500, part of the purchase money of the buildings, and that the town take over possession of said buildings on the above date. We also beg to recommend that the Committee of the Town Trust be requested to hand over to the Town Treasurer any moneys now in their hands or hereafter to be received from the sale of lands in the south reserve."

"All of which is respectfully submitted,
 "W. PATERSON, JR.,
 "Chairman."

Report adopted—no discussion, although Councillor Rutherford present.

When this question came up in considering the estimates in the Finance Committee, I objected to the purchase money being put in until the title to the property was accepted (in this day this has not been done), and until legal advice had been obtained to the power of the Council to ask the ratepayers for such a large sum of money for this purpose, and when the estimates were taken up by the Council I objected to putting them through without an examination, item by item, but they were hurried through Ad hoc, Councillor McNamara and myself alone voting against the estimates being passed.

I ask, Mr. Editor, on whose shoulders should the blame (if any) in this matter be placed? I think certainly not all on mine.

Charge No. 5.—Of wishing to spend $1,000 for trees.
 Review's report of meeting, 23rd April.

THE PLANNING.
 Councillor Sawas moved, seconded by Councillor Cahill,—That it is desirable that this Council should send property owners and others in the planning of shade trees throughout the town, and it is resolved that Councillors Cahill, Paterson, Kelly, Volland and Hartley be a special committee to obtain trees and to direct where they are to be planted, and for such other purposes with reference thereto as may seem proper.

Councillor Sawas said that the Ontario Legislature would give 25 cents for every tree living at the end of three years, and the trees would really cost nothing. The motion was lost.

Another $1,000 Segment of Mr. Rutherford's imagination.

Charge No. 6.—$2,400 for special constables. This is my resolution:—

SPECIAL CONSTABLES.
 Councillor Sawas moved, seconded by Councillor Paterson,—That the Committee on appointments be instructed to appoint six special policemen to serve between 6 p.m. and 7 a.m.—Referred to Committee on appointments, which Committee has not met this year.

The above was moved on account of the town being full of railway navies, and at the time, (April 23rd), the ratepayers were much annoyed by them. Imagination again!

Charge No. 7.—$200,000 to Ontario and Quebec Railway.

In discussing railway matters one evening I stated that we were getting without any bonus a railroad rather than lose, we would give a bonus of $200,000. This is the most ridiculous charge of all, as the council never contemplated giving them one cent. Imagination once more!

Charge No. 8.—$3,000 for market improvements. As to this matter Councillor Paterson moved the following resolution:—

Moved by Councillor Paterson, seconded by Councillor Sawas,—That the Market Committee ask the commissioners to improve our market accommodation by extending the veranda around the market house, and a roof put over the platform to cover the wagons and any other needed improvements they may think to the advantage of the market.—Carried unanimously.

The commissioners agreed to do whatever the Council decided upon, and asked for plans. The Committee then obtained plans and laid them before the Council, but Councillors Cahill and Rutherford were not satisfied with them, so moved an amendment to the adoption of the adoption of the report as follows:—

Moved by Councillor Cahill, seconded by Councillor Rutherford,—That the Council, the Committee to get plans drawn for extending the market building along Water street, and also that provision be made for a lock-up.—The amendment was carried.

As Councillor Rutherford's plan was found to be much more expensive than the one recommended by the Committee, of which I am chairman, no further action was taken in the matter.

Councillor Rutherford's imagination must have been at work again here to transfer the extravagance from his shoulders to mine.

I think that every candid ratepayer will allow that I have now sufficiently exposed, from outside evidence, the untruthful nature of Mr. Rutherford's charges against me, and I would ask you to let me say a few words respecting the town sink.

The impression has been sought to be made upon the ratepayers that in this matter I have been trying to force upon the Council an unnecessary and unprecedented task, and one involving an insinuation against the honesty of the town officials. I wish it to be distinctly understood that I do not for one moment any insinuate that there is anything amiss in the accounts, but what I say is merely and simply that the town business should be transacted as directed by the Municipal Act, and I think if Councillors take upon themselves to spend the ratepayer's money, they should not grudge the short time necessary to see that the same has been put to proper uses.

With respect to the abusive language used by Councillor Rutherford towards me I will only use that well-known saying, "Abuse is no argument."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for giving me space in your paper for this letter.

I beg to remain,
 Your Obedient Servant,
 C. W. SAWERS.

ON THE MIDLAND R. R.

Lumbering Operations along the line—Midland City business—The Couchiching Canal Abandoned.

On that portion of the Midland Railway known as the Cobocok branch a large business is being done by Messrs. McKenzie Brothers and Campbell, of Kirkfield, in telegraph poles. Their shipment this season will foot up about 30,000 poles, all of which has been sold to the Western Union Telegraph Company, delivered at various points in the States. As the gauge on the Cobocok branch had not been widened, all these poles had to be transhipped at Lorneville Junction, which added unnecessarily to the cost of transporting them to their destination. The Cobocok branch has now been widened to the same gauge as the rest of the line. There has also been a quantity of cedar taken from this section for the harbor works at Toronto.

There was a movement on foot some time ago at Orillia to have a canal dug between Lakes St. John and Couchiching at the portage, so as to enable Messrs. R. & G. Strickland who have bought Thompson, Smith & Son's mill at Bradford, and who own large limits on waters whose outlet is by way of Lake St. John, to move the Bradford mill to Orillia, and manufacture their lumber there instead of at some other point, but a survey revealed the fact that at the average height of these lakes, Lake St. John is the lowest and as a consequence the project has had to be abandoned.

At Foxmeade is to be found about the only log railway in Ontario. It is the property of Mr. James Maddon and runs from his mill a distance of about two miles into the bush. This mill has been chiefly engaged clearing some limits for the British Canadian Lumber Co., but after this season it will cut from a limit owned by the proprietor.

From Coldwater a branch of about nine miles has been built by the Midland to reach the Medonte Lumber Co.'s mill. The Medonte Company have been at work about four seasons, but as yet have shipped none of their stock, which amounts to between four and five million feet. They are in a section where there is a large quantity of fine grey oak.

The North River Lumber Company have erected a new mill at Peaseport. They have a contract with the British Canadian Company to clear certain lands for them. The B. C. Co. guarantees them 4,000,000 a year for six years. The cut to vary according to the times. Bushy & Wood have also erected a mill here, having a capacity of about a million and half and have some good limits to stock it from.

Mr. R. Power, of Victoria Harbor, has entered into partnership with Mr. Miescampbell, formerly manager for the British Canadian Co.—the firm to be known as R. Power & Co., and Mr. Miescampbell is to take the management of the business. This year's stock will be about ten million feet of lumber and twenty million shingles, which latter have been purchased by Messrs. Christie, Kerr & Co., of Toronto. This is about the largest individual stock of shingles in this section of the country. The season has been a bad one for towing, and this firm lost their first tow, owing to the stormy weather.

Business at Midland City seems to be very good. Two vessels cleared last week with lumber, one for Amherstburg and the other for Courtwright. The cut of the B. C. L. Co. this year was expected to be about 30,000,000 at their two mills, but the destruction of one of their mills by fire will prevent this anticipation being realized. Rathbun & Son, of Deseronto, are operating here too. Their inspector Mr. McCallum, is here shipping ties which have been delivered from various points on the Bay. They will ship about 30,000 ties and 10,000 posts from here this season. The lumber for the elevator at Fort William has been shipped from here by the propeller Argyle. It was brought here from Waubesahe and dressed by Mr. Garnet at his planing mill before being shipped. Mr. Garnet is very busy, having quite as much work as he can attend to, and therefore does not think he shall have any reason to complain of having located at this point.

The general feeling seems to be that the out got of logs next season will not be so large as it has been during the last two seasons.

Drowned by His Dog.

Albert Boyce, aged 8 years, whose parents live on the Kingston road (county side), near the G. T. R. crossing, was drowned at the foot of Berkeley street on Monday night in a peculiar manner. He had a string attached to a dog, one end being fastened to his finger. The dog made a plunge into the water and pulled the little fellow in. Before aid arrived he was drowned. The body was recovered shortly afterwards.—Toronto World.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night blindness and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

The Jewelled Table

The famous old jewelled table of Warwick Castle has fallen a prey to vandals, alleged to be American travellers, and all England, it is reported, is indignant. The table was a splendid specimen of artistic work, and the rare carvings were ornamented with many a choice gem. It is not a matter of wonder that it gained the envy of most of those who have had the privilege of gazing at it, but it is to be regretted that the envious have yielded to temptation and carried away its most prized features.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. THE GREAT TONIC FOUNTAIN OF HEALTH AND BLOOD PURIFIER
INSTITUTIONAL CATARRH CURE
GUARANTEE—After fair trial, with no relief or cure effected, your money will be refunded. PRICE, $1.00.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.

My Dear Sirs.—Having tried your Fountain of Health for my complaints, I heartily advise all those suffering from Dizziness, Costiveness or Depression of Spirits, to give it a trial, as I have been completely cured with two bottles. I never enjoyed my breakfast, and being unable to sleep well, I grew very nervous. I am aged forty-five, and have suffered for over ten years.

Mrs. PHILLIPS,
Caretaker Niagara Street School, Toronto, CANADA.

Gentlemen.—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. While taking it for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

Mrs. FRIEDMAN,
160 Bellwood Ave., Toronto, ONTARIO.

Messrs. Churchill & Co.,—Your Fountain of Health has completely cured me of Dyspepsia, which has troubled me for nearly two years.

J. CLARK,
17 Stafford Street, Toronto.

Dear Sirs.—I take pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of your Fountain of Health. For over nine years I have suffered from disease of the Kidneys, having a severe pain in the back a great deal of the time and tenderness of the eye balls. No remedy that I have ever tried and I have used no end of them, gave me relief, except your Fountain of Health, which has made me feel good. I have used two of your dollar bottles.

Yours sincerely,
WILLIAM GRAHAM,
6 Elgar Street, Toronto.

Personal.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, arrived home from a visit to Manitoba on Tuesday night. He makes a favorable report of what he saw on his visit to the West.

The Auburn Pic-nic.

The annual excursion and picnic of the employees of the Auburn Woollen Company will take place on Saturday, Sept. 22nd, over the Grand Junction Railway to Hastings.

Dear Mice for the Zoo.

The Toronto Mail says:—"Mr. E. Davis, of the firm of Davis & Son, has returned from a trip to Peterborough and brought back with him a deer mouse and four young ones, captured at the A. C. A. camp store, Stony Lake, by Mr. Rush, a prominent merchant of Peterborough. Mr. Davis has presented them to the Zoo."

The Methodist Church.

At the United Conference at Belleville on Tuesday the Rev. Dr. Rice was elected General Superintendent for the eight years' term, and the Rev. Bishop Carman for the four years' term. The Rev. Dr. Dewar was elected editor and the Rev. Dr. Stone associate editor of the Christian Guardian.

Continued Fine Weather.

The weather to-day is bright and warm, and we are promised a continuation of such weather. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds; continued fine weather, and slightly higher temperature.

Journalistic.

A new organ of our manufacturing industries has just appeared under the name of The Dominion Mechanical and Milling News. It is published in Toronto by the Beaver Publishing Company, and its first number gives promise of a valuable addition to our periodical literature. It is full of news and technical information of interest to the class it addresses, and both the letter press and illustration are very clearly printed on excellent paper, so that its appearance is as interesting as its contents are useful. Such a periodical is another evidence of the progress of Canada as a manufacturing country.

Y. M. C. A.

The new Secretary of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. Geo. E. Williams, of Montreal, will arrive here on Friday at noon, and will take charge of the affairs of the Association. On Saturday evening a meeting of the members of the Association will be held in their rooms to welcome Mr. Williams to Peterborough, and arrangements will be made for a more public reception. Mr. Williams has had considerable experience in Association work, and no doubt the Peterborough Association will do much more effective work when an experienced man gives his whole time to it.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. Horticultural, Peterborough, Sept. 13. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.

Arphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Newwood, Oct. 9th.

If you are troubled with a disordered Stomach, Dr. Carson's Bitters will afford prompt relief. It is the best Family Medicine, far Superior to Pills. All Druggists sell it.

The King Fisher.

The steamer King Fisher will not run her usual trip to-morrow.

Watches and Jewellery.

Anything in the Watch or Jewellery repairing line left at Hughs's New Shop, Simcoe street, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, will be promptly attended to; charges moderate.

Cavalry.

The boots worn by our cavalry troops were furnished by the old established firm, R. Stenson & Son, of this town. Previously contracts of this kind were obtained from the old military city, Kingston. The fact of R. Stenson & Son being the successful contractors, affords another instance of the forward march of our backwoods town merchants' enterprise.

Lacrosse Match at Millbrook.

The Clippers, a junior lacrosse club of this town, went to Millbrook on Tuesday to play a match with the second twelve of the club of that village. The Millbrook team won the match by three games to one. The boys of the Clippers' team complain that some of the first twelve played on the Millbrook team, and that otherwise they were not treated fairly.

Railway Notes.

Mr. Beemer has now about 450 men engaged on his contract on the "Missing Link." It is expected that the grading will be completed this week, and by next week the force will be reduced to about forty men, who will be retained to finish up extra work. The grading, fencing, &c., will be completed to-night as far as Tully's cut.

The depth of the sink hole on the "Missing Link" was sounded on Tuesday. Forty-eight feet down a hard bottom of rock was struck. A force is now at work at the place. Timber will be utilized in constructing the railway across it.

Work has been commenced in the erection of a new station for the Midland Railway at Lindsay. It will be at the foot of Williams' street, on the west side of the river, about a quarter of a mile east of the present Union Station. This new station will be in the new track which is being built at Lindsay to shorten the distance to Toronto. The distance from Peterborough to the Wick Junction, when this short line and the "Missing Link" are completed, will be 48 miles.

The Midland train was nearly an hour late at noon to-day.

A despatch from Kingston on the 11th says that on that day connection was made at Sharbot between the Ontario and Quebec railway and the Kingston and Pembroke railway. Ballast trains will proceed to distribute gravel at once, and the line will be ready to pass to Perth in a few weeks. It is rumoured here that the Canada Pacific Railway Company are just about completing arrangements for the lease of the Kingston and Pembroke for 99 years. If this is accomplished it will give competition with the Grand Trunk Railway both east and west from Kingston.

We Believe in the Millionaire.

A letter under the above heading and written from this town appears in the Dominion Mechanical and Milling News as follows:—"Sir, I am pleased to learn that a journal devoted to the interests of the milling fraternity is to be published and I wish the enterprise every success. I would like to say a few words about roller mills. I have worked at milling for years, and am thoroughly conversant with the different kinds of wheat, and the methods in use for reducing the same to flour. I would like to ask a question and it is this: How is it that so many millers are rolling their millstones out, and allowing the rolls to roll on their place? Pardon this lame attempt at a pun. I still cling to the 'time honoured' millstone, and assert without fear of contradiction that it burrs are properly cared for no 'complete' roller system can afford to dispense with them. It is my intention to speak disparagingly of rolls, as I think they may be good in their place for crushing grain, etc., but for good bread-making quality of flour together with close yields, and consequently profitable milling, give me the 'old fashioned way.' I would like to hear from some 'brother doer' who has become a convert to the 'new process' or 'gradual reduction' style of milling, and I can assure him that I am prepared to 'enter the lists' with him, provided that I am allowed the same baling facilities which are given to roller mills, and therefore as a millstone miller, I will not yield the plan to the roller mill, and am determined to die hard. Apologizing for trespassing on your time and space,

I am, yours truly,
JOHN KING,
Peterborough, 27th August, 1883.

Giant Rafts.

That "giant" raft, the arrival of which in New York harbor from St. John, created so much comment among the lumbermen of the metropolis, was a smaller affair compared with the one now on its way from Lake Superior to Alpena for the Premier Lumber Company. The New Brunswick raft contained but a little more than one million feet, while the Lake Superior raft contains three million feet. The New York arrival was noticeable only because it was the first attempt to transport timber in that way from St. John. Such rafts are of every day occurrence on the lakes, although not made up as the ocean raft was. It is not necessary to bind the logs with chains.

A Family Tragedy.

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—Henry B. Blessing, engineer, last night shot his brother-in-law mortally. Blessing then dangerously wounded his wife. Later on he was found in a garret with his throat cut, but not dead. He attempted to explain the act, but could not talk. It is supposed he originated a family quarrel in a fit of jealousy.

Is Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

Sticking Piles—Symptoms and Cure. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. It allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blisters, all sorts of Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25 (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of splanometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the splanometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

FRUIT, FLOWERS AND ART.

The Annual Exhibition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society.

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was opened this afternoon in Bradburn's Opera House.

The severe frost of Saturday night has effected the exhibit, as it nipped a great many flowers, but the managers wisely decided to proceed with the show, and their efforts have been fairly successful. Of each department the same remark would be correct,—the exhibit is small, but that which is shown is good.

The display of cut flowers and foliage plants though not large, is a good one. The flowers are prettily arranged and comprise many varieties. One large oleander, which has a position on the stage, attracts attention at once.

Of fruit, again the exhibition is not large, but it is meritorious. Some very fine apples, pears, plums, etc., are shown. One feature of this department is the branch of a tree loaded with tempting fruit.

In arts there are several fine oil paintings exhibited, paintings on porcelain and crayon drawings. One large oil painting of a lake shore scene is very fine. There are two glass cases of stuffed birds of bright plumage, and a black squirrel looks as though he had never been afraid of a sportsman.

Of ladies' work there are some fine specimens of the articles usually displayed, and the garden is well represented by large pumpkins, potatoes, onions, etc., etc.

The exhibition will be open this evening, when, in addition to the attractions of the exhibition proper, there will be a concert. The best local talent has been secured, among the names on the programme being those of Mrs. Chambers, Mr. Elliott, Mr. Porteous and Prof. Haathfield. There should be a large attendance this evening.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

The Mighty Balm

Is long distanced by a 10 cent bottle of Polson's Nervine, the newest and best pain remedy. It cures colds, cramps, colic, pain in the head, sciatica, pain in the chest; in fact it is equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of the great pain remedy, Nervine. Sold at Ormrod & Walsh's. Large bottles only 25 cents. Try a sample bottle of Nervine, only 10 cents.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Lord Lansdowne and his Tenants—Kindly Relations Between Them.

The annual school feast and the distribution of the prizes given to the Deree, Co. Kerry, tenants by the Marquis of Lansdowne was recently held. About 300 children were present, each of whom received a suitable present from Lady Lansdowne. His Lordship, in presenting the prizes, assured his tenants that although for a time he and Lady Lansdowne would be separated from them, they among whom they had spent so many happy summers would not be absent from their recollections. His Lordship's remarks were received with applause by the tenants. The parish priest of Tuosist, the Rev. Father Barrett, thanked Lord and Lady Lansdowne for their interest in the welfare of their tenants. He said His Lordship was doing all that is possible to advance the condition of the people by the encouragement of education, by giving them better buildings, and improving their farms. He knew no landlord in Ireland who had done so much for his tenants. He was happy to be able to state that Lord Lansdowne's tenants were peaceable, and had given His Lordship no annoyance or trouble.

"This (Father Barrett continued) is owing to the kindly relations that exist between you and your tenants, owing to the confidence you and Lady Lansdowne have reposed in us. You came and lived amongst us in the most troublesome times, without guard or protection, and when it was not considered safe to live in Ireland. You shared not in that notion, but considered yourself as safe as you would be in Bowood." In conclusion he wished Lord and Lady Lansdowne and family a safe and prosperous voyage.

His Lordship, in reply, said it gave him great pleasure to hear such friendly language addressed to him. He and Lady Lansdowne keenly felt their approaching separation from their tenants. He looked back with pleasure to the years he had spent among them. During all that time he could say with strict correctness that he had never received a discourteous word from any of them, and that he and Lady Lansdowne had never failed to find friendly welcome, even the humblest cottages.

SHAPIRA'S DEUTERONOMY.

A Clever Discovery that Destroys the Value of the MSS.

A very strong piece of evidence, which seems to favor the theory of the late if not the forged origin of the Shapira manuscript, has, the London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says, just become available. In constructing the synagogue rolls the Jews had many stringent rules as to the width of margin which they preserved, and to other details of precision. An examination of the Shapira fragments shows that although the text is manifestly written on the model of a Hebrew synagogue scroll, yet these rules have been violated in some cases, and regarded in others, as if the maker was not aware of the great importance of their observance. It now appears that instead of the central fold being smooth and even, and in order of the sheets, fold and sewn edges succeeding each other in regular order, the folds are uneven, and have in some cases been with a clean, sharp severance. It, moreover, appears that all scripta plena, even in the case of plural forms, are omitted, a discrepancy which in some respects exceeds even that of the Mosabite stone in the neglect of grammatical properties. When with this neglect is combined the use of late words found only in the Targums and the Talmud it invites a very grave consideration how such glaring neglect of philological and scriptural canons is to be reconciled with the genuine character of the manuscript. Even Mr. Shapira seems to be changing ground, and losing so much of his original confidence as to recognize the possibility of spurious manufacture. His contention is now that if the rolls are forgeries they have been purposely made to damage him in his business as a collector of antiquities, as was the case, he declares, with the Mosabite pottery.

AFTER MANY DAYS.

Capture of an Indian Murderer near Quebec—A Plucky Habitant.

It will be remembered that last fall at Lorette an Indian named Louis Sagrine killed his wife in a quarrel by beating her head against a stone, and afterwards threw her body in the water with a stone attached to it by means of a rope. The rope broke by rubbing against the sharp rocks, and the body came to the surface. An investigation was made, and the Indian's two sons being examined told the whole story. Sagrine, who had meantime married a young girl who is said to have been the cause of the quarrel, escaped to the bush. On Friday he entered the house of a habitant at L'Ange Gardien and asked for something to eat, but the farmer, recognizing him at once, sent his wife under pretence of getting him some bread, to call the neighbors. Sagrine became suspicious after a time, and rose to leave, but the plucky habitant, armed with an axe, stood at the door, and kept him prisoner till the neighbors arrived, when the Indian was bound and locked up in the barn until the Quebec police, who had been telegraphed for, arrived and took him into custody.—Montreal Gazette.

THE GREAT STORM.

Additional Disasters Reported—Five More Weeks—Crews Lost or Landed.

St. John's, Sept. 12.—Placentia Bay advises report additional disasters from the storms of the 26th and 30th of August. Capt. Stephen's vessel with five men was swamped near Point Lance reefs. Morrell's schooner was wrecked and all hands perished near Cape St. Mary's. Captain Dunphy's craft sank with the crew near the Bull and Cow rocks. Two wrecked vessels passed off Cape St. Mary's. There are no tidings of either.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera, Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

A Single Trial

Is all that is needed to prove Polson's Nervine is the most rapid and certain remedy for pain in the world. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Nervine to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try a 10 cent sample bottle. Sold at Ormrod & Walsh's. Large bottle 25 cents.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

INVASION THREATEND.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The Figaro states that the Chinese army is centered at Pekin and only waits news of the arrival of the French reinforcements at Port Said to invade Tonquin.

ENGLISH MEDITATION.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Secretary of the Chinese Legation has left to wait upon Lord Granville. There are signs that the meditation of England in the Franco-Chinese imbroglio will eventually be evoked. No appeal for American mediation is deemed probable.

THE GERMAN SQUADRON.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The aggregate strength of the German squadron in Chinese waters is 35 guns and 950 men. Under no conditions will Germany consent to act as arbitrator between China and France. Hitherto China has not requested the intervention of any European Power.

THE MARQUIS SPEAKS.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Marquis Tseng, in an interview at Folkestone, said China was determined to concede nothing concerning the suzerainty of Annam. She did not wish France to possess territory adjoining the Chinese frontier. The despatch of French reinforcements to Tonquin would compel China to boldly send troops to the adjacent province, as the military party were daily gaining ground at Pekin. The occurrence hitherto were attributable to the excessive zeal of French officials, and any further ill considered measures on the part of the French might be attended with fatal results. The Marquis said nothing definite had resulted from his journey to Paris.

BENT ON PEACE.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Standard's special correspondent at Paris says the general public is more than ever bent on peace. Should the negotiations with China collapse the Government will not survive a meeting of the Chambers twenty four hours.

THE COUNT DE PARIS.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The Union, the organ of the Legitimists, has ceased publication. In its farewell address it says the paper's mission ended with death of Count of Paris as the head of the house of France and hopes he will restore to Christians the traditional monarchy. Its cessation implies that the Legitimists will not support the Count de Paris unless he claims the throne on the most absolute clerical principles, which is known to be impossible.

HIS INFLUENCE BROKEN.

CAIRO, Sept. 12.—Hicks Pasha telegraphs to the Khedive that the False Prophet's religious influence is broken.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the directors of the Suez Canal Company it was decided that after the first of January, 1884, all vessels passing through the canal in ballast will be entitled to a reduction of 24 francs per ton on the dues. The company will also in future pay the cost of floating and re-starting vessels that may run aground in the canal.

WHAT THE SULTAN WILL DO.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—It is asserted that the Sultan has informed the German ambassador that it was the intention of Turkey to adhere to the policy foreshadowed by the Austro-German alliance.

ADMIRAL PIERRE'S REMAINS.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The remains of Admiral Pierre, late commander of the French in Madagascar, will be honoured with a State funeral.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

DUBLIN, Sept. 12.—Michael Davitt is very ill with inflammation of the lungs, necessitating cancellation of engagements. Notwithstanding the reported illness of Davitt, he was at a meeting of the Irish League in Dublin to-day.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Collision of Two Trains—Crowded With Passengers—Many Injured.

HUNTER'S POINT, Sept. 12.—A Manhattan Beach train collided with a Flushing train at Montauk Junction last night. It was several minutes late, and the engineer should have stopped east of the junction until the Flushing train passed. The locomotives came together near the switch, the foremost of each being lifted from the track. The Flushing train was full of passengers, but none were injured. The engine and tender were badly broken up. The engineer remained at his post backing his train, and received slight injuries.

The Manhattan Beach train consisted of seven cars and a parlor car, the latter being next the engine. At the time of the collision the train was running at a speed of 35 miles an hour. The engine was not greatly damaged, but the parlor car was telescoped by the car behind. All the cars were crowded, many persons standing on the platforms. Most of the occupants of the parlor car, being warned by the rising of escaping air from the brakes, escaping by the front door and windows. The car apparently broke in two about the middle, and the platform of the car behind crashed through about the same distance. All the chairs in the back part of the car were smashed.

Wedged in between the cars were Thomas Birmingham and Robert Smith, of New York. The woodwork had to be cut away before they could be extricated. Their legs were crushed, and had to be amputated by a physician on the train. Both died in a few minutes.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Kram's Field Lightning.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No tedious nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Field Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

Discharged.

Six men in Tallamore prison, charged with murdering constable Brown, have been discharged lack of evidence.

A MESSAGE TO THE DEAD.

After the battle of Forbach a French officer of Cuirassiers was found dead with a letter crumpled in his hand.

It was only a crumpled letter,
In a careless, girlish hand;
It was only a childish message,
From the sun-kissed Southern land;
It was only a brief memorial
Of the tears the absent shed,
It was a trifle from the living,
But a message to the dead.

"Father dear, you are gone to battle,
But I think incessantly
As I miss your morning blessing,
What your sufferings must be."
So she wrote and so he held it,
With a blessing on her head,
When the token of the living
Was a message to the dead.

"I'm so good, dear, oh, so steady,
You would wish me to be so;
If I'm quiet, half your dangers,
Dear mamma need never know;
So good-bye, papa, God bless you!
Guard and keep you evermore,
See! I send you fifty kisses
From an ever ready store."

It was only a crumpled letter,
In a faded man's hand that day,
Just to show how hearts were aching
In his own land, far away;
It was only a loving message
From a loving child that sped,
But the words the living pencilled
Were a message to the dead.

Take it not from his fingers,
Lay it with him in the grave;
It is his consolation
That the latest he will have;
For I think the bullet reached him
As the tender words were read,
So that when the angels told it,
There was no message to the dead.

Canada White Pine.

Dr. Bell, Assistant Director of the Geological Survey of Canada, says respecting the white pine: "This and the next species have so nearly the same limit throughout the greater part of their northward range, that they are represented on the map both by one line. The red pine, however, does not extend so far east as the white, so that in this direction the line represents only the boundary of the latter. Contrary to popular belief, the white pine is confined to a comparatively small part of the Dominion, as will be observed by an inspection of the map. Its northern limit in Canada extends east as far as Mingan, while to the west it does not reach Lake Winnipeg, or Red River. It reaches its lowest latitude opposite to Ottawa City, about 42°, and its highest about 52°, in the Lonely Lake Region. It occurs in favorable situations throughout the greater part of Newfoundland, but it is of best quality and most abundant along the Cander and Exploit rivers on the north, and the Humber on the west side of the island. On the last named stream, I have cut into the centres of several good sized trees, and found the wood of excellent quality. In the country immediately north of Lake St. John, the Messrs. Price have cut large quantities of fine white pine timber for export. When coming from Lake Mistassini to Ottawa, by way of the Gatineau river, Mr. Richardson, of the Geological Survey, first met this species at 230 miles north of that city. It occurs of fair size on the head waters of the principal branches of the Moose River, and in former times is said to have extended considerably further north along these streams; but having been entirely destroyed by extensive forest fires, it has been replaced by other trees. Owing to these fires it is now very scarce in most of the region north of Lake Superior, but small groves of it have been observed as far north as represented."

Mr. Mercier and "La Minerve."

The Montreal Gazette says: "Mr. Mercier having intimated his willingness to bring an action against La Minerve in connection with the accusations contained in an article in that paper under the head of 'The $5,000,' provided that security was given for the costs of the case, the proprietors of La Minerve have deposited with the Jacques Cartier Bank the sum of $5,000, as the following receipt which explains itself will show:

"MONTREAL, 10th September, 1883.

"The Jacques Cartier Bank received from the Minerve Printing Company the sum of $5,000 as a special deposit to guarantee whatever costs may be adjudged by the Courts to the Hon. Mr. Mercier in any action which he may take out within eight days against the Minerve on account of the accusations made in the said newspaper of the 10th of September, 1883, in an article headed 'The $5,000.'"

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, will be at the Calise House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aside surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it without any advertisement, we have concluded to place it extensively on the market, so that those who suffer may have a perfect cure. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twice a bottle of Mack's 'Magnetic Medicine,' and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

PERSONAL.

Although the partnership between Mr. Munro and myself has been dissolved, I beg to advise my friends and the public that I still continue the business in the same store as before.

I take this opportunity of returning my hearty thanks to the customers of the late firm for the liberal patronage we enjoyed from them, and would respectfully ask for myself a continuance of the same in the future.

Daily Evening Review

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Police News.
As has been usual for some time, the cells were empty last night, and there was no business before the Court this morning.

Gene to Algoma.
The Port Hope Guide of Tuesday says:—"Mr. W. T. R. Preston left this morning for Algoma. He has gone to measure woods with the Collector of Customs of Portage La Prairie, Mr. D. Marshall, late Chief of Police at Port Hope."

Fire at Mr. Mac's.
We are glad to learn that we were misinformed as to Mr. David Rose having no insurance upon the contents of his barn. He had an insurance of $800 upon them, but this will not cover the loss by about $1,000. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Unclaimed Freight.
On Saturday next, at 10.30 a.m., Mr. Charles Stapleton, auctioneer, will sell by public auction all unclaimed freight in possession of the Midland Railway. The catalogue contains 338 different articles or parcels, and some of them are not very small, as it includes reapers, fanning mills, horse rakes, &c., in fact almost everything imaginable. There are quite a number of trunks and satchels.

All Right Again.
We announced a few days ago that Court Little John, C. O. F., had purchased the furniture in the Good Templars' Hall on Water street. The sale was owing to a difficulty which had arisen in connection with the financial affairs of Carwell Lodge. These difficulties have been overcome, everything has been settled satisfactorily (owing to the assistance given by two members of the lodge), and Carwell Lodge is again in possession of the hall furnishings. In fact, this lodge now appears to be on a better footing than it has been since it was established, and has, no doubt, a prosperous future before it. Court Little John will still meet in this hall.

Railway Notes.
A special despatch to the Globe from London, England, on Sept. 12, says that the Grand Trunk Railway announce that the accounts just passed for the half-year show a balance, after paying preferences, sufficient to pay the Grand Trunk first and second preferences; the Great Western preference in full; also three shillings and three pence per share on the Western ordinary stock. It is proposed to recommend the proprietors to pay the Western ordinary full interest and adjust the accounts next December.

The new time table on the Grand Junction works well. It makes the train service more convenient for travellers and suits the officials.

The Mail says that the annual general meeting of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway Company was held on Wednesday at noon. There was a large attendance of shareholders. The report of the directors for the year ending 30th June last was read and adopted. It showed that the railway had been making large earnings during the past year, being higher than in any previous year during the history of the company. The total earnings for the year were as follows:—Passengers, $149,740.60; mails, &c., $21,805.01; freight and live stock, $249,722.03; total, $421,265.64. The old board of directors were unanimously re-elected. The meeting then adjourned. At a meeting subsequently held by the directors, Mr. Wm. Hendrie, of Hamilton, was re-elected president, and Mr. Wm. Ramsey, Toronto, vice-president. A special general meeting of the company was held at four o'clock. The meeting was called in order that the agreement for a lease of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway Company, for a period of 99 years, from the 1st August, 1883, might be considered. The lease having been read, a discussion of an hour's duration followed. A vote was then taken and the agreement ratified by a large majority.

W. A. EDGARS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

ON THE TENTED FIELD.

SCENES IN AND ABOUT THE MILITARY CAMP AT COBBOURG.

The Trip Down the River—A Pleasant Fall and Good Time Made—The First Night on the "Old Camp Ground"—A Musical Society—A Good Turn Out.

From our own Correspondent.
Another year has passed and gone, and once more the Canadian volunteers are putting in their annual drill. This year the camp is situated about half a mile directly north-west of the picturesque little town of Cobourg. The camp ground proper is a good one, being large, and the greater portion of it is good, clean, level ground. When the 57th arrived on the ground a large number of tents had already been pitched, and the sound of the mallet gave the knowing ones to understand that the red-coats were busy spreading the canvas. After our arrival at camp, of course, the first thing to be done was to make preparations for pitching our tents. This being duly accomplished, the next move was to get something to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. No one but a soldier can thoroughly understand the absolute necessity of appeasing the appetite of hungry men in order that the hardships and vicissitudes of genuine soldier life may be endured. Bread and butter was served to the whole battalion immediately after the tents had been pitched, and the way it disappeared was sufficient evidence that the tired and hungry soldiers were bound not to stand where there was "sufficient and plenty for all and to spare." A word about THE TRIP DOWN THE RIVER.

will not be out of place. As is well known we embarked on the steamer Golden-Eye (one of Calcutt's line of steamers), and at Harwood took the C. P. & M. Railway for the town of Cobourg. After leaving the Peterborough wharf, which we did at 10.40 o'clock, a pleasant and I must say very enjoyable sail brought us to Harwood at 2.30, having made the trip in about five hours. This is good time, considering that the Otonabee river at the present season is so shallow. On the way down the members of the band and some of the volunteers made the trip enjoyable by singing and playing, and this was the means of stirring the officers up to the necessity of forming a in connection with the battalion. With his usual liberality, Captain E. B. Edwards, of No. 1 Company, had a list of names taken for the purpose above mentioned, and started a subscription list to defray the expenses of getting music and other matters in connection therewith. A goodly number of names were enrolled under the leadership of bandmaster Miller, and the result will be that a first-class entertainment will be given on some future date, when, no doubt, Peterborough's vocalists will distinguish themselves, as there are a number of first-class singers in the band and battalion.

AT HARWOOD
the cars were taken, and after a rather rough ride we arrived safely at Cobourg without any mishap, and the battalion—now being augmented by the Hastings, Norwood and Keene companies, were formed in line and marched up through the town to the camp ground. After arriving at the scene of our future operations, cooks, assistants, and breadcrumbs set to work with a will in getting their unique, and in some cases, ancient apparatuses, in order for cooking.

"LIGHTS OUT."
This well-known blast of the bugle was sounded at the usual hour, and as all hands felt pretty tired and sleepy, it required no extra exertions on the part of the commanding officer to enforce the men to seek the arms of Morpheus on their "bed of turf." Next morning all hands were on the alert at the usual hour, five o'clock, and then camp life began in real earnest.

A LARGE CAMP.
This year there is a great turn out, there being a large attendance of the different battalions. Although the 57th battalion are a little weaker in numbers than at last camp, they are very strong in spirit, and will no doubt maintain their old reputation—second to none in the camp. I have not made myself sufficiently acquainted to mention all the battalions and the different officers in command, but I will endeavour in my next to give full particulars, and, until then, ask the many readers of the DAILY REVIEW to spread the "broad mantle of charity" on my shoulders, and I rest content with the little information that I have sent, written on a four foot plank with the light of a candle, and with nothing for a covering but the broad canopy of the sky.

Some Interesting Facts.
The Financial and Mining News has evolved the following:—Tennyson can take a worthwhile sheet of paper and by writing a poem on it make it worth $5,000. That's capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird" and "twenty dollars." That's money. The mechanic can take the material worth $5 and make it into a watch worth $100. That's skill. The merchant can take an article worth twenty-five cents and sell it for $1. That's business. A lady can purchase a very comfortable bonnet for $10, but she prefers to pay $100. That's foolishness. The ditch digger works ten hours a day and shovels out three or four tons of earth for $1. That's labor.

A Certain Remedy for Corns.
This is the universal testimony and expressed by every one who has used FOWLER'S CORN EXTRACTOR. Thousands in Canada have used it with gratifying results, and if you will take the trouble, to ask any druggist he will give you the name of many persons of your acquaintance who have been radically cured of the worst kind of corns. Sold everywhere. Safe, sure, painless, and vegetable in composition. Try it. It never fails. Take no substitutes. Many of these are positively dangerous. Use FOWLER'S CORN EXTRACTOR.

Convincing Proof.
Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arica and Oil Liniment. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine.

Rain Predicted.
The weather to-day is cooler and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh north-east to east winds; fair weather, with some light local rains in the southern portion.

Midland Railway Traffic Returns.
The traffic of the above railway for the week ending September 8th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $8,518.84; freight, $15,752.73; total, $24,271.57, as compared with $23,921.54 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $347.03; and the aggregate traffic to date is $717,255.07, being an increase of $24,072.42 over 1882.

A New Invention.
A Chicago inventor, named M. H. Dement, claims to have at last solved the problem of setting type by machinery. He does it by avoiding the setting of type altogether. His invention is a combination of two others, the type-writer and the stereotype process. The machine makes impression of letters on strips of soft paper like that used in stereotype matrices. These strips, when corrected, are arranged in a sheet which is used as the matrix in which to cast the plate. The advantage the machine has over nearly all former attempts at solving this problem is that it admits of "justifying" the lines,—that is, spacing the words in each line out so as to make the ends even all down the column. The inventor claims that the composition of a large daily paper which now costs from $1,500 to $2,500 a week can be done by means of his machine for from $200 to $300. He promises to have machines on the market in four months.

The C. P. R. SHOPS.

The Company now Building its own Locomotives.

Few people in Montreal are aware of the magnitude of the Canadian Pacific Railway shops at Hochelaga, or of the rapidity with which they have been completed. They are now almost finished, and the Company is to-day actually building its own locomotives, two boilers of which will be turned out next week.

A Star representative visited the shops this morning, and through the courtesy of Mr. May, the manager, was shown through the entire works. The first building visited was the main building, which is four hundred and five feet long and one hundred and fourteen feet wide, with a gallery running along one side for small lathe and brass finishing. The machinery is in every way superior, and on the ground floor includes an axle and wheel quartering machine, which has been put in position and is the only one in the country; also a horizontal borer for turning engine, driving wheels and other smaller bores. They have work progressing in the department for fifteen engines, which will be pushed forward immediately. It is the intention to complete five or six engines monthly, which will equal anything at present undertaken by any one establishment on the continent. In this building is a travelling crane, which supplies all the work to the several machines, also two powerful traversing cranes capable of lifting twenty-five tons each. At the end of the building is the riveting tower with a hydraulic riveter of thirty-five tons. Next visited was the round house, which is one hundred and eighty feet long and ninety feet wide, with a turn table of 50 feet. In this building is the boiler plant, with a capacity of turning out about 5,000 bolts per day. Blacksmith shop 204 feet long and 65 feet wide supplied with 21 furnaces and one 3,000 pound Davy steam hammer besides four smaller ones of the same make. The Passenger Car Shops are 172 feet long and 85 feet wide and are supplied with the latest machinery of every kind, there are now in the course of construction six baggage cars. Attached to this building are the car machine shop, 99 feet long and 85 feet wide, two stories high, coppermith and tinsmith shop, 47 feet long and 40 feet wide. The car paint shop was next visited, which is a handsome building 131 feet long and 128 feet wide. Several cars are being painted and repaired in this department. Connected with this is also the upholstery department. Between the paint shop and car shop is the traverse for shifting cars from one building to the other. The boiler house is 40 feet by 55 feet. It contains two extra large boilers made at Sheffield by Hawkeley, Wad & Co., and another is shortly to be placed in position. The engine room is 42 feet long and 25 feet wide. The engine is Canadian manufacture of two hundred horse power. The offices and storerooms are very nicely fitted up in a building 80 feet by 45 feet and two stories. It contains also the drawing room with a staff of six, under Mr. Atkinson, late of the G. T. R. Work has been steadily increasing for some time and to-day the works employ three hundred and eighty men.—Montreal Star, Sept. 12.

FOUND DEAD.

An Old Man Expires While Alone—His Son Visits Him and Discovers the Corps.

A correspondent writes from Blairton, Belmont township, that an old man named William Wallace was found dead on Sunday, Sept. 10th, lying beside the stove on the floor of his house. Wallace was an old man of about sixty years of age, and for years he had been a cripple. He lived in a shanty about two miles south of Blairton village, near the line of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, and was partly supported by the municipality. His son, Alexander, lived with him, but in the summer months the boy worked out, and he was away working when his father died. On Sunday he went home to see how his father was getting along, and much to his surprise, he found him lying dead on the floor. It is not known how long he had been dead before the fact was discovered, but so far as those who saw him could judge, he had probably died on the Friday previous. The old man had been a great sufferer for years, but while he was alone death came and brought relief.

EAST NORTHUMBERLAND ELECTION.

The Judges Disagree—Cameron for Voidance of Election on the Ground of Railway Fences—Burd for Dismissal.

Special to the Review.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—The judges differ. Boyd dismisses petition; Cameron sets aside election for giving railway passes, but with hesitation relieves Ferris from disqualification. Case must now go to the Court of Appeal.

A Texas Tragedy.

TRINITY, Tex., Sept. 12.—Major Hurlock, a large mill owner, and his son W. H. Hurlock, aged 22, were shot yesterday by an employee named Roseman. W. H. Hurlock is dead, and the father's wounds are mortal. Hurlock's young son annoyed Roseman, who, endeavoring to make him desist, accidentally injured the child's foot. The major, with words and hands, abused Roseman, but the latter declined to resent. The major then called his elder son to come and whip Roseman. The son quickly knocked Roseman down, when the latter shot his adversary in the head and heart. The major then reached for the pistol, when Roseman shot him. He (Roseman) then went upstairs, procured a six-shooter and barricaded himself. The mill men gathered around the premises, and the lady of the house entreated Roseman to leave. He complied, when the men opened fire, and after killing Roseman with shot secured him. After the capture Major Hurlock, thought perforated with a bullet, beat and cuffed Roseman until the bystanders interfered.

A Man With a Tail.

Kingston is ahead. It has produced the greatest curiosity. It was a man with a tail. But the curiosity was too queer. Two inches of a tail entailed too much trouble to the tailor, and its length was not only curtailed, but it was entirely cut off. The surgeon who removed this caudal appendage showed it to a reporter of the News, who writes:—"This afternoon a city physician showed our reporter an appendage which he cut off the end of a man's spinal column. It is about two inches long, and is scarcely distinguishable from a lamb's tail. Travellers have written about savages who have tails, but this is the first instance that a human being with an elongation at the end of the back bone has come under our notice. Any person doubting the above statement can call at this office and see the removed tail, without committing a breach of medical etiquette."

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Steamer Destroyed.

CHATHAM, Sept. 13.—The side-wheel steamer Queen Victoria was destroyed by fire about four o'clock this morning. When the alarm was given the flames had made such headway that the crew barely escaped with their lives. The steamer was severely burned. The steamer was about six miles down the river, and had been loading wood.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

CAREY'S SLAYER.

MADEIRA, Sept. 13.—O'Donnell, the slayer of James Carey, arrived here this morning per South African steamer in charge of two detectives. In conversation with a correspondent who was allowed to interview him, O'Donnell said that he was quite indifferent as to the result of his trial, but was, however, sure that he would not be hanged. He declined to give a detailed statement of the deed for which he was a prisoner. The authorities are taking every precaution to prevent a rescue. All strangers approaching or communicating with the ship are closely examined before being allowed on board.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—It is asserted that the negotiation relative to the Tonquin question are being conducted on both sides with a sincere desire of arriving at an amicable solution. The English and American diplomatic representatives confirm the above. The French Foreign Minister will shortly take furlough, probably till October. Prime Minister Ferry will assume his functions. The Debate thinks the basis of the present negotiations is less favorable to France than the treaty made at Peking. The Chinese should be given to understand that the desire of France for peace has certain limits.

BUSINESS RESUMED.

CANTON, Sept. 13.—Business has been resumed. There are only a few foreign merchants in trade here, the tea traffic having drifted to other localities. The inhabitants here have the reputation of being especially turbulent.

WITNESSES ARRIVED.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A number of important witnesses in the O'Donnell case have already arrived. Mrs. Carey and family will arrive in a fortnight. Jenkinson and Major Gelling, of the detective department, a number of Irish detectives, and several witnesses from America, are here. The English detectives have just returned from America with valuable information concerning the extent of the Fenian conspiracy.

FATAL COLLISION.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—An unknown Norwegian vessel was sunk in the Channel to-day by collision. Twelve persons were drowned.

THE EMPEROR'S MEETING.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—It is stated the Czar, before returning to Warsaw, will meet the Emperor at Tilsit.

LEGITIMISTS AND THE VATICAN.

ROME, Sept. 13.—The French Legation, having relations with the Vatican, have expressed a wish to present a memorial to the Curia with regard to their future course. The document, if found not to be compromising to the Vatican, will be accepted.

BISMARCK'S HEALTH.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—It is reported that a serious change has occurred in the condition of Prince Bismarck. The doctors have been suddenly summoned to Gastien for a consultation.

ENGLISH LAND REFORM.

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 13.—At the Trades Union Congress to-day Joseph Aroch offered a resolution that considering the large amount of waste land in the kingdom capable of cultivation radical changes in the land system of the country is required, that all the land may be put under productive cultivation for the benefit of the community, thereby offering a check to the excessive

STILL FALSIFYING.

The Globe, which even its ally Grip, was forced to characterize as the champion falsifier, is at its old tricks. It says:—

"The Peterborough Review once more re-buffs some of its too Copperhead confederates for their attitude on the boundary question. The Review believes that the territory between Thunder Bay and the Winnipeg River is valuable, that it rightly belongs to Ontario, and that it is not too far off to be governed as part of this Province."

Now we are not afraid to accept the responsibility for our utterances. We believe that we can best support our party by expressing our honest convictions, even if not in exact accord with those of some of our confederates. We hold, too, that our allegiance to our country is higher than our fealty to our party, and if necessary we would not hesitate to choose between them. We object, however, and as we think with perfect right, to having our views misrepresented.

The Globe publishes the paragraph we have quoted with the dishonest object of strengthening its party by misrepresenting a Conservative journal as being in sympathy with Mr. Mowat in his unjustifiable course. It contains several wilful falsehoods and suggests others. We did not state that "the territory between Thunder Bay and the Winnipeg River is valuable," for we refused to consider that subject now. We did not say that "it is not too far off to be governed as part of this province," for we explicitly declined to express any opinion upon that question at present, the very object of our article being to protest against any discussion of that point until we are placed in possession.

We did state, as we have always done, our conviction that Ontario has a just claim to the territory covered by the award, very possibly to a much larger area, and we are anxious to see the correctness of our belief tested in the Courts. It is because we believe this that we hope an end will soon be put to Mr. Mowat's electioneering and filibustering, and to his refusal to press our claim in the law courts. We want our right, and we want to secure them by legitimate means, so it is gross dishonesty for the Globe to endeavour, by such misrepresentations, to make us appear as supporters of violence that prejudices our just claims, instead of lawful proceedings that would enforce them.

A SHARP CURVE.

The leading organ of Mr. Mowat, in its efforts to prove that black is white, where he is concerned, is now taking a remarkably sharp curve. Up to this very date it has been contending that Sir John Macdonald committed a heinous offense in appointing returning officers who were not sheriffs or registrars, though he did so in accordance with the law. Mr. Mowat, in his pressing straits, having passed over both the sheriff and registrar of Algoma to appoint a partisan returning officer, it has been pointed out that he has not only contravened the principle inculcated by his party, but that he has done so in disregard of at least the spirit of the Ontario law.

After various contradictory and untruthful defences, we have a new turn, and the Ontario election law is quoted as follows:—

"The Lieutenant-Governor may cause the writ for the electoral districts of Algoma, and of Muskoka, and Parry Sound, respectively, to be directed to the Sheriff of Algoma, or to the Registrar of Muskoka or Parry Sound, or to such other returning officer as he thinks fit."

And we are asked to accept this as a sufficient proof that criticism of the Algoma appointment is unreasonable, and that Mr. Mowat is blameless. The law of Canada holds that Dominion returning officers should be Dominion officials, and because Sir John Macdonald acted accordingly he is guilty of "villainy." The law of Ontario makes the sheriffs and registrars the returning officers for Provincial elections as a general rule, with an exception allowed, and Mr. Mowat is blameless for seizing upon that exception, for his own advantage. Can any man doubt that Mr. Mowat is violating the spirit of the law in so acting? The exception in the case of Algoma and Muskoka is evidently made because the circumstances of those constituencies might make a departure from the general rule almost imperative.

So we have come to this, that the only excuse for Mr. Mowat is that he has strained the Ontario law to follow Sir John Macdonald in a course which, though it was in accordance with the Dominion law, he is called by these hypocrites a villain for adopting.

Why does the Globe persist in its falsehood that the Sheriff of Algoma refused to act as returning officer? The Sheriff of the Thunder Bay district declined the honor, but that was no reason why both the Sheriff and Registrar of Algoma should be passed over.

A Man on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any Drug Store as is now at Taylor & McDonald's for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a Trial Bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at above Drug Store. Regular size $1.00—5.

A Single Trial.

Is all that is needed to prove Poison a Neutramin is the most rapid and certain remedy for pain in the world. It only costs 10 cents for a trial bottle. A single trial bottle will prove Neutramin to be equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy, and for pain of every description it has no equal. Try a 10 cent sample bottle. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's. Large bottle 25 cents.

The Population of China.

European statistics are gradually reducing their estimates of the population of China. It used to be put down at over four hundred millions. Behm and Wagner reduce their estimates for China and Corea from 434,500,000 to 379,500,000. Paterson reduces his estimate by seventy-five millions, making the present total three hundred and fifty millions. Dr. Harper, missionary, believes this can safely be reduced another fifty millions. Mr. Hippisley, acting commissioner of customs, thinks two hundred and fifty millions more nearly correct than three hundred and fifty millions. The losses by the Taiping and Mohammedan rebellions, and by the famine and pestilence which swept over the provinces of Chih, Shantung, Shanai and Honan are variously estimated at from sixty one to eighty-one millions.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it without any advertising, we have concluded to place it extensively on the market, so that those who suffer may have a perfect cure. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

MADE IN THE WOODS.

A Three-Year-Old Child in a Swamp Alone all Day and Night.

A correspondent from the township of Oliver informs us of an interesting piece of news which happened there on Saturday night last. It appears that on Saturday morning about 10 o'clock a child three years of age, son of Joseph C. Greer, followed his father into the bush and strayed away. The child was not missed until noon, when the father returned to dinner. When he became aware of the fact that his little son had not been home for two hours, he became alarmed, thinking that something had befallen him. He went around to the neighbours, but could find no trace of him. When his search had proved fruitless he informed the neighbours and they turned out to a man and helped in the search. All Saturday afternoon they continued the search, but to no purpose. Nor did they discontinue during the whole of Saturday night. The father was almost frantic for fear that a bear had killed his little son. Several bears have been seen in the township this summer, and he did not know but that the child had become a prey for one of them. On Sunday morning, however, about a mile from home, the little fellow was discovered in a bush swamp. He appeared quite unharmed and was not frightened. He must have fallen asleep in the afternoon and remained so during the night. He said he had seen some cows, a dog and two bears during the night, and strange to say he was not harmed. Of course there was great rejoicing in the house of Greer that they had found their lost boy. It was certainly well for this little "babe of the woods" that he was discovered, because there is hardly a chance that he could have found his way home alone, and he would have been starved to death. The neighbours displayed their sympathy towards Mr. Greer in their untiring efforts to find the lost boy. —Port Arthur Herald, Sept. 5.

A Slight Mistake.

She was a thin, narrow, dark-visaged woman with "specs" on, and she carried a package of tracklets and leaflets which she scattered broadcast among the sinners in the Case avenue car in which she rode. When only one or two of the pamphlets were left a man got in. He was on his way to the depot, a countryman, going home evidently. He had a big watermelon, which he disposed of tenderly on the seat next to him, and a glass flask with a rubber cork held by out of his coat pocket.

"Hough!" he panted as he stuffed his face in the box. "Hotter than harvestin' up here, ain't it?"

Everybody looked cold disapproval at him, as good, polite, Christian people do when spoken to in a street car: all but the woman with the "tracks." She fished one out and extended it to him.

"Thankee," he said, receiving it in a brown paw. "Comin' almos' dead, hey?"

"No sir," said the woman, firmly, in a high falsetto voice. "It's to save your immortal soul. Touch not, taste not, handle not the wine," and she pointed with a crooked forefinger to the glass flask protruding from the breast pocket.

"Oh, I see," said the man, smiling good-humouredly on his sour visage. "A-r-r-r, but this bottle ain't for me, me, me."

"Wee unto him that giveth his neighbour drink," quoted the woman fiercely.

"He ain't exactly my neighbour either," said the man. "You see, it's the 50 tons less and wife calculates to bring him up by hand, and this bottle's for him, bless his potay tooty. Where's the rigging of it?" and diving into another pocket he fished out some India rubber tubing, etc.

The woman didn't wait to finish her dissertation on temperance, but got out without asking the driver to stop.

Another Monster Steamship.

The Messrs. Allan have just completed a contract with a Clyde ship building firm for the construction of another large steamship. She is to be called the Siberian, and will be a freight ship after the model of the Company's three new freight vessels, the Hanoverian, Korean and Gracian. Like them she is to be of steel, but she will be much larger than any of them, 4,000 tons register. This is only 600 tons less displacement than the Parisian and 50 tons less than the Bardonia, but her carrying capacity will be larger than either of these owing to her being built specially for freight. By the terms of the contract the new vessel is to be pushed forward with all despatch. In the meantime preliminary connection with the construction of the 4,100 tonner Namidian are about complete, her lines being now laid. The present visit of Mr. Andrew Allan to Britain is supposed to be on business connected with the new vessel. —Montreal Star.

Shooting Accident.

A rather serious shooting accident occurred on Alice street, Guelph, about 8 o'clock on Tuesday night. Edward Searl, Thos. Maher and John Evans had arranged to go on a coon hunting expedition and met in that neighborhood to start out. While Evans was raising his gun upon his shoulder, by some means the cock was pulled back and coming down upon the nipple sent off the contents. The charge lodged in the neck of Maher, who was about four feet distant. He had a narrow escape from instant death, and although as it is his case is rather serious, there is every hope of his ultimate recovery.

The Pacific Coast.

The lumber industry, says the San Francisco Journal of Commerce, is going to be an excellent one of the great industries of our Pacific coast future. There is no region on earth except tropical South America that possesses anything like the forest that clothes the great mountain chain whose principal summits rise above the deserts of Arizona. These are fully 700 miles of mountains covered with virgin forests, which it would seem as if the whole world could not exhaust. The estimated quantity of lumber in these forests is not less than 4,032,000,000, or 4,000,000,000 feet, worth in the aggregate, at a very low estimate, $25,000,000,000. California itself has 12,000,000 acres of woodlands, the annual production being about 500,000,000 feet. The total average product of the coast is estimated as follows:—California, 500,000,000 feet; Washington, 300,000,000; Oregon, 200,000,000; British Columbia, 50,000,000; other sections, 60,000,000—total, 1,110,000,000 feet. The value of this for export is about $10,000,000.

Gigantic Land Fraud.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—A proposed gigantic land deal, involving several million dollars' worth of United States redeemed timber lands, has been discovered. The lands are situated in the northern part of California, and comprised the most valuable redwood timber on the coast. Applications for possession were signed by dummy men. Several hundred applications of this kind have been filed with the Government officials here, and it is alleged Government officials are in collusion with the parties engineering the scheme.

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Calase House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. CATARRH CURED.

Gentlemen,—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. While taking it for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

Mrs. FULFORD,

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1883.

Railway Notes.

The Lindsay Post says that early in the week the material for the centre-truss section of the iron bridge came in. The material filled two cars loaded to their utmost capacity. Track laying is going on rapidly on the branch to the river, although work in this particular will be stopped for a day or two, the supply of plates having given out. On Thursday morning the first train passed over the new line. They carried stone, lumber, and other material for the new station and buildings. As the track had not been ballasted the train moved very cautiously. Work on the new station was commenced on Tuesday. The station is located on the north side of the track and directly opposite William street. The company at one time entertained the idea of building the station further down the line at the junction of the new track with the Whitby line. The present location is much more convenient and well placed, both for passenger and eventually freight business. A stone foundation will be placed under the building. It will be 27 x 60 feet. Suitable platform accommodation has been staked out and will be built at once.

The Madoc Review says it is rumoured that the rails on the Toronto and Ottawa railway between this village and Bridgewater are to be pulled up and the road closed.

The Lindsay Warder says tracklaying on the extension here is proceeding rapidly and the rails are now laid half way to the river. Yesterday an engine was up and down on it drawing rails, etc., for the men engaged. The bridge is also being pushed along, and as soon as the track is laid and ballasted sufficiently the heavy iron work now lying at the depot will be taken down and placed in position. It is expected that operations will now be complete and trains running over the bridge inside of three weeks.

The Lindsay Warder says an unfortunate and serious collision on the Whitby division of the Midland occurred near Port Perry on Tuesday. It appears a special had been sent on from Lindsay to Whitby, and somehow ran into an engine taking water at Port Perry, doing considerable damage. The drivers names were Mowat and Lukes respectively, and the engines—No. 28 and 41—were considered the best on the division. Engine 41 was a new coal burner, having only been put on this spring. An investigation was held Wednesday evening at the station here, but adjourned to Peterborough. There was also considerable damage done to the cars of the special, and driver Mowat sustained injury in his back and his fireman a lacerated finger. The same day a collision occurred on the Toronto & Nipissing and two engines were somewhat damaged. It is said these were both trying to pass on the one track.

The Agency Over.

Pain banished as if by magic. Polson's Nervine is a positive and almost instantaneous remedy for neuralgia, internal, or local pain. The most active remedy hitherto known falls far short of Nervine for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. Good for external use, Bay a 10 cent sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh, large bottle 25 cents.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

LORD DUFFERIN RECALLED.
LONDON, Sept. 14.—Lord Dufferin, the British Ambassador to Turkey, has been recalled.

WITHOUT COURAGE.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Times says:—Notwithstanding the talk about conciliation all the actions of the French Government tend towards war. Yet it is without courage to prepare for war on a scale equal to the occasion.

AWAITING REINFORCEMENTS.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The French accounts of the battle with the Black-flags state that on the 1st of Sept. the French forces from Hanoi advanced to within twelve miles of Sontay. The enemy were found in casemate forts, upon which the French fire had not the slightest effect. After three days' hard fighting the French, aided by a heavy fire from the fleet under Admiral Bouet, carried the enemy's works with the bayonet, capturing two towns and two Black-flag standards. The French loss is 2 officers and 14 men killed, 3 officers and 40 men wounded. Admiral Bouet withdrew the fleet to Hanoi to await reinforcements, leaving 300 men to hold the captured towns.

AMERICAN.

THE HAYTI INSURRECTION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Official advices from Hayti say the towns of Bainet and Marigot, which fell with Jacmel into the hands of the insurgents, have been retaken. The insurgents at Jacmel are closely surrounded. The Commune of Cotes de Fer has been given over by the insurgents to pillage and other acts of violence. The bombardment of Miragoane has completely silenced the fire of the insurgents, and the city is like a necropolis. Fighting continues at Jeremie.

The Cells.

One tramp had the cells all to himself last night.

St. John's Church.

The Rev. O. R. Bell, now of Brantford but recently of Lakeside, will conduct the services at St. John's Church to-morrow both in the morning and evening.

Volunteers.

An officer and picket from the Cobourg camp went the rounds in town yesterday evening, and picked up a member of volunteers who had neglected to turn out for the annual drill.

Fair and Warmer.

The weather to-day is warm and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, continued fine warm weather.

Trains Late.

Friday's regular night train on the Midland did not reach here until an early hour this morning on account of a steam shovel being across the track near Scarborough. The 7.45 train from here ran through to Port Hope. The noon train to-day was an hour and three-quarters late.

Personal.

We regret to learn that the Rev. T. L. Davidson, D. D., of Tarenton, who recently received a call to become the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, lies at the point of death. This news will be received with profound regret not only by the Baptists of Peterborough, but by the Baptists of the Dominion.

Accident.

About a week ago Mr. George Fry, painter, met with an accident by which he came very near losing the sight of one of his eyes. He was painting at the Court House, when a young boy, standing near him, removed a brush from a potash pot. The potash flew in all directions, a small portion of it lighting on Mr. Fry's left eye. Happily the burning fluid did not touch the sight, but went up under the upper lid. Dr. Burnham happened to be in the vicinity and by prompt measures saved the eye. Mr. Fry is now considerably improved, but the danger is not yet over.

The Lacrosse Match.

The following are the names of the Peterborough team who are to play the Maple Leaf Club, of Kingston, on Monday afternoon next:

T. Giroux, W. A. Sanderson,
M. Tierney, W. Reynolds,
M. McDonald, J. Sheehy,
A. Yelland, M. Halpin,
C. Rutherford, W. Rodkin,
G. Giroux, J. Joyal.

Spare men: W. J. Scott, J. Howden.
The ball will be faced at 3 o'clock. Admission to the grounds, 15c. A very close and exciting game is expected.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briefly is all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Field Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

W. A. EDWARDS, of Franklinville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

ACCIDENTALLY HANGED.

Singular and Sad Accident in a Kincardine Boy in Stockton, Man.

One of the most singular and painfully distressing accidents that has been known in this country occurred on Tuesday week, at the farm of Ashton F. Andrews, Stockton (ten miles southeast of Millford), Manitoba. Willie Chambers, aged two years, son of George Chambers, who, with his wife, reside with Mr. Andrews, she being housekeeper, accidentally hanged himself literally before his mother's eyes. Two-and-a-half-hours before he was found to be dead, he had gone to play around the well house, on the corner of which a plough line was hanging. It hung in loops of perhaps fourteen inches in length as farmers usually fasten up the plough lines. It appears that the little fellow had been in the habit of playing horse with it, and on this occasion he seems to have put his head over one of the loops and fell forward. The rope did not tighten. He made no struggle, and two men at work in the yard not twenty feet from him noticed nothing strange about him. His mother saw him from the door, but thought he was putting sticks under the planking of the well. A minute or two after the old farm dog looked towards her from the child's side with a pitiful expression of face. She then ran to see him and found him quite dead. She had help at once, but though his heart seemed to beat, he never breathed more than once, if indeed he breathed at all after being found. The sorrowful parents have the deepest sympathy of the entire community. Only a few months ago Mr. Chambers gave up a good position in Watson and Malcom's furniture factory in Kincardine to get out on a farm with his children, thinking it so much safer and better for them. And yet so soon the youngest has been so sadly taken away.—Brandon Sun.

WAS IT A MURDER?

Fatal Stabbing Case in Cobourg—Two Men Arrested on Suspicion.

COBOURG, Sept. 14.—The unfortunate man McDowell, who was brutally stabbed here last night, died to-day at noon. From what can be learned, the deceased was in bed when he was aroused by a shoemaker named James McCaffrey, who occupies the lower part of the dwelling as a shoe-shop. They both proceeded down to the shop, where they were joined by a labourer named John Doyle, where the three indulged in drinking whiskey. In fifteen minutes afterwards McDowell was found on the stairs intoxicated and severely stabbed on the neck and abdomen, the latter wound causing his death. A shoemaker's knife was afterwards found in McCaffrey's shop covered with blood, which is supposed to be the knife with which the act was committed. The deceased was conscious to within a few minutes of his death, and refused to give the name of his assailant. McCaffrey and Doyle were both arrested last night on suspicion. An inquest was held this evening, but was adjourned until Monday next. The deceased comes from South Gower, a small village in the vicinity of Ottawa, and was a carpenter by trade.

THE GREELEY EXPEDITION.

Return of the Relief Steamer Yantic—No Tidings of the Explorers.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 13.—The United States Greeley relief steamship Yantic has just anchored. Her tidings are lamentable. No word has been received from Greeley or any of his party. The steamer Portoune was crushed in floe ice at the entrance to Smith's sound July 23rd. Captain Pike and his crew and the scientific party are passengers by the Yantic.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Post's Washington correspondent says:—An immediate effort will be made to fit out an expedition to relieve Greeley's party under private supervision, as the amount appropriated by Congress is all expended. Great anxiety is expressed for the safety of the men, as they have only sufficient provisions to last through the season.

Sanitary Value of Foliage.

Professor Coret, of the University of Geneva, points out that the functions of trees in streets are not limited to acting as screens for sunbathing wayfarers, they temper the heat and serve as a protection against dust; the evaporation from their leaves tends to keep the surrounding air cool and moist, and as one of the best means of refreshing the air of a sick room is to place in it plants and branches and sprinkle them with water, a like effect is produced by trees. Sanitary light is necessary to health, but trees, if not too thickly planted, do not intercept sunlight—the continual vibration of their leaves and swaying of their branches admitting the light every instant and in sufficient measure, serving, moreover, to protect the eyes from the noxious glare. So far from trees impeding the circulating of air, they help to purify it; the evaporation from their leaves determines a current from above, and the fresh air thus brought down assists in driving away the heat and dust-impregnated gases of the streets. Another useful property of foliage is that, while in bud, dry weather it moistens the surrounding atmosphere, thus rendering it fitter to breathe, this effect, which is due to evaporation, ceases in wet weather.

An Unwilling Bride.

A few days ago some glissie drove to a minister's house at Kingston and requested him to marry a young couple that were seated in the wagon. At the altar, when the young woman was asked if she would accept the man she stuttered and stammered, and finally rushed from the building, followed by her sweetheart. The latter pleaded with the girl to return, but she refused. Suddenly she ran away, and on being caught on Princess street was given a horsewhipping by her father.

LEARNING HISTORY.

It seems that our liberties are in danger from the North-West Mounted Police, who as a quasi-military force must, we are informed, be unpopular in a free country. But we are almost reconciled to this startling information, by learning from the same article that the Globe is studying history. It says:—

"Long after the close of the American civil war United States troops were distributed throughout the Southern States on the pretence that the free negroes were 'bulldozed' into voting the Democratic ticket."

We are a little doubtful as to the accuracy of the word "pretence," but passing that by as a moot point, we are glad to see that our contemporary has acquired the following correct ideas:—

1. That Mr. Mowat's violent and lawless assertion of Provincial rights at Hat Portage is a parallel case to the American civil war, as urged by the South, for exaggerated State rights or disruption.

2. That the North-West Mounted Police, if employed in this trouble, would, like the United States troops, be acting on the side of law and order, and against the advocates of secession and disruption.

3. That it is the moribund Ontario administration and its friends, not the Dominion authorities, who may be compared with the seceding Southern States.

These are important gains in historical knowledge to be made by a journal that a short time ago thought the term "copperhead" the nickname of the Northern sympathizers with the Southern secessionists and wagers of civil war, an appropriate one to apply to the advocates of an appeal to the law courts instead of violence, and to the supporters of the integrity of the Dominion against those who threatened disruption.

Let the timid may be unnecessarily terrified by the gloomy prognostications of the Globe, we may conclude with the information that the only ground for its panic is the report that six of the Mounted Police have been seen in the streets of Winnipeg. There is, therefore, no cause of their harassing us for several days at the very least.

OUR CANAL SYSTEM.

The Montreal Shareholder quotes as follows from the New York Bulletin:—

"The impression is gaining ground throughout Canada, and particularly among vessel-men that until the Dominion Government sees fit to make its canal free the stagnant condition of Canadian lake commerce will be permanent. It was believed that by the enlargement of the Welland Canal a large proportion of the grain shipped from Chicago would seek an outlet to the seaboard by that route; but at that point a mistake has been made, as the efforts to attract shipping through the Canadian canal led New York to abolish canal tolls altogether, and this has been followed by a large increase of traffic on the Erie. The clearances from Buffalo last week were far ahead of any preceding week this season, while the vessel passages through the Welland Canal were below the average number, so far as grain carriers are concerned."

Upon this the Shareholder remarks that: "The evidence that this competition is disastrous to Canadian interests is now so overwhelming as to compel our Government to make radical changes in our present canal policy."

It is very true, that Canada may learn some lesson from present circumstances. It can hardly be denied for instance that our policy of opening up the St. Lawrence navigation by means of gigantic canals was premature and ill-considered, for the enormous expense thereby incurred has had the effect of giving equal facilities to our neighbours, who did not contribute, and increasing their trade in even a greater ratio than our own.

The lesson that we really have to learn is that it is not these big ship canals that we want, but the less costly and more efficient barge canals. If traffic on the Erie canal has increased so largely, though it is a mere ditch confined between narrow banks and with an insufficient supply of heated water, what may we not expect from the opening of the Trent Valley navigation, with its magnificent expanses of deep, cool lakes and rivers with their rocky shores, allowing of great speed and affording ample room? This would open a barge navigation from the Georgian Bay to our seaports, and it is now well known that barges are more useful and economical for inland navigation than the larger vessels, to suit which so many millions have been spent on our ship canals. In spite of the opposition or the almost equally destructive lethargy of the veteran advocates of these costly works, barge canals will make their way, and first on the list is the Trent Valley Navigation.

ILL BIRDS.

It has been falsely asserted by the Globe and its imitators that the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway had been deflected so far south as to run for hundreds of miles through the American Desert, the land being unfit for settlement, and that the company has refused to accept any part of their land grant in the railway belt, along the main line west of the "Appelle." Mr. Geo. Stephen, President of the C. P. R., has published a letter plainly exposing the falsehood of both these statements, as the Company has not refused to accept these lands, which are excellently adapted for farming. Yet these calumnies are invented in the hope of injuring the Macdonald administration, without regard to the injury done to Canada, whose enemies and competitors will greedily seize upon and reproduce these disparaging assertions. This is another modern instance of the old saw that "they are ill birds who foul their own nest."

We publish in another column a letter from gentlemen interested in the export of Canadian cattle to England showing how our High Commissioner Sir Charles Tupper was successful in preventing the condemnation and slaughter of several hundred head of cattle which the inspectors at Liverpool had mistakenly supposed to be suffering from Texan fever. Their story shows most clearly the energy, the tact, and the success with which Sir Charles is serving Canada in his new position. And it must also be remembered that it was not merely a question of a few shiploads of cattle. If they had been condemned, it would have diminished the value of every head of cattle in Canada, for our rivals would gladly have spread abroad the news, as they now do the unpatriotic misrepresentations of Canada, its position and prospects, to be found in too many Reform journals.

And now in a new attempt to justify the inconsistent and dishonest conduct of Mr. Mowat in first supporting the Orange Incorporation Bill and then interfering to prevent it from becoming law, the Reform journals are stating that the Attorney-General was acting in accordance with instructions given by the Federal authorities to the Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces. This is simply a falsehood, for there were no such instructions. An attempt is made to confuse the minds of readers by the tricky device of representing instructions from Downing Street to the Governor-General as being the same thing as instructions from the Dominion authorities to the Lieutenant-Governors. In those days it seems to have been right for an Ontario Attorney-General to court the interference of the Dominion with Provincial legislation.

In Jacques Cartier they are on the eve of a contested election, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Mowat will have the floors and upboards in the different polling places closely examined. It will be remembered that Jacques Cartier is the constituency where by means of a carefully arranged trap Conservative votes were stolen from a ballot box and "Reform" votes were substituted, in the vain attempt to elect Mr. Laflamme, the Minister of Justice of the "party of purity."

THE DETENTION OF CANADIAN CATTLE IN LIVERPOOL.

The following letter appears in the Mail:—
 Sir,—The detention of two cargoes of Canadian cattle, exsteamers Ontario and Lake Nepigon, on account of disease, must have been a matter of surprise to your readers. We, the undersigned Canadians engaged in the cattle trade, were in Liverpool when the cattle were condemned for slaughter by Mr. Moore, the Privy Council Inspector at this port, on account, as he stated at first, of splenic fever, but which he eventually altered to Texan fever. Feeling confident that the cattle were perfectly healthy, and knowing that there is no cattle disease in Canada, we at once appealed to Mr. Dyke, the Canadian Government Agent, and long-tried friend of the Canadian cattle trade. Mr. Dyke at once communicated with Sir Charles Tupper, the High Commissioner in London, and in the meantime Professor Duguid, of the Privy Council Department, London, came to Liverpool and ordered six of the cattle to be slaughtered for inspection, and upon this being done, decided that they were suffering from Texan fever. Upon his confirming Mr. Moore's opinion, the Privy Council authorities ordered the slaughter of the whole of the cattle brought by both steamers, in all about three hundred and fifty head. From the order of the Privy Council there was an appeal, and a portion of the stock were killed, at a loss of from ten to twenty dollars per head.

Mr. Dyke represented the case as it stood to Sir Charles Tupper, who again approached the Privy Council authorities in London, and bearing a letter from the Secretary of the Privy Council to Professor Duguid, came to Liverpool the same night. Messrs. Roddick, Nelson, and others interested in the trade, called in the services of a dozen of the leading veterinary surgeons of Great Britain, and Sir Charles Tupper met these gentlemen by appointment at the lairage. Upon pressure being brought to bear upon Mr. Moore by Sir Charles Tupper that gentleman selected six of the cattle which he stated were diseased, and these were slaughtered and carefully examined, when not a trace of disease could be found. Sixty more were then killed with the same result.

The object of this letter is to show your readers the dangerous position our trade was in; indeed it was condemned, the good character of our stock gone, and the value of our thoroughbred breeding herds in Canada reduced at least twenty-five per cent., so far as the export trade to the United States was concerned. We wish to record our thanks to Sir Charles Tupper, through whose great tact and personal attention our trade was rescued. Sir Charles witnessed every examination, remaining in the slaughter-house from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. He then returned to London the same night, induced the Privy Council to reconsider their decision and to liberate our cattle, and thus earned the gratitude of not only everyone engaged in the trade, but every farmer in the Dominion.

A Remedy for Toothache.

We have heard of many strange and curious remedies which have been adopted by men for the cure of the thousand and one aches which human flesh is heir to, but among the strangest and apparently most ridiculous panaceas of which we have ever heard is that suggested by a well-to-do farmer residing in the Township of Clarke. He says he used to be subject to frequent and terrible attacks of toothache, and a friend suggested to him one day that if he would make a practice of always drawing on his left foot first he would be entirely freed from his uncomfortable guest. He has followed the practice for the last twenty years, and during that period he has never had the least touch of toothache. We give the information for the benefit of those who wish to test the remedy.—Port Hope Times.

MARTIN LUTHER.

The Four Hundredth Anniversary of His Birth Celebrated—Royalty Present.

WITTENBERG, Sept. 13.—Delegates from England, Scotland, and Ireland to attend the celebration to-day of the four-hundredth anniversary of Martin Luther have arrived. The celebration was a great success. Colossal busts of Luther and Melancthon had been placed on the balcony of the town hall and on stands throughout the city. Portraits of Luther and mottoes from his sayings and writings were displayed at many windows. The number of visitors is estimated at 50,000. The Crown Prince, with Prince Albrecht and Von Gosseler, Minister of Ecclesiastical Affairs, attended divine service at Stadt Kirche, when over 1,000 clergymen filled the church. Superintendent General Chulitz delivered the festival sermon. The party then proceeded to Schloss Kirche, where the Crown Prince placed a splendid laurel wreath upon Luther's grave. A long procession marched to Luther's house, where the Crown Prince, in a large hall, formerly Luther's lecture room, declared the Luther Hall open. In an address the Crown Prince said:—"May this festival serve as a holy exhortation to uphold the great benefits of the Reformation, and strengthen our resolution to be ready always to defend the evangelical creed of liberty of conscience and religious toleration. May Luther's anniversary help to strengthen Protestant feeling and preserve the German evangelical church from disunion, and lay the foundation of everlasting peace." Lectures on Luther's life and work were delivered this afternoon. The evening was devoted to banquets and festive gatherings.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it without any advertising, we have concluded to place it extensively on the market, so that those who suffer may have a perfect cure. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

Failure Impossible.

When Polson's Nervine is used for pain, it matters not how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief. Nervine, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10-cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten-cent bottles at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

BOBFAIRY.

DROWNED.—The Independent says that strong fears are entertained that an Indian, by name Johnson, has been drowned in Pigeon Lake. On the lower end of the Island a number of Indians are employed who employ their time in shooting and fishing, the products of their skill being disposed of to the pale faces. On Friday Johnson and some others went out fishing. After a time Johnson caught a muskungee. He went off to dispose of it, and the rest crossed the lake to get on a log shore. Johnson has not been seen since, and on Saturday his canoe was found bottom up in Courtney's Bay, with the fishing line out in the water. Search is being made for the missing man, whose unexpected death is a distressing affliction to his wife and family.

COBBOURG.

IS HE SUICIDE.—About eight o'clock on Thursday evening a carpenter named Hugh McDowell was found in the ball of a brick building on King street, east, known as the "Hospital," fatally stabbed in the neck and abdomen. He was a very quiet man, but had been drinking considerably lately. The sad affair is a mystery and very little can be learned of it at present. The doctors say he will not live.

DECEASED DAY.—The Oddfellows of Cobourg decorated the graves of their deceased brethren on Friday, Sept. 8th.

FELL FROM A TREE.—The World says that on Monday afternoon a very serious accident happened to Bertie Hough, the second son of the editor of that paper. He was playing with the children of the Rev. Dr. Roy, at the residence of that gentleman—a feature of the programme of one of the other boys and himself being to climb one of the high trees. This feat had been successfully performed, and he was descending when a limb snapped and down he came to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet. He was taken up insensible, and was believed to be killed; but finally recovered consciousness, when he was kindly cared for by Dr. and Mrs. Roy till medical and other help arrived. At first it was feared there had been concussion of the brain, from the tendency, notwithstanding serious injuries, to fall asleep. No harm of this kind had resulted, however, and no bones were broken, though the little spine was badly shaken up, and cut and bruised about the face and body. To the many kind enquiries of friends we are thankful to report that he is doing first rate, though laid up for a week, and permanently retired from the risky business of climbing trees.

LINDSAY.

THE FROST.—The Post says that the severe frost of Sunday night has played havoc with garden vegetables, almost everything less hardy than a cabbage having succumbed. Owing to the lateness of the season a large number of tomatoes were unripened. These have advanced in price up to 90 cents per basket. Several market gardeners have lost heavily on produce destroyed by the frost.

SCHOOL MATTERS.—Although the committee of the school board did not meet on Friday last as agreed on they did meet further on and engaged Mr. R. Lees as science master and to take charge of the model school. Mr. Lees comes very well recommended, having had several years successful teaching and having stood very high in point of qualification.

THE BAND.—The band have succeeded famously in raising enough money to procure a new set of instruments and a band uniform. The instruments were ordered to be sent on by express and were expected Thursday night. The clothing firms of the town have been asked to tender for making the uniforms, fifteen in number. The style of dress selected is a gray color, half-frock coat, trimmed with red, and red facings. A band of red is carried around the trousers' leg. A jaunty cap with plume completes the uniform. When the band does turn out it will be the smartest looking band in the district.

A SUNDAY NIGHT DISTURBANCE.—At the meeting of the selectmen on Sunday night a row occurred that had it spread to the dimensions of a panic might have been attended with serious consequences. Fifty different versions of the affair are related, no two agreeing in the particulars. It is said that a number of young men made themselves objectionable to the meeting by persisting in keeping on their hats and in using abusive language. One of the number was arrested by Constable Smart and summarily ejected from the hall amid the threats and expostulations of his comrades. Another story tells how a box filled with shavings was set on fire and hoisted on a pole up opposite one of the hall windows, an alarm of fire being given in hopes that the meeting would be broken up. Fortunately the fire was anticipated and there was not the rush from the hall that might have followed such a foolish and cowardly act. On Monday Mr. Marshall, on behalf of the army, laid information against P. Connors and others for disturbing the meeting. While a large number of people had seen the acts of Connors and his comrades no one could be found to testify against them but Special Constable Bob Brown, and his evidence simply amounted to nothing, Mr. Brown not being sufficiently clear on any one point. The magistrate therefore dismissed the case, the costs having to be paid by Mr. Marshall.

If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dizziness and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Little Things.

Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water uniting form the mighty ocean, and a hundred examples might be cited to prove how important after all are the little things. Now come are small affairs. Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agony to the unhappy possessor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a small affair yet by its perfect, speedy, and gentle action it has gained the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous substitutes offered by some, but see that it is made by Putnam & Co., Kingston. Safe, sure, painless.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blisters, all scaly, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25 (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

"Why, Angelina, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet?" "Ain't they lovely?" "I dyed them with the Triangle Package Dyes." 10c.

BAXTER'S MANDRAKE BITTERS

THE ONLY VEGETABLE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Sick Headache and Biliousness.

Price, 95c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin raw, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you costive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1883.

Desk Diaries.
Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Police Court.
There was no business for the Police Magistrate again this morning.

Y. M. C. A.
The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held this evening in the office of Mr. G. M. Roger in consequence of the Y. M. C. A. rooms being unavailable on account of the repairs that are going on.

The Market.
There was a good market this morning with a fuller attendance both of buyers and sellers than has been the case lately. Fruit and vegetables were especially abundant, and there was a considerable supply of mutton, lamb and smoked meats. There was not much change in prices.

Bazaar.
We understand the ladies of the George Street Methodist Church intend holding a Bazaar, with refreshment tables, during the days of the Fall Fair, to be held in Peterborough on the 2nd and 3rd of October. Further particulars next week.

An Apology.
On account of press of business we have not been able to get time to write out new advertisements, but we are getting each day a lot of nice goods suitable for presents, too numerous to mention. Call and examine for yourself. We are this year, on account of increased business, selling our goods fully 10 per cent. less than last year. C. B. ROUTLEY.

Telephone Poles.
The Lindsay Post has the following paragraph: "To the credit of the telephone company it is said that they are making the poles or Kent street as respectable as possible. A coat of paint is put on—red for about the first six feet, and of a dusky color to the top. The poles are encircled with a few turns of hoop iron just about where the average horse would playfully polish his jaws while tied to the post. A row of stout spokes have been driven into each post to allow of a foothold in reaching the top to do necessary handling of wires."

Choral Society.
We learn that the idea we mooted yesterday of the formation of a choral society was one that had already been entertained, though it was deemed advisable to defer the actual formation until later in the fall. Mr. Chas. W. Ewing, organist of St. John's church, is now commencing to form a society for the practice of oratorios and concerted music. He finds that the idea is favourably received by those with whom he has communicated, and that there is every prospect of success. Further particulars will shortly be made public.

An Exciting Runaway.
On Thursday afternoon, between five and six o'clock, a runaway of an exciting character occurred in Ashburnham. Mr. Wand's team, attached to a wagon loaded with lumber, which had just arrived from Lakefield, was standing by a lumber pile, and the chains which bound the horses to the load had become loosened. The horses, which were standing with their heads towards the river, and only a few yards from it, began to move. As they did so some of the boards fell off, and the horses becoming frightened, sprang towards the water and entered it before anybody could arrest them. They swam out in the water, and quite a crowd collected on the shores and bridge and watched them, but as there appeared to be no immediate danger they were left alone. They swam to about the centre of the stream, and then turned around and made for the shore they had left, which they reached safely. They were led up on the bank and found to be uninjured. The lumber fell off the wagon into the water and floated down the stream, but it was all taken out.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The greatest medical wonder in the world. Warranted to speedily cure Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Piles, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancer, Piles, Chilblains, Corns, Tetter, Chapped Hands, and all kinds of eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

ON THE TENTED FIELD.

THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE VOLUNTEER CAMP AT COBBOURG.

The Details of the Force—Improving in Drill—The Bands of the Brigade—A Royal Visit—Old Friends Again.

From Our Own Correspondent.

To-day, (Thursday), is the first day that the full detail of military orders has been strictly carried out, as everything has by this time been done that is necessary for the successful carrying out of the work of the camp. The men are becoming accustomed to the hardships of soldier life and they seem to take kindly to it, as their sunburnt faces and healthy look give evidence that they are all enjoying excellent health. Every night after they have been served with their bread, butter and tea they seek their canvas coverings, and pass a few very pleasant hours in singing and playing on a variety of musical instruments. This sort of amusement should be encouraged among the soldiers, as it is the means of promoting a feeling of brotherly affection, and has also a tendency to deter the men from wandering away to seek some other places of amusement, where, perhaps, evil temptations would have the effect of catching some of the weak ones in their wide net. The camp in general is a quiet and sober one, and is very far wide of what some unthinking ones stigmatize it to be. There are some who fancy that the Canadian militia have what is termed a "soft time" when they go to camp, to use a slang phrase, a periodical bender. Now, this is very wrong, there being no grounds whatever for such evil and unjust accusations, and it is sincerely to be hoped that those who have held this opinion in the past will immediately dispel such uncharitable ideas from their minds, and make room for kinder thoughts to the men who are year after year devoting their time to a care that is for the benefit of the whole Dominion. When they are called upon to go forth to war, which is not improbable at some time, and have to leave their homes and dear ones, some of them, perhaps, never to return, and give up their lives for the good of their Canadian country, then, perhaps the sarcastic and evil tongues of slanderers will cease to wag in any other way, but to express words of praise for the heroes of this "Canada of ours." The life of a soldier is anything but the most pleasant occupation in the world, and even in our Canadian camps the men have to work hard, and the path they walk does not be strewn with roses.

THE BATTALIONS.

There are five battalions in the camp, besides two troops of cavalry, and the Durham Field Battery. The companies are not as large as last year in any of the battalions—some of them not more than half their former size. This is no doubt owing to the fact that there is no fixed date appointed for the camp. If men knew when they would be expected to turn out every year, they could make ample arrangements for attending camp, and the companies would, consequently be filled to their full numbers. As it is at present there is only short notice given, and men do not have sufficient time to make the necessary preparations for leaving their work. As before mentioned, the camp consists of five battalions, viz., 47th Battalion, of Frontenac; 46th Battalion, Port Hope; 40th Battalion, Cobourg; 40th Battalion, Belleville, and last, but not least, the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers. There are two cavalry troops, Peterborough and Port Hope, and one battery, viz., the Durham Field, in which the Peterborough boys are foremost. The whole camp is in command of Deputy-Adjutant General Villiers. The Brigade Major is Captain Hodgins, of the Queen's Own, Toronto, and the Assistant Brigade Major is Lieut. Rutherford, of B. Battery, Kingston.

A ROYAL VISIT.

We are to be favoured with a visit from the Governor-General of Canada, the Marquis of Lorne, and his most estimable spouse, H.R.H. the Princess Louise. The royal party is to be accompanied by Prince George of Wales, eldest son of the Prince of Wales. They are to inspect the troops, and no doubt will form a good opinion of the general get-up of the Canadian volunteers. This visit is looked forward to by every individual man with a feeling of pleasure, and many an old soldier's heart will throb with joy as he looks on the face of one of our Queen's children. Others again will be anxious to behold, many of them for the first time, members of the royal family, and will, no doubt, endeavour to look their very best on the occasion. It is possible by the time this correspondence reaches you that this event will have taken place, but nevertheless, the readers of the Review will be pleased to learn of this, and I will send you full particulars as speedily as possible.

OUR BRIGADE BAND.

As is the custom at all brigade camps, a brigade band has been formed, and plays certain pieces of music under the express order of the Adjutant-General. The music comprises a slow march, a quarter-column and open column march, a trot past and the Queen. We had our first practice as a brigade band on Thursday, and although the music that has been selected is not what we can call very first-rate, it is suitable for the occasion. There are at present four bands in camp, and another one is to arrive on Monday. An idea can be conceived, when one takes into consideration the fact that the whole five bands constitute and comprise three fine bands. When they all play together, it makes a big noise, whether the music is correct or otherwise.

CAMP NOTES.

The 57th Battalion are without a doubt the best on the march of any other battalion on the ground, and present a splendid appearance when in heavy marching order.

A number of old and familiar faces are to be seen at the camp, some of whom have left Peterborough for other scenes long ago, but who, nevertheless, have not severed their connection with the good old battalion, among them I may mention Quarter-Master J. W. Miller, who is indefatigable in his efforts to make everybody comfortable that he has any dealings with.

The 57th canteen is, as usual, being run in first-class style, and the men can be supplied with everything that is required for camp life at this institution.

The boys are all well, and seem to be enjoying themselves to their heart's content. The band boys are all well, and "Sam," the Mark Twain of the band, keeps the members in roars of laughter with his witty sayings.

A MALIGNANT SPIRIT.

The Montreal Herald, which is the leading organ of the English speaking Reformers in the Province of Quebec, thus severely but justly condemns the injurious course of the Toronto Globe:

"There has been apparent in the Globe a malignant spirit—the evidence of a 'rule or ruin' policy—a determination to accomplish its political purposes regardless of the consequences to the higher interests of the country. It is useless for it to pretend that it attempts to prevent settlement in the Canadian Northwest, and its policy of Dakota and other parts of the United States Northwest are the results of its regard for Canadian interests. It need not declare that the slanders it has rained upon all who have had to do with the opening up of the North west in recent years are intended to promote the prosperity of that country; because none is silly enough to believe it. What the country sees, what all unprejudiced people understand, is that great public interests are imperiled and great wrongs committed by a journal in order to reach an ulterior political end."

THE COAL DUTY.

The Hamilton Spectator gives the following conclusive proof of a fact which has already been demonstrated over and over again that it is the Pennsylvania coal owner, not the Canadian consumer who pays the duty on coal. The Spectator says:—

"Our city contemporary is again exercised on the question of coal. We quoted a while ago from the circular of a coal dealer that he allowed '50 cents off for Canada.' But the Times has a theory that he doesn't know what he is talking about. By the Buffalo Courier we see that stove coal in that city sells for $5.95 a ton, No. 4 for $6.20, and chestnut for $5.10. That gives an average of $6.08 per ton. In Hamilton the three sizes sell at the same price—$6.75, or 67 cents more than the Buffalo price. The freight on coal from the Bridge to Hamilton is 70 cents, though dealers are charged a little less. Will the Times kindly inform us who pays the duty?"

The Hamilton Spectator, after the manner of the old historians, translates Mr. Mowat's actions into a set speech as follows:—

"Dear beloved Orangemen, you cannot conceive the affection I have for you. It is true that I have somewhat dissembled my love, especially when I advised his Honor not to sign the bill incorporating the Orange order; but I loved you madly, devotedly, passionately, all the time. Yours in the bonds of Christian statesmanship, OLIVER MOWAT, P. S.—Please vote for Reform candidates in constituencies now open or shortly to be opened by the election courts."

There is grief in Reform circles. It appears that two gosh-birds have had their hair closely cut. As they were ranked among Mr. Mowat's officials it seems terrible that they should be treated as common prisoners. There are two of Mr. Mowat's officials, not so far off as Rat Portage, who richly deserve to have their hair closely cut also.

SOME Reform journalists are very severe (and not always without cause) in reference to strong language used by Conservative journalists, but we see no protest from these critics when the Hamilton Times calls the Conservative leaders "a gang of blackguard repudiators." That is the kind of language they apparently admire—when used to their opponents.

The scrutiny in the Muskoka election case has been very prudently abandoned. Such an enquiry would have brought out the facts as to "Reform" corruption, and would have shown that Mr. Mowat's friends sent voters from the organized districts, as usual. Will Mr. Mowat venture on a new election before next session?

We have not seen of late in the Reform journals any comparison between the prices of wheat in Canada and Chicago. Can this be because wheat has for some time past been quoted higher in Canada than in Chicago?

BOILED DOWN; NOT WATERED STOCK.

Having been reading that Western Union telegraph stock is four-fifths water, and only one-fifth bona fide invested capital, the free trade editors think it just the thing, for the time, to say that cotton company stocks have been watered too. Now, so far from this being the case, the truth of the matter is the cotton company stocks, or most of them, have been far too much concentrated and boiled down. For instance, a company that should have started with half a million capital starts with only a quarter of a million, and then has to go in debt for machinery or issue bonds for the difference. By and by it divides for a brief time only, twenty per cent, on the quarter million, whereas there has not really been ten per cent earned on the half million, the amount of capital which it should have had in the first place. The case is not one of too much stock nominally, as with railway and telegraph companies, but one of not having stock enough for the actual needs of the business. Hence the blunder of twenty or thirty per cent insufficient capital, and next no dividend at all. Had the cotton companies started in each case with sufficient capital, just enough to pay up for everything and leave a fair margin for working expenses, we should never have heard of thirty per cent dividends at all. On the immediate capital the dividends looked big for a while, but they were not really a cent bigger for all that. If you want to get the case of the cotton companies in a nutshell just look at it as being exactly the reverse of a case of watered stock and you have it. State the case of the Western Union and then state one exactly the reverse, and you describe the condition of the cotton companies as far as relation of nominal stock to capital actually invested is concerned. In their eagerness to make a point against protection the free traders have blundered most unparadoxically as to facts.—Toronto World.

EAST NORTHUMBERLAND ELECTION.

The Judges Agree as to Extensive Corruption, But Not as to the Result.

As the East Northumberland election petition has an especial interest for our readers we give the judgments of both the judges, showing on what points they disagree.

Their Lordships the Chancellor and Justice Cameron sat in the Appeal Court-room on Friday at eleven o'clock for the purpose of giving judgment in the East Northumberland election case. The Chancellor, in a judgment which, perhaps, for eloquent diction and beauty of expression has seldom if ever been excelled by any judge who has sat in Osgoode hall, proceeded to say that in his opinion all the charges of bribery by agents had either failed in proof or been disproved. As to the personal charges he must hold that the giving of a pass to a voter was no more an offence against the law prohibiting the payment of the travelling expenses of voters than was the lending of the private carriage of a candidate. Many kinds of influence over voters were perfectly legal, such as social or intellectual influence, and a man who was rich and owned many conveyances had a right to use them for the conveyance of electors to the polls. In his opinion, the director of a railway, who, by virtue of his office, had the right to grant free passes, had the right to exercise that privilege in the case of voters in election times. In construing a statute where the consequences of breaking that statute were to inflict penalties on the person infringing it, the statute should be construed in such a manner as to give the accused, who stood in the place of a quasi criminal, the benefit of a doubt, and it should not be enlarged or extended in its application by the court who were adjudging upon it. The other case of paying money to an agent for expenses, which money was used by that agent for purposes other than his expenses, but which, in his opinion, were not necessarily illegal, he must hold was not a corrupt practice within the statute or at common law. Taking the case as a whole, he must hold that the respondent, Mr. Ferris, was duly elected, and in his judgment the petition should be dismissed with costs. He should report Messrs. Martin H. Peterson, Chas. P. Cameron, O'Flynn, Charles Burke, and Alfred Biggs, as guilty of corrupt practices.

Judge CAMERON, in a most elaborate judgment, then proceeded to say that in some respects he could not agree with the learned Chancellor in the conclusion at which he had arrived in respect to the charges personally to the respondent. As to the agency charges, he concurred in the opinion that agency was not established, and although a large amount of treating and a good deal of bribery and corruption had been proved to have taken place during the campaign, still the evidence was not such as to make the respondent responsible for them. As to the charge of giving, in his capacity of director of the Midland Railway, passes to voters to enable them to go to the polls, he must differ with the opinion of the Chancellor that it was not a contravention of the section of the statute prohibiting the payment or defraying of the travelling expenses of electors. The spirit of the Act was plainly violated, even supposing the letter of it had not been, and in construing a prohibitory enactment the mischief intended to be prevented, and the remedy to be provided must be regarded so as to give effect to the intention of the Legislature. If candidates at elections who had influence with, or control over certain railways were to be considered as innocent of any infraction of the law when giving passes to voters on the roads they were interested in, the candidate who had no railway influence would be placed at a great disadvantage. He must decide that the giving of a free pass on a railway was a violation of the statute, and would, if committed with a knowledge that it was an illegal act, submit the respondent to the penalties of disqualification. In regard to the payment of his personal election expenses, Mr. Ferris had been at least extremely lax in his ideas. He had put a sum of money in his pocket at the beginning of the campaign, and at the end of it had counted what was left, and put down the rest as his personal expenses. This was not in accordance with the provisions of the statute. In one instance, if not in more, the money given for the purpose of paying the expenses of canvassers was put to illegal purposes. Although on the evidence he had grave doubts as to whether Mr. Ferris had in every respect carefully and fully, as far as he was able, carried out the law, he would hold that in the case of the giving of the railway passes, although the act in his opinion was a corrupt one, it was done in ignorance of the law and without the intention of violating it. There was a provision of the statute which in such a case as this relieved the offender from the penalties of disqualification, and he would hold that in this case Mr. Ferris was so relieved. This fact, however, did not prevent the election being voided, and his opinion was that the election should be upset with costs to the petitioner. The same parties mentioned in the Chancellor's judgment should, in his opinion, be reported as guilty of bribery.

The result being that the judges who tried the case differ in their opinion on it, it will now have to go to the Court of Appeal, to be there finally adjudicated upon.

Peddling Watches.

It is difficult to learn from the advertisement whether a watch is to be given as a bribe to induce people to read the Globe, or whether the Globe is to be thrown in as an inducement to buy a watch. The two are fully associated. The Globe is just the paper one would expect to find in company with a $3.50 watch. The people who would put faith in a $3.50 watch are just those who would be apt to believe a Globe editorial. No doubt the watch peddling business will be successful, because the man who could be bribed to read the Globe can no doubt be caught by the offer of a $3.50 watch as well as by something of commercial value. It would be gratifying to see a man who could sit with the Weekly Globe in one hand and the Globe's pewter watch in the other, all for the modest sum of $3.50, and have his picture taken in the attitude of one resolved to defend Ontario's rights to the last gasp, would be a man whose photograph we should like to have—not for its intrinsic worth, but as a reminder that simple trust and guileless innocence have not yet perished from the earth.—Hamilton Spectator.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church Street, Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterborough, on Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Bouville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 13 Phillips Square, Montreal.

A Giant Raft.

The New York Times of August contains the following account of an immense raft which was brought from St. John, N. B., being the first attempt at raft towing in that direction:

The largest string of logs ever made into a raft was towed into the Erie Basin, South Brooklyn, at day-break yesterday morning by the tugs Cyclops and Haviland. The raft is 1,200 feet long, 21 feet wide, and twelve feet deep. It is composed of 11 sections, each of which contains about 500 logs, ranging in size from the diameter of a wagon wheel down to that of a telegraph pole. The logs are piled in huge bundles and strapped together with chains strong enough to tow the Great Eastern. These sections were placed in a string and fastened with a strong hawser to the Cyclops, and Capt. Gally of the Haviland, while the entire expedition was piloted and managed by Capt. Rufus Patterson, of St. John, New Brunswick, the veteran of the Province. The logs were bought by Mr. James Murry, of No. 26 Burling slip, in New Brunswick early this summer. The distance which they were towed is 650 miles, as the ships sail, and the freight would have been very heavy. Mr. Murry accordingly consulted with Capt. C. C. Ellis, of No. 60 South-street, a brother of the master of the Cyclops, who undertook to tow the raft to New York, at a saving of 50 per cent in freight rates. The raft was constructed, and on Aug. 7 was started from the harbor of St. John. The trip was made without serious accident. The first three days were calm as could be, New Brunswick, the veteran of the Province. The logs were bought by Mr. James Murry, of No. 26 Burling slip, in New Brunswick early this summer. My Dear Sir, Having tried your Fountain of Health for my complaints, I heartily urge all those suffering from Dyspepsia, Costiveness or Depression of Spirits, to give it a trial, as I have been completely cured with two bottles. I never enjoyed my breakfast, and being unable to sleep well, I grew very nervous. I am aged forty-five, and have suffered for over ten years.

Mrs. PHILLIPS, Cartaker Niagara Street School, Toronto.

CATARHUS CURED. Gentlemen,—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. While taking it for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

Mrs. FURLOUGH, 100 Bellwood Ave., Toronto.

DEAR SIR, Your Fountain of Health has completely cured me of Dyspepsia, which has troubled me for nearly two years.

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of your Fountain of Health. For over nine years I have suffered from disease of the Kidneys, having a severe pain in the back, a great deal of the time and a tenderness of the eye balls. No remedies that I have ever tried and I have used no end of them, gave me relief, except your Fountain of Health, which has made me feel good. I have used two of your dollar bottles.

Yours sincerely, WILLIAM GRAHAM, 6 Lincoln Street, Toronto.

BURGLARY.

Mr. Smith's "Market" Entered and a Sum of Money Stolen.

Some time during the silent hours of Saturday night or early on Sunday morning some person or persons forced an entrance into Mr. H. E. Smith's fruit and fish market on George street and secured $130 in cash.

The door was entered from the rear. The back door was fastened by a staple into which a bolt was shot. Force was brought to bear upon the door until the staple was loosened enough either to allow of something being put through the crack to move the bolt back or so it would not hold the bolt. Having gained an entrance into the back shop the burglars passed into a hall which led them to the side of the store. The door between this hall and the store was bolted, but there was a window in it, and a pane of glass was shattered. Through the opening thus made an arm was thrust through and the bolt removed. The burglars then stepped into the store, where the safe was. How they effected an entrance into the safe is not known. It had a combination lock, but the lock and the door were not injured. They either unlocked the safe or Mr. Smith had forgotten to lock it on Saturday evening. At any rate they got into the safe and abstracted $130 in five dollar bank notes, and took some small silver out of the till. There was $18 or $20 in silver in the safe, which they evidently did not notice, as it was untouched.

Mr. Smith went into the store on Sunday a little before noon, and his attention was drawn to the bold work that had been done by some fragments of glass breaking under his feet. He then discovered that the door of the safe was open, and that the money was gone.

It was reported on Saturday afternoon that a couple of professional cracksmen were coming this way, and the banks and stores were notified. Mr. Smith, however, thinks that the robbery must have been committed by some person acquainted with the premises, and that if strangers had a hand in it they must have been assisted by some one who understood the hall and doorways. It certainly does look more like the work of amateurs than that of professional cracksmen.

There will be a meeting of the St. John's Church branch of the Church of England Temperance Society in the chapel on Tuesday evening at half past seven o'clock.

Twill be colder.

The weather to-day is clear and warm. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong N. west to north winds; fine, slightly cooler weather.

The Maple Leaf.

The Maple Leaf Lacrosse Club, of Kingston, arrived here at about 11.30 this forenoon, on the Grand Junction train. They are an athletic lot of fellows, and in weight appear to have an advantage over the Peterborough team. The following compose the team:—G. G. Robinson, J. Hunter, T. Elmer, P. Filtz, T. Little, M. Elliott, R. Agnew, R. Filtz, A. McDonald, W. Reed, J. Little, H. Walker; S. McCullough, field captain; A. Agnew, umpire.

The Peterborough Rangers.

"57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers, To be Major from 10th September, 1883, Captain and Brevet Major Robert William Bell, M.S., from the adjutant, vice Rogers, promoted. No. 2 Company, Peterborough, to be Lieutenant from 10th September, 1883, 2nd Lieutenant Robert J. Lee, M.S., vice Miller, appointed quartermaster. Captain and Paymaster John Burnham is permitted to retire retaining his rank as captain. To be quartermaster from 10th September, 1883, Lieutenant John Wesley Miller, V.E., from No. 2 company, vice Samuel Robert Price, who having the relative of captain is hereby permitted to retire with the honorary rank of captain."

ON THE TENTED FIELD.

THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE VOLUNTEER CAMP AT COBBOURG.

A Suggestion in regard to Review Day—Our Band Going to Toronto—Camp Inconveniences—Amateur Musicians.

From our own Correspondent.

REVIEW DAY.

It has not yet been definitely settled where the great review will be held, but I will inform your readers at the earliest possible moment. It would be a nice thing for the railway to run an excursion to Cobourg on that day, and let the citizens of Peterborough, Millbrook, and Port Hope have an opportunity of paying a visit to the camp. Or, another idea presents itself to my mind, could not Mr. H. Calcutt, with his line of steamers, run an excursion in connection with the C. P. & M. railway, connecting at Harwood, and thereby let the citizens of Peterborough have a choice between the two above-mentioned routes as to which would be the most suitable for them to travel by. This is merely an idea, whether it will be acted upon, of course, is immaterial to your correspondent, but certainly an excursion of this kind could be run with a good financial result, if properly worked.

OFF FOR TORONTO.

The band of the 57th battalion leave the camp grounds on Monday morning for Toronto, to play at the Industrial Exhibition in that city. They drive from Cobourg to Port Hope, and take the Midland railway at Port Hope via Lindsay, for their destination. They play on Monday afternoon and evening at the Exhibition grounds, and leave for camp again on Tuesday morning. Your correspondent will endeavor to give the Review an account of this trip in due season, and also some notes in reference to what is transpiring at the ambitious city, and more particularly of what is going on at the centre of attraction, the exhibition grounds.

WE WANT WATER.

A serious and at the same time an inconvenient "damp" has been put on our camp by the wells, of which there are some dozen or more, running dry. The exact cause of this I am not able to explain, as there was "enough and to spare" the first two days we were here. The water has now to be drawn from Cobourg, that is to say from the town. This is a most deplorable state of things, as there is no creek or lake of any kind at hand for the men to wash at, and they have to resort to all sorts of means to obtain enough to wash their sunburnt and sore faces in. Another cause for complaint comes from the cooks, some of whom have been unable as yet to get the necessary, or more strictly speaking, the proper apparatus for cooking. Those who are unfortunate enough, to be placed in this box, however, manage in some way or other to supply the men just as regularly as if they had all that was required.

CAMP NOTES.

The Norwood Lacrosse Club, the greater number of whom are at Camp, have brought their sticks with them and engage in a game of the exhilarating and healthful sport every morning and evening, while others of the battalion engage in the time-honored pastime of pitching quoits.

The sound of a flute and mouth organ can be heard in one of the 57th tents every night, while the still less musical Jews-harp can also be heard. In fact there are quite a number of musical curiosities in and about the camp, and many a good laugh is indulged in by the boys at the efforts that some of these amateurs make in the endeavor to produce music out of anything and everything they can lay hands on that will give forth a sound.

Desk Diaries.

Personal.

Mr. Hugh McKinnon, Chief of Police of Belleville, is in town. He takes an official in the lacrosse match this afternoon.

V. M. C. A.

The Grand Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association has arrived in town, and will be glad to welcome at the rooms on George street any young men who can call, whether members of the Association or not. The reading room is open from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. except Sunday. It is expected soon to have a large increase of papers on file. Facilities for letter-writing are provided. Young men leaving the town or neighborhood can obtain letters of introduction to the Association of almost every town on the Continent by calling on the Secretary.

The Sale of Unclaimed Freight.

The unclaimed freight in the possession of the Midland Railway was sold on the market square on Saturday by Mr. Chas. Stapleton, auctioneer. There were about 700 articles sold and the sale continued for about four hours and a half, the whole stock being cleared off. The bidding was lively and at times exciting and a great deal of amusement was extracted from some purchasers. The principal purchasers were Messrs. G. Burbee, W. J. Hall, T. Menzies, R. A. Strickland, T. Fitzgerald, McKee & Davidson, T. Bradburn, J. Cameron, and D. Conroy. Some of the purchasers made good investments. One man paid $25 for about $75 worth of boots, and others made bargains equally as good or better. But there was another side to the sale. The man who purchased a box which contained a few samples of shingles did not consider himself a Jay Gould. There was considerable excitement over the sale of some prize bags, and when they were sold and the contents examined there was an immediate enquiry for the nearest laundry. The responders brought, perhaps, all they were worth, as they were incomplete, and the season is about over. Two organs were redeemed just as they were about to be placed on the block, and a good chance for lively bidding was spoiled. Some who invested in trunks were "sold," and others got prison, and the investing was about as uncertain as a lottery.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N. B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th. Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th. Smith, Ennismore, N. Monaghan and Lakefield, at Lakefield, Oct. 9th and 10th. Burleigh and United Townships, at Aspley, Oct. 10th.

The Big Raft.

The Lumberman's Gazette says the big raft towed from St. John, N. B., to New York, of which the particulars were given last week, contained more timber than we estimated. It consisted mainly of piling and contained 3,900,000 feet. It was therefore entitled to more respect than was paid to it. Some 75 tons of chains were used in binding the timbers together. A good saving in the cost of transportation was made, but the risk will probably stand in the way of the experiment being often repeated.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it without any advertising, we have concluded to place it extensively on the market, so that those who suffer may have a perfect cure. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

Failure Impossible.

When Polson's Nerviline is used for pain, it matters not how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief, Nerviline, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10-cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten-cent bottles at Ormrod & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1883.

A LAWLESS ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The nomination of candidates for the representation of Algoma in the Ontario Legislature has taken place, and once more Mr. Mowat has shown his utter disregard for fairness, for the rights of the public, or for the spirit of the laws which he is especially charged to administer.

It has been reported that the Sheriff of the Thunder Bay District, who was at first appointed Returning-officer, found, on his arrival at Toronto to receive his instructions, that they were of such a disgraceful nature as to make him so sick that he had to throw up his appointment. Consequently Mr. Mowat, fearing that the Sheriff of Algoma and the Registrar of Algoma might prove equally squeamish, was forced to choose a partisan with a stronger constitution and a willingness to do any dirty work for his employer. Though these reports were generally current, and were never squarely met among the voluminous excuses put forth for Mr. Mowat's irregular appointment, we were loath to believe that even he would be so reckless in his efforts to adhere to power against the will of the majority of the people of Ontario. We would not assume that he was guilty until he was proved so.

Now, however, it appears that these accusations had been well-founded, and that the secrets of these conspirators against the popular majority had been prematurely divulged. Immediately after the close of the nominations the returning-officer, who had been selected because his constitution was proof against a disgrace which made honest men sick, announced the poll for Friday, Sept. 28th, and at length read the list of polling-places, kept a close secret till then. There was a manifest unfairness in this delay, for in such a constituency of magnificent distances and sparse population, it would give a most undue advantage to the Mowat adherents to have a hint beforehand of the polling-places, while the opposition were thus carefully kept in ignorance, and in some localities may remain so till the very eve of the election, if not later.

But still worse, the list thus announced disclosed that large districts had been left without polling-places. So flagrant was the outrage that a demand was at once made to the Returning-officer to fix other polling-places where the public convenience required them. A refusal was given by this dishonest Returning-officer, who had to carry out his instructions to manipulate the election in the interests of his paymasters.

Thus Mr. Mowat and his partisans have done all in their power to disfranchise the electors in those parts of Algoma where it was feared that the majority would be too Conservative.

The very excuses made for this outrage show its iniquity. The leading organ of Mr. Mowat says:—"The determination of the returning officer to have polls only in such places as there are legitimate voters has quite paralyzed the Plummer managers." No doubt the scheme was to "paralyze" Mr. Plummer's supporters, by refusing them means of voting, and of course no voters are "legitimate" who are not prepared to vote for Mr. Mowat and such thimble-rigging as this. And the excuse is that voters were brought to these places by cartloads at the last election. Evidently they were Conservative voters, for, if there were cartloads of "Reform" voters, polling places would undoubtedly have been provided for them. We are told indeed by the Globe that they were "unqualified," but we have the decision of the judges in the Muskoka case that voters with sufficient qualification where they reside may vote in unorganized districts, and why should an Algoma farmer who is doing some months' work for the C.P.R. be disfranchised because Mr. Mowat fears he may vote Conservative. The remedy against unqualified voters is provided by the law, and that remedy is certainly not disfranchising certain localities by refusing them polling places, for fear that some Conservative votes that Mr. Mowat thinks unqualified might be recorded along with the undoubtedly good ones.

What can we think of an Attorney-General who disfranchises part of a constituency, because it might vote against him? Is it not a confession of the well-known fact that the voice of the people is against him, and that he dare not trust a free and fair election? The popular voice has condemned him, but he clings to office by fair means or foul with the reckless energy of despair.

The Globe, in endeavouring to show that factory operatives are as well off in free trade England as in the protectionist United States, quotes some statistics which we have not had time to check, but which certainly have a suspicious appearance, as they make cheese and butter cheaper in England than in the States, bacon only a fraction of a cent dearer, and fresh meats only two cents and a fraction dearer. If this were true how could cheese and butter be exported to England, and would there be much profit even on the export of live stock? Evidently the figures are cooked.

It will be seen from the description of Canada given by the Marquis of Lorne at Toronto, that he does not agree with those Reformers who talk about seas of mountains, the great American desert and an Arctic climate as applicable to our Pacific coast and prairie provinces and territories.

"Why, Angellina, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet?" "Ah! they're lovely? I dyed them with the Triangle Package Dye."—Id.

LORD LORNE ON CANADA.

In the course of his speech in reply to the farewell address of the Mayor and Corporation of Toronto Lord Lorne said:—

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, you may ask me why it is I am so enthusiastic a Canadian. I believe I am even more Canadian than some of the Canadians themselves. I ascribe it to the very simple cause that I have seen perhaps more of your country than have very many amongst you. I know what your great possessions are, and to what a magnificent heritage you have fallen heirs. I know that great forest world out of which the older provinces have been carved. I know that great central region of glorious prairie land from which shall be carried in the future promises as glorious, or yet more glorious, than those of which we now proudly boast. I know also that vast country beyond the Rocky Mountains, that wondrous region sometimes clothed in gloomy forest, sometimes smiling beneath the sun in pastoral beauty of valley and upland, or sometime shadowed by Alpine gorges and mighty mountain peaks—the territory of British Columbia. And in each and all of these three wide sections of your great country I know that you have possessions which must make you in time one of the foremost among the nations, not only of this continent, but of the world (Cheers). It is because I have seen so much of you and of your territories that I am enthusiastic in your behalf, and that the wish of my life shall be the desire to further your interests."

SEPTEMBER 17, 1883.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Review.

Sir,—To-day is the anniversary of a very important event in the history of Canada. On this day five years ago the people of the Dominion, groaning under an incubus which had well nigh paralyzed its industries, and disheartened the entire population, arose in their might and shook off the hideous nightmare. They had listened to the song of the wily siren; they were charmed with the promises held out; they were willing to trust the charmers; they, for the time, placed confidence in their solemn promises; they expected the oft-repeated pledge to "elevate the standard of political morality" to be kept; they looked for the good time coming—so long promised, but, alas! it never arrived. The siren's song was a fraud, having no harmony—the promises were never kept; those who made them were incapable of their fulfilment, and the "standard"—oh! the manner in which it was "elevated" has become a melancholy matter of history, and no one knows better than the miserable fragment surrounding the Globe office the depths to which the rank deception has reduced them. How is it to-day? The wretched deceivers who, up to five years ago, had succeeded in their wool-pulling proclivities, are found "scrubbing their wretched new" amid the detestations of a long-suffering populace. The great incapables are dumb when confronted with the dazzling prosperity which confronts them since their exit. The "Reform" chiefs are scarcely semi-gods, and their admired rivals to-day enjoy the well-earned confidence of a happy country, to which their shrewdness and business tact, their political integrity and foresight, their love of country, and their desire for its prosperity—alas! so lacking in the self-styled Reformers—so justly entitle them.

Peterborough, Sept. 17, 1883.

HALIBURTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Owing to the wet weather of the past week picnics have not been as successful as usual. Owing to the absence of our trotting horses fast driving is not indulged in to a very great extent.

Owing to the Quoit Club being defunct the boys don't pitch any more on the village street. Owing to the heavy white frosts at night the cars are slippery and dangerous to couple. Owing to a sparring school being started in Kellest's commercial rooms there is a pane of glass missing, and this is their customary attitude. Owing to the low price of pork the cattle market is dull, but we hope for better times. Owing to the dullness of the lumber trade more timber is being taken out. Men prefer to work on timber, wages being better for good men.

Owing to the division court being closed all the little differences are now amicably settled by the magistrates.

Owing to the very low assessment the rate for taxes will be a good many mills on the dollar, and a great many of our oldest settlers will be deprived of their franchise rights.

TRENTON.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—Philip Gleeson, aged 70, who resides in Trenton, jumped into the river near the bridge on Saturday morning with the intention of committing suicide. He was rescued and taken home.

Photography of Love.

A Madrid photographer has, according to the Archiv, had a strange sister to deal with lately. A young lady came to his studio to have her portrait taken. Having placed her in a position he turned to arrange his camera, when, casting a last glance at the posing belle before removing the cap from the lens, he was horrified to see that she was holding the muzzle of a revolver to her temple. "Stop! stop!" he cried; "you surely do not mean to kill yourself? You would ruin my business! and, besides, it would be a pity to spoil that pretty face!" The lady laughingly replied: "It gives me no pleasure to spoil one of your most beautiful heads, but I will tell you what I mean. My betrothed has deserted me, and I intend to send him a copy of my photograph in this position, with the remark that if he does not return immediately I shall pull the trigger." This astonishing intention was duly carried out, and a few weeks later the photographer had the pleasure of taking the newly married couple without the revolver, which had apparently done its work harmlessly.

A Town Destroyed.

A sad disaster has befallen the picturesque and thriving town of Hadjin, Turkey, which has been almost wholly destroyed by a conflagration which consumed 1,500 houses and three hundred shops. Not less than 6,000 people are without homes, and the resident missionaries appeal for aid to be sent to the treasurer of the Board. Three Protestant communities had been organized, and a new church was burnt. One woman said: "My relatives were in twenty-two houses; and oh! if one of them had been saved I might have had a home; but they are all burned."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word Horsford is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

Cotway's Advice.

Cotway knows that African resistance to English authority is madness, and he tells the Basutos so with vivid and forcible eloquence. "If you think," he wrote them from Oude Molde, "that you can do anything against the English, go on in your stupid way, and you will be sorry for it. You will perish suddenly, as a vessel on the sea that is suddenly filled with water and is no more. What are you? If you got all the white people of this country, English, Boers, and also all the black people to help you, what could you do against the English? You could do nothing. You are simply like a fly on the nose of a strong man; you can be brushed away during the wink of an eye and be no more. Listen to me; stop this foolishness of yours and pay homage to this English nation. Listen to me, I am among the English people and know them. If you now despise my words jump down the precipice. I swear to you that you are acting as children; there is no black race that can do anything against the English. The black king and people that listen to the English and talk nicely with them, are the only ones that will die of old age and save their country."

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

The greatest medical wonder in the world. Warranted to cure Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancers, Piles, Chilblains, Corns, Tetter, Chapped Hands, and all kinds of eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Failure Impossible.

When Polson's Nervine is used for pain, it matters not how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief. Nervine, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10-cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten-cent bottles at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

FARM FOR SALE.

West Half Lot No. 8, and North East Quarter Lot No. 7, in the 2nd Concession of Smith,

THE HOMESTEAD OF

EPHRAIM JACKSON.

There will be offered for Sale by Public Auction at CAVANAGH'S HOTEL, in the Town of Peterborough, the above named parcels of land, containing 150 acres, more or less, on Saturday, the 29th Sept. Next

At Two o'clock P.M. The following are among the improvements on the property: Of the west half of Lot 8, 95 acres are in a high state of cultivation, well fenced, and having the following buildings: STONE DWELLING HOUSE, 40x30, two storeys high with stone kitchen, 20x18, one storey high with woodshed attached, 36x24, on stone foundation. One frame barn, stone foundation, 60x30. Another building 46x26, containing stable and driving house, with large loft for hay, also two wells of water. 4 ACRES OF ORCHARD, containing between 500 and 600 trees, enclosed by 1000-foot fence. Fruit consists of the finest quality of Apples, Plums and Pears. The soil on this 100 acres is of the choicest character for growing grain, meadow and root crops. Of the north east quarter of Lot No. 7, about 25 acres have been cleared up and partly fenced. The soil of this parcel is of excellent quality, and a living stream of water runs through it. About thirty acres are in timber sufficient for the wants of the property, and for fuel.

The above property is situated three miles from the Town of Peterborough on a good road, and in the midst of first class farms. The owner is living on the premises, and will be glad of the opportunity of showing intending purchasers the property.

CONDITIONS OF SALE:—One twelfth of the purchase money on the day of sale. Further particulars will be given on application to the Auctioneer, the Owner, or W. H. MOORE, Solicitor, and will be made known on the day of sale. Title perfect. Immediate possession will be given.

Dated 11th September, 1883.

FANCY WORK and WOOLS.

The Wood-Lot in Winter.

A few acres in trees is one of the most valuable of a farmer's possessions; yet no part of the farm is so mistreated, if not utterly neglected. Aside from the fuel the wood-lot affords, it is both a great saving and a great convenience to have a stick of ash, oak, or hickory on hand, to repair a breakdown, or to build some kind of a rack or other appliance. As a general thing such timber as one needs is cut off, without any reference to what is left. By a proper selection in cutting, and the encouragement of the young growth, the wood-lot will not only continue to give a supply indefinitely, but even increase in value. A beginning, and often the whole, of the improvement of the wood-lot, is usually to send a man or two to "brush it", or clean away the underbrush. This is a great mistake. The average laborer will cut down everything; fine young trees, five or six years old, go into the heap with young poplars, and the soft underbrush. The first point in the management of the wood-lot is to provide for its continuance, and generally there are young trees in abundance, ready to grow on as given a chance. In the bracing winter mornings one can find no more genial and profitable exercise than in the wood-lot. Hardwood and useful young trees should not have to struggle with a mass of useless brush, and a judicious clearing up may well be the first step. In timber, we need a clear, straight, gradually tapering and thoroughly sound stick. In the dense forest nature provides this. The trees are so crowded that they grow only at the upper branches. The lower branches, while young, are starved out and perish. The wood soon healing over are out of sight. In our open wood-lots, the trees have often large heads and the growth that should be forming the trunk is scattered over a great number of useless branches. Only general rules can be given in pruning neglected timber-trees; the naked trunk, according to age, should be from one-third to one-half the whole height of the tree; hence some of the lower branches may need to be cut away. All the branches are to be so shortened in or cut back as to give the head an oval or egg-shaped outline. This may sometimes remove half of the head, but its good effects will be seen in a few years. In removing branches, leave no projecting stub on the timber, and cover all large wounds with coal-tar. Whatever works in this manner thoughtfully can not go far astray.—E.

Timber For Hubbs.

The Hub gives the following advice regarding the getting out and preparing of timber for wagon hubs:

"Cut the hub timber in months when the sap is down and the bark is tight. Cut the ordinary butt lengths, say four or five feet; remove the outer bark or rind, from the center of the sticks, leaving a covering of rough bark at the extreme ends. Sticks prepared in this manner should be cross-piled under dry sheds, where there is a good circulation of air. After drying in this manner for nine months or one year, according to sizes, the sticks can then be sawed into hub-blocks, which have each end dipped into an elastic cement, made by melting resin to which is added sufficient grease to temper it. A hole should also be bored through the heart of each block. Prepared in this manner they will soon finish seasoning, or they can be forced in heated rooms, without danger from checking. Steaming the blocks to hasten the seasoning, is practiced to a considerable extent, and many claim, without injury to the fiber of the wood; but we do not recommend it, as some of the substance is dissolved by this process, and as the hub plays such an important part in the wheel it is necessary to preserve all the natural qualities of the timber.

Visit to Peterborough.

Specialists from the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, will be at the Casino House, Peterborough, two days, Sept. 14 and 15. The surgeons will have a supply of spirometers, the invention of M. Souville, of Paris, ex-aid surgeon of the French army, for the cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption. Consultation and trial of the spirometer free. Don't fail to see the surgeons while here, as they make a specialty of diseases of the head, throat and lungs, and are curing thousands of cases every year that have been given up to die by the doctors in general practice. Crowds are visiting them in every town and city. For particulars write to 173 Church Street, Toronto, or 15 Phillips Square, Montreal.

Geese and Cherry Brandy.

A farmer's wife in Germany making some cherry brandy found the fruit unsound, and threw the whole into the yard. Her ten geese ate them all, and became dead drunk. She had forgotten about the cherries, and when she found her geese all in the gutter she concluded they had been poisoned, and would not be good food, but she picked all the feathers off for the market. What was her surprise and sorrow to find the geese next morning as well as ever, but cold and shivering! Let us hope she and the geese both learned a lesson, that cherry or any other brandy is apt to take the feathers off the backs of geese and the clothes off the backs of people.

Don't Kill the Toads.

The French Minister of Finance publishes a circular to people in the country warning them against destroying toads, lady bugs, and birds, which he pronounces friends of the farmer, and therefore important to the prosperity of the country. Such a circular is needed in this country, especially to preserve the toads, which are almost universally under the ban of every boy big enough to raise a stone. Toads in the garden are worth at least a shilling each. They benefit the farmer by destroying potato bugs and other injurious insects.—Exchange.

If you are troubled with a disordered Stomach, Dr. Carson's Bitters will afford prompt relief. It is the best Family Medicine, far Superior to Pills. All Druggists sell it.

The North German Gazette in a leading article accuses the London Times of craftily sowing dissension between France and Germany by the persistent distortion of facts.

GOVERNOR BUTLER says they used to speak better English in Massachusetts years ago than anywhere on the globe, and the habit continued until it was "debauched by the newspapers."

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine. An advertisement of which appears in another column.

The report of the commissioners of emigration of the State of New York shows that 303,374 immigrants landed at the port of New York from August 3, 1883, to June 30, 1883, inclusive.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

The North German Gazette has published confiscated letters belonging to deputy Antonio. Liberals are indignant thereat, and will probably offer an interpretation in the reichstag in regard to the matter.

READER, if you suffer from any disorder of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin or Blood, try Burdock Blood Bitters. Nature's specific medicine for acting on those organs for the outlet of disease. 25,000 bottles sold in the last three months.

EXTENSIVE additions have been made to the shed accommodation for cattle at the Provincial Exhibition, which opens at Guelph on the 24th inst. The number of entries is stated to be nearly fourteen thousand.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

A HEAVY damage suit has been instituted against the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad company by Schofield, Schurmer & Teagle, coal oil refiners of Cleveland, O., on account of unjust discrimination in rates of freight. They claim $100,000. The suit will be watched with much interest by both the mercantile and railway communities.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night losses and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

DR. HANSEL, a savant of Kolobenberg, Germany, has succeeded, after many experiments, in photographing several flashes of lightning. The photographs taken in part of the landscape, and made it possible to estimate with accuracy the place where the lightning struck. It also proved possible to compute the height of the summer traversed by the electric current. These experiments are to be continued, with the aid of stereoscopy. They have awakened much interest.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Little Things.

Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water uniting form the mighty ocean, and a hundred examples might be cited to prove how important after all are the little things. Now comes a small affair. Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agony to the unhappy possessor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a small affair yet by its perfect, speedy, and painless action it has gained the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous substitutes offered by some, but see that it is made by Putnam & Co., Kingston. Safe, sure, painless.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWANSON'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blotches, all scaly, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents: 3 boxes, 1.25. (in stamps). Address, DR. A Coal Shed.

Mr. James Stevenson is building a new coal shed at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets.

The Registry Office.

The Hon. Sydney Smith, Inspector of Registry Office, was in town on Monday and made his usual inspection of the office for this county, he being now on his regular tour for this purpose.

Springless Truss.

See Prof. Hotchkiss's Springless Truss and Supporter. Advertisement in another column of this paper. Go and see him. He does the hernia he cannot bold. At the Caisse House Oct. 17th and 18th.

A Sad Recall.

Mr. John T. Brydon, who was playing with the Peterborough Band at the Toronto Exhibition, was recalled home on Monday by a telegram informing him of the death of his child, who was about eleven months old.

More Fine Weather.

To-day has been fine and warm, good weather for the volunteer camp at Cobourg. The weather probabilities as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate variable winds; continued fine weather, stationary or higher temperature.

T. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association of this town having decided to change the time for holding their annual meeting from the spring until the autumn, a meeting for the presentation of reports and the election of officers will be held in their rooms on George street this evening at eight o'clock.

Personal.

Lieut. K. Sanderson, of the Battery, was in town yesterday. He states that it was expected when he left the camp, that the review would take place on Thursday next.

Lieut. N. D. Beck, of the 57th Battalion, was in town to-day.

Large numbers have gone from the town and this district to Toronto to visit the exhibition. Among the happiest parties there, is one composed of some members of the Boating Club, Messrs. A. Elliott, J. Mercer, W. Rutherford, J. McCrea and Ed. Brown.

The Maple Leaf Lacrosse Club.

The members of the Kingston Lacrosse Club, who played in the match on Monday afternoon, put up at the Caisse House. They were to depart for home on the 8 p.m. train, and went to the station for that purpose. A number of the members of the Peterborough Club went down to see them off, but through a mistake regarding the trains the majority of them missed the train and remained in town over night. Through the kindness of Mr. A. White, their tickets were made good for another day on the Midland, and the Grand Trunk officials having been telegraphed to, the matter was also arranged for that road. The boys departed for home this morning.

Interesting To Lumbermen.

The Toronto Globe of Sept. 15 says:—A case has arisen in the township of Glenora which is likely to prove of great interest to lumbermen generally. Mr. Hilliard, of Peterborough, and a number of other, timber licensees from the Government, have been assessed for their interest in timber in question. This is the first time that such an interest has ever been assessed. A rule nisi for a prohibition to the township from proceeding with the assessment was applied for by Mr. Barron, of Lindsay, and granted yesterday. Lumbermen in the township are much interested in the result of the case, which will shortly be argued at Osgoode Hall.

Kram's Fluid Lightening.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking needless medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightening. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

THREE STRAIGHT GAMES

WON BY THE PETERBOROUGH LACROSSE CLUB FROM THE KINGSTON CLUB.

The Gildersleeve Challenge Cup Retained in Peterborough—A Lively Game and Good Playing.

On Monday afternoon a lacrosse match was played between the Peterborough Club and the Maple Leaf Club, of Kingston, for the Gildersleeve Challenge Cup, and was won by the home club by three straight games. There was large attendance of spectators on the field, who appeared to take a great interest in the match and cheered liberally when any extra good play was made by either side.

The cup, presented by Mr. Gildersleeve, of Kingston, was brought away from that city on the 20th of August, 1881, and has since been held by the Peterborough Club, although attempts were made by the Kingston lacrosse players to regain it. According to the rules governing the possession of the cup, it will become the property of the Peterborough club at the expiration of the season. As the season is now so far advanced it is not probable that there will be another match for it, and it may now be counted the property of the club.

The match was played on the Ashburnham ground. The Maple Leafs had asked a gentleman to act as referee, and he had accompanied them for that purpose, but as they had not consulted the Peterborough club before doing so, they would not accept him. This led to a long conference, and finally it was agreed that Mr. Craven, of Montreal, should be the referee. The umpires were Mr. Andrew McNeil, for Peterborough, and Mr. A. Agnew, for Kingston.

The teams took up their positions on the field at about a quarter to four. The following were the players:—

PETERBOROUGH.	MAPLE LEAF.
G. Giroux.....Goal	T. Little
P. Rudkins.....Point	G. G. Robinson
J. Joyal.....Cover Point	F. Filiz
J. Reynolds.....Defence Field	J. Little
M. Tierney....." "	R. Agnew
M. McDonald....." "	R. With
J. Sheehy.....Centre Field	W. Reed
A. Yelland.....Home Field	M. Elliott
M. Halpin....." "	A. McDonald
C. Rutherford....." "	J. Hunter
W. Radkins.....Outside Home	T. Elmer
G. Giroux.....Inside Home	H. Walker
W. A. Sanderson.....Field Captain	S. McCullough

The Peterborough club played down the field. The ball was faced by Sheehy and Reed. Sheehy got the ball and picked it out to Yelland, who carried it down the field and threw it in the vicinity of the Maple Leaf goal. Rudkins made an ineffectual shot on the goal, and the ball travelled back to centre field. Yelland again sent it down, and when it was returned to centre Sheehy was on hand to send it back. Some lively play took place, when up came the rubber past centre, and Reynolds returned it. A good shot was again made on the Maple Leaf flag, but it was well stopped. The ball having been thrown to the Peterborough side of the field a close call was made on the goal, but it did not take effect, and Tierney made a good throw, sending the sphere down the field. The play continued lively, and the ball could not be followed, as often it was difficult to tell who threw it, but Rudkins and Joyal played a splendid game. Tierney also did good work on the defence, and McDonald and J. Giroux did well. Sheehy and Yelland, almost omnipresent and never failing, did exceedingly well, and Halpin made some good playing. Reynolds came out strong and did the best playing he has yet shown. Rutherford proved he had not forgotten how to dodge a check, and W. Rudkins and G. Giroux did capital work. The greater part of the playing devolved upon the home men, and in J. Little they found a hard player to get the ball past. Finally G. Giroux passed the rubber through the stakes, and Peterborough had won the first game in twelve minutes.

The second game was longer. Some vigorous playing was done for eleven minutes, when a Peterborough player claimed a foul. The referee called time; but the Kingston players, probably not hearing him, continued to play, making a shot on the goal and claiming a game. The game was not allowed, however, as the umpire decided that the ball did not go between the stakes, and if it had it would not count as the referee had called time long before the ball was near the goal. Thirteen minutes was lost in the dispute and consultation over this, and the game was recommenced, immediately after which three shots were made on the Maple Leaf goal, but without going through. The rubber travelled over the field, and the contest was a stubborn one, but the superiority of the Peterborough players in the science of the game could be easily seen. Finally Rutherford threw the ball at the goal, and it passed it and struck the fence. Rudkins threw it back directly in front of the goal and Yelland put it through. Time of actual play, twenty-nine minutes.

The third game was short. Sheehy got the ball at the face, as usual, and threw it down the field. It was returned and thrown near the Peterborough goal, but McDonald threw it out and Sheehy again sent it down the field. Rutherford dropped it in front of the goal, but it was knocked out. He again secured the rubber, and another drop shot put it in front of the stakes, and W. Rudkins knocked it through. Time, two minutes. The Peterborough Club thus won the match in three straight games.

Of the Maple Leaf Club, there were some good players and some fine fellows; but they should change their field captain, or engage some competent person to teach him the rules of common courtesy. His behaviour on the field was anything but gentlemanly.

At the conclusion of the match the usual cheers were given and the clubs returned to the town.

W. A. EDGEM, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

FREE TRADERS PROTECTING THEMSELVES.

The Hamilton Spectator is usually so accurate in regard to questions of trade and tariff, that we are surprised to find it making even a trifling slip, but we are told that even Jupiter sometimes nods. In an article on the Reform clamour about a falling revenue, which seems as objectionable as a large surplus to the anti-national organs, the Spectator says:—

"As to the unconstructed bowels themselves, the duty on them appears to be the only protective duty ever imposed by the Reform Government. It was put on first in 1877, and it yielded a revenue of about $2,000 a year."

Our contemporary has overlooked the fact that Mr. Mackenzie adopted a little protection in another instance. He so readjusted the duty on petroleum in 1877 as to give the producers of coal oil protection to the amount of between fifty and sixty per cent. Could this be because Canadian petroleum is only produced in the constituency represented by Mr. Mackenzie? We know that the Free traders are so much in love with their theory as to allow of no exception in favour of a Canadian industry, but it seems that an exception is allowable for the object of procuring votes for a Reform leader.

The Hamilton Spectator has the following remarks as to the inconsistency of the self-styled Reformers in regard to coalitions:

Readers will remember when the Grit element had no words but words of scorn for the wise, prudent, and patriotic Government of Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, which was denounced as a "patent combination" because good men of both parties endeavored to keep Dominion politics out of Provincial affairs. Now the same people are praising the patent combination in New Brunswick and the alliance of the Rogues and "Castors" or Extreme Tory Blues in Quebec.—Consistent Grits!

THERE is a contest for the representation of the County of Kent, N. B., in the House of Commons, the candidates being two Conservatives, Mr. Landry and Mr. McInerney, as there is no chance for a Reformer. Some of the more unprincipled of the Opposition journals are seizing the opportunity of stirring up sectional jealousies, Mr. Landry being denounced as a Canadian Frenchman, as though his birth were a crime.

Canadian Agriculture.
 Not an insignificant proof of the interest taken by England in Canadian agriculture is the frequency of the reports on the subject which appear in the London Times. The following from its issue of August 31st contains some news:—

"The Department of Agriculture of the Province of Manitoba has issued circulars to 420 correspondents inquiring respecting the appearance of the crops in July and as to the acreage under cultivation. Two hundred and sixty replies had been received up to the 26th of July. With regard to wheat, the increase of acreage is stated to be 54 per cent. over 1882, and, with few exceptions, the condition of the crop is reported to be satisfactory. The Parliamentary paper issued upon the subject states that the general success of the grain harvest is placed beyond a doubt. The extent of oats sown, compared with last year, shows an increase of 50 per cent. In some few localities the reports are not satisfactory, but in the large majority of districts an average crop is expected. Barley is not grown to such an extent as oats, but there is an increase of acreage of 36 per cent. over 1882. The dampness of the ground in the early part of the season and the want of rain later on have caused the straw to be short, but reports generally speak of the barley as looking sound and of good color. A fair average crop is expected. The root crop will be below the average, but hay will be abundant. The reports that have been summarized derive additional value from the fact that they come from different districts in Manitoba and the North-West territories."

The Exchange Bank.
 The Montreal Gazette in its editorial columns cautions both creditors and stockholders against being influenced by panic, and points out that the creditors are quite safe, as even in the most improbable contingency of the loss of a million dollars of the debts due the bank, they can all be paid without resorting to the double liability of shareholders; while the latter will be paid for their share, even in the contingency of a loss of four hundred thousand dollars. Without committing itself on the question of the wisdom of extending the business of the bank as widely as has been done, the Gazette infers that the directors have acted in good faith and may be trusted to do their best for the creditors, from the fact that half the bank's capital is held by them individually. The Herald congratulates the directors upon their wisdom in suspending payment at once instead of availing themselves of the ninety days grace to which they were legally entitled, and points out that if they have erred in unduly extending the business of the bank they will be the greatest sufferers themselves, holding as they do over half the capital stock.

Heavy Libel suit.
 An important action of libel is at present pending in our courts, wherein Mr. John May, public school inspector of the county of Carleton is plaintiff, and one William Wilson, a farmer of the township of Fitzroy, is defendant. The libel complained of was contained in an article written over the signature of the defendant which appeared in the Ottawa Free Press, to the effect that the defendant had intended to charge the plaintiff before the county council with being addicted to strong drink, but that the plaintiff had himself admitted his weakness to the council in the words "I do drink." The plaintiff is very well known, having once contested the seat for Carleton with Sir John Macdonald. He is also a minister of the Church of England. Damages to the extent of $10,000 are claimed. A motion was made yesterday in the case for security for costs on the ground that the plaintiff has gone to reside out of the jurisdiction, but the motion was enlarged until Saturday.—Mel.

DASTARDLY TACTICS.

The Thunder Bay Sentinel has the following protest against the trickery of the Mowat Administration:—

"We ask every fair minded man in Algoma, be he Reformer or be he Conservative, is it equitable or honorable that the electors of this district should be denied the right of knowing where the polling places should be, simply because the Mowat Government has the power to use this arbitrary and fraudulent secrecy? In the Dominion elections last summer every voter was made aware a month ahead of polling day where polls would be held. The Dominion Government had the power to act in the same mean and cowardly manner that the Ontario Government are acting, but to their honor be it remembered no such dastardly tactics were for one moment entertained. If the Ontario Grits have a remnant left of chivalrous impulses which long ago animated old time Reformers they will protest in the name of their party against having its character dragged down in the mire of such leprous meanness."

Rumour has it now that Returning Officer Thomson has been instructed to grant only one poll between Port Arthur and Port Hope, and that the people on Coburn Island and the west end of Manitoulin Island are to be disfranchised by not being allowed a chance to vote. This is an instance of the nobility of the 'party of purity.' It is such meanness as will go unchallenged till the end of time. Nothing so low or dirty as such an act was ever known among the New York five points political slums. Go on ye hypocrites, ye are only making yourselves more thoroughly known and understood."

THE RAILWAY NUISANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Communications have from time to time appeared in your columns from various correspondents, complaining of the intolerable nuisance inflicted upon us by the railway engine drivers. These complaints have had no effect in abating the annoyance. The outrageous noises still commence at 6 o'clock, generally before that hour, in the morning, and continue until 10 or 11 o'clock at night. There is the puffing and snorting of the shunting engine, the clanging of the bell, the various notes of the steam-whistle, and the yelling of the yard-men, whose throats appear to be lined with sheet-iron. There is one particular noise that scarcely anyone can have failed to notice; it is a long-protracted shriek, passing into a melancholy howl, and ending in a hollow groan. One of your correspondents alluded to the pain likely to be caused to the sick or the dying, and to all persons of weak nerves by the steam-whistles. Not very long ago I was in the habit of visiting a neighbour who was lying on his death-bed, and he assured me that the end of his life was being embittered by the intolerable noises made by the engine drivers. Another correspondent felt sure that the matter had only to be brought before the notice of the managers to secure an abatement of the nuisance. He little knew those persons. Nothing but legislative enactment or municipal by-law will free us from this nuisance. This was well shown in a long article which appeared some time ago in the Toronto Mail, and I shall probably trouble you with a few extracts from that paper on another occasion. I am told that the steam-whistles are not allowed to be blown in towns in England, and I believe that this is the case in, at all events, some towns in the U.S. This proves that there is no necessity for their use.

When the O. and Q. R.R. is opened we shall have some power in our own hands with respect to this nuisance, in a manner which I will explain at the proper time.

A RATEPAYER.

Peterborough, Sept. 18, 1883.

FENELON FALLS.

THE PULP MILL.—The Gazette says:—Work on the pulp mill progresses as rapidly as circumstances permit; the engine and boiler houses are already shingled; a network of heavy timber prevades the other portions of the building, and in a couple of weeks the whole will be far enough advanced to give a very good general idea of what it will be like when it is finished.

SHIPPER DIRECT.—On Tuesday morning last, Mr. John St. Lawrence, merchant, of the village, sent off twenty-four tubs of butter, averaging 60 lbs. each, to Mr. Robert Hill, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. This was, we believe, the first lot of butter ever shipped direct from Fenelon Falls to the old country.

Wheat for England.

It is certain that we shall have to import wheat as largely as ever during the next season. It is estimated, on the basis of the reduced acreage under wheat shown in the agricultural returns of the Board of Trade, that the yield cannot be more than 8,000,000 quarters, and that is only two-thirds of what used to be thought a good home crop. Every year, too, our consumption increases, and the imports of wheat and flour this season should be fully 16,000,000 quarters. France, too, will be deficient, and will have to import some wheat. To various foreign countries, then, and especially to America, the indebtedness for breadstuffs which will require settlement in London, promises to be very considerable. The rise in the price of maize, in consequence of reported failure of the Danubian crops, threatens also to add to the amount payable to America as time goes on.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Murder.

CLIFTON HOUSE, Niagara Falls, Sept. 17.—The town of Drummondville was thrown into a pitch of excitement to-night by the report that a boy had been murdered by Italians. It appears a boy named Addie Matheson and a gang of boys had some dispute with the Italians, when one of them rushed out and chased Matheson, who ran. The Italian fired five shots at him, only one taking effect on the back of the head, causing death instantaneously. His body was carried to his father's house, where a heartrending scene occurred, his brothers and sisters crying and mourning at their loss. Matheson was a steady, temperate young man, and well liked by those who knew him. The Italians have been drinking hard the last few days, and there are very few among them who do not carry a weapon of some kind.

Badly Injured.

A Frenchman passed through Port Hope last Saturday evening, who was badly injured, having one of his legs broken in three places, and a large hole in it. He was employed in the saw mills in Midland City, and got entangled in the machinery. Dr. R. A. Corbett examined the leg and told the man who accompanied him, that if he was taken to his home (below Quebec), he would not live, and recommended him to take the injured man to the Montreal hospital.

DR. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS are not an Alcoholic Stimulant, but a purely Vegetable Medicine, Oestharkic and Tonic in its action and invaluable in all affections of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Salt for the Human System.

The London Lancet combats the folly of some would-be improvers on Galen, who decry the use of salt as a food condiment because it is a mineral. The Lancet says that common salt, chloride of sodium, is the most widely distributed substance in the body; it exists in every fluid and in every solid; and not only is everywhere present, but is almost every part it constitutes the largest portion of the ash when any tissue is burnt. In particular it is a constant constituent of the blood, and it maintains in it a proportion that is wholly independent of the quantity that is consumed with the food. The blood will take up so much and no more, however much we may take with our food, and, on the other hand, if none be given, the blood parts with its natural quantity slowly and unwillingly. Nothing can demonstrate its value better than the fact that if albumen without salt is introduced into the intestines of an animal, no portion of it is absorbed, while it all quickly disappears if salt be added. The conclusion therefore is obvious that salt, being wholesome, and indeed necessary, should be taken in moderate quantities, and that abstention from it is likely to be injurious.

Grand Trunk Cutting Rates.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The Grand Trunk has made a cut of $2 between Chicago and Buffalo until Tuesday. Another meeting of the trunk line managers will be held on Monday for an attempt to secure harmony.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Late this afternoon the Panhandle route announced a further cut in the rates to Louisville to $5. This was met by several other lines. All parties interested admit that they are in for it, and rates will probably sink to zero.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—It is asserted that the Trunk lines to-day are openly cutting passenger rates between New York and Chicago and other western points.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A meeting of passenger agents of the trunk lines was held to-day to endeavour to harmonize the differences and prevent the threatened cut of $4 in the rate between Chicago and Buffalo by the Grand Trunk. The meeting resulted in the restoration of harmony, and it is now said there is no danger of a passenger war.

Victims Buried Alive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Twelve Americans who fled from Guyamas have arrived. They say people are leaving that city by hundreds. There was hardly a house but contained a victim of the fever. The authorities have given the work of burying the dead to a pack of hired Indians, who went from house to house carrying the bodies of those they supposed dead or dying. The bodies were buried so rapidly that mistakes have occurred, many being put under the ground while living. This is due to the disease, which at the favorable turning point leaves the patient in a comatose state, mistaken by the Indian undertakers as death.

Failure Impossible.

When Polson's Nervine is used for pain, it matters not how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief, Nervine, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10 cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten cent bottles at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

HINTS FOR MAKING HEALTHY HOMES.

BY A PHYSICIAN IN PRACTICE.

We were called recently to prescribe for a gentleman who has been a confirmed dyspeptic for a good many years. He had been a frequent sufferer from the passage of biliary calculi (gall stones) in past years, but partial reform in diet had prevented their recurrence for some years. He had recently spent three months at a hygienic "cure" with considerable benefit. He remarked that while he was much inclined to favor the hygienic practice, still he had not quite arrived at the point of the utter renunciation of drug medication. At this point we remarked that we had. "Well," he replied, "I have not taken any medicine this past year, and I can't say that I am any the worse for keeping clear of it." After giving us a pretty full description of his case, including much of his past history, he remarked that there was one year during which he was pretty free from the last three-quarters of the year entirely so from all diseases. "You were engaged actively outside much of the time, were you not?" I asked. "All of the time. I was surveying on the frontier of Texas," he replied. "We had a 'grosser' (Mexican half-breed), for a cook. Our food was wheat bread made by coarsely grinding, as we used it, the wheat in a steel mill, mixing this with meal with water, and baking on a board before the fire. This was our only food except venison which I killed myself. It was a rough life, but I didn't bear from my stomach, my liver, nor my kidneys, and that made life delightful. I never had an hour's discomfort from bodily ailments during the entire campaign, after once getting fairly settled into it." "Good enough," said I, "and now you wish me to prescribe for you. Well, then, since you don't choose to adopt that mode of life altogether—which would ensure the most vigorous health possible—you must take pains to imitate it, as far as practicable, in your city home. Live upon coarse food. You may have as good air in Austin as on the Rio Grande—if you let it into the office and home freely. The exercise you had there is necessarily restricted in office life, and cannot be fully made up in artificial exercise—at least it is neither practicable, nor, indeed, necessary. The more you take, however, at least you are likely to take too little rather than too much. Counteract the lack in this direction by sufficient restriction in diet. This means, simply, eat no more than you can digest and you will have no indigestion. The extreme degree of intestinal flatulence, of which you complain arises from undigested, and therefore fermenting food. Your 'three cigars a day' are simply less harmful than four or more. The coffee, which you say you have lately been 'trying again' is more harmful in proportion as your outdoor exercise is lessened. Keep clear of all poisons. Fruit will cease to cause flatulence when it is not accompanied by injurious substances, and is not taken too freely, especially with cold and gravy and buttered vegetables. If you eat a fruit breakfast entire, and dine late, (you say you take no lunch—finding the two-meal plan the best), on plain food, taking at this fruit breakfast only an amount that you find is well digested, you will go on improving. The whole matter, in brief, as I said before, to imitate the essential practices of your frontier life sufficiently to ensure progress toward health. Imitate the whole meal bread by all means. If this does not relieve the constipation use the whole wheat, raw, grinding your own grain, and eating as you grind. Wash the bread you will shortly have no constipation, for you will be better nourished. Your entire organism will perform its various functions perfectly when you are in the true sense well fed. This implies eating for health instead of the mere present gratification of an unnatural appetite. It means the exclusion of stale air from your dietary and the non-use of sweating flannels; the skin is a breathing organ, and requires fresh air as well as the lungs; besides, the less clothing we wear the better our digestion, (by creating a need for food eaten), and no one is 'well fed' without a good digestion.

Two Young Men Drowned.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says: News of the drowning of two young men at Meach's Lake, near Chelms, reached the city this afternoon. They were both sons of Mr. Meach of that place, and had gone out in a canoe expecting others to follow, but by the time they arrived nothing was to be seen but the craft overturned. It is thought they upset, and one became caught in the bars of the canoe, the other losing his life in attempting to rescue his brother. Both were expert swimmers. The unfortunate young men were nephews of the late Mr. Morrill, of this city, and belonged to a highly respectable family.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

An Elephant's Reasoning Power.

An elephant belonging to an engineer officer, says an exchange, had a disease in his eye, and had for three days been completely blind. His owner asked Dr. Webb, a physician, if he could do anything for the relief of the animal. Dr. Webb replied that he was willing to try on one of the eyes the effect of nitrate of silver, which was a remedy commonly used for similar diseases of the human eye. The animal was accordingly made to lie down, and when the nitrate of silver was applied uttered a peculiar roar at the acute pain it occasioned. But the effect was wonderful, for the eye was in a great degree restored, and the elephant could partially see. The doctor was in consequence ready to operate similarly on the other eye on the following day, and the animal, when he was brought out and heard the doctor's voice, lay down of himself, placed his head quietly on one side, curled up his trunk, drew in his breath like a human being about to endure a painful operation, gave a sigh of relief when it was over, and then, by motion of his trunk and other gestures, gave evident signs of wishing to express his gratitude. Here we plainly see in the elephant memory, understanding, and reasoning from one thing to another. The animal remembered the benefit that he had felt from the application to one eye, and when he was brought to the same place on the following day, and heard the operator's voice, he concluded that a like service was to be done to his other eye.

My Dear Sirs,—Having tried your Fountain of Health for my complaints, I heartily urge all those suffering from Dizziness, Costiveness or Depression of Spirit, to give it a trial, as I have been completely cured with two bottles. I never enjoyed my breakfast, and being unable to sleep well, I grew very nervous. I am aged forty-five, and have suffered for over ten years.

Mrs. PHILLIPS, Caretaker Niagara Street School, Toronto.

Gentlemen,—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. While taking it for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

Mrs. FRELING, 100 Bellwood Ave., Toronto, DUFFERIN.

Messrs. Churchill & Co.,—Your Fountain of Health has completely cured me of Dyspepsia, which has troubled me for nearly two years.

J. CLARK, 17 Stafford Street, Toronto.

Dear Sirs,—I take pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of your Fountain of Health. For over nine years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys, having a severe pain in the back a great deal of the time and a tenderness of the eye balls. No remedies that I have ever tried had I have used no end of them, gave me relief, except your Fountain of Health, which has made me feel good. I have used two of your dollar bottles.

Your sincerely, WILLIAM GRISMAN, 4 Ligon Street, Toronto.

Improving the Water Power.

The raceway on the west side of Dickson street, which furnishes the motive power for Mr. Wilson's woolen mill, is being improved by Mr. Haslett. The embankment is being raised to a height of twenty-six feet, which will increase the depth of the water to twenty-four feet. This will give all the power that is required, and will be sufficient to run other mills along the river, which will probably be erected there.

A Lamented Death.

We learn from the Winnipeg Times that at a meeting of the bar of that city on motion of Mr. Atkins and Killam it was resolved: That the members of the profession desire to express their great regret at the loss they and the Bar of Manitoba have sustained in the premature death of Mr. Colin Rankin, and wish to bear their testimony to the esteem in which he was held by them and all who came in contact with him, and they desire to extend to his father and the family their heartfelt sympathies in their time of affliction. Mr. Rankin who was for some time a resident of Lindsay, was well known to many of our readers, who will share in this regret at his untimely loss.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

The Lacrosse Club and Others bid Mr. P. Rudkins farewell—a Pleasant Gathering.

On Tuesday evening a number of the members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and several of their friends held a social meeting in the Peterborough Home. The meeting was called to bid Mr. P. Rudkins farewell, previous to his departure for Montreal to pursue his course of studies. Mr. Rudkins has been a member of the club for about seven years, and during that time he has done yeoman service in the matches which they have played. The match on Monday will probably be the last he will play with the club, and the members did not desire to see him depart without presenting him with a token of their appreciation of his services to the club, and of the esteem in which he was held by them.

There was a large number at the gathering, and some time was passed pleasantly with music and singing. The Gildersleeve Cup, the trophy for which the match was played on Monday, stood on a table in the centre of the room. After a few songs had been sung, Mr. H. LeBrun, President of the Club, took the chair and called on Mr. Jas. J. Sheehy to come forward. Mr. SHEEHY then read the following address from the members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and Mr. Rudkins' many other friends:—

To Patrick Rudkins, Esq.:—Dear Sir,—Having learned of your intention of leaving Peterborough for a time in order to complete the course of studies necessary to fit you for the profession for which you seem destined, the members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, and your many other friends, have hastily determined to testify in a modest manner the high esteem in which you are held in your native town.

To most of us you have been known since childhood, and every year of our acquaintance since has tended to increase our affection and respect for you. It has been a pleasure to us to note that your career as a student has been marked by unvaried success. Your ability and diligence has always placed you in the front rank amongst your competitors, and gained for you a distinction gratifying to yourself and pleasing to your friends. With faithful constancy you have diligently cultivated the talents which nature has endowed you, and you have always consistently held the even tenor of your way, unalloyed by any temptation which might call you from the path of duty.

And it is with pleasure that we now behold you on the threshold of manhood, about to reap the well-deserved reward of your self-denial and perseverance. But, although the mind is man's greatest endowment, his other faculties must not be neglected. In this respect you have always been mindful of the sage saying that "a sound mind must have a sound body." As a member of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club you have distinguished yourself as one of the ablest players, and developed in yourself those physical powers which go to make up a perfect man. During the past few years you have done far more than your share in contributing to the success of the club, and you have always partaken of its glory. It shall always be the boast of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club that you were enrolled in its membership, and that you added much to its good reputation by your prowess and agility. It, in the future, you should be unable to be an actual participant in their contests and victories, we feel confident that your good wishes and solicitude for their success will not in the least be diminished. In all the athletic sports in which you have taken part you have always exhibited that moderation and good temper which is so essential in preserving the true spirit of manly sport. In your intercourse with your associates you have always shown that temperance of word and deed, and that kind consideration for the feelings of others, which is the truest trait of a gentleman.

We have great faith in the old adage "that the child is father of the man," and judging from your past career we are confident you will continue to advance in the acquirement of every good quality which can adorn the human character, and this is the earnest wish and hope that we shall always extend to you. In conclusion, we beg to offer you the accompanying present as a slight mark of the very high esteem with which we regard you; and hope you will preserve it as a souvenir of the many happy days you spent with the boys of Peterborough. Signed on behalf of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and your other friends,

H. LeBRUN, THOS. LAFRANK, W. J. DEVIAR, M. GIBSON, ARTHUR MONTAG, A. YELAND, R. H. FORTER, W. A. SANDERSON, JOHN HACKETT, JAS. J. SHEEHY.

Mr. W. A. SANDERSON then presented Mr. Rudkins with a handsome gold watch, on which was the following inscription:—"Presented to P. Rudkins by the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and friends. Sept. 18, 1883."

Mr. RUDKINS, who was taken by surprise, as he did not know the object of the meeting until the address was read, replied as follows:—I accept the kind address that has just been read and also the valuable present, with much pleasure. I almost consider it unnecessary on account of the many kindnesses I have received from that honorable body, the "Peterborough Lacrosse Club and their friends," at different times. I assure you that it affords me much pleasure to meet so many old friends this evening, and so many members of the club of which I have so long been a member. Let us go back to those days of childhood, which you refer to in your address. Those, indeed, were the happy days, the days of our childhood together, when I found in each of you a companion of childhood's pleasures. Fellow members and friends, I can assure you that, for the past few years, I have longed for each coming vacation that I might assist you as far as lay in my power. I am sure it is a pleasure to be able to say that the Peterborough Lacrosse Club holds no less than two trophies which entitle them to the championship of Central Ontario, and I only hope that they may long continue to retain it. And I hope to see the day when they will not only be champions of Central Ontario, but the intermediate champions of the world. Surely this valuable present is unmerited on my part, but seeing that it is a presentation from so generous a body as the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and their friends, I accept it, and will carry it with all my heart for the kind address that has been read, and, moreover, for this beautiful timepiece that marks the hours. Once more permit me to thank you for the handsome present which I have been the recipient of this evening.

Tunes, songs and speeches followed, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Amongst the toasts most enthusiastically received was that proposed by Mr. Jas. Henry, "the President of the Club, Mr. H. LeBrun." We join in the good wishes for Mr. Rudkins' success expressed in the address.

Y. M. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING.

The Officers Elected, Constitution Adopted, and Reports Received.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association has heretofore been held in March each year, but it has been deemed advisable in the interests of the Association to change the date of the annual meeting to some time in the fall. Consequently a general business meeting was held in the rooms of the Association on Tuesday evening.

Mr. G. M. Roger, President, occupied the chair, and the meeting was opened with devotional exercises.

Mr. J. MINOR, the retiring secretary, then read his second annual report. The report referred to the difficulties which had surrounded the Association, but which had, to a great extent, been overcome, and to the visit of the General Travelling Secretary, Mr. Cole, to Peterborough, which had led to the engagement of a general secretary, who would devote his entire time to the work of the Association. The liberality of the citizens was commended, and the finances of the Association were referred to as being in good condition. The work at the railway camp, Tully's school house, and at Nassau, had been, it stated, faithfully attended to, and through the persistent efforts of Mr. Brundette a meeting was held every Sunday afternoon at noon at the railway station, especially for employes of the railway, and was well attended. The Association rooms had been well patronized during the year. In conclusion the report suggested that more time be given to work in the town.

The Treasurer's statement was read, showing a balance on hand of $46.12, with some liabilities. Mr. H. Rosier reported verbally for the Devotional Committee, and Mr. W. Smith for the Reception Committee.

Mr. G. E. Williams read the constitution, which had been prepared, and it was adopted with some slight emendations. In accordance with this constitution the following officers were elected by ballot:—

PRESIDENT—J. A. Fife, M. D.
1st VICE-PRESIDENT—W. J. Minor.
2nd VICE-PRESIDENT—Wm. Best.
TREASURER—H. Grundy.
GENERAL SECRETARY—Geo. E. Williams.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—O. G. Langford, H. Rosier, A. Jones, D. Gardner, and Wm. Smith.

The meeting was concluded by the Rev. Mr. Butcher leading in prayer.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

REVIEWS.

TOWARD THE SUNRISE.—We are not surprised to see that these interesting sketches of travel in Europe and the east, by the Rev. Hugh Johnston, have already reached a fourth edition. The author's descriptions of the old world scenes he visited are very vivid and interesting, and as he does upon their salient characteristics with unobtrusive elaborations. There is a profusion of illustrations. To read this work is the next best thing to a personal visit. The memorial sketch of the late Dr. Punshon, with an admirable portrait appended, shows the full knowledge and kindly appreciation due to a personal friendship for that gifted man. The publisher is W. Briggs, King Street, east, Toronto.

CANADIAN METHODISM.—At this juncture, when the various Methodist bodies in Canada have virtually accomplished their union, great interest will naturally be taken in the Rev. Dr. Ezerion Ryerson's work on "Canadian Methodism," its epochs and characteristics. It is a timely reproduction of a series of articles which appeared in the Methodist Magazine, but there is also much additional matter. There will be a general feeling of regret that Dr. Ryerson has not lived to witness the present grand union, to which he had looked forward, and to chronicle this important event in addition to previous minor consolidations which he recounts. Dr. Ryerson depicts the old struggles and successes of the Methodist bodies with the vigour and earnest eloquence for which he was noted. The publisher is W. Briggs, King Street, east, Toronto.

FRENCH OUTRAGES.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—A Calcutta despatch to the Times says the accounts of the French outrages at Tanetvay fall far short of the truth. When the English consul was dying, the French priest endeavoured to force him to become a Catholic, and compelled him to kiss a crucifix.

THE FRANCO-CHINESE DIFFICULTY.
VIENNA, Sept. 19.—The American Minister to China has joined with the English representative in urging China to come to an understanding with France.

DINNER TO AMERICAN STATESMEN.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—A dinner was given last night by Mr. Henry F. Gillig, an American banker, in honour of ex-Postmaster-General James and ex-Mayor Grace, of New York. Many leading Americans and Englishmen were present. Consul General Merritt responded to the toast in honour of Queen Victoria and President Arthur. Mr. James spoke of the improvement in the postal facilities between America and England.

TERRIBLE HURRICANE.
SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 19.—A terrible hurricane occurred at Massan on the 8th inst. Many houses were blown down. Fifty vessels were wrecked, and sixty lives were lost.

VESSEL BURNED.
HAYNE, Sept. 19.—The barque Oxford, from New York to Harve, caught fire, and was burned to the water's edge.

GLADSTONE AT COPENHAGEN.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—Mr. Gladstone's visit to Copenhagen has produced a deep impression at Vienna, and may lead to the modification of certain points of the Austro-German policy.

THE PREMIER'S COPENHAGEN VISIT.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—English journals ridicule the idea that the purpose of Mr. Gladstone's visit to Copenhagen was to form a coalition against the Austro-German alliance. They declare there is no political purpose to effect, and say that if Mr. Gladstone has any object of the nature it was simply the exercise of a moral influence in favour of peace.

RUSSIAN NIHILIST THREATS.
St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The Narodnoye Volia, a Nihilist organ, is being secretly printed in St. Petersburg. Reviewing the work of Count Tolstoi, Minister of the Interior, it says: "The continuance of a similar policy cannot be tolerated. The days of Tolstoi, the hangman, are numbered."

O'DONNELL'S THREATS.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—When Carey turned in former O'Donnell declared he would burn him by inches. He went to the Cape seeking work because he considered America played out. He had never seen Carey before taking his passage, and had no idea the informer was on board. His defence will probably be that Carey tried to shoot him.

DENOUNCING SECRET SOCIETIES.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—O'Donnell in conversation yesterday denounced secret societies.

O'DONNELL'S HISTORY.
LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Times says: "O'Donnell, the avenger, is 45 years old, a native of Merced, County Donegal, Ireland. He has been to America several times. He served in the American war, lived in Philadelphia, and kept a public-house on the Canadian border. He invested in silver mines and Fenian bonds, but lost his money. He returned to Ireland last May and frequented the company of Irish Americans in Londonderry. He carried a revolver, and is considered a strong Nationalist, but opposed the Invincibles."

THE FRENCH FORCES.
PARIS, Sept. 13.—Gen. Courbet has been appointed commander of the French forces in Tonquin.

FRENCH PROTECTORATE ACCEPTED.
PARIS, Sept. 19.—It is asserted that China has accepted a French protectorate of Annam on condition that the French evacuate Tonquin.

CHINESE DESERTING.
PARIS, Sept. 19.—A correspondent from Haiphong says the French are in difficulties through want of troops. Many Chinese are deserting to the Black Flags. Foreigners have been fighting on the side of the Black Flags.

BLAIRTON.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.—A young Italian, about sixteen years of age, was drowned on Sunday in a small creek running through Mr. Callaghan's farm in the township of Marmora. The lad was engaged to carry water to the men at work near there on the Ontario and Quebec Railway line, on Messrs. Munford and McMeekin's contract. There are about forty Italians working at that place, among whom the boy's father was one. The creek is about fifty feet from the camp, and is about five feet wide and only six inches deep. It appears that they had a hole about two feet deep dug in the creek for their own convenience. The boy went out to wash some clothes, and as he did not return his father went out to see what detained him. He found him lying in the hole dead. The boy had been subject to fits, and it is supposed that he was seized with one and fell head foremost into the water and was drowned. He was buried on Monday at Marmora in the Roman Catholic burying ground.

The Mechanics' Institute.
The annual general meeting of the Provincial Association of Mechanics' Institutes met in Toronto on the 18th inst. The President declared that considerable progress had been made, and that branches were increasing in number and importance.

Mr. Cowan moved that a series of scientific lectures should be given in the different branches throughout the province. The matter was left to the Board of Management. A motion was also carried to the effect that the Government be memorialized to allow the binding and re-binding of books be accounted for as for books brought in respect to the Institute's claims to the legislative grant.

FURTHER ACCOUNTS FROM THE CAMP AT COBBOURG.

The Work of the Y. M. C. A.—Our Gunners Shooting at the Battery—A Musical Camp—Scarcity of Water.

The Young Men's Christian Association have, with their usual Christian and charitable philanthropic spirit, erected a large tent on the grounds, where they hold nightly prayer-meetings, singing, etc. They also supply everybody with the daily papers to read in their tent, and if they wish to write a letter to their homes, give them paper, pen and ink gratis. They deserve the thanks of all for their benevolence.

THE DURHAM FIELD BATTERY.

This battery is composed of a very fine body of young men, who all present the appearance of true soldiers. The officers in command are mostly from Peterborough, as follows:—Lieutenant Sanderson, Commander of the Peterborough Division; Chas. B. Robertson, the Sergeant of the Battery, who received his training at the Royal School of Gunnery, Kingston; Joseph Methers, sergeant; Frederick Russell and Samuel Sharp, bombardiers. Four guns constitute one battery, and there are four sergeants and four corporals for each respective gun. A word about our boys at Toronto will not be amiss, and I will endeavour to give you a description of the shell that is fired from the 9-pound gun. Through the kindness of one of the Toronto contingent I gleaned the following in reference to this oft-heard-of, but seldom to be seen, combination of destructiveness.

THE 9 POUND SHELL.

The shell used is called the "Shrapnell" shell, and is an old-looking affair. This deadly messenger contains 63 bullets, 29 small and 34 large ones, and has a cup attached to it that carries 16 drams of powder. The weight is 9 pounds, is about 10 inches long, and is 2 3/10 (2 inches and eight-tenths) in diameter, and is fired out of an Armstrong gun. There is a five second fuse attached to each shell that is a fine piece of great mechanical ingenuity in itself. The idea of this fire is, if you require the shell to burst at a distance of fourteen hundred yards, it would be set at the eight-tenth hole, when the shell would explode, and the bullets, 43 in number, then scatter, and if in active service do terrible destruction in their flight. I was shown one of these terrible bullets that was used at Toronto, and it was broken into a dozen pieces, one of the pieces that had a steel barrel running up the centre, struck a stump, and was completely filled up with the wood from end to end, as tight as though it had been moulded in it. The boys did well at Toronto, Robertson, Sanderson and Russell especially distinguishing themselves for their superior shooting.

OFF FOR TORONTO.

The 57th band left the camp on Monday morning (Sept. 17), for the city of Toronto, where they secured an engagement long ago to play for an afternoon and evening at the Industrial Exhibition now going on in that city. They left the grounds at 4 o'clock in the morning in the midst of a heavy thunder storm. As they made arrangements to go per Midland Railway, they had necessarily to drive from Port Hope from Cobourg, a distance of seven miles, in the storm, when they took the iron horse and went back as near home as Millbrook and via Lindsay to Toronto. Your correspondent did not go with them, and therefore will be unable to give you a lengthy account of the trip, but nevertheless will give a brief description of what was done on their arrival home, which will be Tuesday night.

SHOOTING AT THE BATTERY.

As is usual at every camp of Canadian volunteers, they are compelled to practise shooting at the target as well as drilling, for a soldier who cannot shoot well is not as valuable a man as one who can, consequently, as before stated, it is part of the military practices every year, and, like all other military rules, is strictly and systematically enforced. The 57th Battalion are now practising at the battery drill, and some really good shooting is being made.

A BIG MARCH OUT.

The whole camp will have a march out on Wednesday morning, when the citizens of Cobourg will have an opportunity of witnessing a grand sight. They will then be able to form an opinion as to which battalion is the best, and also as to which battalion can boast of having the best band, and that will be an easy matter, as the 57th band are away up in the nineties—and don't you forget it. On Sunday afternoon the Frontenac Battalion Band arrived in camp. They are not a large band, being composed of 13 players. This makes five bands now on the grounds, and between them all, the hearts of the soldiers are kept from giving into a state of despondency and a longing for home and friends, although at times a melancholy sadness steals over the faces of some as they listen to some soul-inspiring and sweet strain of the band. Their thoughts, perhaps, may be of some comrade or friend that has since our last turn out gone to camp in another land, where the Great Captain of all those troops in command, and where there is no parting of friends, and where sorrow is unknown. As I sit here and write, the delightful strains of some familiar refrain are caught up by the four winds of Heaven, and wafted over this field of canvas until it strikes my ear, and that, perhaps, was the cause of the feelings giving rise to the thoughts that I have attempted to picture with my pencil.

CAMP NOTES.

The men are all in good health, there being little or no sickness to speak of in the camp this year.

A number of young men came to visit the camp on Sunday from Peterborough and other places.

On Sunday night in all the tents the men might be heard singing sacred songs, some of the Salvation Army's music being well sung by the Kingston red-coats. We are still without water on the grounds, the wells having gone dry, and evidently intend to remain so. However, as before mentioned, the water is brought from Cobourg in barrels, and this, although not good tasting water for drinking, does very well when made into tea, coffee, or last but not least, soldiers' soup.

THE ORGANIZED HYPOCRISIT.

WHILE honest difference of opinion is to be commended, and justifies the earnest advocacy of opposing views and policies, there is nothing which should and professedly does receive greater condemnation than the profession of one set of views and maxims while practising the very opposite. No one likes to be called a hypocrite and justly so, because the application of such a name is equivalent to branding those to whom it is applied as deceitful, two-faced, &c.—characteristics which no one openly covets, however much they may practise them for the purpose of gaining the confidence and applause of their fellow-men. Such is the meaning attachable to the word "hypocrisy" when applied to individuals, and how much worse and more dangerous to society must such characteristics become when a number of men are actuated in common to preach one thing and practise another—when a number of men become, in fact, an organized hypocrisy, as we claim for reasons which we are about to give, the leaders of the political party to which we are opposed, are.

That Messrs. Blake, Mowat and company richly deserve the application to them of the opprobrious epithet, "the organized hypocrisy" is clearly shown by reference to what has been and is taking place with regard to the Algoma election.

Our readers need scarcely be reminded of the strong language in which these gentlemen and their more ardent followers condemned the action of Sir John Macdonald in refusing to make the Ontario-appointed officials, the Sheriffs and Registrars ex-officio the returning officers in Dominion elections. When Sir John introduced and passed in 1882 his Act ignoring these officials as such, Mr. Blake not only spoke against this particular feature of the Election Act when before the House, but placed his protest upon the journals by moving "that the said Bill be not now read a third time, but that it be recommended to a committee of the whole, with instructions that they have power to amend the same by striking out the sixth clause, which gives to the Government the absolute power of naming returning officers at elections, and repeals the existing law whereunder the returning officers are to be selected where practicable from the Sheriffs and Registrars of the Districts."

And in 1883, after he had seen how the law in this respect worked, Mr. Blake denounced the exercise of such a power by the Government of the day, and the appointment of other than Sheriffs and Registrars as returning officers, in his place in Parliament in the following terms: "The Government proposed, and the late House adopted the view, that the power of nominating returning officers should be left at the discretion of the administration. The law had been changed, and certain public officers having a stake in the county and residing there, owing to themselves and to their situation, feeling a certain degree of restraint in political matters, and most likely on the whole to be persons who would rise to the level of their situation, were those among whom alone the choice could be made. It was made unlimited, and in many instances the most partisan and improper conduct was pursued by the officials who were appointed, not merely in their own conduct, but also as to the class of persons whom they appointed as deputies in the election."

So much for Mr. Blake's views. Let us now turn for a moment to the Ontario Statutes on the same subject. By the Revised Statutes of Ontario it is provided that (A) "Every writ for the election of a member of the Legislative Assembly shall be addressed to the Sheriff or the Registrar of Deeds or to one of the Sheriffs or to one of the Registrars of Deeds for the electoral district, or some portion of the electoral district, for which the election is to take place." (B) That "whenever a writ of election is issued" the same shall be addressed and directed to the Sheriff or Registrar who is ex-officio Returning-officer for the electoral district." (C) "That the Lieutenant-Governor may cause the writs for the electoral district of Algoma to be directed to the Sheriff of Algoma or to another other Returning-officer as he thinks fit," and (D) that "every Sheriff and Registrar who refuses to perform the duty of Returning-officer at any such election as aforesaid, after having received the writ of election, shall, for such refusal, incur a penalty of two hundred dollars."

So far the "preaching" of Mr. Blake at Ottawa, and the "practice" of his party at Toronto are consistent. Except in the cases of Algoma and Muskoka the law makes either the Sheriff or Registrar ex-officio Returning-officer without exception, and the provision made for appointing other than a Sheriff or Registrar in Algoma and Muskoka was not unreasonable at the time the act was passed, inasmuch as there was then only one of these officials in each of these districts. Now, however, there are no less than two Sheriffs and a Registrar in the district of Algoma, and yet Mr. Mowat has gone outside of the whole of these three to find a Returning-officer for that constituency.

That all these three could not act is not pretended, because as a matter of fact the writ never was issued to the Sheriff of Algoma, the official pointed out in the statute. It never was issued to the Registrar of Algoma. It apparently was issued to the Sheriff of Thunder Bay, and if so it will be interesting to learn, when the House meets, whether this official has been made to pay over the $200 penalty provided by the Act for his refusal to act "after having received the writ." Of course if he did not receive the writ he is not liable, but then we have the Mowat Government placed in the position of having their officials in the district of Algoma specially pointed out in their own statutes as the proper persons to discharge this duty, all of whom have been passed over to give the appointment to a political partisan, for the purpose of, according to Mr. Blake, freeing the returning officer in this particular contest from "that restraint in political matters" which is so necessary to enable him to "rise to the level of his situation," and prevent him from pursuing that "partisan and improper" course which persons obtaining their appointment in the same way as Mr. Thompson has done his, is almost certain not only to be guilty of himself, "but also as to the class of persons whom they appoint as deputies in the election."

With this record before us, and in view of the manner in which Mr. Mowat's present conduct is being defended by those who condemned Sir John Macdonald's course for taking such a power unto himself, are we not fully justified in calling them by the opprobrious, but too appropriate name of "the organized hypocrisy?"

THE LINDSAY CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

We have been favored with a copy of the price list and regulations for the Central Exhibition, to be held in Lindsay on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of October next. In detail the price list is much the same as that of former Central Exhibitions, although the amounts of the individual prizes are somewhat smaller. The rules governing the exhibition are practically the same, and it will, as former Centrals, be open to competitors from all parts of the Province, on the payment of the usual fee of $2. Mr. James Keith, Lindsay, is the Secretary-Treasurer. The prize list bears the imprint of the Post office. It has an attractive and handsomely designed cover, artistically printed in bronze and colors.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

We are glad to learn that the Provincial Exhibition to be held at Guelph next week promises to be unusually successful. The exhibits of stock are almost certain to surpass any previous exhibit of the kind ever held in Canada, while the field test of self-binding reapers, and the sale of the Model Farm stock, which are also to take place at the same time, will make a visit to Guelph next week almost a matter of business necessity to our enterprising farmers.

THE WEST RIDING EXHIBITION.

Our lady friends living on the east side of the Otonabee River will do well to remember that they are at liberty to compete free of charge at the exhibition of the West Riding Society, to be held in Peterborough on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 2nd and 3rd of next month.

EXPLANATION AND CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—It was erroneously stated in the town papers that the tug of war which was to have taken place at the lacrosse picnic between Ennismore and the lacrosse men, was won by the lacrosse men. The "tug" which took place occurred about sunset, after the great majority of Ennismore men and lacrosse men had left the grounds, and was between a few boys for fun. The team which represented the lacrosse club was composed of six men, three of whom at least were muscular farmers, and not members of the lacrosse club. The team which represented Ennismore was also composed of six men, two of whom were not residents of Ennismore. Again, they only had one trial. Our boys admit and are proud of the superiority of the Peterborough boys as lacrosse players, but believe themselves superior in a trial of strength. Therefore twelve of them are ready to contest a tug of war with any twelve members of the lacrosse club or any twelve bona fide residents of the town of Peterborough for $50 a side, within three weeks from the present date, the contest to take place at Bridgenorth.

Yours,

SPORTSMAN.

Ennismore, Sept. 19th, 1883.

The Situation at Canton.

CANTON, Sept. 19.—There is still much anxiety at Canton. It is probable that in case of another attack on the foreign concession the Chinese troops on the gunboats will make common cause with their countrymen. A hundred British soldiers are at Hong Kong ready for action in case of emergency. The Chinese at Foo-Choo are restless and hostile to Europeans. A British gunboat has been ordered to anchor opposite the concession.

Juvenile Burglars.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 17.—Three young tramps, aged from 12 to 18, were arrested here to-day. For some time past they have been entering farm houses in different parts of the country committing robberies, and lately commenced operations in the city. There is one more of the gang still at large, but it is expected he will soon be captured. They will probably be taken to Mount Pleasant for trial, as a warrant for their arrest was issued last Friday by Justice Ellis of that village.

The Anglican Church.

The provincial Synod, at its meeting on Tuesday was eloquently addressed by the Earl of Carnarvon on the difficulties the Mother Church was meeting in England. The noble Earl asserted that the Anglican Church in Canada held an enviable position, and expressed the opinion that it was a mighty body growing daily. The Synod directed that the Mission Board should assemble in Montreal, and that collections should be forwarded to this central point for distribution over the work.

The Loss of a Husband.

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—Louisa B. Klamowsky has begun a suit for $10,000 against the Grand Trunk road for the death of her husband, who was run over and killed last June at the Chene street crossing in this city.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

Dr. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS are not an Alcoholic Stimulant, but a purely Vegetable Medicine, Oathartic and Tonic in its action and invaluable in all affections of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

YELLOW FEVER.

Terrible Condition of the Population of Guaymas.

GUAYMAS, Sept. 18.—A heavy rain set in last night, clearing the atmosphere, bringing the thermometer to 84°. The people look upon it as a great blessing, as it will prevent the spread of the fever. Eight deaths are reported to-day. Orders have been issued that no bodies be buried until pronounced dead by the physicians. A number of Americans and foreigners have died, but it is impossible to learn their names. At Hermosillo the fever is still raging.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—A Guaymas merchant says the condition of things there is terrible and heartrending. Telegrams from Guaymas convey a faint idea of the horrors daily taking place. Most of those who died belong to the poorer classes, unable from scarcity of food to obtain proper nourishment. Many of the sufferers drank cold liquors, inducing congestion of the brain.

PENSACOLA, Sept. 18.—Three new cases of yellow fever in the navy yard to-day. Application was made to the authorities at Washington to-day for rations for poor people in the vicinity of the naval reservation.

FROM RAT PORTAGE.

What Mowat's Miscellaneous are doing in the effort to capture Algoma.

The Winnipeg Times of Sept. 15th says:—Mr. James Weidmant, registrar for Varennes at Rat Portage arrived in the city yesterday and reports everything quiet. He says that almost every doubtful vote is in the pay of the Ontario government. The men who have been thrown out of employment by the burning of the Rainy Lake Lumber Company's saw mill have been engaged by the Ontario government to work on the roads, build fences about the jail and do other little jobs. The citizens feel very much annoyed at the false reports sent to the Globe and other Grit papers in the east regarding the disturbance.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

Failure Impossible.

When Polson's Nervine is used for pain, it matters not how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief. Nervine, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10 cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten cent bottles at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Young Lady's Leg Cut off by a Train—Otherwise Injured.

HAMILTON, Sept. 19.—An accident of a most terrible nature occurred at the Grand Trunk depot here this morning. When the express from Toronto was steaming into the station, Miss Ellen Laing, of Stanton, England, jumped off while the train was still going at a pretty good speed. She missed her footing, and was thrown under the wheels before any effort could be made to save her. Her right leg was almost entirely severed below the knee, only a shred of skin attaching it. The fingers of her right hand were completely crushed off, and a wound three inches in length deeply marked her forehead. When picked up she was still conscious, but shortly afterwards swooned. She was at once conveyed to the hospital and everything possible done to save her life, though it is scarcely possible that she will recover. She was accompanied by her father and mother, and had only been in Canada a few days, being here on a pleasure trip. She has friends in this city whom she was about to visit. Miss Laing is doing as well as could be expected.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

The Nice New Salt Two Mormon Preachers Wear—Their Hasty Departure.

DECATUR, Ind., Sept. 15.—For several weeks past two Mormon elders have been prowling around in different parts of this county, preaching their creed whenever they could secure the use of a church or school house. They spent considerable time in the neighborhood of Laurel, and were given accommodations by Mr. D. W. Adams, one of the best citizens of that neighborhood. They left there for other fields, and on Monday last the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. Adams disappeared from home. Search was made, and she was found concealed in a house at Cedar Grove where the elders were stopping. She had been enticed away from home by one of the elders and was a candidate for Utah. She, however, returned home with her father. The indignation ran high. Thursday night the elders were stopping at the residence of Mr. Ellison, two miles from Laurel, and during the night they were called on by about 200 of the best citizens of that neighborhood. They were forced to strip and were then covered with tar and feathers and given two hours to get out of the country.

Colonization Companies.

The Toronto Globe attempts to show that nearly all the available land in the North-West has been absorbed by the colonization companies. This is a mistake, or is it merely a wanton assertion? There are only twenty-four companies in existence. Some of these have done excellent work. They did not begin active operations until this spring, yet twelve of them have placed an average of 100 families in each colony, representing at least 5,000 souls. This has been done without a dollar of cost to the Government. The settlers brought in by these companies are of the best class. Many of them are young farmers from Ontario, while others are substantial tenant farmers from the old country. The most prosperous companies are those operating north of Qu'Appelle. The Qu'Appelle Colonization Association, the Touchwood and Qu'Appelle Companies, the Dominion Land Company, the Shell River Association, and the York Farmers' Company have done particularly well. Next year the companies will be in complete working order, and many thousands of settlers will be secured.

By the way, the Globe always forgets that the colonization scheme was projected by Mr. Mackenzie. He believed that private enterprise could render valuable assistance to the Government Immigration Bureau, and the work being done by the existing companies fully sustains that view.—Winnipeg Times.

Afraid of the Electors.

The Winnipeg Times, of Sept. 14, says:—"This is nomination day at Port Arthur. Owing to Mr. Mowat's utter disregard of the convenience of the electors in choosing the Landing for the nomination, it is not likely that there will be a large meeting. The Algoma Pioneer points out that the writ has been taken from the great body of the electors who are settled on Manitoulin Island, Cuckburn and Barrie Islands, Mississauga, Thessalon, Bruce Mines and the townships lying along the Great Northern Road, St. Joseph's Island, Laird and Macdonald, to the number of 15,000 to 16,000. Port Arthur, which is 300 miles distant from these settlements, is the centre of a district containing not more than 5,000 people. This is no worse, however, than Mr. Mowat's deliberate violation of his own statute in passing over the Sheriff and Registrar of Algoma, and handing the writ to a political partisan."

Little Things.

Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water which form the mighty ocean, and the tiny seeds which grow into the mighty forest, are all the little things. How common are small things! Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agency to the unhappy possessor. Pateman's Painless Cure Extractor is a small affair yet by its power, speed, and painless action it has gained the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous medicines offered by some, but see that it is made by Pateman & Co., Kingston, Ont., and you are convinced.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, when as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. Keep the Umbrella as Hand.

The weather today is warm and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are, as follows:—Increasing easterly winds, cloudy to fair weather, with light local rains.

Personal.

Prof. Heathfield, formerly organist of George Street Methodist Church, has been engaged as organist for the Charlotte Street Church, Miss Walsh having resigned.

Mr. J. McWilliams, the gaoler, has been very ill for over two weeks. He is a little easier today, and hopes are entertained of his recovery. Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, is registered at the Oriental Hotel.

A Long Journey.

A family party came here on the Grand Junction train this forenoon. They were on their way from near Quebec to Waukegan. Among them was one old lady, who was said to be eighty-five years of age, but who had the appearance of being much older. It was a long journey for her. She appeared to be very weak from age and fatigue.

The Sons of Italy.

There are hundreds of Italians in town just now, having come in from the line of the "Missing Link," where they had been working. They do not appear to be particular as to hotel accommodation, as a large number of them eat their meals sitting on the sidewalk. They are, however, an orderly company. Mr. Fred Soobell, of Toronto, hired about a hundred of them on Wednesday to go to the West to work on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Kram's Fluid Lightening.

No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightening. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE!

MESSRS. FITZGERALD & STANGER'S CARRIAGE FACTORY ALMOST DESTROYED.

Messrs. Hopkins & Montgomery's Livery Stable Burned—The Commercial House Stable Consumed—One Horse Perished in the Flames.

On Wednesday afternoon, at twenty-five minutes after four o'clock, the fire alarm was sounded. Smoke was seen rising in a thick volume from the corner of Brock and Water streets, and it was soon learned that the livery stable of Messrs. Hopkins & Montgomery was on fire. The flames began in Mr. Wm. Kennedy's (the Commercial House) stables, which adjoined the livery stables. The stables were frame buildings and burned rapidly. The firemen turned out very promptly, and the fire engine was stationed on the tank at the post office in a few minutes. Although the fire was out of the limits covered by the contract with the Waterworks Company, two branches of hose were attached to the hydrant in front of the telegraph office, one being taken through Miss Jenkins' store, and the other through the Examiner office. There was a good fire pressure on the mains, and a stream of water began to play on the flames eight minutes after the alarm was sounded. But there was no nozzle on hand for the second branch, and a fireman ran down the street and borrowed one from Mr. P. Hamilton, a large 1½ inch nozzle, which threw a splendid stream when attached. These two streams were thrown on the rear of Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage factory, which had become ignited soon after the alarm was sounded. The buildings on George street were in danger until these two streams began to play, and the roof of the Commercial House did catch fire several times, but it was extinguished by means of a small hose attached to the water service in the house. Meanwhile the firemen were waiting for water from the fire engine for a third branch in front of the factory, and fifteen minutes after the alarm had been given the water was turned on. It was a weak stream, however, and the hose was then detached from the engine and attached to the hydrant on George street, north of the post office. This branch also furnished a good stream, although it was not as powerful as those from the other hydrant, because there was a greater length of hose for the water to be forced through. The fire had taken the greatest hold of the carriage factory at the south-east corner, where it could not be reached by the hose, and having got into the Mansard roof on the building, it was difficult to control it. When it was seen that the factory was in danger many willing hands set to work to carry out the carriages and material in it, and a great deal was saved. The third story of the building was entirely gutted, burning a large amount of dry lumber and other material, and the second story was greatly damaged before the fire was checked. The firemen held to their work well and the flames were confined to the second and third stories principally, although the ground flat was also somewhat damaged.

THE LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

The horses and carriages in Messrs. Hopkins & Montgomery's livery stable were all rescued, but they lost 225 bushels of oats and other feed, harness, &c., on which they had no insurance. Mr. Kennedy's loss will amount to about $150, and he, also, was uninsured. A horse belonging to Mr. Wm. Bacon, which was in Mr. Kennedy's stable, could not be got out and was burned. Mr. John Sherlock, who made an attempt to rescue it, was kicked by the horse and knocked down, and received a burn on his hand, but was not severely injured. Mr. John Logan, a fireman, who also attempted to get it out, severed the halter and also received a kick on the thigh, and was compelled to abandon the horse and effect an exit through a window.

All the buildings belonged to the Birdsell estate. Mr. F. Birdsell had, on the carriage factory, $1,700 insurance in the Phoenix and $1,750 in the North British and Mercantile. Mrs. A. E. Birdsell had $200 insurance on the hotel stables in the Royal.

Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger's loss will be heavy, and the insurance of $3,000, which they had on their stock and tools in the Fire Insurance Association, will not cover it.

NOTES.

After the fire had been got under control, and the firemen were dousing the fire that remained, a pipe in the main burst in front of the Messrs. Cartons' store. The water was then shut off at the valve on the corner of Brock street, and one of the branches of hose was attached to the hydrant at Mr. Yelland's, which gave two streams to drown out the flames. When the broken pipe was taken up it was seen that there had been an old crack in it, as it was rusted.

Two minutes after the alarm of fire was given a telephone message was sent to the waterworks pump house. In one minute after the message was sent the extra pressure required for the fire was on the mains.

During the fire sparks fell upon the post-office, and the roof of the building was kept from catching fire by water thrown on it by small hoses attached to the water service in Mr. Breese's store.

Some weeks ago the Chief of the Fire Brigade informed the Council that more hose and nozzles were required. Five hundred feet of hose was purchased, but when it arrived the couplings were not what was required, and it had to be returned. Then the firemen had not all the hose they could have used. The nozzles, we are informed, have been ordered, but had not arrived here yet.

Springless Truss and Supporters

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:—

PETERBOROUGH:—Calise House, Oct. 17 and 18. LINDSAY:—Benson House, Oct. 19 and 20. COBBOURG:—Dunham House, Oct. 22, 23 and 24.

Prof. Hotchkiss's treatment is practical, rational and economical. His object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed inguinal and Umbilical as well as Varicose, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 95 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years experience has become master of his profession, and DEFIES the Hernia he cannot hold in its place. Prof. Hotchkiss's post-office address is Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y. d4w28

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1883.

POLICE COURT.

LOUD TALK.

FRIDAY, Sept. 21.—Pierce Phelan was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having made use of blasphemous language in a public place. His eloquence, and his plea of "first offence," procured his discharge and he was allowed to go.

THE FIER DID IT.

Wm. O'Brien was charged by P. C. Adams with having taken too freely of the bowl that intoxicates. He pleaded guilty, but stated that he had never before a Police Magistrate during his life previous to this, that he had not tasted liquor for a long time, and that he did so this time after being up late at the fire. He was also allowed to go.

Novel Spectacles for Near-Sighted People.

The following letter appears in the Scientific American:—

Having passed forty, I require to read with comfort No. 11 near-sighted glasses. I can read at six inches without, or at twenty inches with No. 8, but reading, and especially writing, is very uncomfortable, so I bought a pair of No. 11 eyeglasses, and for the day it was eyeglasses and spectacles, spectacles and eyeglasses—a regular monkey and patrol time of it. Necessity being the mother of invention, I pressed for a solution and found it. My left eye is so affected with myopia that I cannot use any number whatever to advantage, and so call on it only for guard duty, and pour at that. I concluded that this misfortune could be turned to good account by putting a No. 11 glass in the left eye frame, and a No. 8 in the right, and "protest" when I want to look or walk, pop up my eye-glasses proper face forward. When I want to read or write I reverse the order; and No. 8 goes to my left eye, and No. 8 to the right. Result—spectacles are carefully laid aside as momentous of twenty years' faithful service, and I am happy, as I believe many of your readers might be who are likewise afflicted.

For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

SHOOTING STOPPED BY TENANTS.

DUBLIN, Sept. 20.—A Dublin despatch says Lord Sligo's tenants have prevented gentlemen from shooting over his estate and seized their guns.

ANOTHER SPANISH RISING.

MADRID, Sept. 20.—The Madrid authorities have been advised that Zorrilla and other exiles are preparing for another rising in Madrid and all the principal towns. Extra precautions are taken every night. Unless checked, the rising is to occur before the King returns.

A SHOCKING DEATH.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The British ship Oxford, from New York with a full cargo of petroleum, was burned at her dock at Harve yesterday. The steward of the vessel was caught in the flames, and his body entirely consumed. The balance of the crew escaped.

CHOLERA FATALITIES IN EGYPT.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The cholera victims in Egypt since the outbreak of the present epidemic, up to August 26th, numbered 26,597.

FOUNDERED AT SEA.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Italian barque Fratelli Gagliardi, from Dunkirk for Darin, has been in collision with an unknown steamer. Both vessels foundered, but the crews were saved.

CATTLE DISEASE SPREADING.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The foot-and-mouth disease has made its appearance among cattle in Tipperary, and is rapidly spreading.

ACCIDENT TO AN M. P.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Mr. Samuel Whitbread, M. P. for Bedford, while grouse shooting was seriously wounded by the accidental discharge of his son's fowling piece.

ROYAL ARRIVALS AT HAMBURG.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Emperor William, the Crown Prince, King Alfonso, and King Milan arrived at Hamburg to-day.

ODONNELL'S DEFENCE.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Efforts are being made to obtain the services of Mr. Charles Russell, M. P., to lead the defence of O'Donnell. A Central Committee is being formed to obtain funds.

UNACCEPTABLE TO CHINA.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—It is reported that the memorandum of the French proposals upon the Tonquin question, which the Marquis Tseng telegraphed yesterday to Peking, have not proved acceptable to the Chinese Government.

THE FRENCH AT TAMATAVE.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—It is stated that during the bombardment at Tamatave, Missionary Shaw's residence was looted, and was threatened with destruction by the French officials because he failed to remove the debris caused by ransacking his house.

A PROTECTIVE TARIFF ADVOCATED.

SOUTHBOROUGH, Sept. 20.—The Association for the advancement of Science to-day discussed the condition of the English cotton trade. The general opinion was that England had nothing to fear from foreign competition. Sir William Wheelhouse ascribed the commercial depression to the operation of free trade laws. He advocated a return to a protective tariff.

THE AUSTRO-GERMAN ALLIANCE.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The Diplomatique Gazette's London correspondent says the Austro-German alliance is directed against Russia and France. In the event of a war between Germany and France Austria is to maintain an armed neutrality. In the event of a war between Austria and Russia Germany is to do likewise. If a third power attacks Germany or Austria this armed neutrality will be converted into active co-operation.

A NEW BULGARIAN CONSTITUTION.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—On September 5th Prince Alexander issued a manifesto announcing the appointment of a commission to draft a new constitution for Bulgaria. It was reported at the time that this commission had been formed upon the Prince by the Russian Envoy and the Russian Generals Skobeloff and Kaulbar, who threatened that if the Prince refused to comply with their demands a decree would be issued by the Czar of Russia releasing the Bulgarians from allegiance to Alexander, and that Gen. Skobeloff would be appointed temporary regent. To-day the National Assembly of Bulgaria voted an address to the Prince, demanding that the draft of the new constitution be submitted to them without delay. This action is regarded as rather significant, from the fact that Russia has for some time past been endeavoring to get rid of Prince Alexander, and place its own nominee upon the throne, a usurpation, however, which none of the powers will tolerate. The Bulgarian Cabinet has resigned. A new Liberal Ministry will be formed under Zoukoff.

THE CROATIAN DISORDERS.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—At a banquet last week at Grosvenor, Hungary, Herr Tiza, the Hungarian Premier, said the Croatian question would not be solved by street riots. It was necessary first to restore order, and then the Diet would co-operate with the local authorities by adopting equitable and conciliatory measures. Jew-hatred affected the honour of the Fatherland, and the government was bound to protect the lives and property of all citizens regardless of class prejudices.

A POPULAR CELEBRATION IN ROME.

ROME, Sept. 19.—A Rome despatch says:—An enormous crowd witnessed the ceremonies attending the commemoration of the entry of the Italian troops into Rome in 1870. The Syndic, alluding to the King's visit to Vienna, said the ancient enmity between Austria and Italy had changed to sincere friendship. The Syndic then placed a wreath on the tomb of Victor Emmanuel.

Murderers at a Marriage.

BRIS, Pa., Sept. 20.—A wedding to-day culminated in a probable tragedy. While the marriage service was in progress three brothers, Ferdinand, Charles and William Weber entered uninvited, and grossly insulted the bride party. Being turned into the street the Webers waited until the newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thaler, left for the train on their wedding trip. They stabbed the groom with knives, and beat his wife's face with stones until the young woman was unconscious. All three are in jail awaiting the result of Mr. and Mrs. Thaler's wounds.

Episcopal Synod.

The Provincial Synod considered on Thursday the report of the committee on woman's work in the church, and it was resolved that women may be employed as deaconesses or as members of sisterhoods under ecclesiastical supervision.

THE GOLD DISCOVERY.

The Belleville Ontario of Sept. 19 says:—Since the publication of the article in the Ontario yesterday referring to the gold excitement in North Hastings, a reporter made some further inquiries regarding the future action of the gentlemen interested in the formation of a company to operate the mine.

The mine is about sixty miles north of Madoc, and several mining experts who have examined the quartz pronounce it the richest ever discovered in this country.

The lot which Mr. Gray purchased is part lot number sixty-two on the east side of the Hastings road in the Township of Montegale. The consideration was $20,000.

The Company will be known as the "Victoria Mining Company." Mr. Gray declines to give any further information for the press for a few days as certain papers have not been properly executed, but he has promised to supply us with full particulars shortly.

The Dramondville Murder.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 18.—When the Ontario police heard of the shooting of young Matheson they at once proceeded to the Italian camp. Antonio Lavino on being questioned said he was present when Emilio DeFranco shot young Matheson. The shot was intended for McLeod, who was with Matheson, and who had some quarrel with Antonio about a girl. Chief Macdougall, accompanied by his men and about 100 citizens, proceeded to scour the woods for DeFranco and another man, Milan Laper, whom Antonio described. This afternoon the Chief and Magistrate Hill came upon two men who answered the description and gave chase, but the fugitives escaped into the woods. Their capture is now considered only a question of hours. It appears the fatal quarrel occurred at a dancing party. Antonio is held as a prisoner.

The Exchange Bank.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—The situation of the Exchange Bank is comparatively the same as yesterday. Payment of bills in gold proceeds, but to the extent of $10 to each person presenting them instead of $20, which was the standard yesterday. The trustees of a large estate extensively interested in the bank have made a formal demand to the directors to appoint three independent bankers with a public accountant to examine and audit the official statements made by the management. This demand is still under the consideration of the board, but it is expected to be acquiesced in, as it will settle the question raised that matters are as they are represented.

Cost of the International Bridge.

BUFFALO, Sept. 18.—The Canada Southern railway has re-opened the contest with the International Bridge Company, as to the terms on which the company is to use the bridge. The matter will be argued before the Supreme Court of the United States. The evidence taken at the time the motion was made disclosed that the total cost of the bridge did not exceed $1,500,000, and that the tolls collected during the five years from 1875 to 1880 amounted to $1,069,810. Of this amount the Canada Southern paid $442,958, the Grand Trunk $351,164, and the Great Western $305,968. In the years 1878 and 1879 the Canada Southern paid $75,000 per annum.

Wholesale Bribery.

Mr. Lyon asks re-election in Algoma on the ground that the Ontario Government "had paid back to Algoma nearly $100,000 more than had been received from it by the Province, and that during his term in Parliament he had secured for Algoma $723,000 more than was received from the district by the Province during that time." The words quoted are taken from a report of Mr. Lyon's speech in the Port Arthur Herald, a journal supporting the Reform candidate. Looks a little like what our Reform friends are accustomed to speak of as "wholesale bribery."—Hamilton Spectator.

Forestry Exhibition.

An Industrial Forestry Exhibition is to be held at Edinburgh next year. The Countess says the promoters are making rapid progress with their arrangements. The programme has been completed and the classification of exhibits has been arranged. Promises of contributions exceed the most sanguine expectations. Canada makes a good display at the Fisheries Exhibition in London. No doubt the Dominion will be represented at the Forestry Exhibition.

A Southern Vendetta.

SOCORRO, N.M., Sept. 20.—At Big Creek rancho, Monday, Joel Fowler met Ponby Forest and Bill Childs, against whom he had a grudge. Forest and Childs commenced fighting, and Fowler shot Childs dead. Forest ran into a house occupied by Mr. McGee. McGee asked him to come out, when Forest fired, killing McGee and Fowler. He then set fire to the house and put a ball through his own heart. All three were buried in the same grave.

The Industrial Exhibition.

If the Industrial Exhibition at Toronto is not what it is dubbed by the local press of that city, "Canada great Fair," it is certainly attracting great crowds of visitors. The manufactured goods exhibition proves what great strides Canadian industries are making, and many instances are very creditable. The display of horse flesh is particularly good. Some of the side shows are drawing well.

Miss Laing's Accident.

Miss Laing, the young lady who received such terrible injuries by attempting to leave a train in motion, is now expected to recover. It was found necessary to amputate the injured limb above the knee, and also to amputate three fingers above the out of the car wheel. The cut on the face extends to the nose, and though a very bad cut, will not prove serious.

Moody's Christian Convention.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The Christian convention under the guidance of Moody began a three day's session this morning. About 2,000, chiefly ministers and evangelists, are present. The object is chiefly to consider the best methods of carrying out the work of evangelization throughout the country, especially in large cities, during the coming winter.

WAITING FOR HIS SHOES.

We notice that the Toronto Globe and the Montreal Herald, which do not always agree, are in accord in denying that Reform journals have ever expressed a wish for the death of Sir John Macdonald. We do not keep files of the scurrilous journals that indulge in such fiendish hopes, but we are able to present our contemporaries with a few specimen paragraphs out of many which we have read with disgust and cast aside.

In October, 1882, the Montreal, N. B., Times perpetrated the following:—

"The end of the Macdonald reign of iniquity approaches. It may be the revelation of a new and worse political scandal. It may be by the hand of Heaven. But come it must and will. To believe otherwise would be to lose faith in the future of the world."

Because we reprobated in fitting terms this diabolical expression of a hope for the death of Canada's foremost statesman, the Belleville Ontario, instead of condemning this offence, censured us for blaming it and called us "bilious" for doing so, thus showing its sympathy with the offender.

Again in May 25th, 1883, the Ottawa Free Press, though not speaking quite so plainly, betrayed the same frame of mind. In an article commenting upon the recent session it said:—

"With all its noise and nonsense it was only a huge imposition to give constitutional form to the tyrannical command of one man. It is a good thing, however, that he is old and weak. Were he as strong as he might be, the mischief he could have done would be incalculable."

We cannot oblige our contemporaries with exact details of any more of this garbage, for it is not a thing to be treasured, and has long ago found its way to the waste paper basket.

But there is another aspect of the matter. Not only the outspoken utterances of the murder in their souls, but also many other Reform journals which would not descend to such indecent manifestations, are in the constant habit of dwelling upon the subject of Sir John Macdonald's death, and of the effect of his loss upon the party which he leads so ably, some of them contending that the Conservatives would then be annihilated and others that they would be rent into factions by internal rivalries, in either case leaving the Reformers in command of the situation.

Now of course Sir John is no more immortal than other men, and at his age a greatly prolonged life cannot be expected, so that an occasional reference to his probable accession to the leadership would neither be unnatural nor improper. It is however a very different thing when there is a constant and incessant harping upon Sir John's death, and always in reference to the prospective gain of the Reform party in consequence. If an heir were continually talking about what he would do with an estate when he would come into possession of it by the death of his father or uncle, or incessantly discussing in what way the property would be divided, with the expression of his hope that he would largely benefit, would not people sneer at him as one who was longing for a dead man's shoes, and was unduly and indecently eager for the departure of him who was standing in the way of the early attainment of his hopes? And such is precisely the light in which we must regard those Reform journalists who are always gloating on the prospect of the removal of Sir John by Providence, with the advantages they hope to derive thereby.

Sir John has spent a long life in the service of his country, but he is not so aged nor in such feeble health that we need fear that his loss must be speedy, nor that his opponents need hope that they will soon be relieved of his presence. No doubt it is a high compliment to him that the best hope of his political opponents lies in his death, but still it would be more decent not to let their eagerness be so manifest, or so often on their lips, and not to be trying on a living man's shoes till at least he is at death's door.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

We observe that some of our contemporaries are attacking the Mowat administration for appointing Mr. Phipps secretary for forest preservation, but we cannot support their criticisms. As to the office we are glad to see that Mr. Mowat has learnt that our forests should be preserved, for hitherto he has seemed to think the only use for our capital as comprised in our forest was to turn it into cash, that he might in his pressing necessities use it as revenue to meet current expenditure, though to do so he sold at a sacrifice, and then reduced the price agreed upon to his political friends. It is a decided gain for Ontario if he has learnt that our forests should be preserved instead of being destroyed to afford means for his extravagant expenditure or rewards for his political supporters. As for the personal question, though Mr. Phipps may be a somewhat inconsistent politician, and though he may have shown enmity to the Macdonald administration, we cannot see that he is thereby necessarily disqualified for working for the very necessary preservation of our forests.

Mr. Mowat would have no opposition from us if we had nothing worse to criticize than such a step as this.

I. C. B. CONVENTION.

Secretary's Annual Report—Financial Condition of the Union.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—The annual convention of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union resumed its sitting yesterday at 9 o'clock a.m., the President, Mr. O'Meara, in the chair. The Secretary read the annual report, giving a brief summary of the work done during the past year, which had shown very favorable results. The Union during the past year had added greatly to its membership roll. The report showed the Union to be on a good financial basis. The amount of tax paid late the treasury per capita during the year averaged $34.90, expenses $51.20. The Union has now a working fund of $2,260. The outlook for the ensuing year was shown to be very favorable, and several suggestions were made regarding the organization of new branches. The reports of membership from the different branches were as follows:—No. 1, Toronto, 69 members, three sick benefits received, amounting to $36; No. 8, London, 90 members, four sick benefits amounting to $50; No. 9, Kingston, 108 members, 4 sick benefits amounting to $31; No. 11, Toronto, 85 members, 2 sick benefits amounting to $24; No. 21, Belleville, 20 members, 2 sick benefits amounting to $13.

Delegates from the various branches reported them all to be in a flourishing condition. The report was adopted.

The Committee on Constitutional Amendments reported several amendments to the constitution which were adopted.

A number of resolutions were passed with a view to furthering the well-being of the Union. The reports of the Auditors and Committee on Credentials were presented and adopted.

The Convention concluded its business in the afternoon.

CANADA'S CREDIT.

The Globe complains that when stating that United three per cents. now selling at 103, and United States four per cents. at 114, we did not explain why these sell at so much higher a price than Canadian bonds of a like denomination. We supposed that explanation was quite unnecessary. The reason is simply the operation in the United States for a quarter of a century of a protective tariff. Twenty years hence the credit of Canada will stand quite as high as does that of the neighboring republic at this time. Through the operation of the National Policy and of the Pacific Railway we will then have fully developed our natural resources, settled the great North-West, establishing on a fair basis industrial enterprises of every description. In a word, have progressed to a high state of development in all that makes a nation great. Already we have made no mean advances towards the goal which the Globe seems to think we ought to have reached. Our bonds under the tariff-revenue-only policy were selling at a discount of 6 per cent., to-day they command a premium of 4 per cent., the appreciation in the prices of the securities is steadily proceeding, and we can assure the Globe that no Canadian Finance Minister in a Conservative administration will be satisfied until he realizes as much of Canadian bonds as can be got for American securities of the same denomination. Let our Liberal friends possess their souls in patience for a few years and their professed ardent desire for a credit as high as that of the United States will be realized. Under protection the United States has reduced its debt about fifteen hundred million dollars since 1879, in the face of a capital expenditure since 1879 of fifty million dollars, and the expectation of a continuous reduction in the debt from year to year is now well founded. —Montreal Gazette.

KINSMOUNT.

CHURCH CONSECrated.—The Dominion Churchman says:—On the 31st of August the Bishop of Toronto consecrated the Church of St. James, the following clergy taking part in the ceremony, Rev. Dr. Smithett, F. Hurt, J. E. Cooper, J. Jones, Wm. Farncomb, and the incumbent of the parish. The Bishop in his address said "that rarely, if ever, did it fall to the lot of one congregation, more than once in a generation, to take part at one time in four such interesting ceremonies as were to-day combined, viz.:—Consecration of a Church, Baptism, Confirmation, and Holy Communion. And that it was interesting and instructive to note how each marked the various stages of the Christian's earthly life." The mission of Galway, of which this church is the headquarters, has attached four other stations, three, seven, nine and twelve miles distant, the roads very rough, and the combined congregations, numbering forty-five families, widely scattered and poor. At Kinmount there are eight families. Under such circumstances it can only have been by making strenuous efforts that the present incumbent has been able to raise the $300 required to build the church. Towards meeting this $200 were collected by him in three hours among the wealthier tribes on the farm, $100 from the S. P. C. K., and Sunday School books value $10, and from other sources in England, after cloth, linen, Sunday School books and hymns A. and M. to the value of $150. The church is a neat frame structure, seating from eighty to a hundred people, with altar, altar-cloth, reading-desk and lectern, tasteful and beautiful. It is but fifteen months since the Rev. E. Soward was appointed to the incumbency of the parish, and at that time services were being held, alternately with other religious bodies, in a Union Meeting House. There was also a union Sunday School. Recognizing that, as long as matters were on such a footing, he could have no hope of building up his flock on any definite church principles, or training the younger members systematically as consistent, enlightened Churchmen, the incumbent at once established a Church of England Sunday School, and energetically set to work to erect a church, with the happy results above detailed. The incumbent and congregation at Kinmount are much to be congratulated upon the material progress of the parish during the past year. May God's blessing be upon them in the future and His grace be with them that they "be not weary in well doing," but ever increase more and more until the perfect day.

CHURCH.

CHILD POISONED.—On Wednesday morning, about nine o'clock, Grace L'Estrange, infant daughter of Mr. John Balfour, a bright little girl of one year and four months, died from poison. It seems that about 7:30 in the morning a tin box, containing a number of pills composed of strychnine and iron, was given to the little one to eat, and she in some way managed to get the powder off. Before noticed she had eaten a sufficient number of pills to cause her death after an hour and a half of intense agony.

RAT PORTAGE, Sept. 19.—Mr. Mowat's secondary magistrate, Lyon, brother of Mr. Lyon, the Grit candidate for Algoma, returned from Fort Frances, where he has been electioneering for his brother, freely promising a bribe to the electors for their franchise new roads, schools, titles to lands, timber limits, the completion of the Fort Frances canal, the improvement of the Sault rapids, with every other possible and impossible promise. This is not all. Bribery of the most unblushing character is being resorted to. —Mail.

Forest Fires.

In a late paper by Prof. C. S. Sargent, that gentleman gives a striking account of the loss, actual and prospective, suffered from forest fires, and of the necessity for stringent legislation for their prevention. He lays special stress upon the importance of the subject for the New England states, where so large a share of the soil is only adapted to forest growth, and where a goodly portion of our supplies of white pine must come from future years. These states already have valuable forests of second-growth pine, now reaching a size when they can properly be thinned out, leaving the smaller trees for future use. But he states that in Massachusetts alone ten thousand acres of forests are, on the average, burned annually—about one-third of the fires originated from locomotive sparks, and nearly all the rest from carelessness, or other preventable causes.

This burning not only destroys the standing trees, but it makes the investment of capital in growing forests hazardous; it checks the growth of a very desirable industry; and it destroys, as he points out, the capacity of the ground to continue in pine growth. When properly cut a pine forest may be propagated indefinitely. When burned, there is a long succession of weeds and briars, mountain cherry, gray birch, willows or poplars, maples and ash trees, until a hard-wood growth is established. This maintains itself a long time if left alone; but if the ground be then cleared by cutting, cultivated for many years, and then left free from plow and harrow, and guarded from pasturing and fire, the white pine will spring up spontaneously after its long banishment fifty or one hundred years must pass before this desirable crop will return. In view of so long a delay, Prof. Sargent holds, and of the considerable value that pine will soon command, it is well that special care should be given to protecting and preserving the second growth forest now approaching maturity.

A Reminiscence of the Fruit Box Industry.

"It is generally supposed," says the New York Maritime Register, "that the boxes in which oranges and lemons are sent to this country from the Mediterranean, are made along the shores of that sea. This was the case years ago, but it is no longer. Formerly the shooks were hauled out of the log by hand in Italy and sent down to the packers. But a few years ago, Capt. T. J. Stewart, a native of Maine, a shipmaster who had traded with the Italian ports, came to the conclusion that these shooks could be made much cheaper in his native state and shipped thence to the fruit districts at a profit. With him to the aid, he accordingly retired from the sea and proceeded to Bangor, the centre of the Maine lumbering interests, where he put his new idea into practice. It has proved highly successful. Mills were erected in the woods miles back of Bangor, and shooks of all description were quickly turned out by the thousands. Shooks for oranges, lemons and cranberry boxes, for onion boxes, oil and fish cases, were made in those woods, forwarded to Bangor by rail, and exported thence to our great ports and the Mediterranean fruit districts. The trade has now grown to important proportions, and it is said that a few more years will see the shooks that are not in boxes of Maine make. Our poetical friend, who at the sight of tempting boxes of oranges lets his mind wander to the sunny skies of Italy, and thinks of scented groves and the blue waters of the famous sea, can let his thoughts also wander to the forest covered hills of the Pine Tree state, whence comes the wood that holds the brilliant-hued fruit. The more practical mind, however, will rejoice in the fact that much of the timber which in former years was literally wasted in Maine is now turned to such good advantage. By shipping oranges and lemon box shooks, not only a large and lucrative trade opened, but the transport of these goods brings additional business to Bangor in the supplies furnished there to vessels employed in the trade. It is difficult to estimate the money extent by this, but it is easy to see that it must be of great value to the port."

Bee-keepers in Council.

The annual convention of the International Association of Bee-keepers of the United States and Canada commenced in Toronto on Tuesday last, Mr. D. A. Jones, of Boston, being President.

The reports from the various States were first heard, and proved that the general yield of honey was an average one. Great varieties of production were, however, reported from different localities. In North Texas the crop being not more than 10 lbs. per colony, while some districts, viz.: C. A. train, Quebec and Ohio yielded 100 or 130 lbs. to the colony. The President of the Ontario Bee-keepers Association declared an average production of 106 lbs. per colony.

A great variety of topics connected with bee culture were discussed, amongst others, the best position in which to place hives; the easiest method of removing the bees after the harvest, and the most advantageous means of curing honey.

A number of new questions were discussed at the meeting of the convention on Wednesday, and on each question much variety of opinion was expressed. On the subject of veils, many recommended wire as the best material. In regard to the width of section boxes, it was held that this was a point depending a great deal upon locality; from 14 to 18 inches being the average. No definite decision was arrived at on the advisability of clipping queens' wings. The President's address, and the presence of Mr. Langstroth, the father of bee culture in America, were amongst the most interesting features of the day.

GUARANTEE.—After fair trial, with no relief or cure effected, your money will be refunded. PRICE, $1.00.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded.

My Dear Sirs.—Having tried your Fountain of Health for my complaints, I heartily urge all those suffering from Distress, Costiveness or Depression of Spirits, to give it a trial, as I have been completely cured with two bottles. I never enjoyed my breakfast, and being unable to sleep well, I grew very nervous. I am aged forty-five, and have suffered for over ten years.

Mrs. Phillips, Caretaker Niagara Street School, Toronto, CANADA.

Gentlemen.—I am forty years of age, and have been afflicted for the past ten years with Catarrh. I was recommended to try your Fountain of Health, which I am still using, and, although not perfectly cured, I am so much improved that I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from the same disease. When the time for the above disease, a severe pain, which I had in my side, has entirely left me.

Mrs. Furlong, 100 Bellwood Ave., Toronto, ONTARIO.

Messrs. Churchill & Co.,—Your Fountain of Health has completely cured me of Dyspepsia, which has troubled me for nearly two years.

J. Clark, 17 Stafford Street, Toronto.

SINCE DISEASE.

Dear Sirs.—I take pleasure in testifying to the benefit I have received from the use of your Fountain of Health. For over nine years I have suffered from disease of the Kidneys, having a severe pain in the back a great deal of the time and a tenderness of the eye balls. No medicine that I have ever tried and I have used no end of them, gave me relief, except your Fountain of Health, which has made me feel good. I have used two of your dollar bottles.

Yours sincerely, WILLIAM GRAHAM, 8 Leger Street, Toronto.

Desk diaries for 1884 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Return from Camp.

The Peterborough volunteers will arrive in town from the Cobourg camp about half-past two o'clock to-morrow, coming by the Cobourg Railway and steamer Golden-Eye.

Our Volunteers.

We learn that Gen. Luard expressed himself very favorably in regard to the Peterborough Rangers after the review on Thursday. Such praise from a thoroughly competent and rather severe critic is a feather in the cap of our volunteers.

System! System! System!

In this and bulk. Fincan Haddies, 10 cents per pound. Fresh White Fish and Trout. Bacon and Hams. Oranges, Lemons, Peaches, Apples and Melons. Poultry and Game. SMITH'S MARKET.

Eye, Ear and Throat.

Dr. G. R. Ryerson, oculist and aurist, will be at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 2nd and 3rd, for consultation regarding all diseases affecting the eye, ear or throat.

Wanted at Ottawa.

The Chief of Police has received from A. P. Sherwood, Superintendent of the Dominion Police, a circular requesting the arrest of Thomas Podbury for embezzlement. Podbury is described as being forty years of age, of stout build, weighing one hundred and fifty pounds, five feet seven inches in height, of very dark complexion, and having heavy dark whiskers and moustache.

A Word of Fraile.

The correspondent of the Mail, writing of the review of the volunteers at the Cobourg camp, says:

"The movements were very creditably performed, and the marching was splendid, that of the 6th and 4th being especially good and of about equal merit; indeed, the manner in which the drill was gone through, elicited great praise, not only from the hundreds of spectators, but from old soldiers who have seen many years of service in the British army, the verdict of whom was to the effect that the brigade, which has only been training for ten days, showed a better average proficiency than many corps of Old Country soldiers whom they had seen drilling for six months."

The Late R. C. Wright.

The funeral of the late Richard C. Wright took place on Thursday afternoon and was largely attended. He was a member of Court Peterborough, C.O.F., of which he was Recording Secretary, and the members of Court Peterborough and Court "Little John" attended in a body and wearing their regalia and mourning badges. The bearers were Bros. J. T. Dunsen, John Fanning, S. Jameson, T. Marks, G. Gibbs and A. Brooks. At the Little Lake Cemetery the funeral service of the Methodist Church was read by the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., and the Foresters' service was read by Bro. F. J. Jameson, P.C.R., Bro. Jas. Byrne, C.R., and Bro. Robinson, Chaplain of Court Peterborough.

The Gliderette Cup.

We are sorry that the Kingston Maple Leafs cannot take their defeat in the recent lacrosse match good naturedly. An unnecessary club is apt to make excuses, but they need not give unfair accounts to the Toronto Mail and Kingston News. The Peterborough team were all bona fide and long-standing members of the club, who have played together in many a match. The challenge of the Maple Leafs to play for $500 was, of course, rejected, as the Peterborough club are amateurs, and do not wish to be ranked as professionals. They expressed their willingness to play for a cup to be provided by the two clubs jointly. The leg said about the behavior of their field captain and its cause the better it will be for his own sake. It is a pity that there should be more wrangling after a fair and well contested match.

Kram's Fluid Lightening.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly in all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightening. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

A GHAINTLY DISCOVERY.

An Infant Found Floating in Rogers' Mill Pond—Inquest to be held.

The body of an infant was found floating in the water in Rogers' mill race, Ashburnham, this forenoon, near Mr. Wand's planing mill. Several men have been working there for some time past, sawing logs with a portable saw mill. At about ten o'clock this forenoon, as they were moving the logs in the water they discovered the

among the logs and floating on the top of the water. Mr. Craig, the village constable, was at once notified of the fact, and a messenger was sent to the town for a coroner. Dr. Fife having been informed of the discovery, proceeded to the scene, and at once took steps to hold an inquest.

When the doctor arrived the body was lying between two logs near the shore, with the head a little under water. The legs were drawn up, and the body had a natural appearance, except that it had been discoloured by lying in the water, and was covered with dirt from the same cause. The child was evidently and had been in the water for some days, perhaps a week. There were no indications, as far as could be seen, of violence having been used upon the child, as no marks of any kind were noticed.

The body was removed from the water and taken to the town hall, Ashburnham, where an inquest is being held this afternoon.

There were, of course, any number of THEORIES AND SUGGESTIONS as to how the child met its death, but they were mere speculations. One theory was that the child had died a natural death, and that it had been cast in the river to avoid the expense connected with a burial. The first supposition was that it had met with foul play, but whether this was correct or not is at present not known, but it is to be hoped that the whole mystery will be cleared up at the investigation.

LATER.

An inquest was opened this afternoon, and evidence taken in regard to the finding of the body. It was then adjourned until 7.30 o'clock this evening.

A Weekly Event.

The string band in connection with the O. T. B. Lodge have commenced holding a ball on every Friday evening, which they intend to continue during the winter. A pleasant time is said to be enjoyed at them.

The Cells.

Two prisoners, who were intoxicated and arrested, lodged in the cells last night. They appeared before the magistrate this morning and were allowed to go. During three months past thirty-four prisoners, who have appeared in the Police Court, have been discharged without a penalty, usually on the plea of the first offence.

Western Gales.

The weather to-day is cooler and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—East, veering to south-west and west winds, increasing to gales; cloudy weather, with rain.

Personal.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, who has been on a visit to the "Land of Cakes," arrived home on Thursday evening.

Mr. F. R. Yokome, of the Examiner, and Mrs. Yokome, have returned from a visit to Western Ontario, including Niagara. The relief from the hard toils of journalistic labors appears to have been beneficial to Mr. Yokome.

Railway Notes.

The Midland train was over half an hour late at noon.

Mr. J. H. Barber, superintending engineer, went over the Ontario and Quebec line from here to Springfield in twenty minutes this morning.

Preparations are being made at Springfield for laying down a siding for the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

Foot Ball.

A foot ball match has been arranged to take place between the Peterborough and Toronto Clubs on the 13th of October. The match will be played at Peterborough, and will, no doubt, create considerable interest. The Peterborough Club are also trying to arrange matches with the Trinity College School Club, Port Hope, and a Kingston club. The practice goes on steadily here.

The Excursion to Cobourg.

The excursion to the volunteer camp at Cobourg on Thursday, per steamer King-Fisher and the Cobourg Railway, was not very largely attended, but was an exceedingly enjoyable trip. The run down was made in good time, and a portion of the movements of the soldiers in the review was witnessed. The return trip was also a pleasant one, and the party arrived home at about 9 o'clock.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Oshawa, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th. Aphrodel, Belmont and Dammer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th. Smith, Ennismore, N. Monaghan and Lakefield, at Lakefield, Oct. 9th and 10th. Burleigh and United Townships, at Apsley, Oct. 10th. South Monaghan, Centreville, Oct. 10th. East Durham and Curran at Millbrook, Oct. 10th and 11th.

Another Lease to the G. T. R.

It is reported that negotiations are about completed for a lease of the Boston & Lowell road to the Grand Trunk on a guarantee of six per cent. upon the stock.

Food and Brain Work.

An organism which is doing brain work as well as muscular work requires higher and better food than an organism in which the brain is comparatively idle and only the lower centers and the muscles do much work. Undoubtedly the effect of brain work is to strengthen the brain and to render it less likely to become abnormal in its structure or disorderly in its activity than if it were idle. Such exercise as the brain receives in education, properly so-called—that is, development of the faculties—stimulates nutrition, and in so doing increases the need for food. Excessive activity with anxiety is not good at all, and ought to have no place in the educational process. Worry is fatal to good work, and to worry the growing brain of a child with work is to main and cripple its organization, doing irreparable, because structural, mischief, the effects of which must be lifelong. "Tension" in work is not a proof of strength, but of weakness. A well developed and healthy grown brain works without tension of any kind. The knitted brow, straining eyes, and fixed attention of the scholar are not tokens of power, but of effort. The true athlete does not strain and pant when he puts forth his strength. The intellectual man with a strong mind does his brain work easily. Tension is friction, and the moment the toil of a growing brain becomes laborious it should cease. We are unfortunately, so accustomed to see brain work done with the effort that we have come to associate effort with work, and to regard tension as something tolerable, if not natural. As a matter of fact, no man should ever knit his brow as though, or in any way evince effort as he works. The best brain work is done easily, with a calm spirit, an equable temper, and in jaunty mood. All else is the toll of a weak or ill developed brain straining to accomplish a task which is relatively too great for it.—Lancet.

The Telegraph Company.

Many persons think that the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench on the absorption of the Montreal Telegraph Company by the Western Union of Mr. Gould should be reviewed by a higher court. The opinion of two such able men as the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Ramsay is sufficient warrant for an appeal.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow: you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

A Great Discovery.

That is daily bringing joy to the homes of thousands by saving many of their dear ones from an early grave. Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. RUPTURES!

O. I. O.

Springless Truss and Supporters

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:—

PORT HOPE—Queen's Hotel, Oct. 14, 15 and 16.

PETERBOROUGH—Cassidy House, Oct. 17 and 18.

LINDSAY—Benson House, Oct. 19 and 20.

COBBOURG—Dunham House, Oct. 21, 22 and 24.

Prof. Hotchkiss's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed inguinal and Umbilical as well as Varicose, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 95 years, must and will stand the test without all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFIES the Herald he cannot hold in its place.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Young Lady Courts Death, But Wins It Not.

It has just come to light that a young lady, on Thursday last, made an attempt to commit suicide on the Midland Railway by lying down on the track and waiting for the train to pass over her. On that day, as engineer Jas. Young was coming north with the regular passenger train, when about half a mile this side of Fraserville, he noticed something lying on the track. He whistled several times, but the object, which he now saw was a female person, did not move. He stopped the train as quickly as possible, but it was with difficulty that the engine was slackened up in time to save the girl from death. Mr. Young leaped out of the engine and ran ahead, and as he did so the young lady arose. He asked her why she laid down there, and her only reply was sobs and tears. To a question as to whether she desired to kill herself, she made no reply until it was repeated, and she then said that she did not care if she did. She was also asked what was the matter, and after the question was twice repeated, she said "nothing."

The young lady was not recognized by any person who saw her. She stood at the side of the track, in the ditch, until the train passed on. She appeared to be about twenty or twenty-one years of age, and at the time wore a black dress.

OUTBREAK IMMINENT.

CANTON, Sept. 18.—Tide-waiter Logan, accused of being concerned in originating the recent riots, will be tried. If he is acquitted an outbreak of Chinamen is expected.

FEARS OF THE VICEROY.

HONG KONG, Sept. 19.—The viceroy has much fear about being able to control the bad elements in the Canton mob, and about protecting the foreign concession. The American consul does not anticipate any trouble, and has maintained a conciliatory attitude, holding aloof from the other foreign representatives. The viceroy recognizes and appreciates the fact, and has paid a personal visit to the consul as well as sending mandarins. The viceroy assures a prompt and favourable consideration of American claims.

MR. GLADSTONE'S RETURN.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Mr. Gladstone arrived at Gravesend yesterday. He was received by a large gathering of his supporters. Prominent Liberals presented him with an address.

CANADA'S PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

SOUTHPORT, Sept. 21.—At the session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science to-day, some members argued that despite the protective laws of Canada imports from Great Britain had increased, while imports from the United States remained stationary. Sir Charles Tupper contended that protection was forced upon Canada by the fiscal measures of the United States.

APPEAL FOR AID FOR STRIKERS.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Lancashire operatives have issued an appeal to the trades unions of Great Britain for assistance for the striking weavers. There are 10,000 idle.

RUSSIAN ARMY ESTIMATES.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The estimated expenses of the Russian army for 1884 are seven million roubles in excess of 1883.

THE GERMAN GAZETTE SUIT.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Deputy Antoine will bring an action against the Berlin North German Gazette for publishing the letters seized in his house.

SUPPRESSION OF SLAVE TRADE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Egyptian Government is vigorously repressing the slave trade. The police captured 250 slaves at Assiout, and arrested the chief slaver at Cairo.

GERMAN OFFICERS ARRESTED.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—Thirty-eight officers were recently arrested in connection with the new Nihilist agitation.

FIREDAMP EXPLOSION.

VIENNA, Sept. 20.—An explosion of firedamp occurred in a mine near Unna, Westphalia. Fifteen miners were killed.

DISGUSTED O'DONNELL.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—It is stated that O'Donnell expressed disgust that there had been no steps taken in Ireland to procure funds for his defence, and said, bitterly, "It is like those Dublin Irishmen." He said also, that if necessary, £20,000 could be collected within a week to save the life of the man who committed the most popular murder since the shooting of Constable Talbot.

A SERVIAN MINISTERIAL CRISIS.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Servian Minister has resigned. King Milan will return forthwith.

A NETHERLANDS DEFICIT.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Netherlands budget for 1884 estimates a deficit of thirty million florins. A loan of fifty million florins is proposed.

A Confirmed Gambler.

The engineer of a train running between Norristown and Philadelphia, a few nights ago, was horrified to see just in front of the engine the body of a man lying on the ends of the ties outside of and parallel with the rails. The train apparently passed over him before it could be stopped; but on going back to find his mangled body the engineer found him entirely unharmed and sound asleep. On being awakened and told of his narrow escape from death he exhibited no emotion, but grumbled at being disturbed.

Chastising her Husband.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—The wife of a Rideau street hotel-keeper created quite a sensation on Sparks street last night by publicly horse-whipping her husband. He sought refuge on the platform of a street car, but she followed in hot pursuit and rained blows on the back of the crushed pater familias at every second step. The story she subsequently related to the Chief of Police was that she caught her husband coming out of a disreputable house.

The "Abundant" Proved True.

When the Pacific railway bill was under discussion, the Reformers were quite certain that it was ridiculous and absurd to suppose that so many as 550,000 people would go into the Northwest in ten years. More than 100,000 have gone in the year, and yet in view of both facts the Globe feels moved to give "one of the reasons why the Northwest has not made as much progress as it would have made."—Hamilton Spectator.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

REVIEW DAY AT THE COBBOURG BRIGADE CAMP.

The Gallant 57th Battalion Carry off the Palm from all the other Battalions—Complimentary Remarks from Major-General Luard—The Best Band and Battalion on the Ground.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Thursday morning broke bright and clear, and the gentle breeze that was blowing over the canvas field was just sufficient to keep the men from being overheated by the exertions of drill. At an early hour spectators by the hundred might have been seen wending their way towards the camp grounds, among them a great number of the fair sex. The hour fixed for the review was 10.30 o'clock, and long before this the large field was completely filled with spectators, all anxious to secure a good position to view the different movements of the soldiers. I will not attempt to give a minute description of the appearance that the men presented when placed in position on the field ready for action, but need only say that it was

A GRAND AND GLORIOUS SIGHT.

Major-General Luard was received by a general salute, after which the cavalry went by on a trot. The brigade then marched past in open column, and then formed up in a line of continuous column. The men marched splendidly and were the recipients of many flattering remarks. Then the men were drawn up in line for action, and three battalions were first sent out. They advanced, formed line, and fired several volleys, after which they retired, and the other two battalions formed line and continued the volley.

ANOTHER TEST.

The various battalions were then inspected by the Major-General by companies. Enquiries were made as to their strength, and as to the reason why they nearly all turned out short in numbers this year. The unanimous reply was that it was an unsuitable period of the year. Afterwards, a number of the officers assembled and discussed the matter as to the most suitable time for camp in this district, and a resolution was adopted to the effect that it would be advisable to suggest to the militia department that the month of June, and as nearly the 10th of that month as possible, would be the most suitable time for this district. I have already advanced cause why the month for camp should be changed, and need not again give my reasons.

"AS YOU PROVE US, PRAISE US."

The greatest compliment that has yet been paid any regiment in Canada by Major-General Luard, was paid to the 57th Battalion on Review day. To use his own words they were "without a doubt, the best battalion on the ground." This is indeed a feather in our cap, and the 57th battalion feel proud indeed. Col. J. Z. Rogers and his staff of officers are to be congratulated on their excellent display of military discipline that they have established at the camp, and the citizens of Peterborough may well feel proud of them.

CAMP NOTES.

This is our last day in camp, and by the time this news reaches you we will be on our homeward march.

At a cricket match between volunteers and the Cobourg Club the redcoats were victorious by 41. Private W. Hartley and Capt. Rogers of the 57th, distinguished themselves in this match, the former making 31 and the latter 20 runs in the one innings.

The 57th lead the shooting in the brigade. Serg. Howard, Serg. Rourke, Lieut. Brennan, and Serg. Fooley all making first-class shooting. Some of these men made as high as 57.

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th. Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th. Industrial, at Toronto, Sept. 11th to 22nd. West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. East Peterborough, at Warsaw, Oct. 2nd and 3rd. Lindsay, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th. East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th. Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th. Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th. Smith, Ennismore, N. Monaghan and Lakefield, at Lakefield, Oct. 9th and 10th. Burleigh and United Townships, at Aspley, Oct. 10th. South Monaghan, Centerville, Oct. 10th. East Durham and Curran at Millbrook, Oct. 10th and 11th.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at Taylor and McDonald's.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you distressed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

"Why, Angelina, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet?" "Ah! they're lovely!" I dyed them with the Triangle Package Dye." 14.

DOMINION RETURNING OFFICERS.

We notice that a number of the more unscrupulous Reform journals are repeating a falsehood which was, we believe, originally invented by the Globe. That menacious journal and its imitators state that Sir John Macdonald supplanted the Sheriff or Registrar in 45 Ontario constituencies, well knowing this to be untrue.

Now we may state at once that if Sir John Macdonald had not appointed a solitary Sheriff or Registrar as returning-officer, he would still not have been fairly open to the attacks that are made upon him. The Parliament of Canada came to the conclusion that it was fit and proper that Dominion returning-officers should really be Dominion officials, and should not hold the position from the mere fact that they were of the Provincial Governments appointed for other purposes.

Such is the will of Canada, as expressed by its representatives chosen by the people to act for them in such matters, and while such is the law it not only may be, but must be, obeyed.

But not content with criticising this policy, which of course is open to discussion, some Reform journals show the weakness of their position by willfully misrepresenting the facts of the case as to the choice made of returning-officers. The fact is that though there was no legal or moral obligation upon the Macdonald Administration to select Sheriffs or Registrars, they did so in many instances, even where there was no political sympathy, for an example of which we need go no further than the two ridings of our own county.

The Globe and its satellites publish a list of 45 ridings in which they say that sheriffs and registrars were passed over in favour of partisans, well knowing that their list is falsified for a dishonest purpose. For an instance of one class of falsehood we may point out that Monk and Bothwell are included in the list, though in neither county was there a sheriff or registrar to be passed over. Another kind of misrepresentation may be typified by North Victoria, where the registrar was not passed over, for he was appointed for the other riding and could not act for both, neither was the sheriff passed over, but from the state of his health he declined to act, being also unable to do so at the last Provincial election. For a third class of falsification we may take the case of Sheriff Jarvis, who appears no less than five times in the list, as being passed over in the two divisions of the city of Toronto and the three divisions of the county of York, as if he could have acted in all these constituencies. By such means is this list dishonestly swelled. We have not given an exhaustive account of these falsifications, for that is unnecessary, but have given specimen cases of the dishonesty of these critics.

The fact is that the administration carried out the law, which we think is a sound one, and selected fitting persons, for whose choice they were responsible to the Dominion Parliament. In making the selection they chose many Provincial officials, even though appointed by their political opponents. Yet they are abused as if they had broken the law, and are dishonestly misrepresented in regard to the facts.

BARGE CANALS.

AFTER giving the statistics of the work done by the Erie canal for the first eight months of 1882 and 1883, the Montreal Shareholder says: "This shows an increased tonnage under the free system of 396,799 tons. At this rate the canal by the 1st of December will have carried 6,500,000 tons. Great improvements in the locks are also projected, and our American rivals confidently hope soon to get the monopoly of this traffic and leave Canada out in the cold. Truly it is time for our Government to take the alarm and be prepared with some good legislation in the matter at the meeting of Parliament."

One thing that is most urgently required and which should be the first step taken in competition with the Erie canal is the opening through-out of the Trent Valley navigation, with its magnificent channel for barges, so far surpassing the Erie.

Some journals rely upon their imagination for their facts and then gravely lecture those whom they misrepresent. A professedly independent journal, in an article reflecting very severely upon Mr. Fauquier, says:—

"Mr. Fauquier was found guilty of personal bribery, and was unseated and disqualified for seven years."

The only faults to be found with this paragraph are that Mr. Fauquier was not found guilty of personal bribery, and that he was not disqualified for seven years. He was declared unseated, but has appealed to the full court, so that point still remains undecided.

In commenting on our remarks as to the falsehood of the Globe in stating that the Sheriff of Algoma had not been passed over in the appointment of a returning-officer, the Hamilton Spectator says:—

"The Globe at last falls back upon the plea that it is legal to pass by the Sheriff and Registrar of Algoma, and to appoint a returning-officer whomsoever the Government may select. It is wrong, in the Globe's opinion, for Conservatives to do that, but it is right for Reformers to do it."

A RAMBLE IN CANADA.

Many of our readers will feel an interest in the following letter from the Rev. Dr. French, which appears in the Jersey City Journal:—
STONY LAKE, CO. OF PETERBOROUGH, JUNIPER ISLAND, CANADA.
August 22, 1883.

What a magnificent gain if some one of wide taste would traverse our waters and land, with authority to obliterate the names that vilify many scenes of beauty and grandeur, and substitute those that are historical and descriptive. Out upon the execrable taste that bedevils every word or frowning spot, or daubs upon it the advertisement of business or the slime of association. Was it a reminiscence of debauchery that named the charming spot where I write, "Gin Island?" Be that as it may, an indignant public has repudiated the slander, and vindicated nature by affixing the beautiful name which appears at the head of this sheet. Let the reform embrace the lake itself. "Stony" is a misnomer. With closely connected waters here is a narrow stretch twenty-four miles long, holding hundreds of wooded islands, some of them with scores of acres, and this count ignores many barren rocks between the shores. The title "Stony" misrepresents this expanse, which is the exclusively Canadian counterpart of the "Thousand Isles" in the majestic St. Lawrence.

I am writing on what is here known as a "crib," or a raft of cedar and pine 50x50 ft., upon which is laid a tier of logs as the support of a board floor which is raised fifteen inches above the water, thus securing a level with dryness. Two shingled cabins adorn the crib, one at each end. The cook commands the smaller; it holds his stores and stove. The other is our parlor and dormitory. A writing table, surrounded by easy chairs, is in the centre. Thirteen stationary bunks, each large enough for two men, fill three sides. The canvas-covered space between the cabins is ample for the dining room, where also cots and chairs invite sleep or chat. I am familiar with bark shanty and tent, and now affirm that the crib, with its roominess, cleanliness, moveableness, and protection from storms, vermin and winged plagues, gives the perfection of camping out. We catch minnows and crawfish on one side of our float, and bass on the other. One step takes us to the shore, with seclusion and shade; in the other direction is the ever ready canoe. Profound the pity that more men of business and letters do not obey the imperious necessity of a regular and prolonged holiday. Prince Bismarck is reported to take three weeks annually for absolute rest by Bavarian waters, where no callers or cares can vex him, and State papers done in drawers. To all my friends let me commend the canoe. Our party consists of nine men: Mr. H. B. Rathbun and his sons, Frederic G. and William, Mr. William Hindhaugh, Jr., representative in Oswego, N. Y., of "The Rathbun Company"; Mr. C. C. Richardson, real estate agent, Pueblo, Colorado; Mr. S. Cady Titus, banker, Auburn, N. Y.; the writer and his son, Edward Clement and Daniel Kingsbury, the cook, modest, intelligent and indispensable. Our crib belongs to "The Rathbun Company," widely known and thoroughly respected for sagacious and upright management in dealing in lumber and flour in Deseronto, on the Bay of Quinte, Canada. Mr. Frederic G. Rathbun is our easy chief. His unfailing courtesy, magnetic good nature, with bounteous provision for even luxurious living, makes us bankrupt in requital. We are greatly favored in the fact that the "American Canoe Association," who met for the first time in 1881 on Lake George, is holding its annual "Meet" of two weeks here now. E. B. Edwards, Peterborough, Canada, is Commodore; George B. Ellard, Cincinnati, Ohio, is Vice-Commodore. This Association is international. Friendly rivalry furnishes two members: Messrs. Marcus Higginbotham and Robert D. Wynkoop, and among the lady members is Miss Jennie D. Wynkoop. There are four hundred and eighty members enrolled. About seventy-five ladies, friends of canoeists, are camped here, and to their presence the extraordinary decorum is due in a large degree. Some of them handle the paddle well. All delight in the canoe. At any hour of the day and long evening we see them darting or floating, with song, on these serene waters. Lovely and laudable it was to invite them. They dignify and adorn every scene. I have observed no intonation, and heard little profanity. Soon after twilight, camp fires here and there for miles on shore, and vast shafts of golden gleam upon the lake. Around headquarters are gathered hundreds in the full liberty of these interior woods; and yet the air, that faithfully transmits faint echoes, has no report of altercation or carol, and by midnight the flames have sunk among the glowing embers and silence solicits sleep. From this fair account of the week-day, imagine the notable tranquility of the Sabbath, not merely when religious services, largely attended, are held around the Commodore's tent, but even when cooling shadows and wooing breezes invite content or recreation. Few communities have so noble a record of honor to the Sabbath as the American Canoe Association.

The evening of the 17th inst. favored us with a unique and singularly beautiful spectacle. Let me call it the parade of illuminated canoes. About a hundred carried from one to five lights, various in color, brilliancy and device. The night was perfect in temperature and stillness; the moon nearly full, but occasionally eclipsed by vast territories of cloud, heightening by sympathetic darkness the starry splendor, moving now in single file, now in promiscuous group, or area of concentric circle, or solid phalanx; finally pausing before the rocky slopes whitened by tents and overhung by English and American flags. Then the charming disorder of the visible in which the wayward course of Mr. Rathbun's canoe was occasionally signalled by the sudden, intense colored blaze, and finally the solo and chorus, ending by turns the lover and patriot; and from spectators, more favored than participants, came resounding applause, and out of the dark forest depths the clear, unvaried notes of the lonely whippoorwill. Contests by paddle and sail will crowd three days of this week with fevered but honest excitement; but without the false stimulus of costly prizes, which lure into abnormal training, and also confounding honors with honor. Never before has this wilderness entertained such a company. To-day I turn reluctantly toward the East.

PORT HOPE.

PEDSTRIANISM.—In a matched foot race at Port Hope, P. Kennedy, of Oshawa, defeated H. T. Hamly, of Port Hope, in a quarter mile race with about three yards to spare. The time, the Times says, was 57½ seconds. In a half mile race Hamly defeated Kennedy by about 15 yards. Time, 2.7½.

BOBCATGEON.

SHEEP.—The Independent says a fine flock of some two hundred sheep passed through on their way to the English market.

FOUND.—The body of the Indian, Johnson, whose canoe was found last week, was washed up on the shore of Crowley's Island.

Ladies wanting a stylish or durable dress will find a nice selection at Turnbull's to choose from.

A POST-OFFICE THIEF.

Clerk Arrested at Port Huron—Canadian Letters Mailed.

DETROIT, Sept. 20.—Paul George, a Port Huron post-office clerk, was arrested, charged with rifling registered letters, and brought to Detroit yesterday. He pleaded guilty. Owing to his extreme youth the judge held him to appear November 1st in $1,000 bail, and if at that time all the losses had been paid he would recommend that the sentence be suspended. The inspector has discovered that $150 has been taken by Paul George, who is 17 years of age. He opened, as a rule, only those letters which were directed to persons in Canada.

Convincing Proof.

Having suffered from rheumatism for a long time I was induced to try your Arnica and Oil Liniment. The first application gave instant relief, and now I am able to attend to business, thanks to your wonderful medicine.

THE SHROPSHIRE SHEEP.

The Shropshire sheep descended from a breed which has been known to exist for about two centuries in the county of Shropshire and part of the adjoining one of Stafford, but no attempt at its improvement seems to have been made until within the last half century, since when it has received greater attention from the more extensive farmers on the cultivated districts of the county. The present developed perfection and uniformity of character is the result of improvement by selection from the best of its own species, and not from the introduction of any other breed. Some breeders have tried an infusion of the Southdown blood, but the result was a total failure, the produce being animals of a nondescript character, which had to be entirely removed from the flocks practised upon. For several years the breed was called or known by the name of "Grey-faced sheep," and it was not until the year 1850 that it was distinguished by the title of "Shropshire," the name being given to them by the writer of these remarks, who evinced great interest in the breed, and assisted the owners generally in obtaining uniformity and developing the inherent perfections of the sheep, also in providing a class for their exhibition at the meetings of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, when at Gloucester, in the year 1853, they made their successful debut. The Shropshire has exterminated all other breeds of sheep in the counties of Salop and Stafford, and many other parts of the adjoining districts, and has been adopted by tenant farmers generally in the midland counties of England. Several flocks have also been established in Ireland, where it thrives remarkably well as a breed, and is also used for crossing purposes. Fore most among its patrons in that country are J. J. Naper, Esq., of Longheron, who has been most successful at the meetings of the Royal Society in England and Ireland; Mr. Lambert, of Braw Park, and the Marquis of Headfort. It has also been most successfully introduced into Scotland, where some fine flocks are now being bred by the Earl of Strathmore, Mr. Crawford, Lord Polwarth, and other enterprising agriculturists, and from its highly profitable and rent-paying qualities, it is certain to rival, if not entirely supersede, most of other breeds, where the production of first class mutton and wool at an early age is a desideratum. It is a recognized fact that the Shropshire is hardy of constitution, and prolific; the fall of lambs averaging about 160 per cent. The ewes are good nurses, and a well kept flock will average a clip of wool, of the best quality adapted to general purposes, of about 8 pounds per fleece, and wethers at fourteen months old will produce a carcass of mutton weight 80 pounds and upwards, free of offal. It is also acknowledged that the Shropshire is a light consumer, with great powers of assimilation, arrives at early maturity, renders a heavy amount of fat in proportion to rough offal, and that this mutton cannot be excelled in value by that of any other sheep. — W. G. Prece, Former Advocate.

SLAVERY IN BRAZIL.

Progress of the Work of Emancipation Throughout the Empire.

On July 29, the birthday of the princess imperial, organization was given to a society promoted by the Compté d'En to take charge of, instruct and make farmers of the homeless waifs among the "Rio Branco Chicks," which is the popular name for the little niggers whom the law of 1871 frees at birth. Hitherto the number thrown on the government's hands at 8 years of age has not exceeded two hundred or so, but the abolitionists are daily pushing matters so fast there is a growing tendency among the owners of the mother of the said black plumed children to get them off their hands to avoid trouble and suits in which they would always have to pay the costs and receive nothing. In Rio the editor of the Gazeta da Tarde, who is a negro, openly advises the slaves to rise up and win their freedom by force.

In Ceará, the chief of police telegraphs, the Emancipation Society at Fortaleza not only has successfully resisted the shipment to Rio of slaves belonging to Senator Nunes Gonçalves, and got a judge to take them from the police and set them at liberty by habeas corpus, but it and the numerous other societies are inciting the slaves of the other provinces to take refuge in Ceará, where they are promised harbor and defence. Under the pressure of these societies Ceará will in a year or two be a free province, and a thorn in the side of the adjoining ones. Para also is agitating in the same course, and will soon extinguish slavery, when Maranhão, which had 74,000 slaves at the end of 1873 and has now only about 52,000, will be drained of her slaves on all sides until, in self-defence, she joins her neighbours in freedom.

The government bill on slavery has been brought in. It permits no more slaves to be transferred from one province to another, unless when obtained by inheritance, gifts from parents or carried with their owners, in which last case the slaves may not be sold before five years after registering them in the new province. All transferred in any other way to another province become ipso facto free. The bill also strengthens the emancipation fund with a tax of 25 cents on every slave, 25 cents to $1 on horses and $1 per bond on transfers of national stocks. With these it is estimated that the emancipation fund will be increased about $3,000,000 million a year, say $1,500,000. — N. Y. Herald.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine. An advertisement of which appears in another column.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera, Morbus, Diarrhea and other Summer Complaints.

The Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the court below in the case of the Montreal Telegraph Company's amalgamation with the Great Northwestern company. Chief Justice Dorin and Mr. Justice Ramsay dissented, holding that the agreement was illegal. Justices Cross, Monck and Baby were in the majority.

FROM HAMILTON.—A gentleman writes:—"I have suffered for over four years with night sweats and general weakness, caused by abuse. I had tried all the advertised medicines, and a number of eminent doctors, and found no relief or benefit. I have used twelve boxes of Mack's Magnetic Medicine, and am entirely restored." See advertisement in another column.

At the Jardin d'Acclimatation of Paris there has been an interesting arrival. It consists of an entire tribe of Kalmucks from the desert lands near the Caspian Sea. There are nine men and eight women, besides several children. With the tribe were also brought 15 camels, 15 mares and young horses, 10 Khirghiz sheep, tents, instruments, arms, &c. The group must be exceedingly picturesque.

AN exchange says:—A Granger was detected in Toronto endeavoring to sell a roll of wallpaper with a Hubb nickel watch concealed in it to make weight. He was severely reprimanded for his dishonest attempt to get rid of the watch at 22 cents a pound, but the magistrate thought he had been sufficiently punished when he paid $2.50 for the watch and the Weekly Globe, and let him go without a fine.

Little Things. Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water uniting form the mighty ocean, and a hundred examples might be cited to prove how important after all are the little things. Now corns are small affairs. Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agony to the unhappy person. Putnam's Painless Corn Extract is a small affair yet by its perfect, speedy, and painless action it has gained the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous substitutes offered by some, but see that it is made by Putnam & Co., Kingston. Safe, sure, painless.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blisters, all scaly, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25. (In stamps.) Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Failure Impossible. When Polson's Nerviline is used for piles, it matters not how long standing they may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief. Nerviline, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a 10-cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external piles. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten-cent bottles at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

The Agency Over. Pain banished as if by magic. Polson's Nerviline is a positive and almost instantaneous remedy for external, internal, or local pains. The most active remedy hitherto known falls far short of Nerviline for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. Used for external use, buy a 10-cent sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

Forbess' and Hurlburt's of color the Triangle Package Dyes "best the world." If you want good dye, before, do as now and be convinced. 15c.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you costive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

The staff of Friday says that at the Toronto Exhibition a very fine display of canoes and pleasure boats is shown by the Ontario Canoe Company, of Peterborough. Particular mention is made of the Berthon-Douglas folding boat.

For a good black Ostrich plumes carefully selected from large wholesale stocks go to Turnbull's.

Fair Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and very warm. The weather probabilities for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, for this district, as issued from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—East to south-west winds, generally fair weather; stationary or slightly lower temperature.

A Rare Opportunity.

On Tuesday next Mr. Chas. Stapleton, auctioneer, will sell by public auction in the store one door north of the REVIEW office an extensive stock of valuable walnut furniture, books, silverware, cut glass, yachts, boats, canvas, tools, &c., the property of Mr. A. H. Martin, of Oak Orchard. This will be a good opportunity to make purchases. Everything is of the best quality and in good order. It has only been in Mr. Martin's possession a very short time, and everything will be sold without reserve.

After the Thieves.

The Chief of Police has received another circular to be on the watch for thieves, this time from Picton. It states that on the 19th of September there was stolen from the premises of Archibald Harrison, near Picton, a dark bay mare, nearly 16 hands high, an open buggy with the body painted a wine color, and with stripes on the box, and harness. On the same night a quantity of silver plate was taken from the house of Stewart Wilson and Jacob S. Cronk, of Picton. A reward is offered for the recovery of the goods or information as to the thieves.

Personal.

The Rochester, N. Y., Union, has the following:—

"At St. Bridget's Church, Tuesday, September 18th, Miss Sarah Gertrude Dwyer of this city, was united in matrimony to Mr. Timothy O'Connell, of Peterborough, Ont., by the Rev. Father Kiernan. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kitty Dwyer, and the groom by his brother, Mr. David O'Connell. The young couple were the recipients of numerous elegant presents. They will make Rochester their future home.

We regret to learn that the Rev. John Shaw will be obliged to refrain from active pastoral work for some time on account of the state of his health. He has been given leave of absence until the middle of November, by which time it is hoped that his health will be improved or good health entirely restored to him.

Mr. J. M. Fariss, M.P.P., of Campbellford, was at the Calise House, and Mr. A. F. Wood, M.P.P., of Madoc, and Mr. George Wheeler, M.P., of Uxbridge, were at the Oriental Hotel on Friday.

Turnbull's Stock of Rich Velvets and Fur, Feather, Flowers, Ribbons, Faux Furs, is being rapidly made into stylish Millinery for the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity to select from.

THE INFANTICIDE CASE.

The Child's Death Caused by Drowning—No Clue to the Murderer.

Alex. Cope.

The jury proceeded to view the body, which was in an adjoining room, and when they returned

THEODORE MULOHAY, a small boy, was called. THE CORONER—Do you know the nature of an oath?

WITNESS—No, sir.

THE CORONER—What would happen if you did not tell the truth?

WITNESS—I would tell a lie.

THE CORONER—Do you know that God would punish you if you did not tell the truth?

WITNESS—Yes, sir; I know that.

The witness was then sworn, and said: This morning, between nine and ten o'clock, while I was jacking in some logs at Rogers' mill pond I saw something in the water among some bark and dirt, and I called the men over. Mr. Condon, his son Johnny, and another man came out on the boom. They looked at it and said it was a young baby. One of the men floated it up with a stick.

After some discussion among the jurymen, the coroner, and the constable, the inquest was adjourned until 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

In the evening, at 7.45 o'clock the investigation was resumed. The first witness called to give evidence was

CORNELIUS WALD, who, having been sworn, said: I saw the body of the dead child in the water and I do not know whose it is. I know nothing at all about the child. A few days ago a woman came to the mill where I was working, carrying a child, and asking for assistance to maintain it. I do not think she got any assistance. I heard since that the girl was dead and buried. (He gave the woman's name, which for obvious reasons we withhold at present.) There was another girl with her, but I don't know who she was.

To a Juror—The woman made no threats as to what she would do with her child. She said she brought it to me to get assistance. I asked her if she would give it to me, and she said she would not, as she thought too much of it for that.

To the CORONER—Her child was said to have been a girl, while the child found in the water was a boy.

GEORGE CLUTE, sworn, said, I saw the body of the child found in the water. I cannot identify it. I do not know the woman referred to by the last witness. I cannot give any information regarding the death of the child.

The CORONER—I suppose a good many in town could swear that.

After some discussion the jury decided to have a post mortem examination of the body made, and the inquest was adjourned until 7.30 o'clock on Monday evening.

POST MORTEM EXAMINATION.

In accordance with the instructions received from the jury, the Coroner instructed Dr. Clarke to make a post mortem examination of the body, which he did this forenoon. He found the organs to be in a healthy condition. There were no indications of any disease that would cause death, and no signs of violence having been used. The condition of the body and of the organs, in Dr. Clarke's opinion, showed that

DEATH HAD BEEN CAUSED

by drowning. The child was at the least three or four weeks old, and may have been older than that.

It is now evident that there has been

A MURDER COMMITTED.

The child could not have fallen into the water in a nude condition, and the opinion held by some, that it had died a natural death and been deposited in the water, cannot any longer be entertained.

No clue has so far been discovered that would lead to the discovery of the perpetrator of the cruel deed. The impression is that some unfortunate mother, in whose mind the dread of shame and exposure overcame fear and affection, has thus put an end to the life of the offspring.

For black or coloured Velveteens for dresses go to Turnbull's, his best makes are warranted fast pile.

The Flogging Match.

A field has been procured on the farm of Mr. Reid, lot 7, in the 8th concession of Douro, for the provincial flogging match, with the approval of the West Riding Agricultural Society.

The Fall Assizes.

The autumn session of the Queen's Bench Division of the Court of Queen's Bench opens here on Monday. There is one criminal case to be tried—that of the Italian, Carmeno, held on a charge of murder—and one civil case.

Anniversary Sermons.

The sermons in connection with the anniversary services of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be preached in that church to-morrow morning and evening, by the Rev. Dr. Cochrane, President of the Toronto Conference.

The Return from Camp.

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Companies of the 57th Battalion returned from the camp at Oshawa to-day, arriving per steamer Golden-Eye at 8.15 o'clock. They marched up George street to the Drill shed, headed by the band.

The Greatest Healing Compound

Is a preparation of carbolic acid, vaseline and cerate, called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Ointment. It will cure any sore, cut, burn or bruise when all other preparations fail. Call at John McKee's Drug Store, and get a package. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

Athletic Tournament.

On the evening of Friday, the 12th of October, an athletic tournament will be held in the skating rink, when the following competitions will take place:—One mile run, half mile run, one mile amateur run, half mile amateur run, one mile amateur walk, acrobatic tumbling and clog dance. There will also be club swinging, acrobatic dancing and horizontal bar exhibitions. Good prizes are offered for the competitions.

Down the River.

The steamer King Fisher will run regular trips to Harwood on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, leaving her wharf at 9.30 a. m. and connecting with the trains on the Cobourg Railway. Tickets, 60c.; return tickets (same day), 75c. On every Thursday afternoon the same steamer will, when not otherwise engaged, run an excursion to Otonabee Park, leaving her wharf at 2 p. m., and returning at 6 p. m. Tickets, 25 cents.

Ladies leaving their orders for mantles are always sure of a good fit at Turnbull's, cutting done on the shortest notice.

Kram's Fluid Lightning.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly in all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION
To the Bible Class Teacher in the George Street Methodist Sunday School.

Mr. J. Shilton, of Mr. E. B. Edward's law office, who has taught the young men's Bible Class in the George Street Methodist Sunday School for some time, is about to remove for a time to Toronto to pursue the course of studies in connection with the profession which he has adopted. On Sunday afternoon the members of the class presented Mr. Shilton with a beautiful floral, morocco bound album and gilded hymn book accompanied by an address.

Mr. E. Shilton, just before the close of the school, read the following address:—

DEAR MR. SHILTON.—It was with no slight feeling of regret that we, the members of the young men's Bible Class of the George Street Methodist Sabbath School, heard of your approaching departure for Toronto. Whilst we knew that the change was one which complete success in your chosen secular profession rendered necessary, still it was but natural that one should be so guided by self virtue as to desire that the harmonious relations which have existed between us for the past eight months should not be so soon interrupted. The hearty and kindly friendship which you have shown us in temporal and spiritual matters have won for you ever lasting affection. The high talent of which you have given evidence in conducting the readings of the class, has gained you sincere respect, and you may rest assured that your earnest endeavours to arouse in each one of us a loftier and more intelligent appreciation of the great truths of religion, and to lead us into a closer communion with our Maker, will gain you a reward far higher than any which you could obtain from mere worldly affairs.

In this age, when ignorant bigotry on the one hand and blasphemous infidelity on the other, are filling the minds of our youths with contempt and scorn for religion, it was our peculiar good fortune to meet with a teacher who, while answering our doubts in the most convincing arguments and smoothing all difficulties which lay in our way, still by his simple, childlike faith and stainless life proved to us the possibility of uniting the loftiest intellectual attainments with a true and heartfelt piety, having for its foundation not the vain delusion of blind fanaticism, or the fanciful theories of unpractical mysticism, but the perfect assurance which arises from irrefragable proof. No wonder, then, that we feel that in parting from you we suffer as common loss, and that while praying that your success in this life may be such as our commanding abilities deserve, we hope that before long we may again have you with us fulfilling duties for which your talents so eminently fit you.

In conclusion we hope that you will accept the accompanying gift as a slight memento of our esteem and affection for you.

Signed on behalf of the Bible Class,
E. SHILTON,
J. A. KEAL,
A. E. DIXON.

Mr. A. E. DIXON then, on behalf of the class, presented Mr. Shilton with the album and hymn book.

Mr. SHILTON, to whom this mark of esteem and appreciation was entirely unexpected, replied briefly and in appropriate terms. He regretted leaving the class, but he joined in the hope expressed in the address that he would be with them again. He returned sincere thanks for the kindly expressions and the handsome gifts.

Excellent choice for the Purpose.
MR. JOHN LUMMIS, of Wythebridge, the newly-appointed license commissioner, is a gentleman of whom all who know him are likely to have a good word to say, but he is one of the most extreme partisans of the county, and many be depended upon to make himself as useful to Mr. Mowat, in granting or withholding licenses, as possible.—Orillia Packet.

Voters Practically Disfranchised.
RAT PORTAGE, Sept. 21.—The electors of this part of Algoma protest strongly against the attempt to disfranchise them. It is admitted by the Grits that five hundred votes would be polled here or in the vicinity if facilities were afforded them. It will be impossible to poll more than half within the hours at the one polling place appointed.—Mail.

Neutralizing the Congo River.
The International League of Peace and Liberty, in session in Geneva, has passed a resolution demanding the neutralization of both the explored and unexplored territories on the Congo River and the creation of a permanent tribunal of arbitration, which shall decide all difficulties arising from the execution of a treaty to this effect, which, it is proposed, shall be elaborated by the International Congress. The resolution will be forwarded to all the powers and legislative bodies of Europe and America.

A Day of Gloom.
The Montreal Herald declares that if Mr. Mousseau be not defeated in Jacques Cartier there will be "a day of gloom." There have been such days before, but it is only one side that sees the gloom. The other fellows don't have any gloom in theirs. There was a good deal of gloom in that same section when Mr. Leclerc's agent took the genuine ballots out of the boxes and filled them with nice new ones, made specially for the occasion. But when the facts came out in court the gloom lay an inch thick on the ground. It is a very gloomy day when the standard of political morality cannot be elevated without a constable's interference.—Toronto Canadian.

A Prayer Quickly Answered.
An old sea-captain who was converted to faith in religion and who earns a living by peddling patent medicines, yesterday spoke of Jay Gould's account of his praying for help when in trouble. The old man added: "I used to be about as wicked as you make 'em. I lost my ship and was for a long time sick and destitute. But I turned to the Lord. One day I was walking these streets and was half-starved. I stood still, a moment in front of a block of brown-stone houses and put my hand over my eyes and prayed God to help me. When I opened my eyes I was floating before me a dollar bill. It must have been thrown out or have blown out of some window. I looked up and could see no one, so I concluded that the Lord had sent it to me and I was thankful. I have never been in actual want since."

A Good Potato.
The following are the requisite qualities of a good potato:—When cut into the color should be a yellowish white; if it is a deep yellow it will not cook well. There must be a considerable amount of moisture, though not enough to collect in drops and fall off, even with moderate pressure. Rub the two pieces together, and if it is good a white froth will appear around the edges, and also upon the surface after they are separated. This signifies the presence of a proper amount of starch. The more from the more starch, and consequently the better the potato; while the less there is the poorer it will cook. A quantity of the starch element may also be judged by the more or less ready adherence of the two parts. If the adherence is sufficient for one piece to hold the other up, that fact is evidence of a good article.

Chief Justice Coleridge.
PROSPECT HOUSE, Niagara Falls, Sept. 21.—Lord Chief Justice Coleridge and accompanying guests left Buffalo at 10 o'clock this morning on a special train by the New York Central for Lewiston, where they viewed the Niagara river, and arrived here at 11:15 on a flying visit. Their time being limited, it was previously announced to show his lordship as much of the Niagara scenery as possible in a few hours. The distinguished party were driven to Prospect park, Goat Island, whirlpool rapids, Table Rock, and the burning springs. The freedom of all the points of interest was accorded. His lordship did not get behind the great sheet of water, but was evidently deeply impressed with it a grand scene. The party were escorted by U.S. Consul Major Jas. T. Low, and nothing was wanting to make their trip enjoyable. They returned to Buffalo at 5:40 this evening by the same special.

Money in Canal Boats.
The official report of D. H. Cooney, the statistician in the Department of Public Works at Albany, shows that the increase of canal tonnage this year over a corresponding period last year has been something enormous. The report shows a gain in the fourth week in August of 128,770 tons, and for the year up to August 31 of 396,793 tons. This has been caused by two forces. The first, free canals, the second, by the rate of 25 cents per 100 pounds charged from Chicago to tidewater by the trunk lines. The all-water rate averages between 11 and 13 cents per hundred pounds. Some weeks ago we were informed that there probably would be 1,000 new canal boats built next winter, with a capacity of 240 tons each, which would amount to a total of 240,000 tons capacity for a single trip, reckoning six trips a year, that would make a total increase of 1,440,000 tons. It may turn out that the safest investment for the holders of the vast sums of money said to be lying idle in their hands will be to build canal boats with a view of it.

The following is a statement of the canals of this State for the fourth week in August, 1883, as compared with the corresponding week in 1882:—Boats cleared 386,772 miles, as against 297,886 miles in 1882. The principal articles carried were 104,770 tons of the products of wood, against 78,109 tons in 1882; vegetable food, 59,443 tons, against 38,645 tons in 1882; manufactures, 15,522 tons, against 8,293 tons in 1882; merchandise, 9,717 tons, against 11,106 tons in 1882. All other articles amounting to 143,276 tons, against 97,092 tons in 1882. The total number of tons cleared was 368,035, as against 224,285 tons during the corresponding period of 1882.—Montreal Herald.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.
MR. GLADSTONE'S VISIT.
LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is said it is chiefly owing to a German interpretation of Mr. Gladstone's visit to Copenhagen that the proposal for a meeting between the Czar and the Emperor William has been revived. The Czar has expressed a wish to meet the Emperor to testify to his unbroken friendship and remove any false impressions created by Mr. Gladstone's visit.

RUSSIA AND BULGARIA.
VIENNA, Sept. 22.—A number of Russian officers are leaving Bulgaria for Russia, notwithstanding the opposition of the Minister of War. The new Cabinet will be Russian in its tendencies.

DISTURBED TOWNSHIPS.
DUBLIN, Sept. 22.—Many townships in the counties of Clare and Limerick have been officially proclaimed as being in a disturbed state and requiring additional police.

IRISH LEAGUE MEETINGS.
DUBLIN, Sept. 22.—Arrangements are being made by the Irish National League for a series of mass meetings in America, to be addressed by many prominent Nationalists, including John Redmond, who will return from Australia via San Francisco in November.

O'DONNELL'S SOLICITOR.
LONDON, Sept. 22.—Charles J. Guy, the solicitor retained for the defence of O'Donnell, has been refused access to his client, the governor of the prison informing him that as O'Donnell is an American subject the American consul must first be communicated with regarding his defence.

NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETINGS.
DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—Thomas Power O'Connor and T. D. Sullivan, members of Parliament, will address a meeting of the Irish National League at Bandon to-morrow. Mr. Blygar, E. Dwyer Gray and Edward Leamy will address a meeting at Tallow.

TO BE PROHIBITED.
DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—It is rumoured that the Irish Government intends to prohibit some of the projected meetings of Parnellites throughout the country, and that the meeting to-morrow at Milltown Malbay, County Clare, has been prohibited.

THE JAVA EARTHQUAKE.
LONDON, Sept. 23.—Advices from Valparaiso say the rising and falling of the tide caused by the earthquake at Java created much alarm at Talcahuano.

A REVOLUTION IN PEKIN.
LONDON, Sept. 22.—Something akin to a revolution has made its appearance at the Imperial palace at Pekin, and is backed by popular demonstrations. The people demand that the Empress, who is not energetic enough to suit the popular demand, shall abdicate in favor of Prince Tuan, the Emperor's uncle.

CETEWAYO'S SURRENDER.
PIETERMARITZBURG, Sept. 22.—It is semi-officially announced that the authorities have demanded Cetewayo's surrender. Cetewayo was badly wounded at Ulundi early in August. Col. Osborn, the British resident, subsequently endeavored to meet Cetewayo, who was in a kraal at Inkankla bush. Cetewayo fled when the resident, with a small escort, came in view of the kraal. Armed natives appearing on the hill-tops Osborn retired.

THE SULTAN'S PALACE.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 22.—The authorities of the palace are again agitated by the occurrence of one of their periodical alarms. Suspicion having fallen upon the attendants of the heir to the throne, his chief confidant was suddenly and with great secrecy, sent into exile.

THE KING OF ANNAM.
PARIS, Sept. 22.—M. Grevy has appointed the King of Annam a Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, and made two of his Ministers grand officers of the order.

GERMAN ARMY MANOEUVRES.
BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Twenty-five thousand men participated in the German army manoeuvres to-day near Erlenbach. The Emperor and the Royal guests watched them from a hill. The operations represented a pitched battle, including charges of infantry and cavalry. Rain fell heavily towards the close of the manoeuvres.

RUSSIA PREPARING FOR WAR.
VIENNA, Sept. 22.—Russia is making extensive military preparations along the Austria and German frontiers. Tenders have been asked for 36,000 military beds. All railroads have been ordered to have military cars in readiness. A list has been made of private steamers in the Black Sea, and the captains ordered to prepare for the transportation of ammunition, troops, and provisions. These vessels have ceased executing private orders, and the carriage of arms is interrupted. Enormous provisions depots have been established along the frontiers. Two army corps have been distributed between the Vistula and Bug rivers. Lists have been prepared of all persons who in the event of war will be deported from Poland to the interior of Russia.

THE TURKISH AMBASSADOR.
HAMBURG, Sept. 22.—Mukhtar Pasha, Turkish ambassador extraordinary, had a private audience with the Emperor at Hamburg to-day. He was afterwards received by the Empress.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.
NAPLES, Sept. 22.—There were two severe shocks of earthquake at Casamicciola to-day. One house was wrecked but no lives were lost.

SAILS FOR TONQUIN.
PARIS, Sept. 22.—Admiral Courbet, commander of the French in Tonquin, sailed from Toulon on the 22nd (south of Hue) on Tuesday, on the French steamer Bayard, accompanied by the gunboat Lynx, for the Gulf of Tonquin. Admiral Courbet has been tendered the complete civil and military authority in Tonquin, but declined it. It is believed, however, he may be induced to accept. The health and morale of the troops is excellent.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1883.

GIVING ITS FRIENDS AWAY.

THE Globe, under its present management, has a singular faculty for giving its political friends away, as witness the following editorial paragraph from its issue of Friday last:—
"There are still some Norquayites who maintain that even if the district around Rat Portage belongs to Ontario, the lands, timber, and minerals belong to the Dominion because they were still the property of the Indians at Confederation. In answer to this contention it may be remarked (1) that even if it were true that there would be no reason for withholding from Ontario her right to administer the territory as she does other districts to which there is an Indian title; (2) that these lands, not having been 'reserved' at the time of Confederation, are in a different position from all other Indian lands in the Province; (3) that Ontario's interest in these lands is a matter to be settled by a legal tribunal while such a tribunal cannot decide where her boundary is, and therefore the question of Indian title has no connection with the boundary dispute. Those who raise it are simply trying to mislead by a side issue."

Readers of the Review will at once note that in the above paragraph the Globe concedes to the fullest extent the correctness of the position taken with regard to the ownership of the lands and all thereon or thereunder in the disputed territory, in a recent article in these columns, and thereby fully justifies our condemnation of Mr. Mowat for the course which he has been and is pursuing with regard to the same. But it not only does that, it goes one step further and actually condemns those who mix up the question of the title to the land with the boundary dispute, notwithstanding that Mr. Mowat and Mr. Mowat alone, is the man who has been doing this very thing, as everybody must know who has read the correspondence which has passed between the Ontario and Dominion Governments. For our part we are very much obliged to the Globe for its admission that there is an Indian title to the territory in dispute, and that as a consequence, even if in Ontario, it is not the sole property of this Province, and that when it dilated upon the immense sums which this Province would lose if it sustained Sir John Macdonald, it and its friends were simply "trying to mislead by a side issue."

THE ELECTION PETITIONS.

We are not disposed to imitate a great number of our contemporaries of both political parties, who are discussing the details of the trials of the different election petitions. These proceedings are in some cases still incomplete, even in the original courts, and in other instances appeals have been entered. It is not expedient or even fair to discuss these cases while they are still before the courts.

At present there is no doubt that some of the decisions of the different courts constituted to try the petitions appear to be contradictory, and in one instance two judges trying one case cannot agree as to the law or at least as to its bearing upon the facts disclosed in the evidence. When, however, all the petitions have been tried and the appeal court has given its final decision, it is probable that these divergencies will be removed. The interpretation to be placed upon the existing law will then be fixed, and it will be ascertained if in any case the law is insufficient and requires amendment on account of omissions or uncertainty as to its meaning.

For instance it will be settled whether under the law as it stands railway directors are or are not allowed to use their official position to secure the free carriage of voters to the polls. It will then be known whether it will be necessary to make the working of the act clearer by taking from railway companies the power in closely balanced constituencies of ensuring the election of their candidate as against his rival, who may only have the people instead of a monopoly at his back.

It is admitted that the act is very loosely drawn, and there are other points upon which it is obviously difficult of interpretation. The decisions of the courts, after the appeals are heard, will show what is the force of the existing provisions, and it is with these, not with abstract justice, that the judges have to deal. If the law is then shown to be defective it can be intelligently amended.

Meantime it is neither useful nor seemly to wrangle as to what should be the result in each case.

IN DREAD OF THE PEOPLE.

In an editorial on the disgraceful proceedings of Mr. Mowat's partisan returning-officer for Algoma, who was so carefully selected in defiance of the spirit of the law, for the purpose of securing only a partial instead of a full expression of the opinion of the electorate, the Winnipeg Times says:—

"Mr. Gough simply asked that Mr. Thompson, the returning-officer, should consult public convenience and establish polling booths in certain districts where there are honest voters. Two hundred votes in one district and 60 in another have been virtually disqualified, the nearest polling place being 300 miles distant. Through-out the riding the polling booths have been placed 'where they must do most good' to the Reform party, the Conservative voters being overlooked. Mr. Gough asked for fair-play, but Mr. Thompson had evidently received his instructions from the party managers."

That Independent Reform Journal, the Newmarket Era, has the following suggestive paragraph:—
"Just previous to the last local election the Ontario Government and its supporters were going to establish creameries in various sections of the Province. But York held a meeting over it, and the member for that riding made a boast that he was the inside track of the M. P. P. for North York, but the summer is over, and no creameries yet; the elections are over also."

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

The Rev. Dr. Cochran in the Pulpit of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

On Sunday the Rev. Dr. Cochran, of Toronto, President of the Toronto Conference, preached the sermons in connection with the anniversary services of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. There was a large congregation present at the morning and the evening services. The Rev. Dr. Cochran preached an eloquent discourse, his text being Hebrews xii., 22-24:

"But we are come unto Mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the first-born, which are written in Heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of the just men made perfect, and to Jesus, the mediator of the new Covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel."

The chief thoughts of the sermon were (1st) the perfection of the worship of Christianity, a worship that was spiritual, catholic, and a reality, and (2nd) the perfection of Christian fellowship—fellowship with God, with the angelic host, the good, true and pure on earth, and the spirits of the just made perfect. The discourse was an able one, being practical and eloquent, and giving evidence of careful study.

At the evening service there was a still larger congregation. The draw seats in the aisle were used, and seats were provided from the Sunday School room, yet there was not sitting room for all.

The Rev. Dr. COCHRAN took his text from 2nd Corinthians i., 14-16, as follows:—

"Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savor of his knowledge by us in every place. For we are unto God a sweet savor of Christ in them that are saved, and in them that perish: to the one we are the savor of death unto death, and to the other the savor of life unto life."

This epistle, he said, was the most personal and the least systematic of Paul's writings, and had been called forth by circumstances. He had spent a brief season of evangelistic labour in Corinth, and had left behind him an established and flourishing church, which gave great promise for the future. But he had not left it long until the spirit of faction became rife and immorality prevailed. Paul heard of this while at Ephesus, and, grieved and distressed beyond measure, he wrote the first epistle to the Corinthians and despatched it to them. In it he reproved them for their faults and demanded that discipline be enforced. Soon after the silver-smith arrived in Ephesus and Paul departed. He travelled to Troas and Macedonia, which was then a perilous journey. It was a sad journey to Paul, as he was in feeble health and was weighed down by the care of many churches. His greatest burden was anxiety as to the effect his letter would have in Corinth, as he feared that its effect might be marred by his own actions. He expected to hear tidings from Corinth at Troas, but Titus did not come and he was disappointed. The brethren tried to comfort him, and he had need of it, for without there was fighting and within there was fear. Bidding farewell to the disciples in Troas, Paul went to Philippi, where God comforted him by the coming of Titus with tidings that lifted the burden from his heart. His letter had had a good effect; the evils were removed and the immorality was stamped out. Every barrier that would stand between him and the people there had been removed. In the rapturous feelings caused by this news the second epistle was written. He excuses himself for not having visited them, and, referring to the tidings which Titus bore, tells them what comfort they brought him. His soul was so overwhelmed by the message that he broke out in the exclamation, "Now thanks be unto God." As the importance of his apostolic mission appears before him, he cannot resume his subject until the sixth chapter. He made use of a metaphor which the people he was writing to could understand and appreciate, a Roman triumph, and he painted it in colors so vivid that it lives before them. See the great general, crowned and accepted, moving along to the camp; listen to the applause of the multitude; see the garden of flowers strewn in his path and the incense rising in clouds scattering fragrant odors. But there were also in the triumphal procession captives in chains, whose humiliation enhanced the triumph of the victors. Some of them were doomed to die, and to them the odor of the flowers and incense was a savor of death; others would be allowed to live, and to them it was a savor of life. Paul only uses the triumphal scene of the Roman rite to turn the thoughts of his readers to a greater triumph, the triumph of God. Paul was one of the in-able bearers. He accorded a willing and happy obedience, scattering the odor of the Saviour's name far and wide. God's triumph is now moving across the world, and all were personally interested in it. God's relation to it was benevolent satisfaction. Whether men were saved or perished, God's purpose in Christ was evermore the same. With benevolent satisfaction he sends forth the pleasing savor of Christ's name to save all of the lost who will receive salvation. If a man gives himself up to God's services, and endeavours to lead men to Christ, whether he succeeds or fails he is accepted of God. The principal thought of the text was the great alternatives that wait upon the hearing of God's word. To those who are saved it is a savor of life unto life; but unto those who disbelieve or are unfaithful it is a savor of death unto death. The Gospel found them in spiritual death. This was the prevailing thought of the Bible. Men were lost, ruined and alienated from God. Life and death have meanings attached to them in the Bible different from the popular acceptance of the terms. In the Bible life means something more than mere existence; it means blessedness superadded to being. Death in the Bible does not mean annihilation. Many are spoken of as being dead who move about among their fellow men and are alive to business matters. But it was no mere figure of speech the father of the returned prodigal used when he said, "This my son was dead and is alive again." There is physical, intellectual, and spiritual life. Spiritual life is a loving union with God. He who is separated from the Father of his spirit is dead while he lives. It would be well with them if they realized that he who has no fellowship with God is dead, although he may have robust health, be socially alive and possess a mind full of intellectual vigor, and even move among his fellows with certain blamelessness of character. While he enjoys this life of the lower sphere he may be utterly dead to God, to heaven, and to spiritual things—to things the highest, noblest and worthiest, and which should be man's chief glory. He may be dead in trespasses and sin under corrupting influences which have demoralized the whole man, so far as his relation to God and heaven is concerned. The great aim and purpose of the gospel was to give life to the dead. It is respect to this was unique amongst the philosophies and religions that abound in the world. Western philosophy and eastern religions, which hold in their grasp half of the human family, confess that men's condition is a wretched one and that they are merely baffled in finding a remedy. While they philosophize and despair, Christ's gospel stands forth and proclaims, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee the light." It finds us dead and brings the offer of a resurrection to a new life of purity with God forever. Christ, the fountain of all life, stood in human form, the only living one in the world, and said, "The hour is coming, and now is when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and they that hear shall live." We hear His voice in the glad gospel of salvation, and they that hear and heed shall live. Jesus removed the legal obstructions, and by a revolution that is a resurrection he will bring us out of death and into life—out of alienation as outcasts into the family of God. One alternative is a life that is so blessed and secure that it is the very thing we want. When brought into a living relationship with God we can defy pain and death; such life is most vigorous when the body dies. At the resurrection those who have received salvation will put on immortality, and death shall be "swallowed up in victory." Spiritual life increases, and culminates and is perfected forever with God. The other alternative is the savor of death unto death. It is a momentous matter to hear the gospel. It puts man in a new plane of responsibility in his probation in this world. God comes to His message of love that He may bring us the knowledge and possession of life in Christ, and if we reject it we take upon ourselves the responsibility of determining for the worse and forever our condition. It is sometimes supposed that people are great sinners and otherwise according as they deal with the Ten Commandments, but this, the speaker believed, would not be the criterion which God would adopt. The terrible ruin of many would turn upon their resistance of the light which had been brought by the Gospel and the Spirit. If a man hears the Gospel with gladness and acceptance, henceforth he lives to God and is on the way to Heaven; but if he resists it—turns his ear away from it—that very act places him on another road, which leads down to the perdition of ungodly men. There are powerful currents carrying people in different directions as far apart as the poles. God is bound by the principles of His government to administer to us according to our choice. To the gospel and the providences connected therewith we owe all the privileges that we enjoy, and it is our duty to put ourselves intelligently, earnestly, and with full consecration under God's banner, and to declare for Him and His cause. It is not necessary for us to leave our daily sphere in life to do duty for God. Just where he has placed us we may hold in our hearts such a spirit of universal love that it will exert a powerful appeal upon society at large, and to all who do so there comes reward upon reward, life added to life, strength added to strength, and joy upon joy. They may not live until the victory is brought home with shouts of celestial capital, but those who fall by the way in that glad hour will be called from the dust of earth. God will throw over them the robe of His own immortality and place them among the banished hosts of His world of triumph, and they will reign with him forever. The speaker closed by praying that the Spirit would help them to use aright all that had been put at their disposal for their benefit in the present life and in the life to come.

The sermon was delivered distinctly, in an easy, graceful manner, and was listened to with marked attention. The singing at both services was remarkably good, the voluntary anthems by the choir being remarkably well rendered.

CARD OF THANKS.

I BEG TO RETURN my most sincere thanks to the Firemen and Citizens of the Town of Peterborough who worked so energetically and courageously to save my property at the late fire, 15th inst., on Brock street, and to the Peterborough Water Company for their great and unselfish kindness in placing their hydrants at the disposal of the municipality for that purpose.

And I further wish to testify my appreciation of the good work done by the Waterworks on that occasion in promptness, power and efficiency, and I have no doubt that had we to depend on that fossil appliance called a steam engine, alone, all the Birdall property and perhaps much more would have fallen a prey to the destructive element.

EVE'S REPLY.

Oh, mother Eve, in innocence and beauty,
On Eden's glorious land thy light feet trod,
What wouldst thou more, that thou must weakly yield thee
To the dread serpent's wiles, and turn from God.
Methinks I hear thee to each soul replying,
Hast thou resisted evil? Search and see,
If in thy soul there lurks no weak repining,
When God some seeming good withholdeth from thee.

Had He decreed to shield us from temptation,
Petter our actions, and control our will,
Till like the glorious worlds of His creation,
We must perforce His every wish fulfil.

Where, then, were love? Could we cry Abba, Father,
Could there be friendship between God and man,
Were man not free, his willing praise to offer,
Returning love for love? God's glorious plan.

Think it not strange temptation should assail you;
We prize not Eden, till its bounds we crossed;
By contrast all its blessings learned to value;
Best after toil, Heaven's peace, when peace was lost.

We left our Eden; angels fell from Heaven,
Had they the fruits of sin, its anguish known,
They might have prized the love so freely given,
Nor sought to hurl their maker from His throne.

Then murmur not 'tho' through the dreary desert,
O'er burning sands the father leads his child;
The glorious Canaan thou shalt yet inherit,
But thou must first pass through the weary wild.

Faint not nor falter; Heaven is worth the winning,
Since Jesus died each sin bound soul to free;
Canst thou resist His love? He still is pleading,
Give me thy heart, 'tis all He asks of thee.

The Home Secretary has appointed Mr. A. Platt, an operative cotton spinner at Oldham, to the post of inspector under the Factory Acts. This is the fourth working man inspector whom Sir William Harcourt has appointed in three years.

The Hon. J. Russell Lowell, United States Minister, visited London, England, on the 4th inst. and unveiled a memorial bust of the novelist Fielding, which had been placed in Shire Hall of that town. In doing so he delivered an eloquent address, in which he dwelt upon the manliness of character which Fielding's works displayed.

IRELAND.

The first sod of an electric tramway from Newry to Bembrook was cut on the 4th inst. The line will be about seven miles long.

A PORTION of the pier at Holywood, near Belfast, 200 feet in extent, has been burned away. The fire occurred after a pyrotechnic display on the night of Aug. 25th.

The Elcho Shield was placed in Cork Exhibition on the 4th, and was accompanied by the Irish flag which won the trophy at Wimbledon.

It is stated from Dublin that an inquiry into the steps taken by the police authorities entrusted with the duty of conveying James Carey to a place of safety has resulted in severe censure being passed on the police by the home Secretary.

The recent statements of accounts, and of work done, that have been made by the directors of Irish banks, railways and other commercial enterprises, reveal a most gratifying improvement in the condition of the Irish mercantile affairs.

THERE was a mass meeting of the Irish National League at Carrick-on-Shannon, at which over 50,000 persons were present. Mr. Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., addressed the assembly. Another meeting of the League was held on the same day at Mallow, when Mr. O'Brien, M. P., of the United Kingdom, delivered an address urging his hearers "to persevere in their determination to win the independence of Ireland from English domination by peaceful means if possible—but to win at all hazards."

SCOTLAND.

The erection of the permanent observatory on Ben Nevis was commenced on the 6th Sept., and the work is expected to be finished before the end of next month.

The steamship Daphne, in connection with whose launch at Glasgow so many unfortunate workmen lost their lives by drowning, has been, after being raised, re-christened Rose.

Ten horses belonging to Munn & Co., funeral undertakers, Abercromby street, Glasgow, were mutilated on the 25th Aug., by some persons who entered the stable and cut the horses' tails off.

The annual meeting of the Trout Preservation Society was held on the 12th Aug. The reports showed the operations in stocking Highland lochs and streams were being carried out vigorously and with success.

On the 24th Aug., at Buckie, Banffshire, an infant 18 months old was left in bed while its mother went to milk the cows. On her return she found the child dead, suspended between the bed and a table which was placed a short distance from the bed.

The Lord Advocate has decided that there is no cause for instituting criminal proceedings at the instance of certain Free Church clergymen against the Highland Railway Company for infringing the old Scottish law regarding Sunday observance.

SCOTLAND has gained a notable victory in football. The championship of the United Kingdom was won on Sept. 1st by the Dumbarton team, the holders of the Scottish Challenge Cup, against the Blackburn Olympic, the holders of the English Challenge Cup, by six goals to one.

The Lord Mayor of London was present on the 28th Aug. at a meeting at Stornoway of the Lewis Distillation Committee. He suggested as a remedy that nine-tenths of the people should emigrate, and that every ten crofts should be rolled into one, thus making each holding of a size sufficient to maintain a family the year round.

FROM ALL OVER

Four hundred members of the British Association have positively promised to be present at the meeting in Montreal next year. The association is now in session at Southampton, Lancashire.

The U. S. Postmaster-General has ordered that no money orders or registered letters be delivered to the New Orleans National Bank until it ceases to act as agent for the Louisiana state lottery.

DR. CARSON'S STOMACH BITTERS are not an Alcoholic Stimulant, but a purely Vegetable Medicine, Cathartic and Tonic in its action and invaluable in all affections of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The French prime minister Ferry has forwarded a request for English mediation in the pending negotiations upon the Tonquin question fail to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion. Earl Granville is inclined to accede to the request.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine, an advertisement of which appears in another column.

The new Gulon line steamer Oregon made her trial trip. She attained a speed of twenty knots an hour. Mr. Pierce, manager for John Elder & Co., who built the Oregon, said he should never consider his work accomplished until he built ships able to cross the Atlantic in five days.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

It is said that a deputation will shortly wait on the Government and ask that the Rideau Canal be made a depth of eight feet instead of five feet six inches as at present. If this improvement were made, it is claimed that all lumber shipped by water from this port would go via the canal. The estimated outlay is $1,000,000.

PREPARATIONS for the Provincial Exhibition at Guelph, which opens on Monday, are in a very forward state, and everything betokens a great success should the weather prove favourable. The total number of entries is stated to be the largest ever made at any provincial exhibition, aggregating nearly fourteen thousand.

The question is, Shall Tonquin belong to China or France? If this is solved all will be settled, but neither party will admit this is its aim. In the memorandum submitted to the Chinese Government France offers to establish a natural zone in Tonquin. The rivers in Tonquin will soon fall. The French forces in Hanoi will then be in a dangerous position, as their gunboats will be unable to steam up to the town. It is rumoured that Hanoi will be evacuated.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balsamic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

A LAWLESS GANG.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The spirit of lawlessness, on the Ashburnham side of the river has become intolerable. Some neighbors of mine—ladies—for several weeks past have been annoyed by a number of boys stealing apples. The boys have become so bold at last that they would go into the garden before their faces and shake the fruit off the trees and dare them to put a stop to it. But yesterday they became ten times worse; in the early part of the day a gang of boys from ten to fifteen years of age, entered the garden, and when remonstrated with commenced beating and jeering and throwing stones at the ladies. At this time I was in my own garden and I ran over to see what the noise was about. I was then informed of the manner in which they had been treated. Some of the ladies remaining in the garden all day, watching it. Numbers of boys surrounded it most of the time. In the afternoon a gang of much larger boys from 15 to 20 years of age, started over from an old frame building on John Burnham's lot, when they saw that the Reid's garden was watched they got an old tin can and commenced beating it, accompanied with the most hideous noises, when I heard this fresh outbreak, not knowing what the consequence might be, I ran into the house for my gun. When the cowardly wretches saw me they ran before I could get near them. Now Mr. Editor, this was all done on the Sabbath day, in the corporation of Ashburnham. We hear a great deal about the lawlessness of the United States, but from the State of Maine to California, I never heard of respectable females being treated in such a manner. The most lawless miner would scorn to do it, but if he was fool enough to try it his body would be riddled with bullets.

When I was sitting in my own garden three stones were thrown at me. The fact of the matter is for several weeks past a number of lawless characters have been about here. Yours &c.

Est. Portage.
A correspondent of the Toronto Globe says:—Rat Portage is the seat of an extensive lumber trade. The splendid mill of the Rat Portage Lumber Company was unfortunately burned down a few weeks ago. Jarvis & Burridge have a large saw mill, not yet ready to begin cutting. There are three other large saw mills in the immediate vicinity of Rat Portage. Only about a mile west of the town is the steam mill of Balmer, Bailey & Co., with a cutting capacity of 40,000 feet per day. A little further on is Hanger & Co's mill, rated at 100,000 feet per day. Dick & Banning's mill, with a capacity of 50,000 feet per day; and the Keweenaw mill, under the management of D. L. Mather, having a cutting capacity of 75,000 feet per day.

Yellow Fever at Mexico.
The Disease Increasing at Vera Cruz—Many Persons Barred Away.
GUAYMAS, Mex., Sept. 22.—There have been several deaths from yellow fever in the last 24 hours. The thermometer has risen to 97°, and fears are entertained that under the heat and the filthy condition of the streets, the fever will gain increase. Eleven new cases are reported. The increased deaths and cases have driven the people almost frantic, not knowing whether they should remain. The members of the Board of Health proved themselves utterly incompetent. It is rumored that Dr. Vallejo, a millionaire, who fled to the country, has died.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The deaths of the steamship Colima, which touched at Manzanillo, a suburb of the port of the lower Gulf, and died by hired Indians, who roamed from house to house gathering corpses as a garbage heap, would make his roads. This resulted in the persons being buried alive. In the case of a man who was carried away and buried, it was found that a noise was heard in the box, and was being carried off. A friend distinguished in the city found the body turned over on its back, and suffocation. It is stated that about 500 deaths at Manzanillo in the last few weeks.

SEEDLING TREES.
Prices of forest-tree seedlings have gone up to place them within reach of the poor peasant. In fact, as the great bulk planted and of spontaneous origin, they are to be sold for more gathering, in regions where they are not trafficked in, prices range, owing to variety and size, from six inches to four feet, all along from 50 cents to $3 per thousand. Country-grown grades range higher. Many gardens are now planted annually. The cost of planting depends much on circumstances of land, labor, varieties planted, skill in planting and many other minor details. Outworn seedling can be furnished in quantities, from 50 cents to $1 per thousand; but older and better quality, from $1 to $2, and oaks, ash, beech, hickory, catalpa and chestnut from $5 to $10. The usual distance apart are by multiplied 3-4-5, etc., that intermediate ground may be utilized by being cultivated in other crops, and trees are sufficient size to protect themselves, when, in farm parlance, they are permitted to "take the ground."

Most experimenters at first planted two seeds where they were to remain permanently. Experience has shown this a mistake, for numerous reasons. Principally by the time the seedlings stand, growth, grade, size and shape are to contend with. By planting seeds four, five, six, or seven to a place, the seedlings will be crowded, and at one year's growth, according to the soil, and transplanting permanently, each seedling to itself, better results are secured. Some gardeners to size and vigor do better together, and are evened; the weak are not crowded out, and are shadowed by the stronger, a "survival of the fittest."

By this plan small plants, if healthy, do almost as well in the end as large. No variety is known not readily transplanting at one year old. From varieties of top root characteristics, hickories, hickories and chestnuts are really better, I am convinced, for tap root pruning. If hickory or fibrous feeding roots are induced, if the larger size are desired before transplanting, pruning, by running a line through the roots and allowing them to remain in the ground longer, good results are obtained. In fact, however, better success is had by transplanting young trees, when near as possible all the roots are preserved. Small trees cost from 25 cents to 50 cents per thousand, and are readily transported, handled and transplanted. A planting—especially certain varieties—has not given satisfaction. Trees in some respects are not unlike not fraterally. For example, willow, oaks, walnuts and hickories will not fraterally with maples, cottonwoods and alders. When planted near each other, the latter will invariably lean away from the former, assuming a crooked, gnarly appearance, and in the end virtually die out. Lumber Trade Journal.

BRADSTREET'S WEEKLY REPORT.
New York, Sept. 22.—The improvement in the general business situation of the country reported to Bradstreet's during the past two or three weeks has been continued. The shipment of general merchandise from the North Atlantic ports to the west have been very large. A SHADOWY STORY.

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '68.

CHAPTER I.

THE terrible outbreak in Ireland known as the rebellion of '68, seems to have attracted less attention from the students of literature than many other events of importance in our national history. Not only are the tales in connection therewith scanty; but it may be doubted, with all our spread of education, if an average school boy or girl could give anything like a connected or distinct account of this crisis, or could name a volume giving a full history of it. It is almost certain that these school-boys and school-girls would be found far better posted up about the Spanish Armada or the wars of Charles I. But for all that, it was a terrible outbreak, as we have said, and few countries have passed through greater trials than did England and Ireland then; and while anything at all bearing on politics or fiction is utterly foreign to our story, yet the reader will pardon us for saying, and agree with us when we say it, that so fierce and sanguinary was the struggle, so bitter the passions aroused on both sides, that so far from wondering at the jealousy which has certainly existed between the two nations until this day, it redounds highly to the honor of both, and speaks much for the intrinsic goodness of heart of both, that so much has been forgotten and forgiven.

The great struggle was over; the rebellion was crushed; all knew that whatever chance there might be of armed resistance in the future, it was hopeless now. The guerrilla-like strife which for several years disturbed various parts, was but the strife of desperate outlaws, and the Whiteboys and Mookies were only dangerous to individuals. The search for those concerned in the revolt was yet pursued, and martial law prevailed—or what was called martial law, which seemed to consist chiefly in the absence of all law, and involved absolute submission to the will of the officer, or—if he were very scrupulous—to that of the most active magistrate in the neighborhood who worked in concord with him. In every village in the disturbed districts soldiers were quartered, and as money was freely spent, plenty of information was found beyond the plain of the fugitives. Some of the latter, however, appeared to possess charmed lives, and could not be captured. These were few, but few, it is true; yet on this foundation a sort of belief in the identity of the Irish populace has been sown, which has obtained a credence perfectly astonishing, when we recall the indisputable fact that every movement in Ireland has been accompanied with the betrayal of its chiefs.

At the village of Knock-na-boreen—to give it its full title; but commonly called, it will be called here, Boreen—which was about fifteen miles from a small seaport, and situated in a "proclaimed" district, a detachment of military was quartered, consisting of one officer of the regulars, with half a company of Irish, and a regiment, and some twenty militia; and owing to the necessity of officers, his next assistant was his sergeant-major, a very steady, trustworthy man. With the easy ways of such times, and the entire disregard of everything like private rights or feelings, this officer, Lieutenant John Westbury, was directed to make the house of one Mr. Decey his headquarters. This was not bad for the officer, as there was nothing in the shape of an inn to be found in Boreen beyond the English troops. At any rate he was a fugitive—was as commonly supposed that he had escaped to France—and a reward was offered for his apprehension. It will easily be imagined that an officer in the position of Lieutenant Westbury was not very warmly welcomed in the disaffected district. Fear alone restrained the inhabitants from open violence; but the looks of all, from the old man to the young boy, were as if they were waiting for the first opportunity to do him harm. He was not long in finding out that he was not popular.

Mrs. Decey resided at the house with her eldest daughter, a widow with two young children, and an unmarried daughter. There was also a son, but he was abroad. The English troops, when Lieutenant Westbury introduced himself with a brief apology for his intrusion, he felt that it would puzzle the best judges to decide whether Madam—as the country people called her—was a rebel or a loyalist. When the widow, or Miss Kate Decey, looked upon him, there was no help for it, however, and they were obliged even to tolerate him at dinner, but he should make an unfavourable report of them, and cause the government to hold them in still greater suspicion; quite an undesirable aggravation, as they were already ranked with the thoroughly disaffected. It was well for the inmates of Boreen House to be quiet, and to avoid all excitement, and in spite of his having a reputation for shrewdness and bravery, he knew how to make allowance for the feelings of those who had lost in the strife, and to avoid the feelings of their kith and kin. He was not the first officer who had entered the doors of Boreen House; but he certainly was the first who had ever thought it needful to offer a word of apology or regret at being compelled to intrude upon the family. Thus he had produced a good impression on his first arrival, although he was not aware of it.

At all hours of the day and at all hours of the night, numberless messengers were arriving and departing, so that at the first Lieutenant and his man Friday the sergeant-major, were much employed in receiving and writing reports; and although this had quieted down a little, there was still a confusion of such business. These patrols or messengers, it need hardly be said, were strangers; for there was no cavalry at Boreen, and the small party there served to act as an intermediate station between the larger towns, and to cover the immediate neighbourhood. Although this latter was black and bare enough, and although there was some broken and rather hilly ground there, it was yet devoid of anything like woods or extensive moorlands which could afford hiding-places to any large number of men.

Upon a certain night a horseman rode in with a letter, and the sergeant-major and his man Friday were sent to the house of the rebel leader, and the letter was read. It was a letter from the rebel leader, and it was a letter of defiance. The sergeant-major and his man Friday were sent to the house of the rebel leader, and the letter was read. It was a letter from the rebel leader, and it was a letter of defiance.

Lieutenant Westbury was evidently dull and weary at his post. Being a temperate man he had not one resource too often sought by soldiers, and civilians too, in those days. No library, no club, no society indeed, was there in Boreen; and, as explained, his attempts at intimacy with the other members of the House were most unsuccessful. Even the plan which almost uniformly succeeds failed in this instance, and although he made presents to the children, and sought to be friendly with them, he failed to conciliate their relatives; and the little book he gave to Miss Nora, and the psalm he gave to Master Bryan, were each returned to him with thanks; and after this he felt the case was hopeless. It was soon after the expedition referred to, that Westbury returning from the village about twilight, and finding the hall door open, entered and saw Miss Kate talking to a woman of very poor appearance. She might have been a beggar, so tattered and threadbare was her raiment, yet she did not impress the Lieutenant as being a mendicant.

"I am very sorry, Biddy," said Miss Kate, moving with a slight bow, to allow the soldier to pass—"I am very sorry to send you away like this; but I do not think we have a penny in the house. The times are almost as bad with us as with yourselves. But come round in the morning, and our letters may bring us some remittances."

She had spoken so openly that there was no reason whatever for any pretence on Westbury's side of not having heard her; so pausing, with a slight bow on his part, and a quiet smile—his smile was always quiet and grave—he said: "I trust, Miss Decey, you will pardon me if I express a wish to prevent an incident which I am sure will annoy you. My purse is at the service of this poor woman, if you wish her to be relieved."

"You are very kind, or no doubt mean to be so, sir," said the girl haughtily and coldly; "but Biddy can wait until the morning, and you, perhaps, would be less inclined to assist her, if you knew who she was."

"I hardly think that would make any difference," said the officer. "As it is, I do not care who she may be, and merely wish to enable you."

"The fact is," said Kate Decey, with dryness in her tone, "her husband was a rebel, who was very properly shot by our gallant soldiers in the skirmish at the Bog of Droine; and having four children, all infants, Biddy is as badly off as she deserves to be—for she is a rebel, too."

"I do not war with women and helpless children," said the soldier, and the colour mounting to his cheek, showed that he felt the taunt in the young lady's words. "She is in distress; you pity her."

"I believe you speak the truth here," said the girl, colouring in her turn, as she replied to the first part of his speech. The officer was tall and Saxon, although somewhat weather-beaten and sun-browned; the girl had that olive Spanish-like complexion, so often, so unaccountably often seen in Ireland; but her clear skin, and the way she was, showed that she was as distinctly as did the Englishman's lighter cheek. She continued: "I believe you are a soldier, and not a savage. But Biddy can wait, can't you, Biddy?"

"An' shure me an' the childer can wait," returned the woman; "an' if it's for a while, we'll be contented, Miss Kate. It's as ye please entirely."

The officer had taken out his purse, which was one of those long netted affairs at one time so popular, and through which the money shone. Though it was not exactly a plated purse, and though it contained more silver than gold, the gleam which Biddy threw in spite of herself, at the treasure was so painfully affecting that there was such a sad though resigned expression on her pale countenance, that Kate—crisscrossing more than before—said, "Biddy only wants a trifle for something for one of her children, who she thinks is dying." There was a little catch in the breath here, a resolute person might have turned into a sob. "And it is very bitter for me to find."

"Do not say any more," exclaimed the soldier. "Why be so unwilling to let me aid you in charity? I will give Biddy a wife to help her." As he spoke, the Lieutenant had moved the ring of his purse, and the quick eye of the girl had stretched out her hand to stay the officer. "O no!" she said, with a little laugh; "poor Biddy's idea is of something very different from that. Two shillings is what she craves, and if you really wish—"

In her repulsive manner, she had stretched out her hand to stay the officer, and had touched his wrist. Recollecting himself, she drew back; while Westbury extracted the required amount and a trifle besides. "Here, Biddy," he said; "here are four shillings. You are taking no more taking them even from a soldier; pray consider the money as a gift from Miss Decey, by my hand."

"Sure, it's a kind thing for ye to do, anyhow," said Biddy, with a profusion of courtesy. "An' a good heart in a soldier, or a kind word from wan' bates me entirely."

Falling Leaves.
"There is something inexplicably touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the leaves on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a force bottle that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00—1.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1883.

In the latest election, the petition against the Conservative member has entirely failed, and has been dismissed with costs, Mr. Roe retaining his seat in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

The Globe thinks that the Methodist Conference in leaving out the word "ohes" took the common-sense view of mankind. This sentiment, as the German professor, who, in an argument at an English university, said: "Ah! yes, speak of Paul, I have read his letters and I do not often agree with him."

It seems that the self-styled "Reformers" do not change their nature when they go to Manitoba. Mr. Jackson, the Opposition candidate for Rockwood in the last Provincial election, has been arrested for treating for the purpose of corruptly influencing the voters. According to the Reform press the Conservatives are corrupt as a party, but according to the judges it is the Reformers who are one after another found to be guilty of corruption. It is a remarkable exception where such a charge is sustained against a Conservative.

JUDGMENT has been given at Osgoode Hall quashing a conviction recently made against McDonald, of Hallowell township, under the Provincial Act for selling liquor without a license, on the ground that the Scott Act was in force in the township, and consequently under former decisions no Ontario legislation could apply. So that it would seem that under Mr. Mackenzie's leadership the Canadian Parliament has superseded Ontario legislation as to liquor license. We do not remember that the Reform press abused Mr. Mackenzie like a poltrooper or accused him of invading provincial rights by this step.

CAPTIOUS CRITICISM.
 One or two of the Reform papers have been attacking the Hon. John Cartwright for his conduct of the Post-Office Department, and the whole pack re-echoes the cry as a matter of course, without any other reason than that a political opponent is to be hounded down if possible. Then it is pretended that these yelpings are an expression of public opinion.

We have carefully searched the columns of these critics for their causes of complaint, and beyond general abuse we have only been able to discern three instances of plainly asserted shortcomings. The first complaint was that a letter had been mailed but had not been received after frequent applications for it. Then we are told that in Hamilton letters have not been despatched for Winnipeg as quickly as it mailed at Toronto. And lastly there is a complaint that some towns on the Grand Trunk are at a disadvantage as to postal accommodation, as compared with their neighbours, as for instance Port Hope as compared with Cobourg.

As to the first supposed offence, it turns out that the complainant was foolish enough to direct his letter to a wrong office, and the Post-Office Department not having Mr. Stewart Cumberland or any other mind reader upon its staff, naturally sent the letter as directed, and not as intended, so it was looked for in vain. We submit that the Reformers have not very strong reason to complain of this at present, but we will admit that they will have some ground for criticism if Mr. Cartwright does not at once see to this defect by appointing a post-office mind-reader to point out what Reform correspondents really mean when they write something quite different.

As to the second complaint we find that owing to the greatly increased correspondence with Winnipeg, owing to the right settlement of the Northwest, it has been arranged to make up a through mail bag at Hamilton so as to expedite the despatch of letters. Thus this public want has been supplied as quickly as it was possible, or at least, as soon as it was pointed out. The necessity for this increased correspondence over the Mackenzie-Blake regime is chargeable, not to the Postmaster-General alone, but to his colleagues with him, for if they had continued the masterly inactivity and fly on the wheel policy of the Reformers with nothing to reform, there would have been no occasion to provide for an inconveniently large correspondence with Winnipeg.

As to mails being delivered at Cobourg when they are not at Port Hope, we cannot see how the Postmaster-General can remedy this, since the Grand Trunk, for some insupportable reason of its own, certainly not for the public convenience, has decreed that its fast express shall stop at Cobourg with the magnificent railway communication with Harwood, and shall pass through Port Hope where the Midland offers connection with so wide a district of thriving country and busy towns. The Post Office Department cannot make the Grand Trunk stop its fast train at Port Hope (and other towns are in the same plight) unless it desires to do so, though possibly it may, as long as a question with the legislature whether express carriers, which have public charters, shall be regulated solely by their private interests in such matters. Seeing that they have a virtual monopoly of carriage for the district they are supposed to serve, it would not be unreasonable to insist that in return for the special privileges granted to them they should be bound to consult the public interests in regard to the mails.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

THE ALGOMA ELECTION.

A LIST OF THE DISTRICTS MR. ROWAT HAS DISFRANCHISED.

Eleven Polling Divisions Dropped—Cook's Island Protested against the Return—the Electors Determined to Vote.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 24.—The polling places which the Ontario Government has dropped out of the list for the coming Algoma election in order that a number of the electors may be prevented from voting are the following:—
 Vermilion Bay,
 Larday,
 Beauport,
 Howe's Lake,
 Echo Bay,
 Mud Lake,
 Otter Tail Lake,
 Cook's Island,
 Melville Bay,
 Plover River,
 Pitt and Gravel River.

Mr. A. W. Thompson, the returning officer, was duly notified that polling places should be opened at these points, but he declined by instruction of the Local Government, to have them opened. As the disfranchisement of such a large portion of the district the better class of electors, both Conservative and Reform, are naturally indignant. The Conservatives are indignant at the vote attempt made to prevent duly qualified electors from voting. The Reformers are indignant because the fraud is being digressed upon themselves and their party. Some respectable Reformers who have been led to believe that their party leaders would never resort to electoral frauds say they would rather lose a thousand electors than that such a crime as that which the Local Government has perpetrated should be one record against the party.

ONE SPECIMEN CASE.
 Of disfranchisement may be mentioned, Cook's Island, a large island just west of Melville Island, is as will be observed by the list above, among the disfranchised districts. It has a population of three hundred, and contains a large number of electors. Situated a long distance from the nearest polling place either on the mainland or on Melville Island, it is entitled to a polling place for itself. But it has not one. On the other hand, Melville Island, with a smaller population, has a much smaller number of electors, but being fewer miles from the mainland, it has a polling place for the accommodation of voters living upon it. Certainly if Melville Island is entitled to a polling place Cook's Island is also. This is, however, but a specimen attempt at disfranchisement. In the coming election it may be mentioned that a meeting of the electors of the DISFRANCHISED COOK'S ISLAND was held yesterday at the school-house, Temagami. Mr. John McPherson, steward of the island, was appointed chairman, and A. E. Street, acting secretary. Mr. J. C. Patterson, M. P. for Essex, was called upon to address the meeting, which he did in a very forcible, eloquent, and effective manner for over an hour and a half. He was listened to by the audience with marked attention. At the close of the meeting the following resolution was unanimously carried by standing vote, amidst great cheering, 73 electors being present:—

Moved by W. T. Patterson, and seconded by John Street: "That the thanks of this meeting be given to J. C. Patterson, Esq., M. P., for his very able address, and the information he has given us on the political questions of the day."

DETERMINED TO VOTE.
 Mr. Mackenzie Clarke then moved seconded by Robert Macrae: "That this meeting request the Government that there is to be a polling station on this Island at the approaching election, and we, the residents of Cook's Island, believe that Mr. Lyon and the Ontario Government are to blame in the matter, will request the Government to offer us in this instance by endeavouring to get to some polling place on the Melville Island or the mainland, and there recording our votes to a man for Mr. W. H. Munroe."

The motion was carried unanimously amidst loud cheers.

IN A HURRY.
 The Brandon Mail thus disposes of the boundary question:—

(1) The Ontario Government, with the sanction of the Legislature, and the Dominion Government with the sanction of the House of Commons, appointed three arbitrators to define the true western boundary of Ontario.
 (2) The arbitrators were to find the true boundary and no other.
 (3) Mr. Mackenzie reserved to Parliament the right to accept or reject any award these arbitrators might make.
 (4) They met and found a conventional boundary, but not the true one.
 (5) They had no power to do so.
 (6) Sir John now exercises the right claimed by Mr. Mackenzie and rejects the award.
 (7) Sir John is willing to make out a new award taking the Superior Court or the Privy Council, in either of which justice will be done to all.
 (8) Mr. Mowat refuses to go into court.
 (9) Mr. Mowat acquiesces in the rejection of the award, inasmuch as he never took any steps to take possession of the territory, and refused to listen to the petition of the people living there asking for incorporation.
 (10) The territory was this organized under the laws of Manitoba.
 (11) Mr. Mowat now attempts to take forcible possession of the territory.
 (12) And he does this because an election is pending and he wants to help the Gt. Cdn. candidate.

The Hon. J. Sandfield Macdonald's will. A suit is now pending before the Chancery division for the construction of the will of the late Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald upon a single point which now arises. By the will an allowance is made to the testator's young son, which is to be increased when the beneficiary arrives at a certain age upon condition that the executor approve his course of life up to that time. The time having arrived and the executor arrives whether the deceased's allowance is to be paid from the date of the young man's majority or from the present time, some two or three years having elapsed since his majority. To construe the will upon this point a friendly suit is brought in which Mr. G. B. Macdonald is plaintiff and the executor and other beneficiaries are defendants. The question is purely one of law upon the construction of the will, and it is to be argued before the court on Wednesday at 10 a.m. later day by Mr. Christie, Mr. Macdonald, Q. C., and Mr. James Schum, Q. C.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.
 From the many remarkable cures wrought by using McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Affection of the Liver, and from the immense sale of it, we have no hesitations in recommending it to all who suffer from any of the above ailments, or who may have a general ailment. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, or the regular size at fifty cents and one dollar.

THE ALGOMA ELECTION.

A Young Man Found Working in a Store—Drifted—No Case.

DESMOND, Sept. 24.—On Saturday night last a young Canadian, named Cornelius Allen, employed at the Public & Good drug store, was found lying in his blood on the walk on the east side of the store. The circumstances indicated that a foul murder had been committed. At the hour mentioned the residents of the neighbourhood were awakened by a pistol shot. Several persons came out to ascertain the cause, but nothing could be seen in the darkness save a man, who was lying on his back on the sidewalk. The young man was found lying on his back, his head still alive, and was found with a bullet shot in the head. He was unable to speak, and died shortly afterward. His face was covered with blood, which was oozing from a wound on the left side of his head. The police theory of the murder is that Allen was called for a prescription and was shot before he reached the store. When Allen was found he was sitting in his underwear, and wore his coat and straw hat. He had only one sock on, which strengthens the theory that he came from the States. He was a quiet and good-natured man. There is no clue as yet to the murder.

Two cattle-trade.
 MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—In an interview with a leading steamship general manager here, he stated that although freight from Great Britain was not so large this season, imports having curtailed their orders, considerably, as compared with last year, yet the outward shipments being much greater than in 1882, he thought there would be no shortage of shipping space with the previous year in the prospect. He mentioned the cheap rates offered for grain, which he attributed to the keen competition from New York and other eastern ports. The shipment of cattle from this port will largely exceed any previous season of open navigation. The number of head of cattle and sheep exported up to the 1st of this month exceeded last year at the close, and every vessel leaving port up to the close of navigation has been freight-room all engaged; in fact, a great many more steamships could have been fully freighted had they been available. The trade has been very profitable to shippers, and the immigration has also been very satisfactory. The best evidence that the outlook for an extension of trade to and from the port is favourable is that the Allan and Dominion lines will have two new floating monsters of the deep each added to their incomparable fleets next summer.

Blacken's Analgesic.
 The greatest medical wonder in the world. Warranted to speedily cure Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancri, Piles, Chills, Corns, Tetters, Chapped Hands, and all kinds of eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

The Greatest Healing Compound.
 Is a preparation of carbolic acid, vasoline and corns, called McGregor & Parker's Carbolic Compound. It will cure any sore, cut, burn, or bruise, and all other eruptions of the skin. Call at John McKee's Drug Store, and get a package. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all druggists.
 Do not delay in ordering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Foster's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Stomach Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.
 "LAXATIVE have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Foster's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1883.

A DISGRACE TO ONTARIO.

No better evidence could be given of the desperate straits to which Mr. Mowat is driven in his efforts to retain power in spite of the popular verdict against him, than his last shameless attempt to stifle the voice of the people in Algoma. It was bad enough to send a force to take violent possession of territory in the hands of another province, because, though we have a good title, he neglects to enforce it in a legal manner. It was bad enough to send his officials, paid with our money, to canvass and corrupt the electors by promises of material advantages in return for their votes. It was very bad to break the spirit of our law by passing over the Sheriff and Registrar of Algoma, and under cover of an exceptional provision, framed for another purpose, to select as returning officer a dishonest partisan. But now in his extremity he has descended to a still lower depth, and the Attorney-General, who should especially enforce the law, has deliberately violated both the letter and the spirit of the statute, in order to disfranchise, if possible, electors who he fears will vote against him. We now know what piece of roguesry it was that made the Sheriff of Thunder Bay so sick that he had to decline to go to disorganize himself, thus making way for one who had no scruples to restrain him from perpetrating a lawless outrage.

The correspondence which we publish in another column between the solicitor for Mr. Plummer, the Conservative candidate in Algoma, and the deputy of Attorney-General Mowat, shows plainly how the Premier of Ontario has deliberately broken the law to disfranchise electors who might vote against him. He has not only refused to provide polling places by order-in-council where the Conservative vote is strong, but he has even closed polls in localities where they are specifically required by the statute, removing them to distances of 50 miles in one case and 12 miles in another. At Cockburn Island the 150 voters, because Conservatives, have to go 50 miles to the poll, while at Manitoulin Island, where the Mowat candidate resides, the seven polling places required by the statute which Mr. Mowat has violated, are more than doubled in number. What an honest Premier! What a law-loving Attorney-General!

But even more disgusting than his bold lawlessness is the pettifoggery chicanery by which Mr. Mowat endeavours to throw the blame for his outrageous breach of law and justice upon the Conservative candidate. He reproaches him with not protesting earlier, well knowing, however, that his partisan returning officer, the knavish tool of a knavish master, kept the localities of the polling places a secret till the latest possible moment, and it was too late to do more than protest in vain.

II, by such means, Mr. Mowat hopes to seat his supporter, we are convinced that he is mistaken, and that such an outrage will incite the men of Algoma to hurl him from the power he degrades, however great may be the difficulties thrown in his way.

But we do not believe that under the circumstances we are doing Mr. Mowat an injustice by supposing that he does not hope to return his candidate in Algoma. Knowing that the constituency is hostile to him, he has very likely determined that the election shall at all events be void, so that by the exceptional provision of the statute Mr. Lyon may claim still to hold his seat, as the late member.

But whatever lawless manoeuvres he may practice his reign is nearly over and Ontario will not much longer be disgraced by such a Premier.

A SUMMARY of the various charges that have taken place in the Imperial House of Commons since the general election in 1880 shows that twelve of the original members were found to have been returned by corrupt practices. Of these twelve nine were Liberals and only three were Conservatives. It seems that corruption prevails among Liberals in Great Britain in a proportion relatively to Conservatives almost as high as in the case with the "Reformers" in Canada.

ACCORDING to a Globe correspondent some of the Mowat party in Algoma have been threatening Capt. Kiwan, editor of the Montreal Post, in case he should venture to talk politics, when, as the correspondent puts it in all the approving emphasis of capital letters, "HE WOULD BE GIVEN JUST FIVE MINUTES to take his charming presence elsewhere." What would the Globe say if such tyrannical rudeness was employed against the Mowat officials who are canvassing in the same constituency at the expense of the people of Ontario?

The German Alliance.

"The Austro-German Alliance," says the Berlin correspondent of the London Standard, "is now secured for many years—considerably beyond 1890, the date when it is supposed to terminate. In the conference between Prince Bismarck and Count Kalotay at Salzburg the attitude of the alliance toward Russia and France and its relations to Servia and Rumania were, I have reason to believe, the principal points considered. As to any other questions that may have been discussed in Salzburg perfect silence is preserved. The leading politicians in Berlin at the same time express their belief that the European situation is at present quiet peaceful. Mr. Bismarck is not likely to visit Berlin just now, as he will settle matters with Prince Bismarck at Gastein. The visit of Field Marshal Montaut to Gastein has no political significance."

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

A DISHONEST ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Mr. Mowat Disfranchises His Opponents Wholesale—Violation of the Law.

The following correspondence will surprise even those who were already convinced of the political dishonesty of Mr. Mowat:—
To the Honourable John Beverley Robinson, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario:

The petition of William H. Plummer, of Saint Ste. Marie, in the district of Algoma, in the Province of Ontario, merchant:

1. That I am one of the candidates for the House of Assembly in the Province of Ontario for the district of Algoma, and have applied to the returning officer for the said district of Algoma for additional polling places to those mentioned in section fifty-seven of chapter ten of the revised statutes of Ontario relating to elections for the said Province, and I have caused to be furnished to the said returning officer evidence showing the necessity for additional polling places, but the said returning officer has refused my request, giving his reason for such refusal that this is a matter for the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

2. That additional polling places are required at the following places in the said district:—Mud Lake, Otter Tail Lake, Echo River, Cockburn Island, Meldrum Bay, Peace River, Pie Gravel River, Vermillion Bay, Barclay, Savanne, Hawk Lake.

3. That polling places are absolutely necessary at the above mentioned places for the polling of the various votes in and adjacent thereto.

4. That your petitioner hereby makes the demand that the additional polling places shall be named, and that a direction be given to the returning officer to advertise forthwith the said additional polling places throughout the said district of Algoma.

5. And your petitioner respectfully prays that the prayer of this petition may be granted.

F. D. BARWICK,
Solicitor for Wm. H. Plummer.
Dated at Toronto this 17th day of Sept., 1883.

TORONTO, 19th Sept., 1883,

Sir,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt, by the Attorney-General, of a copy of petition dated 17th inst., addressed to the Honourable John Beverley Robinson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, signed by you as solicitor for Mr. William H. Plummer, containing a demand that certain additional polling places should be named for Algoma.

As the nomination took place on the 14th inst., and the statute expressly requires that all polling places should be publicly proclaimed from the hustings at the nomination, it is obviously impossible that any action could have been taken on an application to the Government for the first time three days after the nomination.

The Attorney-General had heard nothing of there being supposed to be occasion for polling places at any of the points named in the petition except those already provided for by the order-in-council, and he very much regrets that Mr. Plummer has chosen to postpone his communication on the subject until it is too late for the Government to take any action thereon. I am desired to inform you that it is believed that under the arrangements made polls will be opened not only at every place named in the statute, but also in every neighbourhood at which there has been polling at any previous election for the Ontario Assembly, and also at a number of other places named by order-in-council passed previous to the nomination, as less than fifty-three polling places being named in the proclamation.

Your Obedient Servant,
J. C. SCOTT,
Deputy Attorney-General.
F. D. Barwick, Esq., Q.C., Toronto

To J. G. Scott, Esq., Deputy Attorney-General:
Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th September in reply to a communication from me as solicitor for W. H. Plummer requesting that certain additional polling places should be named for Algoma.

You inform me that as the nomination took place on the 14th inst., and the statute requires that all polling places should be publicly proclaimed from the hustings at the nomination, it is obviously impossible that any action can be taken on an application made to the Government for the first time three days after the nomination.

You ignore the fact that it was not within the power of Mr. Plummer to take any action in the matter prior to the day of nomination, when he first learned where the polling places would be, as fixed by the Government. You endeavor to throw the responsibility of the Government's action and omissions upon Mr. Plummer in "having postponed his communication on the subject until it is too late to take any action thereon." The answer I have already given, viz., that Mr. Plummer could not have conceived it possible that the Government would have exercised the power conferred on them by the Election Act "by order-in-council to fix additional polling places to those named in the statute as the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may from time to time direct" in such a manner as to disfranchise a large number of electors, place in the way of others almost impossible distances to travel, and add polling places in various sections of the district to suit the convenience of the supporters of Mr. Lyon, the Government candidate.

The duty of selecting additional polling places was committed to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council—it is a trust confided to them by the Legislature in the interests of the whole people—it was their duty to select these after due and careful enquiry and with entire impartiality. I regret to say that as I have been advised this has not been done. You inform me that "it is believed that under the arrangements made polls will be opened not only at every place named in the statute, but also in every neighbourhood at which there has been polling at any previous election for the Ontario Assembly, and also at a number of other places named by order-in-council passed previous to the nomination, as less than fifty-three polling places being named in the proclamation."

To this I reply that your statement is incorrect. Two of the places named in the statute where polls are ordered to be opened are wholly omitted, viz., Nipigon Bay and Betschewasing. Instead of a polling place being fixed at the bay the proclamation fixes it at Nipigon, an Indian village fifty miles inland. Again the statute directs the fixing of a polling place at Betschewasing, instead the proclamation fixes it at Maniowish, twelve miles distant, thus overriding the statute.

Again, large centres of population have been overlooked. For instance, Cockburn Island is included by the proclamation in Gore Bay district. That island has a large population and at least 150 voters. Yet no polling place is given its people, and the nearest poll to them, by water, is at Gore Bay, a distance of at least 80 miles. A poll was held there at the last Dominion election. Why is it now practically disfranchised? Contrast the dealing with Manitoulin Island. There the electors should have every facility for voting, but the Government candidate resides there, and hence, no doubt, the discrimination. The statute gave the island seven polling places, while the Government have added eight more, a striking contrast to the treatment of Cockburn Island. The exclusion of the other place named in the declaration accompanying the petition is in keeping with the action of the Government. Having recorded some of the facts I shall leave the matter to be dealt with in due course by the Legislature of Ontario, to whom the Council are amenable in the interest of the purity of Parliamentary elections, and the protection of the right to exercise the franchise by the people.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
F. D. BARWICK,
Solicitor for W. H. Plummer.

Tree-Planting Extraordinary.

The Mexican Government has contracted with Mr. Oscar A. Droege, to plant 2,000,000 trees in the Valley of Mexico within four years from March 15, 1884—500,000 a year, in such places as the Government shall choose. The contractor pledges himself to establish a number of nurseries and to have in them each year at least 800,000 ash, 35,000 willows, 120,000 poplars, 60,000 eucalyptus trees, 60,000 trenos-japones, 60,000 mountain cypress cedars, 60,000 acacias, and 120,000 of miscellaneous varieties. The trees must be in plantations of from 50,000 to 100,000 each, and Mr. Droege has to maintain them for two years after planting. He is not compelled to plant trees along the highways, however. Three graduates of the School of Agriculture are to be received into the nurseries each year, there to study the science of forestry. He is also to raise fruit and other useful plants for free distribution. There is to be translated from the German every year a work on arboriculture of recognized merit. An inspector is to superintend, and Mr. Droege is to receive annually 40,000 dollars ($8,500) till the sum reaches a total of 200,000 dollars ($42,500).—Pall Mall Gazette.

A SHADOWY STORY.

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '98.

Lieutenant Westbury was out with his men early the next day, and once more returned tired and fretful from a fruitless tramp over dreary bogs and waste moorland. It was therefore to a late and solitary breakfast he returned. The only meal in which he joined the family was dinner, (in those days the hour was half-past one), and the geniality and warmth displayed there were of such a character as to induce him frequently to wish he might take that meal, too, in solitude. Mrs. Decoy, the head of the household, was simply unapproachable; she never even made a pretence of being civil to the alien soldier, never spoke to him unless when compelled, and may almost be said to have looked, spoken and acted as if to prove to the Lieutenant that she ignored his very existence. Mrs. Clarke, the widow, was, like the second bear in the well-known nursery tale, a little better than the first bear, but only a little, inasmuch as she could more readily conceal her dislike, from her having the children by her side, and could easily feign to be so absorbed in them as to be unable to pay any attention to the stranger. As for Miss Kate Decoy, the foregoing brief sketch of the behaviour of her mother and sister will prepare the reader to hear that little conversation Westbury held with the family was through the medium of that young lady, who was nevertheless the hottest rebel of the whole, and ventured on such spiteful anti-Baron speeches that the Lieutenant could scarcely conceal a smile. It was well for Kate and her friends that it was a smile which her reasonable outbursts provoked.

On this morning, as we have already said, Westbury returned tired and worried. The tramp had been unsuccessful, at least, yet his spies assured him—and there was an indefinable rumour about the same purport—that a messenger from France had got through the lines and had brought a supply of money to the fugitives, who were certainly in hiding somewhere in the district; and it was further said that a foreign ship was soon to be off the coast. His breakfast, late as it was, was duly served, partly by the occasional handmaid of the household, one Judith Kelly, but as was always the case, Westbury returned the stereotyped answers of honour with the family—one of the ladies came in to see if all were to the Lieutenant's satisfaction. He had been long enough in the house to know that it was not the step of Judith he had approached the door, and his eye brightened as the lock turned; but it was not the expression of his face changed when the cold, stern features of Mrs. Clarke met his eyes. In answer to the stereotyped inquiries, Westbury returned the stereotyped answers and much to his relief, the lady left him without saying a word about the little overnight loan to Biddy. He had been afraid they might mention it, from their fastidious reluctance to accept the slightest favour from the hands of an English officer. He was very desirous of asking after Miss Kate; and he argued that to express a hope that her absence was not due to ill-health could scarcely be deemed giving any very great latitude in the way of friendly intimacy; yet he could not do it. There had been such a lack of the reality of friendly intercourse, that his courage failed him.

More than once Westbury rose from the table and took a searching glance at the inner window, speculating as to what shadow it could have been that fell across his cheek-board on the previous night, and trying to recall exactly how the rays of the two lamps affected the objects in his room.

"Pshaw!" he said at length. "I must have made a mistake; and there's the end of it. Now I come to think of it, I was very dull and drowsy, and perhaps I dozed a little, 'perchance,' as Shakespeare says, 'I was a trifle.' The tone of the conclusion of the Lieutenant's reverie was scarcely so assured as that of the commencement, and was rather that of a man who adopted a solution, none better being obtainable, than that of one who has much confidence in it.

It was his habit each morning to go round to the various houses at which his men were billeted to see that all was right, and to see them mustered by the sergeant-major. This ceremony took place on a ragged green patch at one end of the village, and strangely enough—or so it seemed to the English portion of the little corps—attracted no kiders, as it would have done in most places. A few children came, but not even these always, and indeed on the rare occasions when any of their elders assembled, their looks and mutterings were not reassuring to the military. Accounting himself for this duty, the Lieutenant was leaving the house, when he met Biddy at the door. The door often stood open, and so far as Westbury could see, every person in the village considered that he or she had a perfect right to pass its threshold at any time. Her aspect was weary-looking and bedraggled. Her rusty black dress, which was as short as an ordinary petticoat, was almost covered with mud, while her shoes and stockings feet and limbs were nearly as though they had been plastered with clay for mummification. Her rusty black dress, which was as short as an ordinary petticoat, was almost covered with mud, while her shoes and stockings feet and limbs were nearly as though they had been plastered with clay for mummification. She had been evidently wet through, and the streams of rain which had run so noisily down her face, had produced just the reverse effect to that which water is generally intended to have—it had made her dirtier instead of cleaner.

Biddy gave a perceptible start as Westbury came suddenly upon her from his room at the side of the hall. "Good-morning, Biddy," said the soldier kindly, overlooking his dilapidated dress for the sake of her person. "You must certainly have been out on the moor to-day, Biddy."

"The moor? Is it the bog-country you mean?" exclaimed Biddy. "Och! it's me! I wouldn't find there. It's after a night's rain I've been all the bog which had run so noisily down her face, had produced just the reverse effect to that which water is generally intended to have—it had made her dirtier instead of cleaner."

"The moor? Is it the bog-country you mean?" exclaimed Biddy. "Och! it's me! I wouldn't find there. It's after a night's rain I've been all the bog which had run so noisily down her face, had produced just the reverse effect to that which water is generally intended to have—it had made her dirtier instead of cleaner."

"Quite enough, too, I dare say, Biddy," said Westbury, good-humouredly, and passed on. His brief inspection duly made the officer returned to Boreen House, after a discussion with Sergeant-major Dickles, wherein the latter gave it as his opinion that the rebels must be about the bog, they must have some potent allies somewhere, and his mind involuntarily returned to Biddy and her travel-stained appearance. He thought of her until he began very much to doubt her story about the neighbour's cow, and to wish he had detained and searched her. He was still pondering over the perplexing affair when he reached his quarters, and in a few minutes was with the family at dinner. Miss Kate was there and looking better than ever. There was no doubt about that, for there was a glow and freshness on her cheek which can only be given by exercise in the open air; and while the Lieutenant felt that he admired her more he also made up his mind that she had been for a ride on the moors that morning, and, somehow, the image of Biddy Quinn connected itself with the fancy. Westbury sat near to Madame Decoy; and before they left the table the old lady, who had not spoken a single word to him, beyond the one or two sentences which rose inevitably during the course of the meal, took occasion to deliberately produce her purse, and with a formal acknowledgment of his kindness to Biddy, proffered a guinea in repayment of the loan. The Lieutenant had not sufficient change, and Mrs. Clarke was appealed to, but she had only gold; and then Kate was asked. As she happened to have three shillings in silver, and the old lady had one, the required amount was made up, with a few more formal words of thanks, was handed to the officer. With a little confusion, Westbury accepted the money, stammering out a few words as he did so; and at the same moment he glanced almost instinctively at Miss Decoy, whom he found was watching him closely. The color rose in the girl's cheeks as her eye met that of the soldier, and altogether there was a strange and disproportionate amount of awkwardness over this trifling incident.

It was not until he had returned to his own room that the Lieutenant was struck by the strangeness of there being money in the House to pay him—and a good deal to spare—that morning, when there had been none on the previous night. He was quite sure no letter had come, for the military had a practice in those days of carefully noting everything which came through the post-office. Then how did they get the money? This was a more serious question to him, as the commander of the detachment, than it would have been to an ordinary stranger, and again the image of Biddy presented itself, as he recollected her splashed and drenched appearance, her start at seeing him, and the scarcely satisfactory explanation she had volunteered.

The day had cleared up a little, and the sun peeped out now and then; so Westbury left the house and sauntered to and fro on the waste land adjacent, pondering over these things, and thinking a good deal. It must also be owned, his next in command, the sergeant-major, came up. That worthy was on his way to the house with some return or report which it was his duty to make daily; but seeing his officer enjoying a cigar in the open air, had crossed over to him.

"Well, Dickles," said Westbury, "so we have had another useless trip. Our good luck."

"We will catch them yet, sir," returned the sergeant-major. "We pretty well know who to look for now."

"Is there anything fresh, then?" asked Westbury.

"You won't think it altogether fresh, I suppose, sir," returned the other, "because it's not a new thing with the party a question. But O'Flynn and Mullany have both come in, and they say it's certain that a messenger has got through with a large supply of money."

"Of money!" ejaculated the officer. "Rebels or no rebels, they can't get on without that; but the question is: Who took it to them? Well, sir, the answer to that is, old Biddy Quinn. You must know her, sir; she is often at the house. Well, sir, O'Flynn has heard of her being seen by a soldier, and he has been looking for her on the road to Tarely, this was the report previously spoken of, and Mullany saw her nearly as far out upon the bog at ten o'clock."

"Well," said Westbury, "how do they connect this with the money?"

"Easily, sir," replied the sergeant-major. "She met the Frenchman, or whoever he was that brought the money, and who dared not come through the line; and she walked twenty miles this morning through all that rain. She knew where to find the rebels, although we don't; and she did find them, and gave the supplies."

"But the money was in English gold and English silver," said Westbury, half-musingly.

"Very likely, sir," returned Dickles. "It is as easy for them to get that as any other gold, suppose. But have you had any information, sir?"

Westbury laughed off the question, but was fain to turn away to hide the annoyance he felt at having been outwitted by those whom it was his duty to secure.

Dickles lingered after his official business was ended; and the Lieutenant, who knew the man's ways, was certain there was something yet to come; and he was right.

Falling Leaves.
"There is something inexplicably touching in the fallen leaves," sighs the esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balsam Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

A Life Saving Present.
Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

Kram's Fluid Lightning.
Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking of nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

There is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

Advice to Mothers.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, and at once get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Little Things.
Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water uniting form the mighty ocean; and a hundred examples might be cited to prove how important after all are the little things. Now come some small affairs. Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agony to the unhappy possessor. Putnam's Painless Corn Remedy is a little affair yet, by its perfect, speedy and painless action it has saved the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous substitutes offered by some, but see that it is made by Putnam & Co., Kingston. Safe, sure, painless.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.
The symptoms are nocturnal, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blisters, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25, (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

The Agency Over.
Pain banished as if by magic. Folger's Nerve Liner is a reliable and almost instantaneous remedy for Rheumatism, neuralgia, or local pains. The most active remedy hitherto known falls far short of Nerve Liner for potent power in the relief of nerve pain. Good for external use. Put in a 10 cent sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh, large bottles 25 cents.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1893.

Peak Diaries.

Desk diaries for 1894 at the REVIEW stationery store.

Police News.

There was another blank at the Police Court this morning. There were eleven arrests made yesterday under the cow-by-law, and the prisoners were placed in the cattle pounds.

O. Y. B. Picnic.

A large number of the members of the O. Y. B. Lodge of Peterborough went to Port Hope this morning to attend the Young Briton's picnic at that place.

The Midland Telephone Line.

The wires for the Midland District Telephone line are being stretched south from Lindsay. The men engaged at the work are now within about a mile from Peterborough, coming in from Mount Pleasant, the line from Lindsay to Mount Pleasant being completed.

Personal.

The Toronto World contains the following references to two gentlemen who are well known to the travelling public of Peterborough:—

"Mr. James Mackie has bought out the American Hotel from his father and taken a lease of the building for a number of years. The hotel will be thoroughly renovated, and Mr. Mackie hopes to make it one of the best in Canada."

The Mail.

The mail from the east arrived here at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, in place of at noon, having missed connection. If the amount of mail matter arriving in a town is any sign of the amount of business done, Peterborough must be going ahead. Twenty-six well filled mail bags were left off here at noon to-day, besides what comes in on the other trains.

Dinner for Business Men.

The ladies of the George Street Methodist Church will hold a bazaar in the basement of the church on Wednesday afternoon and evening next. They will also, in connection with the bazaar, provide dinner on both Tuesday and Wednesday, which will be convenient for business men and farmers attending the West Riding fair.

Iron Company.

The Toronto Globe contains the following piece of news:—
"The Furnace Falls Iron Company, of Ontario, has been incorporated to carry on the business of exploring for mining, treating, manufacturing and smelting iron ore, particularly on lands in Peterborough and Haliburton, and to carry on lumbering operations in those counties, and to construct and maintain such works in connection therewith as may be necessary."

The Fall Exhibitions.

The annual autumn exhibitions of the Agricultural Societies of the West Riding and of the east Riding of the county of Peterborough open on Tuesday next and continue during Wednesday. The West Riding exhibition will be held at the drill shed, Peterborough, and the East Riding exhibition at the village of Wawane. Both fairs give promise of being successful.

Being Good Service.

A false report is current, started, we believe, by the Globe, and circulated by those who have faith in such a very untrustworthy authority, that Mr. H. H. Smith has returned to Canada. Mr. Smith is still in England, where he has been doing good service by assisting in the arrangements for the extensive emigration which is taking place to this country, and which will be even greater next year.

At Work Again.

We are told that there is no doubt that Peterborough is at present represented in the Algoma campaign. Strange though it may seem, this assertion is true. Mr. Preston has been sent from this town to instruct the Algoma electors to vote for Mr. Mowat. Mr. John Boyd is also said to be there, and we know from that staunch Reform journal, the Port Hope Guide, the opinion adopted by him while electioneering in Muskoka.

Colder, but Frost.

The weather to-day is partly cloudy and cool, with strong winds. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, according to one of our meteorologists, are as follows:—Frost to strong south-westerly winds; fair, warm weather, with local showers, followed at night by north-west to north winds and lower temperature; probably frost on Friday.

LAWN TENNIS.

A Successful Tournament—The Peterborough Lawn Tennis Club held a very successful tournament on their grounds on Wednesday, in which as will be seen by the scores given below, the Peterborough club won. A large number of ladies graced the tournament by their presence. An exceedingly pleasant dance at the Calise House in the evening wound up the proceedings. The following are the scores:—

C. E. T. A.

The Church of England Temperance Society appears to be flourishing. The St. John's Church branch has been firmly established with a good membership, and a meeting will be held on Friday evening in St. Luke's Church to organize a branch for that parish.

A Close Call.

A team of horses attached to a buggy ran out of the Queen's Hotel yard on Tuesday. They broke away from the buggy in coming out of the gate and sped north on Aymer street. At the corner of Hunter street they ran on the sidewalk and knocked down a son of Mr. W. Denoon, who was in great danger of being killed, but escaped with a slight injury on the head. The little boy was between three and four years of age.

The Rifle Matches.

At a meeting of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association on Wednesday night it was decided to hold the annual rifle matches on Thursday and Friday, the 11th and 12th of October. The following committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions:—Lt. Col. J. Z. Rogers, Capt. C. Stapleton, Lieut. E. Sanderson, W. H. Hill, F. Hall and Geo. Fitzgerald. This committee and the council of the Association will make all the necessary arrangements for the matches. It was also decided to have a revolving canvas (Anderson) target put up on the range.

Society Sympathy.

At the regular meeting of Court Peterborough No. 27, C. O. F. Bro. R. Robertson moved seconded by Bro. Geo. Kingston, the following resolution of sympathy and condolence, and it was unanimously adopted:—

"That whereas it has seemed good to the Almighty Father to remove by death from this Court to the High Court of Heaven, one of our most faithful, respected, and useful brothers, in the person of Richard Wright, we hereby put on record our deep sense of the loss this Court has sustained by the removal of one who as a Forester faithfully served up to the obligations of the order, and as an officer, holding the responsible position of Secretary for two years, worked zealously, intelligently, and to the satisfaction of all concerned to promote the interests of this Court and the Order. In this capacity especially his absence will be severely felt. While sorrowing on account of our loss, this Court would not forget one of the first principles of the Order—sympathy with the bereaved and afflicted—and it would hereby respectfully and sincerely tender to the late brother Wright's mother and relatives, its deepest sense of condolence with them in the affliction they have sustained in the death of a dutiful and affectionate son, and a kind and considerate brother, and prays that the Great Comforter will vouchsafe the consolation which His hand alone can give."

"And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Wright, with the assurance that in due course this Court will express its sympathy in a more substantial manner than mere words, however earnest and heartfelt, can do."

Dates of Coming Exhibitions.

The Provincial, at Guelph, Sept. 24 to 29th.
Dominion, at St. John N.B., Oct. 2nd to 5th.
West Peterborough, at Peterborough, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.
East Peterborough, at Wawane, Oct. 2nd and 3rd.
Jinday, at Lindsay, October 3rd, 4th and 5th.
East Durham, at Millbrook, Oct. 4th and 5th.
Township of Otonabee, at Keene, October 12th.
Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, at Norwood, Oct. 9th.
Smith, Ennismore, N. Monaghan and Lakeside, at Lakeside, Oct. 9th and 10th.

Forest Fires.

Several weeks ago we especially urged extra precaution everywhere to prevent forest fires, which, owing to the conditions attendant on the dry and decaying vegetation, were liable to break out on the very least provocation. The advice given at that time was timely and suggestive; and people have exhibited great laxity in precautionary measures, so much so that we see accounts of great destruction in many directions. All over New England vast damage has resulted from forest fires of late. They are the result of the very causes to which we alluded at the time mentioned. The drought has dried up the brooks, and transformed the country there into a veritable tinder box. Many of these New England fires are caused by carelessness on the part of hunters, who leave their unquenched camp fires or carelessly drop their matches with which they light their pipes, and in a very few hours an uncontrollable flame carries destruction with it in every direction, until cities and villages are threatened with complete destruction. The damage from this source already amounts to hundreds and thousands of dollars, and in many directions the people in mass are compelled to desert from their usual vocations to fight the devastating element. The danger in Michigan from the same source is not yet past and will not be until the setting in of the heavy fall rains, and the utmost care, and every precautionary measure is desirable in order that the great danger may be averted, and a repetition of the devastation of 1880 avoided. Every local paper in the Wolverine state should not desert from sounding the alarm until the dry season is at an end.—Lumberman's Gazette.

The Post-Office Savings Bank records indicate that that branch of the Post-Office Department has on hand to the credit of depositors, on the 31st of August, the large sum of $12,244,389. On the 30th June, 1878, the savings of the people as shown by the same records only reached $2,764,484.

If you would escape the ravages of that most terrible summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

W. A. ROGERS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

If you are troubled with a disordered Stomach, Dr. Cassell's Bitters will afford prompt relief. It is the best Family Medicine, far Superior to Pills. All Druggists sell it.

Permanency and durability of color the Triangle Patent Dyes "beat the world." If you never used dye before, do so now and be convinced. No.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

- 1.—By donning a Fall Overcoat.
- 2.—By changing to a Fall Suit.
- 3.—By slipping on Heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants. We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice. Now then, the application:—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If our assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and prices—well.

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so neat attire. Time, temper and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders. Hear it, then, and—contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The same of comfort. The best of satisfaction. The pick of all goods, and—none better elsewhere.

Compare our assortment—in the above measure—with what others have to offer—an easy thing to do—and then let the result of your comparison be the measure of your confidence in our statements.

Coiled Springs
CORSETS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to the wearer in every way, or the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought.

The only Corset pronounced by our leading physicians as inflexible to the wearer, and conforming to the latest and most comfortable and perfect fitting Corset ever made.

RECEIVED
FIRST PRIZE
At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, have-to-be-broken-in corsets of the present day. It is one of the strongest, closest fitting corsets made, yet perfectly comfortable as all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1883.

Railway Notes.

There were eight locomotives at the Midland station at one time on Thursday afternoon.

The two shore abutments for the Ontario and Quebec bridge across the Otonabee are completed and a third abutment is nearly finished. For the fourth the dam has been built and the loose dirt in the river is being removed to form a proper foundation. The spiles have been driven for the two piers in the centre of the river. Two temporary tracks have been built, one to carry the filling material out in the river, and the other to carry the large stones out to the abutments. The stones are raised on the shore by a stamp machine and placed on a car, on which they are run out to the abutment, and there are raised and placed in position by a derrick, which is worked by a horse on the shore, a wire stretched across the surface of the water connecting the horse power and derrick.

The Kingston Whig of Sept. 28th says that Mr. W. B. Mills, of Arden, reports that work on the Ontario and Quebec Railway is progressing rapidly. The construction train is expected in Arden in a few weeks. The rails are now laid to within six miles of the village from the east, and in its vicinity there are about 200 men at work. There are several sink holes on the line that seems almost unfathomable. The quantity of material that has been already placed in them is enormous. Most of these sink holes fringe a shelving rock and a good foundation cannot be secured. As soon as the hole is filled up the gravel, brush, timber, etc., slip off, leaving a depression. It is expected that the line from Sharbot Lake to Peterborough will be open in a few months.

The Norwood Register says that the work on Messrs. Munford & McMahon's, McDonald's, and Lewis' contracts on the Ontario and Quebec railway have been completed and these portions of the road are now ready for the iron. Track-laying is proceeding rapidly, from Crow river west, and it is expected that Norwood will be reached by the latter end of October. Messrs. McDermid & Hendrie, whose contract lies west of Mr. McDonald's, and is not yet completed, are putting on a large additional force of men and teams in order to finish the work as soon as possible.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.
STRIKE TERMINATED.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The strike of the weavers at Ashton-under-Lyne is settled. It is expected work will be resumed to-day.

ARMOUR-PLATING FOR RUSSIA.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—An agent of the Russian Government has contracted with an English firm for the shipment to Russia of armour plate, to be used in the construction of war vessels, to the value of twelve million roubles.

ILL-FEELING AGAINST ROYALTY.
PARIS, Sept. 27.—In consequence of the ill-feeling exhibited here at the acceptance by King Alfonso of the colonelcy of a Uhlan regiment, which was conferred upon him by the Emperor of Germany, it has been decided to abandon the grand military fetes which were to have been given in his honour.

THE QUEEN OF SERBIA'S DEBTS.
BELGRADE, Sept. 27.—The estates of the Queen of Serbia are in the market, and will be sold to liquidate her debts, which are said to aggregate one million roubles.

INSURGENT CHIEF MURDERED.
PARIS, Sept. 27.—The Algerian insurgent chief, Si Salem has been killed at a feast to which he was invited by two other chieftains.

A STEAMSHIP STRANDED.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—At noon to-day the steamer Rotterdam was stranded on a sandbank at Benjaard on the Zealand coast. There is little hope of saving her. Her passengers were taken off.

RUMOUR SHOOTING OF PARNELL.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—There is a rumour here to-night that Mr. Parnell has been shot. The report is possibly due to the mobbing of Messrs. Healy and O'Connor Power at Dungannon, but it is not yet authenticated. On inquiry being made as to its correctness, it was found that a supposed Parnellite was fired into at Dungannon, but the occupant was not hurt. This probably explains the rumour. The Chronicle has issued a postscript stating there is great excitement in Dublin owing to the rumour that the Orangemen have shot Mr. Parnell. There appears to be some truth in the report. It is certain Mr. Parnell is wounded. It is stated the bullet went through his body. Another account says the affair was accidental. No further details have been received.

BRADLAUGH AND SIR S. NORTHCOTE.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Bradlaugh has addressed a letter to Sir Stafford Northcote, declaring that he will again demand a seat in the Commons on the re-assembling of Parliament. He charges Sir Stafford Northcote with causing all the mischief that has grown out of the continued violation of Bradlaugh's rights.

MCDERMOTT FEARS MURDER.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—It is stated that James McDermott, recently ordered to be discharged, refuses to quit prison unless police protection be afforded him. He fears he will be murdered.

TESTIMONY FOR O'DONNELL.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—A trusty messenger from Cape Town has brought Mr. Sullivan, M. P., chief counsel for O'Donnell, a number of documents of great importance to the defence. Among these papers are affidavits of several reputable residents of Cape Town, to the effect that Carey, while there, was drunk and disorderly, and very quarrelsome. There are also included in the documents statements made upon oath, tending to show that the shooting was unpremeditated and the result of a quarrel provoked by Carey. O'Donnell complains bitterly of his treatment at the hands of officials since his arrival here, and accuses them of hampering the defence in every possible way.

FRENCH PROPOSALS REJECTED.
PARIS, Sept. 27.—It is reported that several of the proposals of France have been rejected by China. Two thousand French troops sailed from Algiers for Tonquin to-day.

THE BLACK FLAGS RETREATING.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—The black flags have abandoned Sunday, Phung, Luigne, and Day, and retreated to the left bank of the Red river. Several mandarins have given in their submission to the French. The French forces will undertake no offensive operations until after the arrival of reinforcements.

FEARS OF A DYNAMITER.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—James McDermott, the alleged dynamiter who was ordered to be discharged for lack of evidence, fears he will be murdered, and refuses to leave prison unless police protection is provided for him.

Brown v. Nelson.
Mr. Gordon Brown has entered a suit against Mr. Thomas Nelson of Edinburgh, Scotland, to be relieved of a claim against him (Mr. Brown), for $38,000, the price of a certain stock in the Globe Printing Company of the same nominal value, which he (Mr. B.) had bought from the estate of the late Hon. George Brown; and he further sues for the return to him (Mr. B.) of $23,000 of Globe stock, his own property, which he had pledged as security for a loan of $38,000, negotiated through the bank of Montreal, with which loan the $38,000 Globe stock already referred to was purchased. The grounds on which Mr. Brown claims relief are that he was managing director of the Globe, and that there was an arrangement that he should continue in such office for an indefinite period and pay for the stock out of his salary, and that his dismissal without cause was contrary to that arrangement and deprived him of the means to pay for the stock and the interest, and therefore he ought to be released. The case will go to a jury, but will not likely be heard until January next. Mr. Oler has charge of Mr. Brown's case.—World.

Kram's Fluid, Lightning.
Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Bubbling a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No tedious nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

A Life Saving Preset.
Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which cured him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

BELLEVILLE.

A DYNAMITE ACCIDENT.—A boy named Ledore, living near Clinton, was fooling with a dynamite cap on Monday, when it exploded, blowing off one of his fingers, tearing the flesh of another, and severely injuring the hand.

BODY FOUND IN THE WOODS.—The remains of a man, supposed to be John Hughes, of Montreal, were found in the woods near Thwaites, in the township of Tudor, on Saturday last. The deceased had been employed until about three weeks ago as a labourer on the Ontario Central railway, and having got on a spree wandered away. His coat and a bottle of liquor were found a short distance from him. The body was very much decomposed.

KINGSTON.
ALLEGED MALPRACTICE.—Two cases of alleged malpractice will come up at the Kingston Assizes. One is Miller v. Dr. Saunders, and the other is Keating v. Dr. Fralick, of Gananoque. The former is in connection with a dislocation of the hip, and the latter with a fracture of the thigh bone. Both physicians are desirous that their cases should come to trial.

RESULTS OF THE FLOODING INCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon a teacher called a boy up to get punished, when the lad refused to do so, saying, "There is no whipping in the schools now." This is the result of the recent sensation. Very near all the parents spoken to are in favor of corporal punishment in the schools.

The Quebec Premier Elected.
MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Premier Mc-Donnell is elected by 111 majority over Desorriais, the "Castor" candidate.

Killed by a Tub of Mortar.
MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Isidore Bevelier, a laborer, was killed to-day by a tub which had been filled with mortar falling down three stories from a new building and striking him on the head.

Town Hall Blown Down.
DUBLIN, Sept. 26.—A severe storm passed over Limerick to-day. The town hall was blown down and one of the bridges over the Shannon injured. A number of houses were destroyed in contiguous districts. The gale was very severe in several parts of Ireland, and greatly damaged crops, plantations, and houses. No persons were injured.

The Supposed Murdered Man Alive.
KINGSTON, Sept. 26.—Information has come from Sharbot Lake that Harris, who was reported murdered at Chaumont by two deserters from "B" Battery, is now working on the Ottawa and Quebec railway, and is in good health. He had little idea that his sudden removal from the camp near Chaumont had caused such a great commotion.

The British Association.
LONDON, Sept. 25.—The following is the full list of the Vice-Presidents of the British Association for the advancement of science:—Lord Lorne, Lord Lansdowne, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Alexander Gait, Sir Narcisse Belisleau, Hon. Sir Antoine Aime Dorion, Principal Dawson, Prof. Kingston, late of the Toronto Meteorological Observatory; Prof. Sterry Hunt, Prof. Thomas Huxley; Mr. C. W. Siemens, D.C.L., F.R.S., the eminent inventor; Prof. E. Frankland, D.C.L., Ph.D., F.R.S.; and the Hon. Dr. Lyon Playfair. The meeting of the General Committee was unanimous and enthusiastic about the visit to Montreal.

FROM ALL OVER.
EXTRA measures for preserving public safety in Russia have been prolonged for a year throughout the principal provinces.

A hail storm swept over the Ohio Valley on September 22nd, from Carrollton, Kentucky, to Lawrenceburg, Ind., covering the ground from two to four inches with hail, ruining the crops.

The Shah of Persia is making overtures to the Amerco of Afghanistan for the purchase of Herat, to which, he claims, England would willingly consent.

Forty cotton and woollen mills will send exhibits to the Dominion Exhibition in St. John, N.B. Last exhibition the products of but four mills were shown.

The repeal of the Timber Culture Act and the pre-emption laws will probably be recommended by the United States Secretary of the Interior, in consequence of fraudulent land entries.

The Winnipeg field battery will be sent to Rat Portage on the requisition of four magistrates, it being considered likely that Mr. Mowat's missionaries will give trouble during the election for Algoma unites controlled by a superior force.

There was much satisfaction expressed, says the Montreal Star, at the seasonable hour at which the speeches at the Centennial dinner came to an end. All who attended were home by midnight, quite late enough for decent people, but earlier than usual on similar occasions. The superlatives which put every imaginable interest on the lists of toasts, and has two or more responses to each toast, is passing away.

Little Things.
Seem to constitute the very essence of life. The little drops of water uniting form the mighty ocean, and a hundred examples might be cited to prove how important after all are the little things. Now comes a small affair. Little sympathy is expected, though they should be a source of agony to the unhappy possessor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a small affair yet by its perfect, speedy, and painless action it has gained the good will and kind words of thousands who have used it. Don't take the dangerous substitutes offered by some, but see that it is made by Putnam & Co., Kingston, N.Y., safe, sure, painless.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.
The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-norms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1883.

All the charges of corruption against Major Gray, the Conservative member for West York, have been either refuted or withdrawn. The only question that remains is whether certain votes added to the roll by the County Judge are invalid through the absence of some formality.

The anti-national journals are crowing because under the National Policy the Canadian cotton mills are going to work short time for a brief period, till the increasing demand overtakes the supply, which is now found to be in excess. These critics omit to mention that there is a similar state of affairs in free trade England.

BECAUSE Mr. Landry, a Conservative and a French Canadian, has been elected for Kent, N.B., the Ontario Reform press is, by its attacks, showing its invincible antipathy to our fellow-countrymen of French extraction. Having no hopes of success through their own merits, they are also representing the contest as a trial of strength between Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Leonard Tilley, and are gloating over their supposition of a rivalry in the Macdonald cabinet that may lead to its disruption. They must seek consolation somewhere.

The Belleville Intelligencer puts the following questions:—

"What's the matter? Mr. Mowat has not, for two weeks, made any additions to his army of Division Court Clerks and Bailiffs. Are all the stipendiaries filled? It cannot be that all the hungry Grits have been provided with offices."
 "If all the stipendiaries are not filled, for the various applicants who were led to believe that they would be appointed if they and their friends worked hard for supporters of Mr. Mowat are still waiting to see which of them is to be rewarded with the Registrarship of the county of Peterborough, and which of them have been deluded with false hopes."

A FOUL INSULT.

AND now we have the Ottawa Free Press describing the Province of Quebec as a "hateful corpse," that its Siamese twin, Ontario, must throw off, even if it has "to risk a surgical operation." We await the remarks of the critical Globe upon this filthy insult to a whole nationality, this abuse of a Province of Canada, this incitement to a violent disruption of the Dominion. But probably as Quebec is Conservative, and the Free Press is at present "Reform," the Globe will admire in silence.

MR. MOUSSEAU ELECTED.

The Jacques Cartier election has resulted in the return of the Conservative Premier of Quebec. At New Brunswick, the Reformers dared not run a candidate of their own, and the only result of their support of the discontented Conservative who ran against the Premier was to secure his defeat. The cupboard trick by which Mr. LeFramme, the Minister of Justice of Mr. Mackenzie, was elected by means of substituted ballots, was apparently not adopted this time, and the voice of the people being left free to express itself, was in favor of a Conservative Administration. Reform prophets are having a bad time.

THE ALGOMA CAMPAIGN.

Flocking to Help Their Friends—Canvassing at Our Feet.

MIDLAND, Sept. 26.—Messrs. Jaffray, Edgar, Forbes, Oldright, and about half a dozen others arrived here to-day en route to Algoma. Owing to rough weather they have been unable to leave yet, but will move on at the earliest moment. Two prominent Grits, one an Ontario official, and the other a lately subsidized contractor, were over from Penetang, to welcome them. The Nellie Cathbert takes the party, who ostensibly are on a visit to inspect the mills at Colpoys bay.

RAT PORTAGE, Sept. 26.—Stipendiary Magistrate Lyon has been trying, and is still working hard to hire a boat to go up to Fort Frances in the presence of his brother. Boat owners will not have anything to do with him so far, although he has offered $15 per hour for the trip. No doubt the Mowat Government will have to foot this in his accounts as an item for special necessities required, if Mr. Lyon should have success in his attempt to procure a boat. A majority will be polled for both Mr. Plummer and Mr. Miller.—Mow.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—It has just been announced here that the Winnipeg Field Battery has been ordered out for service at Rat Portage on election day, for both Algoma and Varennes. The detachment leaves on Thursday morning. They expect to return on Saturday. The troops will be in charge of Lieut. Colonel Kennedy. The requisition for the troops was made by three magistrates at Rat Portage, who anticipate a riot on polling day.—Globe.

Inconsistent and Illogical.

The Globe deems it an insult to the electors of Algoma that men whom it charges with having committed bribery in the Muskoka election are now found aiding the candidature of Mr. Plummer. We cannot discover either logic or consistency in this attitude of the Globe, for we remember that on many occasions that journal frankly called upon its friends in various localities to rally to the support of Messrs. H. H. Cook, M. C. Cameron, John Walker, Patrick Hughes and other Grit luminaries who were convicted before the courts of having expended thousands of dollars for the purpose of debauching the electorate.—Montreal Gazette.

Arrival of Immigrants.

About fifty immigrants, ex steamship Dorset, arrived at Toronto early on Wednesday morning, and were forwarded to their destinations in Western Ontario during the afternoon. The new arrivals are principally English and Scotch.

HURRICANE IN THE BAHAMAS.

Great Loss of Life and Property—Over a Hundred Vessels Lost.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The steamship City of Alexandria arrived to-day with particulars of a hurricane at Nassau on the 8th inst. All the wharf property of the city was destroyed, including the sponge exchange and market. One hundred frame buildings were blown down, and over a hundred vessels were lost in the harbour off Nassau, and many more at neighbouring islands. About seventy lives were lost. Among the schooners wrecked were the schooner Elia Trak, of Bangor, Maine, the Mary Jane and Elizabeth, of Baltimore. The mail boat, Carleton, from Nassau for Maguay, was wrecked, and twelve passengers drowned. Among the passengers lost were Rev. J. S. Higgs and wife, and the San Salvador Judge Anderson with his wife and daughter. Those lost were swept off the decks while the vessel was foundering, or drowned by the swamping of the boats. Two boats reached shore safely. The steamer had a valuable cargo.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OBITUARY.—An old resident, Mr. Alex. Stewart, has departed this life, aged 88. He had lived over forty years in the township, and was much respected. He leaves several of a family, who are all well provided for.

PANAMA.—Our miller, Mr. James Dickson, I regret to say, is in a very bad state of health.

EXCURSION.—The Keene band will have an excursion to Hastings, in aid of their funds, on Saturday, the 29th of Sept., and have made arrangements for dinner at Smith's hotel for all who wish it at 25 cts. per head.

R. C. CHURCH.—The Roman Catholic portion of the community are bricking their church and making many other desirable improvements.

Sold Bribery.

The Rat Portage Argus, the organ of the Ontario Government, talks money to the Algoma people in an extremely plain manner. For example:—

"The building of the road connecting Fort Frances and the Sault has already been authorized, and the work will be at once proceeded with. Immigration will undoubtedly be directed towards the Rainy River region in the spring, townships will soon be created, counties formed, school sections established and all the necessary paraphernalia of municipal government introduced. These benefits may be hastened or retarded by the vote of the 28th. We have too much faith in the practical common sense of the settlers to doubt for one moment the course they will take."

Nothing could be plainer than this—return Mr. Lyon and Mr. Mowat will spend money in Algoma; reject him and the settlers will get nothing. If a candidate were to promise a whole district to spend money in it on condition of his election, the Courts would undoubtedly disqualify him. Is there no check upon the electioneering operations of a Government?—Winnipeg Times.

Old Country Mails.

The Toronto Telegram says: "The carrying of the mails between Canada and England should not be confined to one Canadian steamer a week and one American. Sending letters by New York is a very roundabout way of doing business. There should be two or three direct mails between England and Canada every week instead of only one. The postmaster-general of the United States is not only advocating a daily mail service between London and New York, but a reduction of the fees for money orders and registration, the extension of the facilities for the parcel post, and the reduction of the postage between the two countries to one penny per half ounce."

Too Cold.

Ninety Italian navies arrived at Toronto from Buffalo on Tuesday night for the purpose of proceeding to Algoma Mills to work on the Canada Pacific Railway. They were left on the Chelona all night, but in the morning they refused to go any further north because of the cold they had suffered during the night, and returned to Buffalo. A party of Italians who are engaged to arrive to-morrow will be immediately placed in warm care and sent on to the railway works.

Common School Education.

To teach Greek and Latin in the common schools is a misuse of the public funds. The few persons whose children need instruction in those languages should pay for it from their own private pockets. It is equally true that abominable bookbinding workmanship or type-setting cannot be taught in common schools without gross injustice to taxpayers who have no wish to train their children for those trades. The education of the common schools must be general, not special.—New York Times.

Papal Investigation.

A papal ambassador is now on his way from Rome for Montreal to make a satisfactory settlement of the difficulties between Laval and Victoria Universities. It is said that he will also enquire into the rapid spread of Freemasonry among adherents of the Catholic faith.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Sept. 22nd, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $13,302.08; freight, $16,270.31;
total, $29,572.39, as compared with $26,302.24 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $3,270.15, and the aggregate traffic to date is $767,194.58, being an increase of $22,- 293.77 over 1882.

Jack Frost will Bite.

Rain fell lightly yesterday afternoon and last night. To-day has been cloudy and cool with strong winds. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh west to north winds; fair, decidedly cooler weather; probably sharp frost at night.

Old and Successful Exhibitors.

At the Toronto Industrial Exhibition held last week we observe that in Messrs. Brown Brothers' stand in the main building were two books bound in full calf and morocco, by Mr.
Thos. Brown, and exhibited at the first exhibition ever held in Toronto, in 1846. These books, which are a Shakespeare and "Burnet on the 39 Articles," obtained first prize at the exhibition 37 years ago, and Messrs. Brown Bros. have obtained a prize at every exhibition held in Toronto since then.

Personal.

The Grand Forks (Dakota) Daily News has
the following paragraph concerning Mr. I. H.
Brook, who will be remembered as having edited the Peterborough Examiner:—

"Mr. I. H. Brook, who has for a short time past been very acceptably filling a position in the literary department of the Daily News, has severed his connection with us to accept the more responsible post of managing editor of the Morning Herald. Mr. Brook is a skillful and experienced journalist, and while we are sorry to part with him from the News' staff, we are not sorry that his advancement to a more important position in the profession will not deprive Grand Forks readers of the products of his facile pen."

Mr. A. G. Scott, of the Stirling House, Stirling, and Mr. H. J. Beemer, Montreal, are among those registered at the Oriental Hotel.

Several members of the Campbellford Cricket Club are at the Calise House.

Peterborough Canoes.

In the echoes from Stony Lake in the American Canoeist the following paragraph occurs:—

"Of course everybody who saw them for the first time were delighted with the Peterborough canoes, which are so perfectly adapted to the uses for which they are intended, but but one improvement in their construction can be suggested. It is, that they be provided with small watertight compartments at each end, the need of which was strikingly illustrated in the upset race for open canoes, which was, after great effort, so closely won by Weller, of the Peterborough Club."

In reference to the above, we may say that the idea contained in the Canoeist's suggestion has been adopted to a certain extent. The Ontario Canoe Company make air-tight canvas compartments on a wooden frame, which fits into the bow and stern of the boats. Mr. Wm. Engleish, also, for those who desire it, makes air-tight compartments of zinc.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Meeting in St. Paul's Church—Satisfactory Reports Received.

The Rev. Wm. Bennett, Clerk of the Presbytery of Peterborough, has favoured us with a summary of the proceedings of the meeting of the Presbytery which was held in St. Paul's Church this week. The Presbytery met on the 25th of September. There were twenty ministers and thirteen elders present. The Rev. C.
H. Cooke was chosen Moderator for the next six months. Mr. Tully, of Mitchell, being present, was invited to sit as a corresponding member. Very interesting reports were received from delegates who had been appointed to visit the mission fields within the bounds of the Presbytery. Those reports were all handed to the Home Mission Committee for consideration.

The report of the Committee appointed at the last meeting to visit Ballyduff showed that provision had been made for removing all the illabilities due by that station. Liberty was given to moderate in a call at Cartwright and Bally-duff as soon as promises made by the latter congregation shall have been fulfilled.

A number of session records were examined and ordered to be attested.

The claim of Mr. Meikle for services in the mission field was ordered to be paid.

On motion of Mr. Carmichael, of Norwood, a committee was appointed to consider the best means of bringing the subject of "augmentation of minister's stipends before the notice of all our congregations."

Very satisfactory, and in most cases very full reports were given by the Committees appointed to hold Presbyterial meetings in all the congregations. There was not a single report wanting. The reports showed that every pastoral charge within the bounds of the Presbytery, with only two exceptions, had been visited, and that much good would be likely to ensue.

The Home Mission report was read by Mr.
Cameron, and its recommendations adopted. The report was ordered to be engrossed in the Presbytery records.

The next meeting of the Presbytery was appointed to be held in Port Hope on the third Tuesday in January, 1884, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the Mill Street Church.

THANKSGIVING.

The Annual Services in St. Luke's Church—Tasteful Decorations.

The annual services were held in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Thursday to render thanks to God for the bountiful harvest and His manifold blessings. The church was very tastefully decorated with fruit, flowers, vegetables and grain. In the rear of the chancel there were two mottoes, "The Harvest is the Judgment," and "The Reapers are the Angels." On the communion table there were bunches of grapes and wheat, and the decorations of wreath and bouquets of flowers, autumn leaves, fruit and sheaves of grain in the chancel had a beautiful effect. In front of the pulpit there was a small pyramid of flowers very tastefully arranged, and a large wreath in front of the chancel. The windows were also decorated with vegetables, fruit, flowers and grain, and throughout the church the work of ornamentation was most complete. The materials, the first fruits of harvest, were offerings by members of the congregation, and the committee executed their work with judgment and taste, the flowers, &c., having been arranged with great symmetry. This church has always been handsomely decorated for this service, but never more so than on this occasion.

At 8 o'clock in the morning the Holy Communion was celebrated, at which service there were a fair number of communicants in attendance.

In the evening the attendance was good, considering the inclemency of the weather. The special form of service for this occasion was used.
The special lessons were the 16th chapter of Deuteronomy to the 12th verse, and the 9th chapter of 2nd Corinthians. The Psalms were the 145th and 147th. The Rev. Dr. Armstrong, of the Huron Diocese, having been unable to attend, his duties devolved on the Rev. W. C.
Bradshaw, who preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon from Amos ix, 13:—"Behold, the days come, said the Lord, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seed." The musical part of the services, by a volunteer choir, was especially good. The opening anthem was "Thou Crownest the Year with Thy Goodness," and the choir also sang, at the proper time in the service, "O Lord! How Manifold are Thy Works." The hymns used were the 362nd and 365th. The offertory, which was for the church funds, was liberal, considering the attendance.

G. W. B. Picnic.

The Young Britons of Port Hope held a picnic in that town on Thursday. They formed in procession and marched through the streets.
The Lindsay and Port Hope brass bands were in the procession. Afterwards a programme of sports and games were carried out. The attendance was not quite as large as had been expected, but it was very good, and the weather was favorable during the greater part of the day.
There was quite a number present from Peterborough.

The Junior Lacrosse Clubs.

The Clippers expected the Cretes to play a match with them this morning for the Junior Championship, but owing to some misunderstanding the Cretes did not play. Hereafter any of the junior clubs who wish to play a match with another for the cup should send a challenge at least two weeks before the day on which they wish to play. Then an answer can be received and the time mutually ascertained.
They should also have their referee chosen before the day, and then any club failing to appear or to play may be declared the loser by the referee.

"Why, Angelina, where did you get those beautiful rich colors on your bonnet? 'Ain't they lovely?" I told them with the Triangle Package Dye." Lbc.

Accident.

On Thursday, while taking stoves into the Giant T, Mr. Archie Moffatt received an injury by a stove falling on his foot. It was a severe bruise, but he is about again to-day, though he does not move with his customary agility.

Cricket Match.

A cricket match is being played to-day on the Ashburnham grounds between Peterborough and Campbellford clubs. The Peterborough club was two runs ahead in the first innings, the score being 104 to 102. The match was not completed when we went to press, but a draw appeared likely, as the Campbellford club were to leave on the afternoon Grand Junction train.

The North-West is now agitating for representation in the House of Commons. In the United States the territories are each entitled to send to Congress a delegate who may have a seat in the House with the right of debating but no voting. If a similar policy prevailed here Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Assiniboia would each send a member to Ottawa.

DAILY EVENING REVIEW.

VOL. X.—No. 76.

PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1883.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to its wearer in every way, or the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought.

The only Corset pronounced by our leading physicians as being the most comfortable and perfect fitting Corset ever made.

RECEIVED
FIRST PRIZE
At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, have-to-be-broken-before-worn affairs of the present day. It is one of the most perfect, closest fitting corsets made, yet perfectly comfortable at all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

Prof. Hotchkiss' treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person. That a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed inguinal and umbilical hernia as well as Varicose, at the advanced age respectively of from 55 to 95 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DESIRES the Herald be cannot hold its place.

Cricket Match.
A cricket match was played on the Ashburnham ground on Friday afternoon between the Peterborough and Campbellford clubs. Peterborough was six ahead in the first innings, but there was not time to finish the match and it resulted in a draw. It will be noticed by the names in the score that several of the best players of the home team were absent. Rutherford made the highest score, 44, in the first innings, and Stratton made 12. In the second innings M. Giroux made the good score of 37, and Cooper made a double with 12. For Campbellford Farrar scored 36 and Tait 18. The weather was rather cool for good fielding. The following are the scores:—

HERFORD'S Acid Phosphate
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word HERFORD'S is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

It is reported that the 4000 sovereigns stolen recently from the Munster Bank in Dublin have been found in the canal. The money disappeared from the safe, and one of the officials was prosecuted for the theft, but was acquitted. The four finders after dividing the money separated. One took to himself a wife, and left for Australia; another followed in his wake, and a third has sailed from America. The fourth, a labouring man, remains in Dublin.

Junior Lacrosse.

The Maple Leafs of Peterborough, and the Ashburnham club, juniors, played a lacrosse match this forenoon. The boys played well, the first match lasting forty-five minutes, but the Ashburnham players had the advantage of the Maple Leafs size, and won the match by three straight games.

The School Readers.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, Public School Inspector for the County, and Mr. Jas. Stratton, Inspector of the town schools, held a consultation this morning in reference to the new school readers. They examined both the rival series, and discussed together the merits and demerits of both, but did not decide to recommend either series to be adopted in the schools of the town and county.

Complimentary.

The Bobcaygeon Independent has the following kindly remarks on the tone of the REVIEW:—
"The Peterborough Review very properly reproves some of its Conservative contemporaries for attacking the Mowat Government on the appointment of Mr. Phillips as secretary for forest preservation. It commends the action taken by Mr. Mowat in this matter. Some time ago the Review had a tilt with its big brother the Mail, on a similar issue, and the big one was very much worried. The tone of the Review is creditable to the Canadian press, and it would be well for the Province if the big Toronto dailies were conducted on the same lines."

Pencil Points.

—Cold weather.
—Empty police cells last night.
—A blank at the Police Court this morning.
—There was quite a large number in town to-day.

—"I'm almost frozen." How often did you hear that remark to-day?

—Campbellford has a poet who writes for Grip and calls himself McTuff. His poetry is tender, however, and very good.

—The annual meeting of the Curling Club will be held in the Caisse House parlor on Thursday evening next.

—Read the poem in another column on the return from camp, written by the Lieutenant of the Norwood Company.

—The Rev. G. C. Workman will preach in the Charlotte Street Church to-morrow morning and in the George Street Church in the evening.

—The funeral sermon of the late R. C. Wright a member of Court Peterborough, C. O. F., will be preached in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church to-morrow evening, by the Rev. T. Manning, B. A.

—The Lindsay Post says that Mr. David Porter, the Ballydoon man who drew the $15,000 prize in the London lottery, has bought the Findley Gillespie property on the Sydenham road, in the Gore of Camden.

Turnbull's Millinery and Mantle Showrooms will be opened on Tuesday and Wednesday, 2nd and 3rd October.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

FRANCO-CHINESE NEGOTIATIONS.
PARIS, Sept. 28.—Henceforth the negotiations between China and France will be conducted by M. Tryon, the French Minister at Peking. The Annamite Government has ordered the military mandarin to disband all troops who have not given in their adhesion to the French.

FRANCE AND MR. SHAW.
PARIS, Sept. 28.—France will not allow Missionary Shaw's claim for compensation, nor will she admit England's right to interfere with the action of the French in Madagascar.

THE CAMPAIGN IN IRELAND.
DUBLIN, Sept. 28.—The Parliamentary campaign in the north of Ireland is becoming daily more exciting. The extremely high state of party feeling has already led to bloodshed in several instances, and from present indications the province of Ulster promises scenes of the liveliest character. Frantic appeals have been made to Orangemen, inciting them to attack the Catholics, and threats have been freely uttered that Belfast rioters will be brought to support the cause of law and order with blood-guns. But the National leaders refuse to be terrorized.

AN IRISH LANDLORD SHOT.
BALLINAGH, Mayo, Sept. 28.—Crotty, a landlord, was shot dead this morning at his residence in Kinnurys park. He had been wounded several times previously.

OBSTACLES TO SALVATIONISTS.
PARIS, Sept. 28.—The Minister of the Interior telegraphed an order to the Prefect of Savoy prohibiting the holding of meetings by the Salvation Army, and ordering the expulsion of the members from the department if they disobeyed.

MR. PARNELL IN ENGLAND.
DUBLIN, Sept. 28.—The report that Mr. Parnell was shot is false. Mr. Parnell is in England.

MR. SHAW IN ENGLAND.
LONDON, Sept. 28.—A meeting was held in Exeter Hall last night under the auspices of the London Missionary Society to welcome home Rev. Mr. Shaw, the British missionary who has just returned from Madagascar. Mr. Shaw, in his address described the ill treatment he had sustained at the hands of the French officials at Tamatave amid frequent cries of "shame" from the audience. He denied that he had been sent for by Earl Granville; he also denied that he had claimed compensation for losses he had suffered, and said he would leave that to the honor of France.

THE MURDER OF CAREY.
LONDON, Sept. 28.—O'Donnell's examination was resumed to-day. The prisoner was brought to the court under a strong guard. The courtroom was crowded. Mrs. Carey, Carey's son, the boatman, and others having been examined, the magistrate asked O'Donnell if he had anything to say in answer to the charge of murdering Carey. O'Donnell replied, "Not at present." The prisoner was the committed for trial at the next session of the Central Criminal Court.

IRELAND.
A vigorous effort is being made to establish a temperance brass band in Tralee.

OPERATIONS have been begun in Great Brunswick street, Dublin, for the erection of a new theatre. The building, which is to accommodate 3000 people, will cost £18,000.

THE foot-and-mouth disease is said to be one of the darkest clouds of the season in Ireland, and unfortunately there is as yet little prospect of its disappearance.

EARL Spencer, Lord Lieutenant, is a first-rate cricketer as well as a huntsman, and recently played in a cricket match in Dublin. He was one of the Harrow school eleven in his time.

At Cork, on Sept. 10th, a man and woman who had been in the habit of half-starving their daughter, 12 years of age, and binding a heavy chain on one of her legs, were sent to prison for six months each—with hard labour thrown in to give spice to the other thing.

An attempt was made to hold an Irish National Land League meeting on Sunday last in Milltown-Malahy, County Clare, notwithstanding a proclamation prohibiting such meeting, but a large force of police prevented the meeting being organized. A great crowd had collected.

Mr. John Byrne, Collector-General of Rates in Dublin, has been removed from his office by warrant of the Lord Lieutenant. His Excellency did not arrive at this conclusion without the gravest consideration of the case which had reference to the autographing of receipts by Mr. Byrne to enable some of his tenants to avail themselves of the Arrears Act. The matter was the subject of several questions in the House of Commons by Mr. Healy, M. P.

The public are cordially invited to call and inspect Turnbull's Mammoth Display of Fashionable Millinery on Tuesday and Wednesday, 2nd and 3rd October.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Kram's Fluid Lightning.
Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Kram's Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

A Life Saving Present.
Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

"LEAVEN have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

Written for the Review.

"QUIS SEPARABIT."

Our annual drill is over,
At home once more we are,
And sorry is each lover
Of the noble art of war.
In beds once more we're sleeping,
We don't get up at dawn,
And Cobourg girls are weeping
Because the boys are gone.
No more are day is breaking
The thundering morning gun,
The whole encampment shaking,
Will tell our work's begun.
No more will bugles ring,
The "ration bugle" blow,
No more "fatigue men" busy
Will vex old veteran Joe.
We'll hear no sergeant-major
For "guards" and "pickets" about,
We'll see no shamming "stager"
The doctor's tent about.
Nor hear at midnight dreary,
"Reliefs" tramp to and fro,
Nor see the sentry weary Performing "sentry go."

The stirring martial ditty
Which filled the evening air;
The joke from soldier witty
Which drove away all care;
The tales of veterans hoary,
Which caused our hearts to swell;
The quartermaster's story;
To all of these, farewell!

We had the joy of meeting
The children of our Queen;
Eight glorious was the greeting
The party got, I ween.
When "colours" waving o'er us
Were shaken with the cheer
That rang in hearty chorus
From loyal volunteers.

And where "inspection" found us,
Our rattling well drilled corps,
From regiments around us
The palm of victory bore;
When Luard, ever ready
To note each error made,
Pronounced the "Rangers" steady,
The best in the brigade.

And it "aid battle's dangers
Our swords we o'er must wield,
We then will see the Rangers"
The foremost in the field.
We'll see where bullets whistle
And thickest are the foes,
The flag that bears the Thistle
The Shamrock and the Rose.

Then make our fame eternal;
Then let us all join hand,
And add our gallant Colonel
And others in command,
To keep that place for strangers
We've proudly held for years,
And make our gallant "Rangers"
The pride of volunteers.

A SHADOWY STORY.

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '68.

Miss Decroy turned pale as death; as did her sister, who sank into a seat apparently overcome by the shock; but Madame Decroy said in her firmest, yet sternest tones: "Search, sir! I ask no immunity for my house. I wait the day when it shall be given to the flames, as have been so many houses in which their owners dared to find shelter. Your chiefs have been patient longer than I expected."

Kate turned her pale face and scared eyes appealingly to her mother, as if to remind her how unwise it was to irritate a soldier; but the look was unheeded. Merely bowing to Madame Decroy's remarks, Westbury addressed himself to the sisters, and hurriedly explained what he proposed to do. On the information he had received, he was compelled to search the House; he had no alternative; but he wished to do so with as little inconvenience as possible.

The House was broad and deep; it stood upon a large square of ground; but it was not lofty, nor had it many apartments above. Nor were there any underground kitchens or cellars. Westbury said he would go up with no one but the sergeant to examine the rooms, and that upon their return his men should go into the rooms and offices beyond the hall. No ascent was given, but no objection was made to this plan, which was forthwith carried out. The two ladies remained seated at ease "at the door" as the front of the House was efficiently guarded; and as the sergeant had explained the sides and rear were also under surveillance.

All was silent and dark above. Not only was there no one to be discovered, but there were no signs of any one having recently been there; no chair was out of place, no bed disarranged, no table had been recently cleared, no furniture had been disturbed from its usual position. In fact, Dickles spoke for both when he said: "I don't believe there's a one here, sir."

Believed more than he cared to show, Westbury descended, the men rousing themselves as he passed, as though they felt that now indeed they should be wanted.

"You will take the men with you, Dickles," said the officer, "and go over the rooms at the back.—Shut the door, men."

The door was closed, and the men came forward. Now, the great staircase spoken of sprang from one side of the hall, and at its foot a passage ran straight to the back of the house; but half-way a strong door shut off the rear premises, and this door, either from habit in the troublous times, or for the more private reason of its keeping out the draught, was always kept shut. Of course it was now opened; and the sergeant, still being the light, led the way, closely followed by the soldiers. As the last man passed the door, Westbury advanced to close it. The great lamp which swung and flared in the hall, threw its glare upon the staircase and upon the door, as Westbury swung it to. He pushed it open, but as he did so, recoiled with an exclamation of momentary surprise and alarm, for the shadow of a man, huge and distorted, as shadows often are, fell upon the door just in front of him. It was gone in an instant. For another instant the Lieutenant, recovering himself, thought the startling shade was his own; but at once he knew it to be impossible, and glanced swiftly round.

The group was still at the stair-foot; and as Westbury turned his face, with a now stern expression upon it, he could not help seeing a wild look, a look of consternation, on each of the faces which met his own. Again was the face of Miss Kate's cheek pale to ghastliness; and as the officer threw a rapid glance around the hall, their eyes followed. He approached the ladies, "You will remember that I have not yet searched ed the dining-room," he said. (This was on the side of the hall opposite to his little sitting-room.) "I must do this. You see that I have no choice."

Madame Decroy bowed without speaking, then moving forward, herself threw wide open the door of the chamber. There was a light burning there, but the room was empty. No living thing was to be seen or heard within it. After a brief but close search, Westbury came into the hall baffled and not a little disconcerted—the women eagerly watching his every movement.

Presently, upon hearing the returning steps of his men, he glanced up the broad stairs, as if hesitating whether again to ascend them or not. In fact, he was on the point of doing so, when a short sleeping exclamation startled him, and he saw Miss Decroy reel as though about to fall. She had fainted; and Westbury springing towards her, caught her in his arms just as Dickles and his satellites re-entered the hall to report that all was quiet at the back of the house. This incident led to confusion for a time. Westbury carried the insensible girl to the dining-room, and set which enlisted the sympathies of Madame Decroy and Mrs. Claridge in his behalf. He would have lingered longer with them; but duty compelled him to withdraw, for the purpose of dismissing the men, Dickles gave it as his final conviction, that O'Flynn was as bad as Mullany; and that Sydney Decroy had been within a day's march of Boreen for a month past; and that in point of fact he must be in France, as every one had always believed him to be.

As the outer door swung after his subordinate Westbury turned and moved irresolutely toward his sitting-room; then glancing across the hall, and seeing that the door of the dining-room was open, he entered with sufficient courage to inquire after Miss Decroy. He found her sufficiently recovered to sit up. She smiled faintly when he saw him; but with this smile there was as there had previously been, an expression which was difficult to understand—a terror, a wildness, which seemed strange to any reflection on the face of her mother and sister. Westbury said a few words expressive of his regret at having thus disturbed them; but Madame Decroy interrupted him: "Not a word of apology is needed, sir; we are and ought to be thankful that fortune has placed a gentleman of humanity and delicacy in my place. We are very grateful debtors." There was an old-fashioned formality about this brief speech, which to a great extent agreed with the old lady's style, and the Lieutenant felt that he was on a better footing with the family than he had ever been before.

Secretly satisfied with this advance, he left them, to pass a solitary hour or two in his own room undisturbed, if fate should so permit, and no more alarms should occur that night. Taking down one of his few books, he sought to compose himself for a quiet but ineffectual spell at reading. The shadows haunted him—worse because they were shadows, and nothing more. He could not help thinking that there was something very mysterious about the affair. Twice repeated; there was the strangest part. Perhaps he ought to report it. But then, what had he to report? Was he to say he had seen a ghost? And if not, what was he to say he had seen? The Lieutenant affected to laugh at the thought, but as this idea crossed his mind, yet he was perfectly aware even while he did so, that he felt it to be an inexplicable and ominous business, which was in reality anything but a laughing matter.

Read as hard as he would, concentrate his mind as he might, his thoughts would wander, and instead of the pages of his book, he beheld the distorted outlines of the gigantic shadow which had twice thrown itself so strangely before him. "I believe—I am sure," he at length exclaimed, "that it was the same shadow. A plague upon the thing! Now that I recall it, I am almost sure I could recognize the outline!" He strongly did the idea possess him, that he was at last fain to give up the attempt at reading as hopeless; and not wishing again to intrude on the family, sought to compose his nerves by another saunter in the open air; and so once more he found himself patrolling the road outside. Nor was he alone in this task; the moon was now full; at one moment obscured by clouds, leaving the night utterly dark, the next shining brilliantly, for she was never far off, and rendered everything around nearly as visible as by day. By these glimpses of light, he saw here and there the men who watched the road through the village, a watch which of course was maintained all night long; while in the centre or the miserable hamlet, a dull light, which shone dimly through the red parlor-curtain of the poor hotel, showed where the headquarters of the detachment kept their vigil.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and cures teething and all the ailments of infancy. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Nothing Fails—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are: sore throat, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, some as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barber's Itch, Boils, all early, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.50, (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SONS, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

bargains may be expected in consequence.

A Little Encouragement.

The weather to-day has been cold, cloudy, windy and generally disagreeable. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds; fair, cool weather; slightly higher temperature.

A Child Scalded.

A little son of Mr. T. Laplante, who is about four years old, while playing in the yard on Thursday afternoon, was severely scalded. He was walking backward, and drawing a wheel-barrow when he fell into a tub of soap, which had just been made. He was quickly rescued, but was severely scalded about the neck and face. Dr. King was sent for and soon arrived.
Remedies were at once applied and it is believed that the little fellow will recover.

Railway Notes.

The Midland train was nearly on time at noon, and the Grand Junction train was an hour late.

The Toronto Telegram says that Col. Collier has come to a settlement with the Midland railway in regard to the steam shovel difficulty. The company pays the Midland $35 for freight, and the company foregoes its claim of $500 damages.

The siding for the Ontario and Quebec Railway in the station yard at Curranville has been completed. Another construction train will be put on in a few days to carry ballast. Mr. Barber engaged fifty Italians this week to work in the gravel pit, which is on Mr. C. Leary's farm.

Crescent Street.

We suppose that it will be of little use to again call the attention of the authorities to the necessity of taking some steps to prevent Crescent Street from disappearing altogether. A sidewalk should be built on the street to the Little Lake Cemetery, but if the Council has decided to allow the street to be washed away it would be useless to build a sidewalk, as it would only be expending more money to be carried into the lake. At some places the bank has been washed away up to the gravel road, and in place of building a sidewalk perhaps it would be better to remove the gravel from the road, and save that much at least.
Still we cannot help believing that it would be wiser to crib the lake and preserve the street.
Even the planting of a few willows would at least impede the work of destruction.

Miss Irene has taken particular pains this season to fill Turnbull's Showrooms with all the latest Novelties in Millinery. Our lady friends may also not follow but find in this Department. Call and inspect on Tuesday and Wednesday, 2nd and 3rd October.

THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.

A Visit to "God's Acre"—Many Improvements Made this Year.

The interest that the citizens of Peterborough take in the beautiful cemetery is shown by the fact that hundreds visit it weekly during the summer months, and after, too, when the weather is fine, hundreds visit it in one day. They like to see, and to learn of every change and improvement that is made on the grounds, and the company, not resting satisfied with what has been done, are continually making improvements which add to the beauty of the cemetery.
In this they are ably assisted by the superintendent, Mr. John Kelly, who is untiring in his endeavors to have the walks, grounds and lots kept in first class order, and who is capable of carrying out the desires of the company, of performing what is necessary to have done, and of properly executing the work. Under his care the cemetery has steadily improved in appearance, and by this time next year further improvements will have been made. Said Longfellow,
"I like the ancient Saxon phrase, which calls the burial place God's Acre," and although the cemetery is not known by that name, the superintendent, the company and the people evidently reverence the burial place as much as did the poet, judging from the labor, pains and money that is bestowed upon it.

THE CHIEF IMPROVEMENTS.

It has been our pleasure each year, as the leaves were falling, colored by the autumn frosts, to visit the cemetery and to note the principal improvements that had been made during the season. The chief one this year was undoubtedly the waterworks. This system has been described in our columns, but since our last visit the system has been extended further south and

SIX MORE HYDRANTS

have been added, making thirteen in all. The works have now been tried long enough to show that they are successful, and they have been found very convenient.

The fountains which it was intended to have put in this year will not be working until next season. Those that were ordered did not suit the Directors and the order was countermanded, and next spring

FOUNTAINS THAT WILL BE A CREDIT to the place and to all concerned will be put up.

A basin for the fountain has been prepared directly in front of the entrance gate on the terrace, and another on the other side of the hill, directly east of the Chapel. The Superintendent informs us that he intends to construct a filter near the fountain at the entrance and prepare

A DRINKING TANK

at the gate. This, when it is done, will be appreciated by the large numbers who visit the cemetery.

The ground near the wind-mill point, which was cleared up last year looks very well indeed, and the Superintendent is now engaged in

CLEARING OF MORE GROUND

near the lake shore east of the Chapel. The section which is being cleared is known as section E, and contains two hundred and twenty-three lots. A great deal of work has already been done on it. A number of trees and stumps have been removed, the grade has been struck and the work will be completed in about two weeks.
It was a very rough piece of ground, but it is being rapidly transformed. Several of the lots on the section have already been sold. A new road is being constructed on the east side of the section, which will form a nice avenue through the trees.

On the road which runs along the flat below the hill the stones have been raked into the centre and broken up, which will improve it very much. Several stumps near the wind-mill point have been removed and the ground levelled.

Where the wind-mill is situated a "dry well" has been sunk and a stone wall built around the sides, in which the pump works. The water which feeds the works is

DRAWN THROUGH SHIVES.

A well has been dug on the edge of the lake, in which the suction pipe is placed. From this small well a water-tight box runs out in the water some feet. The water passes into this box through a sieve and it passes through two more sieves before it enters the well. This prevents sand and other foreign substances from entering it.

Adjoining the residence of the Superintendent

AN OFFICE IS BEING ERECTED

for his use. It will be constructed of red brick, and will be convenient both for himself and for the public.

NEW MONUMENTS.

During the year four monuments have been added to those already in the cemetery. One of them is on Mr. John B. Fowler's lot. It is of English granite, and is the second one of that material which has been put in the cemetery.
It was furnished by Mr. McDonald, of Cobourg.
A monument of Scotch granite has been put up on Mr. M. S. Sanderson's lot, purchased from Mr.
Steiner, of Toronto. Mr. T. P. Atwill has had a handsome monument placed on his lot, purchased from Messrs. S. A. Moore & Son, and a beautiful little monument has been put up on Mr. J. Madigan's lot, from Mr. J. A. Byrne's marble works. The Rev. V. Clementi is having a cut stone fence placed around his lot and a beautiful monument will be added. Messrs.
S. A. Moore & Son are doing the work, and they are also engaged on a monument for the grave of the late P. C. John McGee. Besides these a number of very handsome headstones have been placed in the cemetery this year.

Since the first of January last one hundred and five interments have taken place in the cemetery.

Although the cold weather has taken effect on the flowers the

GRASSES GENERALLY

still have a beautiful appearance. The hedges have been trimmed and the lots give evidence of care and attention. The leaves are falling from the trees, and are gathered up and carted away as they fall. The falling leaves and the drying verdures, especially in such a place, cannot fail to remind one of the approaching autumn of life, and one is forcibly reminded of Mrs.
Hemans's lines:

"Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all—
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death!"

Ball's Health-Improving Corns In-terly Improved, to be had at Turnbull's.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the falling leaves," sighs an esteemed author.
There is, there is, indeed. It is when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unemphatic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered
from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul,
in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma
and consumption, and who have used N. H.
Downs' Vegetable Balmic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured, and
who are daily recommending Electric Bitters,
will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak
Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured.
They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50 cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.—1

W. A. EDGARS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels, and Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

1.—By changing a Fall Overcoat.

2.—By donning a Fall Suit.

3.—By slipping on a Heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants.
We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice.
Now then, the application:—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If our assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and price—well.

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so neat attire. Time, temper
and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders.
Hear it, then, and—contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The pick of all comforts. The best of satisfaction. The price of all goods, and—none better elsewhere.

Compare our assortment—in the above measure
—with what others have to offer—an easy thing to do—and then let the result of your comparison be the measure of your confidence in our statements.

PROSPECTUS.

Government of Canada Loan for $4,000,000, 4 per cent. Currency Bonds.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE for the Dominion of Canada is authorized to receive tenders for a loan of $4,000,000 currency bonds, bearing interest from 1st November, 1883, at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November of each year, at his office in the Finance Department, Ottawa.

This loan is issued under the authority of an Act of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, passed during their last session, (46th Victoria, cap. 2, sec. 4.)
The object of the loan is partly to provide for the payment of debts maturing or redeemable in the course of the current fiscal year, and partly for expenditure on public works.

The principal of the loan now offered is to be repaid
at Ottawa in twenty years.
Subscribers will receive bonds to bearer, which may at any future time be converted into registered stock.
The subscription list will be opened on Wednesday, the 17th day of October next, and will be closed on Saturday, the 20th day of October next, at 4 o'clock p. m., and tenders in the accompanying form, marked on the outside "Tenders for Securities," will be received at the Finance Department, Ottawa, up to and including the latter date, at the hour mentioned.

Tenders must be made for not less than $1,000,
and in multiples of $1,000.

The allotment of the loan will be made as soon as possible after the close of the subscription list, the amounts allotted will be payable on the 1st day of November next, and Bonds will be issued shortly after that date.

Copies of this prospectus and forms of tender can be obtained from the undersigned, from the several Assistant Receivers General at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Saint John, Winnipeg and Victoria, and from the Dominion Auditor at Charlottetown.

PRICE TWO CENTS

DIED.
MEHARRY.—In Cavan, on Sept. 30th, Mr. ANDREW MEHARRY, in the 81st year of his age.

Ball's Corsets

RECEIVED
FIRST PRIZE

At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, have-to-be-broken-before-worn affairs of the present day. It is one of the strongest, closest fitting corsets made, yet perfectly comfortable at all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking-in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1883.

The Town Clock.

A number of pigeons make their home about the town clock, and on Sunday one settled upon one of the hands of the clock, perhaps desirous of taking a free ride. It was disappointed, however, as its weight on the hand had the effect of stopping the motions of the clock. It sat contentedly on its lofty perch until a stone which was thrown in close proximity to its head frightened it away. As soon as the bird relieved the hand of its weight, the clock again started, but it was handicapped twenty minutes in its race with time, and Mr. McClelland had to put it forward. This forenoon again the clock was stopped in the same way, a pigeon alighting on the hand near the end, where its weight would have the greatest effect. The pigeons seem to enjoy the sport. Last week the clock lost several minutes by the same means, and it will be liable to such detentions so long as the hands are exposed.

Obituary.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. James McWilliams, the county gaoler, which occurred at three o'clock this morning. Mr. McWilliams had been ill for four weeks, and although several physicians visited him, medical skill did not succeed in saving his life. The deceased was born in County Cavan, Ireland, on the 12th of May, 1823, and was therefore sixty years of age. He was an old resident of this county, his family having come to Canada in 1831, and shortly afterwards settled in the township of Asphodel where the village of Norwood now is. He was a public officer for twenty-seven years, and a resident of the town for the same length of time, having moved to Peterborough in 1856 to take the position of deputy sheriff for the united counties of Peterborough and Victoria. He was appointed to the position of gaoler in 1867, the duties of which he discharged efficiently until the time of his death. The funeral will take place at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

THE COBOURG TRAGEDY.

James Caffrey Sent for Trial for the Murder of Hugh McDowell.

COBOURG, Sept. 28.—The adjournal investigation into the circumstances of the death of Hugh McDowell, of Cobourg, who died from the effect of wounds inflicted by a shoemaker's knife, was continued before Coroner Ewing. Mr. J. W. Kerr, County Crown Attorney, being in attendance on the part of the Crown, and Mr. W. R. Riddell on the behalf of the prisoner James Caffrey. After the examination of a number of additional witnesses, from whom nothing of importance was elicited, the prisoner Caffrey was recalled, but refused on the advice of his solicitor to answer any questions. The jury was instructed by the coroner at some length, and after being absent about an hour returned with the following verdict:—

"We, the coroner's jury sworn to investigate the cause of the death of the late Hugh McDowell, find that on the night of Thursday, the 13th of September, 1883, the aforesaid Hugh McDowell was stabbed in the house of James Caffrey, and from the effects of the wounds then and there received died on the following day; and that the evidence produced tends to show that the said James Caffrey was connected with the stabbing of the said Hugh McDowell and recommended that the said James Caffrey be sent up for trial."

The coroner then committed the prisoner James Caffrey for trial at the ensuing Assizes.

A Kentucky Fratricide.

BLUE LICKS SPRING, Ky., Sept. 28.—While three brothers, Samuel, William, and Thomas Rogers, were taking depositions yesterday in a case to contest their father's will, Samuel, thinking his brothers were about to draw weapons, shot Thomas and William. Both are reported dying. Samuel is resident of the farmers' Bank of Louisville. William is a St. Louis lawyer, and Thomas a large farmer.

Survey of the Rideau Canal.

Mr. Rowan, C. E., is making a survey of the Rideau Canal. His object is to determine if a greater supply of water can be got for the canal; also to assist in making excavations through the bars separating the lake, substituting locks for shutters, and making cuttings large enough to admit the passage of barges to the end of the lake. If this plan is carried into effect there will be no locks, and the junction of Mud and Devil Lake, North Crosby, and the other at the head of Devil Lake, in Bedford. A branch from the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, about Harrowsmith in the waters of Knowlton Lake, would complete the communication between Kingston and Newboro.

The First Canadian Paper.

The earliest newspaper printed in Canada was the Halifax Gazette. Its first issue appeared on March 23rd, 1752, with the following heading:—

NOVA SCOTIA.—No. 1.

the

HALIFAX GAZETTE,

Monday, March 23rd, 1752.

To the left of the title is a rough wood-cut of a ship under full sail and a fortress flying a flag. On the right is another cut representing a frontiers man with a fort in the distance. The paper itself was "printed by John Bushell, at the printing office on Grafton street, where advertisements are taken in, 1752." A file of the Gazette—almost complete—for two years, is preserved in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston.

AFGHAN TROOPS DEFEATED.

THE GERMANIN STATUE.

FESTIVITIES AT RUDESHEIM.

RUDESHEIM, Sept. 29.—To-day's inauguration of the Germania statue was a most imposing national demonstration. The Emperor, the Crown Prince and Princess, and many other royal personages were present. Addresses were read to which the Emperor replied, at the close of which the statue was unveiled amidst the firing of artillery. The enthusiasm was very great. In the evening a banquet was held at Wiesbaden.

NIHILISM IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 29.—In connection with the numerous arrests of army officers implicated in Nihilist plots a large depot has been discovered at Charkoff containing arms, gunpowder, dynamite, bombs, and printing apparatus.

ELECTION OF THE LORD MAYOR.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Alderman Fowler has been elected Lord Mayor of London for the ensuing year, notwithstanding the fact that Alderman Hadley was the senior alderman, and was announced to have been elected to the position. This departure from the usual course pursued by the corporation of London is marked, and indicates, perhaps, that Alderman Hadley's various speculative schemes have not raised him in the estimation of his fellow citizens.

POLITICS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—On Thursday a meeting was held at Dungannon (the principal town in Tyrone county), which was addressed by Healey, O'Connor and O'Brien. A fierce Orange demonstration was made against them, and the meeting, strange to say, had to be conducted under the care of the authorities. Faction riots in Ireland are attracting considerable attention. The Parnellites have laid out the ground for a bribe campaign in the north of Ireland, which, with the exception of county Down, has been hostile to the Home Rule party. The Home Rule party propose to make strenuous efforts to capture Antrim, Armagh, and Tyrone at the next general elections.

KING ALFONSO IN PARIS.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—An immense crowd of workmen and the lower classes congregated outside the railway station where King Alfonso was expected to alight and along the Rue Lafayette. A strong force of Cavalry and police were on guard. The crowd booed and hissed him, crying, "Down with the Uhlan King!" The soldiers and police had great trouble in keeping order. The people were very much excited, but cheered the French troops. On returning from his visit to the President the populace renewed their hisses. A statement issued by prominent Spaniards is published in Paris declaring that King Alfonso made no engagement involving his kingdom during his visit to Germany.

AMERICAN.

YELLOW FEVER IN MEXICO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Since August 25th 300 persons have died from fever at Guaymas. Two-thirds of the population have had the disease. A steamer arrived at San Francisco from Guaymas with five cases on board.

HURRICANE IN HAYTI.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A San Domingo letter says a hurricane on the 6th inst. destroyed half of the town of Azua. All the small vessels on the coast were wrecked and a number of lives lost. At Azua the sea destroyed the plantations, tore up the docks, and swept away every building. Cattle were killed in large numbers. The shore was strewn with dead fish, causing an intolerable stench. At least one hundred sailors must have perished within eighty miles of San Domingo city. It will take years to repair the damage. Great destitution must follow, as nearly all the plantation trees, on which the poorer classes depend for food, were blown down.

GREAT EXPLOSION.

BUFFALO, Sept. 30.—A horrible casualty occurred at about 10 o'clock last night, when one of the boilers of the propeller Colorado blew up, making a total wreck of the steamer with the exception of the hull, killing and injuring ten of her crew. The explosion occurred outside the breakwater. The steamer was going at the rate of about ten miles an hour, when suddenly there was a loud report, and a great mass of debris was blown from the centre of the boat.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1883.

THE returns from Algoma are still very incomplete, but it appears likely that Mr. Lyons will be returned, owing to the success of Mr. Mowat's plan of disfranchising localities known to be Conservative.

WE are sorry to see the Kingston News repeating the falsehood, invented and circulated by some mendacious Reform journals, that Gen. Leard, at a dinner given to him by the staff at Cobourg, called Col. Williams, M. P., a liar. It is unfair not only to Gen. Leard, but to Col. Williams also to publish such a grossly exaggerated statement of a regrettable occurrence. The truth of the report in the Globe and its imitators is authoritatively denied.

WE are told by his admirers that Mr. Mowat, among his other good deeds, extended the franchise. Will any of his friends tell us if it was another of his good deeds to disfranchise any settler in Algoma, who chose to aid our great national highway, and to earn an honest dollar for himself and his family by working for the Canadian Pacific Railway? Many of the less well-to-do settlers were in that position and were refused polling places to record their perfectly good votes, because, as Reform journals admit, it was probable that the majority would vote Conservative in the disfranchised localities.

REFORM journals are having the effrontery to blame Sir John Macdonald for appointing Mr. Lost returning officer for Lunenburg, N. S., instead of the sheriff of the county, and to doubt whether there will be a fair election under such circumstances. If it should prove that Sir John disgraces both himself and his position by instructing the returning officer to refuse a poll to a locality where there was a strong Reform majority, and Mr. Lost should be such a knave as to obey him, we should then have a parallel case in Lunenburg to that of Mr. Mowat and his returning officer in regard to Cockburn Island in Algoma.

THE British Parliament sometimes inflicts the penalty of disfranchisement for a time upon localities where there has been gross corruption, but we are not aware that British Premiers claim such a power. Mr. Mowat, however, arrogates to himself such a privilege, and greatly extends the grounds for his penal interference. Because Cockburn Island at the last election gave an overwhelming Conservative majority, and that without any suspicion of corruption, Mr. Mowat has punished its electors by depriving them of a polling place, in order to take vengeance on them for their heinous crime, and to load the dice in his own favour. What a very honest Attorney-General.

A LESSON TO MR. MOWAT.

PROFESSOR LEWIS, in an address to the graduating class of the University of Alabama, of which he is President, renews the old "State rights" cry, by complaining of encroachments upon the spheres of the governments of the individual states, and a corresponding enlargement of that of the Federal government. Of course this expression of opinion is hailed with delight by our own advocates of Provincial isolation, and fomenters of sectional discords and jealousies.

Professor Lewis seems hardly to attach sufficient importance to the fact that his own State and the other southern states have brought this upon themselves by the exaggeration of Sovereign State Rights even to the extreme of secession and civil war. Though the States, unlike our Provinces, were sovereign communities, yet their undoubtedly right had to bow to the necessity for the maintenance of the unity of the country, and the preservation of the Federation as a whole. They forced this struggle upon the central government by their impracticable assertion of their rights, and if the pendulum has swung too far in the opposite direction it is only in accordance with a law of nature.

But the Ontario advocates of Provincial independence who profess to find encouragement in Professor Lewis' address, would do well, on the contrary, to accept it as a warning to desist from their own dangerous course. With no such claim to separate "sovereignty" as in the case of the States of the American Union, they are perpetually hinting at secession and even civil war whenever the Dominion Parliament or Executive does not act in perfect accord with the supposed interests or even the prejudices of a section of Canada. This is, in the first place, very silly—very like a child who won't play at soldiers at all unless his companions let him be captain. But besides the absurdity it is equally unjustifiable and prejudicial to our country. "The right divine of kings to govern wrong" is assuredly not a mantle that has fallen upon the shoulders of Mr. Mowat and his friends. The greatest enemies, not only of Canada as a whole but even of the rights of the Provinces to govern these purely local matters over which our constitution gives them jurisdiction, are those who, not accepting the warning of our neighbour's civil war springing from a similar course, are ever ready to set Province against Province, and to threaten the integrity of our Dominion.

Prince George's Movements.

Prince George visited the whirlpool rapids and the pulp and paper mills at Niagara Falls on Thursday. On the day following he visited Hon. J. B. Plumb, and on Saturday he left for Long Point to enjoy a few days' duck shooting.

BELMONT.

SEVERELY INJURED.—The Register says that as Mr. Robert Anderson, of Belmont, was returning home from Norwood in company with a boy named Johnston, one night last week, his team became frightened while going down a hill near Mr. R. Wigmore's, and ran away, throwing both of them out of the wagon. Mr. Anderson was severely cut about the head and body, and his companion (Johnston) had his leg broken. Under medical treatment, we are glad to learn, they are both doing well.

BOBACATON.

BRIDGES.—The Independent says that the Swing Bridge has progressed sufficiently to show that the alterations will be a great improvement. Operations are temporarily suspended. The floating bridge would be a great convenience if left for the winter at the head of the canal. The wooden bridge is to be lifted and supported.

HUNTING.—The open season for deer commences on Monday. Several parties are preparing for a hunt, and should the weather be favorable the woods will ring, and ring again, with the cry of the hounds. Deer are said to be plentiful even within a short distance of the village, and a good season's sport is anticipated.

LINDSAY.

ACCIDENT.—The Warrier says that a little daughter of Mr. J. Robinson, gunsmith, met with rather a serious accident on Saturday morning by falling from a hay loft in which she and a young companion were playing. In falling she cut a deep gash in her forehead and for some days it was expected serious consequences would ensue, but now she is considerably improved.

NAVIGATION.—Navigation so far as passenger traffic is concerned is almost ended for the season and little is now being done except in freight. Mr. Lane reports a good season for his company, especially during July and August, the number of guests at the Point being very large. The freight shipped now is of course nearly all for Bobcaygeon and will keep the boat employed till winter sets in. Next summer it is said the company will build a large new boat especially for the passenger traffic, and which will be fitted up with all the latest improvements, the present one being kept for excursions and for freight.

NORWOOD.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The Register says that a young child of Mrs. Donovan's had its arm broken while playing with some other children at Mr. Carlows, in Dummer, last week. Under the care of Dr. Pettigrew the little sufferer is doing nicely. The child had been very near losing the sight of one of its eyes last week. It appears that while engaged in cutting a piece of red-hot iron that a portion of it struck him on the eye, burning a hole through the eyelid and into the eye, but luckily not injuring the sight. Under medical care he is rapidly recovering. Mr. Wm. Foster, while working in the foundry, met with almost a similar accident, but was not injured so severely as Mr. Hendren.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL.—The anniversary services in connection with the Norwood Methodist Church were held on the 16th and 17th of September. On Sunday, the 16th, two eloquent discourses were delivered by the Rev. Thos. Manning, M. A., of Peterborough. On Monday, the 17th, the harvest home festival took place, and was attended by a large number of people. After an excellent dinner had been disposed of the audience was addressed by the Rev. Manning, Carmichael, Buchanan, Elliott and others. The choir sang several very near losing the sight of one of its eyes last week. It appears that while engaged in cutting a piece of red-hot iron that a portion of it struck him on the eye, burning a hole through the eyelid and into the eye, but luckily not injuring the sight. Under medical care he is rapidly recovering. Mr. Wm. Foster, while working in the foundry, met with almost a similar accident, but was not injured so severely as Mr. Hendren.

THE BAND.—The Norwood Brass Band has secured the services of Mr. H. Stickles, of Stirling, as leader, at a salary of $250 per annum.

CAMPELLFORD.

AGRICULTURAL GROUNDS.—The Herald says that an attempt is being made by the Seymour Council to secure grounds for agricultural show purposes.

BEAR KILLED.—A large black bear was killed on the farm of Mr. Jas. Thompson, lot 17, in the 8th concession of Seymour, on Friday.

CHEESE FACTORY CONTRACTS.—The managers of the Menie and Burnbrae cheese factories have contracted for their August, September and October make of cheese at 10 1/2 cents per pound. The Woodlands cheese factory managers have contracted with Mr. W. W. Bentley at the following rates: Last half of July 9 1/2 cents per pound; August 10 1/2; and September and October 10 1/2 cents.

BRUIN COMING NEAR HOME.—While Mr. Moses Stephens was working in his potato field, about one mile from the village, on Thursday, he saw a large black bear a short distance from him, passing through the stubble of a wheat field. Mr. Stephens' dog followed after the visitor, but he moved along briskly and disappeared in an adjacent wood. Subsequently the dogs returned home filled with fear, from which it seems that one of them had received a blow from Bruin's paw.

A MOUNTAIN TROUT.—Mr. Thos. Blute, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, can claim the credit of having captured the largest brook trout ever taken out of any waters in this county. The monster among the trout tribe—a real Jumbo—measured 20 inches long, six inches across the body, and weighed four pounds. Mr. Blute's catch was made at the head of Mr. Duncan's pond in Cramah, near Castleton, and by a single "gut" hook.

FATAL INJURY TO A BOY.—The family of Mr. Robert Cook, who reside near this village, have been called upon to sorrow over the loss of one of their number, a boy, who was fatally injured by an accident of Friday. The little fellow, whose age was about nine years, was driving a team of horses through a field when he became frightened and ran away. In the confusion and peril of the moment the boy slipped through the boards of the wagon and fell to the ground. One of the wheels passed over him, and broke his collar bone and caused internal injuries. He was taken to his home and carefully watched and tenderly cared for, but he lingered in pain only till the day following. His remains were interred in St. Andrew's burying ground.

Bicycle Accidents.

There is a company in London, Eng., for the purpose of insuring against bicycle and tricycle accidents, called the Cyclists' Assurance Corporation. The capital is said to be £100,000.

A Swindle.

A clerk at the Rossin House, Toronto, of the name of Wm. P. Sawyers, resigned his situation on Thursday and disappeared, after having swindled several merchants—chiefly jewellers—to the amount of about $1,200.

Losses from Forged Bills.

Another deliberate fraud by means of forged bills of leading to an amount exceeding a hundred thousand dollars has been unearthed in Montreal. The Molsons Bank is a heavy sufferer, but is believed to be secured. The swindler has absconded, but the victimized institutions have detectives looking after him, and offer a reward of ten thousand dollars for his arrest.

A SHADOWY STORY

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '68.

CHAPTER III.—(Continued).

As the moon vanished behind a huge cloud, her last rays showed him—or he imagined so—a group of three or four persons standing beneath a tree on the road-side. He advanced towards the spot, and now he certainly heard a step in the darkness coming towards him. His hand moved towards the hilt of his sword; but he smiled at his precaution the next moment, as he recognised the broad figure of Biddy Quin.

"Good-evening, Biddy," said the officer. "Was there any one with you just now?" "Wid me, yer honor?" returned Biddy. "Sure an' there's not a soul to be seen betwixt this an' the houses on the hill, an' it's meself that's walked all the way in."

"What! since I saw you at Boreen House?" said Westbury.

"Av coorse. An' why not?" said Biddy. "Wid a night like this, an' that blessed moon, it's a short half-hour there. I'm glad to see yer honor, for it's ungrateful ye've been thinking me, by reason of me niver tellin' ye how thankful me an' the childer was."

"Oh, never mind that, Biddy," interrupted the officer. "I have been repaid, you know; you must thank the ladies at the House, not me."

But Biddy's eloquence and gratitude were not thus to be extinguished, and she persisted in enlarging upon the officer's generosity, walking towards the village all the while, until, to get rid of her, Westbury turned abruptly towards the House, and left her in the midst of her florid thanksgivings. Even then he did not fairly escape until he was standing in the hall, for the woman followed him to the door, and as he somewhat rudely shut it in her face, he heard these last words: "An' it's meself an' the two sick childer will niver forget!"

Half amused, half annoyed, Westbury repaired to his room, having had a far shorter stroll than he had intended; while Biddy—who might naturally be supposed to feel hurt at having her full flood of gratitude rolled back upon herself—went away with actually a smile upon her face. This smile was not altogether one of forgiveness; there was a triumphant and very knowing look with it; and strange enough, Biddy, who had been but five minutes before so anxious to get home to her children, and who had walked so heavily, as a woman tired by a long and hurried walk, would do, now strutted swiftly off, at a pace indeed that many a man might envy; and what was also strange, she retraced the road she came.

The next morning dawned in rain—a steady persistent rain, which continued with little intermission throughout the day and indeed for several days to come. No soul who was not absolutely compelled to be out was seen in the half-liquid streets of Boreen; even the pigs, which had seemed to defy every variety of weather previously, now deigned to seek the shelter of cart-sheds, or what was still better and more customary, the interior of the cottages. Yet had as the weather was, Westbury gladly welcomed the hours when he went his rounds, muddy and rain-beaten though he speedily became; for the earnest of sitting alone all day was now becoming intolerable. Sleeping, smoking, and reading he had tired and exhausted them all, pretty nearly as tiring himself as well. There was a short break in the monotony when the household met at dinner; but even although Westbury fancied there was a little more kindness in the tone in which he was addressed, and although he endeavored to start some kind of conversation by inquiring after Miss Decroy's health, yet no great extension of the sitting came of the attempt. Indeed, when he showed some desire to prong his stay with them, the same half-wild, half-terrified expression, which he remembered so well from the previous evening, came over the young lady's face. Puzzled by this, and quite unable to divest himself of the thought of the sitting, he was obliged to leave the room, and passed a few more dreary hours in his sanctum.

On that night, happily—so he thought of it—Miss Kate was his visitor. The impulse was beyond his power to resist. "Ah, Miss Decroy," he exclaimed, "like a ray of sunshine breaking into the cell of a prisoner." This was the first time he had ever ventured upon anything so florid; and he looked so confused at his own temerity, that the girl gave way to the unwonted enthusiasm of the moment in a silvery laugh.

"Why, I thought it was only we Irish that were romantic and poetic in our language," returned Miss Kate; "but that seems quite a delusion. I never had so complimentary a speech directed to me before."

"I really must beg your pardon," said Westbury, still more confused. "I feel I ought not to do so; but—but I could not help it, Miss Decroy, and the more I say the more I feel. I have been so uneasy and dull here; within and without, all so wretched, that when you appeared it was as if the sun or moon were rising."

"Nay, nay," interposed the young lady; "this is growing more poetical still. In spite of appearances, I shall have to believe that you are as truly an Irishman as—Biddy Quin herself. The comparison may be allowed to prove that I am native and—"

She stopped here, and Westbury having broken the ice, mustered fresh courage. "Pray, finish the quotation, Miss Decroy. But you must forgive me if I say one thing more."

The girl looked an inquiry and her permission. "The greatest prejudice I have noticed since I have been in the country, Miss Decroy, is the universal prejudice of its people in believing that the English are prejudiced against them."

"That a prejudice!" exclaimed the girl, her large dark eyes opening to the widest in her astonishment.

"Certainly," returned the Lieutenant quickly; "and a most mistaken one. There are hosts of Englishmen who admire Ireland and—the Irish people, more than they can easily express—more than the tongue—"

"I am sure I shall never cherish the equally mistaken prejudice as to the English being matter of fact or promise," interrupted Miss Decroy as she moved towards the door. "I feel that the Milesian reputation for flowery discourse is obtained under false pretences, and must be restored to the Saxons." With this she was gone; and had a veritable sobbing quitted the room it could not have seemed more changed and dull to its occupant.

More rain; more yawning; a visit from the corporal with his report; nothing afresh; more rain—it had never left off raining—more yawning, until at last ten o'clock came. There were no chimes in Boreen, no booming church clock to announce the time; but that it was ten o'clock Westbury knew by referring to his bulky watch; and heartily glad was he to find it late enough to justify him in going fairly to bed. Rising, therefore, with one tremendous yawn, which seemed to expend the reserved force of fifty that he had recently checked and strangled, he was moving slowly towards the hall when his ear caught the unusual sound of a horse approaching. Another instant and he could hear the plash of hoofs through the rain pools; then—as he knew from the first it would be—the rider halted; there was a short pause, during which he heard voices, and then came a heavy knock at the door. As he was standing in the hall, and knew right well of what kind the visitors must be, he did not hesitate to open the front door; and there sure enough stood Dickles, his gray greatcoat streaming with wet, his forage cap soaked. Just behind him was a horseman, a soldier also, as his capacious cloak testified. "Despatches, sir, from C—," said Dickles briefly. The rider threw up his hand in military salute, then shaking the wet from his huge cloak as he moved it, handed a packet to the officer.

"Do you go on farther?" asked Westbury, as he broke the seal, noticing that the soldier gathered up his bridle rein, as a man about to start.

"Yes sir," replied the trooper; "we mean to have 'em to-night. I don't mind a good wetting once more, to catch the thieves, for I've had many a soaking for nothing through them." "Oh that's it, is it?" said the officer, and then hurriedly glanced over his letter. "Turn the whole of the men out at once, Dickles," he continued; "lose no time. Call for me here in half an hour." The trooper, who had lingered for a moment, threw up his hand to his soaked cap again, and then plashed of through the mud and rain.

"I thought as much, sir," said Dickles, with something like a grin. "Mullany said the French sloop was to be off the coast to-night or to-morrow, and there's to be a regular rush for her. But the chain will be complete this time, and we shall have them. I gave the men a hint, sir, and we shall be sure within the half-hour."

"Do you know the route?" asked Westbury. "Yes sir," replied the other; "a little different from our former ones. I expect the detachment from Longbie and Five Hills will take the bog lines, as we are to keep the lower road. Mullany has gone to Longbie."

"The sharp, Dickles," said the officer, as he closed the door gently, to avoid disturbing the house. As he did so, a slight creaking noise attracted his attention; he paused with the door in his hand, watchful and listening. The sound was not repeated; he had hardly supposed it would be, for he had distinctly recognised it as the swift closing of a window. "They are on the alert," muttered Westbury as he returned to his room. "It's as well our expedition takes place to-night; if it were to-morrow, we might not be first upon the road." His preparations were soon made; he buckled his cloak with a sigh as he heard the ceaseless patter of the rain; for he had quite sufficient experience in it to know that the roads in Ireland, to know what was before him.

A MAN HURT

A man, while trying to get through C. B. ROUTLEY'S Stock of Trunks, got hurt, and after recovering somewhat, said:—

"Never mind, I can save so much on the Trunk, that it will somewhat compensate me for bruises, &c."

LINDSAY'S WEAR, August 22nd, 1883.

Messrs. Churchill & Co., Gents.—I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum for the past three years, and have been treated by some of the best doctors of Eastern Ontario without any lasting benefit. I was recommended by Mr. C. J. Lindsay, of Kars, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles of your Fountain and two bottles of your Climax Salve, I believe I am perfectly cured. My general health is also much improved, and I now feel like a new man.

Yours truly,
ROBT. BURNETT,
Engineer Steamer Olive, Montreal and Port Land Line.

August 29th, 1883.
DALMPY P. O., Tp. Oscodes.

Messrs. Churchill & Co., Dear Sirs,—I have been troubled with Piles for the last five years, and during that time I have taken medicine from five doctors which failed to effect a cure. I have used only one box of your Climax Eye Salve, which I purchased from W. F. Ritchie, of Oscodes Station, and can recommend it as a safe cure to all afflicted with the same disease. I consider your Fountain of Health an excellent tonic to build up the system.

Yours truly,
ARCHIE McDONALD.

Vital Statistics.

The number of births, marriages and deaths registered in the town of Peterborough for the month of September were as follows:—

Births	10
Marriages	8
Deaths	5

Junior Lacrosse.

The Secretary of the Iniquity Lacrosse Club informs us that a match was played on Saturday between that club and the Maple Leafs, resulting in a victory for the Iniquity by three straight games. The first game was well contested, lasting one hour and fifteen minutes, but the last two games were much more quickly played.

New Music.

The choir of St. John's Church will, in a short time, favor the congregation with some choice music. A variety of beautiful anthems are now being practised, and Mr. Chas. Ewing, the efficient organist and choir master, has just finished the composition of a grand new Te Deum, the like of which has never been heard before in Peterborough. It is a heavy piece of music, and with the excellent material at Mr.
Ewing's command, no doubt will be received by the congregation as another instance of his musical services, and also give further evidence of the excellence of the choir.

Bruin on the Wargate.

At present the farmers along the line of road leading to Lakefield, and about five miles from Peterborough, are somewhat alarmed by the appearance of bears in their midst. As this part of the country is densely wooded and just the place where bruin could disport himself in fine style, it is generally thought that there are more than one of the dusky and treacherous beasts of prey prowling about. Last week a farm hand employed by Mr. Robert Walton caught sight of one of them, and later on in the week others saw either the same bear or one of his chums.
The farmers are now up in arms, and if bruin don't look for other quarters he may come to grief.

Italians Wanted for Murder.

The Chief of Police has received a circular from M. McDougald, Chief of the Ontario Police, offering a reward of $200 for the arrest of two Italians named Emile del Frano and Miles Leper, who are charged with having murdered Adam Matheson, at Niagara Falls, Ont., on the 17th of September. Del Frano is described as being 25 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighing 140 pounds, of yellowish complexion, not dark for an Italian, stands straight, has no beard and has brownish hair.
When last seen he wore a dark gray tweed suit, sack coat and a black soft felt hat. He speaks only a few words of English. Leper is about the same age, 5 feet 6 inches high, 140 pounds, dark complexion, black hair and eyes, black moustache, no whiskers, and has some front teeth gone. He wore black clothes and a small soft felt hat when last seen, and can speak very little English.

A PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS.

Increased Power, Space and Stock at Belleghem's Furniture Factory.

It is a pleasure to note the signs of increasing business in Peterborough as shown in the progress made by any particular firm, and enlarged premises, increased stock and an addition to the manufacturing capacity are certainly unfailing signs of prosperity and of a determination to meet the demands made by the steady increase in the population of the town. Mr. D. Belleghem has made great improvements in his furniture manufactory and warehouse, and on visiting his premises one is met by abundant indications of enterprise and of increasing business.

The first change that is noticed in approaching his place of business is the improvement made in the front of the store. It has been transformed, and one of the finest fronts in the town now meets the pleased eye. Plate glass has been put in the windows, and the frames and door have been handsomely painted and ornamented, while the proprietor's name in colored letters is displayed over the windows and door.

On entering, however, a greater change and improvements on a larger scale are met with.
The whole building has been enlarged, an addition the full height of the building—three stories—having been erected this summer. This gives Mr. Belleghem show rooms much larger than any previously used for this business in the town, namely three flats each one hundred and one by twenty-five feet.

This additional space has not been procured without a reason for it. The whole building is required to make room for the unprecedentedly large stock which he now carries.

The first flat is crowded with handsome furniture of all descriptions, beautiful bed room sets, parlor furniture, hall furnishings, &c. Mr.
Belleghem has also a large line of fine carpets which he is determined to sell cheaply. Samples of carpets and handsome furniture are on exhibition in the windows.

Part of the second story is also devoted to the furniture warehouse, and in it more durable and handsome house furnishings are displayed. A portion of this flat is partitioned off for the coffin department. This department is furnished with all things required for properly disposing of the dead, such as coffins, shrouds, crapes and gloves.

The upholstery work is executed in a portion of the third story. Mr. Belleghem has on hand a good stock of raw silks, plushes, and a large line of coverings for parlour suits to choose from. Great attention is paid to this department, and fancy work of all descriptions is executed with neatness and despatch. The other portion of this story is used for the furnishing room. The second and third stories are connected with the factory by a walk running to the same stories of the factory, which makes matters convenient.

The furniture factory has also been generally overhauled. The machinery generally has been put in good order, and a new thirty-horse power boiler, manufactured by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, has been added.

Young men who are about taking that momentous step in life, commencing to keep a house of their own, and want their new home furnished—and there are rumours of several such events about to happen—would do well to take a look at the large stock in Mr. Belleghem's show rooms, and they cannot fail to be satisfied. Mr. Belleghem has been overworked with work, and there were necessary delays connected with making these improvements, but with the new facilities, improvements and enlargements he is now prepared to fill all orders promptly.

Health Bulletin.

The report for the week ending Sept. 22nd shows that in the district in which Peterborough is included Diarrhoea covers 10.5 per cent of the total number of diseases reported; Neuralgia 10 per cent; Anemia 8.3; Heart Disease 6;
Bronchitis 5.7; and Influenza 5 per cent.

A Fire.

On Sunday, at about twelve o'clock, an incipient fire was discovered in a frame house on Water street, south of the market, occupied by Mr. Joseph Robinson. The fire had caught from the chimney in the ceiling, and a hole was made through the roof and the flames extinguished before much damage was done.

Warmer and Showers.

The weather to-day has been clear and cool.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds; fair, slightly warmer weather with some showers at night.

Farewell Supper.

On Saturday evening a few of the many friends of Mr. F. Karch, who has been for some time in Mr. W. A. Sander's jewelry store, entertainment him at an oyster supper at Darcy's Hotel on the eve of his departure from Peterborough for Belleville. A very pleasant evening was spent with toasts, speeches, music and singing.
Mr. Karch leaves behind him many friends among the young men of Peterborough, who wish him every success.

Fall Openings.

Mr. James Alexander announces that his show rooms will be opened on Tuesday and Wednesday. An inspection is invited of all the novelties in millinery and mantles, dolmans, &c.
Miss E. Delaney, having returned from her usual purchasing trip to the Canadian and American markets also announces that her stock of millinery, mantles, dress goods and trimmings, flowers and feathers, &c., is now complete and open for inspection.

The Opinion of All.

Who have tried Folson's Nerviline, the great pain remedy, is that it is never failing in pain of every description. Neuralgia, toothache, cramps, pain in the stomach, and kindred complaints are banished as if by magic. It is a certain in operation, pleasant to take, Nerviline stands at the very front rank of remedies of this class. A trial bottle may be purchased for 10 cents.
A very small amount in any case, but the best experience you can make, if a sufferer from any kind of pain is a 10 or 25 cent bottle of Nerviline at Ormond & Walsh.

The Lacrosse Championship.

In a lacrosse match at Montreal on Saturday the Toronto wrented the championship from the Shamrocks by three games to one. The time was:—First game (Toronto), 20 minutes;
second game (Toronto), 6 minutes; third game (Shamrocks), 1 minute; fourth game (Toronto)
8 minutes. An ugly scene occurred on the field, commenced by a Shamrock player, who threatened Mackenzie, and the crowd rushing in, but the other Shamrock players assisted in keeping the crowd back, and all was quietly settled.

KINGSTON.

BISHOP CLEARY.—Bishop Cleary, will, it is understood, leave for Rome on the 9th of this month.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author.
There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered
from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul,
in the many thousands of testimonials and
letters (unsolicited) that come from those who
once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma
and consumption, and who have used N. H.
Downs' Vegetable Balsamic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

1.—By donning a Fall Overcoat.

2.—By changing to a Fall Suit.

3.—By slipping on Heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants.
We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice.
Now then, the application.—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If our assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and price, —will—

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so neat attire. Time, temper
and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders.
Hear it, then, and—contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The same of comfort. The best of satisfaction. The pick of all goods, and—none better elsewhere.

Compare our assortment—in the above measure
—with what others have to offer—an easy thing to do—
and then let the result of your comparison be the measure of your confidence in our statements.

CORSETS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to its wearer in every way, or the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought.

The only Corset pronounced by our leading physicians and tailors to be the most comfortable and perfect fitting Corset ever made.

RECEIVED
FIRST PRIZE
At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, have-to-be-broken-before-worn affairs of the present day. It is one of the most perfect, closest fitting corsets made; yet perfectly comfortable at all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

RUPTURES!

O. I. C.

Springless Truss and Supporters

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:—

PORT HOPE—Queen's Hotel, Oct. 14, 15 and 16.

PETERBOROUGH—Cassidy House, Oct. 17 and 18.

LINDSAY—Benson House, Oct. 19 and 20.

COBOURG—Dunham House, Oct. 22, 23 and 24.

Prof. Hotchkiss's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person. That a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having healed inguinal and umbilical hernia as well as Varicose, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 86 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults.

Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFIES the Hernia he cannot hold in its place.

APPLICATION FOR INCORPORATION.

The following notice appears in the Canada Gazette:—

"Notice is hereby given that within one month after the last publication of this notice in the Canada Gazette, application will be made to His Excellency the Governor General in Council under 'The Canada Joint Stock Companies Act, 1877,' for letters patent incorporating the undermentioned applicants and those other persons who may become shareholders in the proposed company as a body corporate and politic for the purposes hereinafter mentioned:—

1. The proposed name of the company is 'The Peterborough Review Printing and Publishing Company' (Limited).

2. The purposes, for which such incorporation is sought are:—

(a) To purchase and acquire from Messrs. Toker & Co. the good will and right to print, publish and issue the newspaper called the Peterborough Review, both daily and week editions, and also the good will and right to print, publish and issue the newspaper called the Canada Lumberman, both being published by the said Toker & Co. at the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, together with the general printing and publishing business, book-binding and general stationery business carried on by said Toker & Co., at the said Town of Peterborough, together with all plant, machinery, stock property and assets used by the said Toker & Co. to print and publish said newspaper and carry on their said business;

(b) And after such purchase and acquirement by said proposed company, the printing, publication and issue by them, at the said Town of Peterborough, of the said Peterborough Review, both daily and weekly editions, and also the printing, publication and issue by the said company, at the said Town of Peterborough, or at such other place in the Dominion of Canada as may from time to time be deemed advisable, of the said Canada Lumberman, and also the carrying on by the said Company of a general printing and publishing business, book-binding in all its branches and a general stationery business, at the said Town of Peterborough and at such other place or places throughout the Dominion of Canada, as may be deemed advisable.

3. The chief place of business of the said company is to be at the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario.

4. The amount of the capital stock of the said Company is to be forty thousand dollars.

5. The number of shares is to be eighty, and the amount of each share five hundred dollars.

6. The names in full and the addresses and callings of each of the applicants are John Carnegie, of the said Town of Peterborough, printer and publisher, Edward John Toker, of the said Town of Peterborough, printer and publisher; John Hilliard Carnegie, of the said Town of Peterborough, Gentleman; George Hilliard, of the said Town of Peterborough, lumber manufacturer, and Robert Archibald Morrow, of the said Town of Peterborough, Gentleman.

7. The said John Carnegie, Edward John Toker and John Hilliard Carnegie, all of whom are residents of Canada, are to be the first or provisional directors of the proposed company.

8. The said company intend to transact business throughout the Dominion of Canada.

9. And notice is also hereby given that the said applicants will in their petition ask for the embodying in the letters patent of the following provisions:—

At each annual meeting it shall be the duty of the shareholders present to estimate and establish by resolution the then actual value of the shares of the stock of the company, such estimate to be based on the financial result of the operations of the company as exhibited by the statement of its affairs then before them, and in case at any time during the then next ensuing year any share or shares in the stock of the company are offered for sale, whether under execution or otherwise, and the sale thereof has not been entered on the books of the company, or if any share or shares of the company have become transmitted by bequest, inheritance, or in any other way whatsoever, then the said company shall, during the two months next after such sale, offer for sale or transmission has been notified to the company, have the privilege of acquiring such share or shares so sold or to be sold or so transmitted as aforesaid, upon payment or tender of the price of such share or shares calculated at the value thereof as established at the then last annual meeting, the company having the first preference of purchase and then the shareholders, and in such order and on such conditions as

THE SENATE.

We are told in an article that is circulating among the smaller Reform journals which depend upon the Globe for their ideas, that an "elective Senate" is one of the planks in the platform that is being erected for the party. Still more strangely, we are told that Messrs. Geo. Brown, Alex. Mackenzie, and Edward Blake, are the fathers of this policy. Does the Globe think people have forgotten that at the time of confederation Mr. Brown and other Reform leaders advocated a nominated, as opposed to an elected Senate, and that Senator Brown gave some smart rap to those intermeddlers with the House to which he belonged? But the fact is that the Globe, under its present management, seems never to weary of belittling or insulting its founder, as witness its incessant harping upon the "Big Push," thus recalling to memory what might well be let sleep by his friends, the condemnation pronounced from the Bench upon the late Senator for his efforts to raise a corruption fund, while raving against corruption imputed to others.

To hold Mr. Mackenzie responsible for the advocacy of an elected Senate is equally absurd, when we remember that when he was in power he was quite willing to exercise his nominating power in favor of his friends, making no attempt to strip himself of this patronage, now held so obnoxious, and that indeed he even clamoured for an extension of his nominating power, and for permission to add to the Senate a still greater number of nominated Senators than the law authorized. That was the only "Reform" he suggested when he had the power in his own hands.

As to Mr. Blake's views upon the subject, we will probably learn what they are when the leader of the Reform party has succeeded in finding a policy to which his party will agree.

The truth is that the objection felt to the Senate by Reformers arises not from the manner of its constitution, but from the fact of its too truly representing the Dominion by being Conservative. They object not so much to the principle of nomination as to the fact that they cannot exercise this right. Their quarrel is not with the Senate alone, but with the majority of the people of Canada, who will persist in giving their confidence to a statesman who nominates Conservative Senators.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

Under the title "The Peace of Europe" the London Times a short time ago administered, in a leading article, a gentle castigation to Germany. It appears that the Nord Deutsche Zeitung, Prince Bismarck's official organ, is somewhat hypersensitively irritated at the want of brotherly love which exists between France and the German Empire. That there is no love lost between these nations is apparent to all; but what surprises the Times is, that Germany should complain of a fact which France has so politely and successfully endeavored to conceal.

Canada must, and always will, take a deep interest in the peace of Europe—bound as she is by so close a tie to its most influential member; it is interesting, therefore, to glance at the causes of this disquieting utterance of the German Chancellor.

France, like a naughty child, has been put in the corner by Germany; and, its temper being ruffled, when thus left to itself, in disgrace as it were, with nothing to occupy its attention, isolated from its companions, who eye it askance as being under displeasure, it naturally vents its restlessness on any minor attractions that may be at hand. It is this restlessness that Germany finds so difficult to endure. That phlegmatic nation is also suspicious—two by no means incompatible qualities—and, deeming that there is always the likelihood of a rebellion in la mée Europe's school, she, considering herself (and justly) if not the arbitrator, at all events the peace-maker, of the European continent, keeps a secret but ever watchful guard over the hot-headed, impulsive nation she has lately humiliated. And for this Germany cannot be blamed. France has given all Europe cause to frown at her capricious freaks. In these days the mere fact of belligerents being at a distance from European centres matters little. Warlike preparations in Madagascar or Annam send more than a tremor over the otherwise placid surface of politics in London, Berlin or Vienna. But, unfortunately, the French are irrepressible except by force; they constitute Europe's most nervous pupil; proud of her lineage, she is as irritable under restraint as she is rash in temper. The only question is, will the Prince's remarks cause this simmering insubordination to boil over? All that can be said is, that Europe must be patient. Paris now contains no statesman with a sound and rational policy to calm the public mind. But surely the course of events must be educating some younger minds, who, when they guide the ship of state will avoid running in the teeth of the popular breeze, and will safely steer past the Scylla of internal anarchy and the Charybdis of general distrust. Let us hope so. Meanwhile there is nothing that need disturb the general peace; and us, on this side of the Atlantic, only grave and radical complications can affect.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette thus describes the progress of the works at that village for the Trent Valley Navigation:—

Since we last noticed the canal, some weeks ago, work thereon has been progressing steadily and there is now a force of sixty men employed, and forty more are busy at the Bobcaygeon quarry taking out and dressing stone, ten scow loads of which have already arrived at the Falls. The men engaged here are distributed along the entire length of the canal, the skilled masons working in the locks, others at excavating, and the rest at the cribs, where are being put together on land and look like log houses without doors, windows or roofs, and which, when completed, will be taken to pieces and rebuilt in the water at the east end of the cut. The construction of the coffer dam has been delayed by the partial filling up of its site with sawdust and other rubbish raised by the logs which came down the slide, and the dredge, which had to be again sent for, arrived and commenced operations this week. Trouble is also being caused, for the second time, by an influx into the canal of water from the tail-race of the old mill; and the stoppage of the present leak will probably be, like the stoppage of the one that occurred some time ago, a somewhat expensive job. Between sixty and seventy feet of the walls of lock No. 2 have been raised to the height of seven or eight feet, and are gradually being extended "upward and onward"; but as the blocks of stone are extremely heavy and have to be laid with the utmost care, the progress is so slow that a person looking on from day to day can hardly notice that any has been made. The walls are eight feet thick, and the space between the solid masonry and the rough and irregular face of the excavation is filled in with a sort of grouting composed of sand, cement and broken stone. The end wall of the lock is keeping pace with those at the sides, and the platform upon which the gates are to turn is being laid down. The latter is constructed of huge timbers, some of which are let into grooves cut in the rock and others bolted to it; then the spaces between the timbers are filled "chuck" full of concrete, and over all there will be a double flooring, one of five inch and the other of three inch planks. This canal is said to be quite a little one—more trifling affair, but the amount of labour and material employed in its construction is so surprising that it puzzles our simple arithmetic to imagine how its probable cost is arrived at. A few weeks ago we announced that it was the intention of the contractors to stop work when winter sets in; but our readers will be glad to learn that this intention has been abandoned, and that operations both here and at Bobcaygeon will be continued until the canal shall be completed, which they hope will be some time next fall.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The October number of Harper has for a frontispiece a beautiful engraving from Gilbert Stuart's picture, of Washington. An engraving of the companion portrait of Mrs. Washington with numerous other illustrations accompany J. T. Headley's interesting account of "The Last Days of Washington's Army at Newburgh," the closing episode of the War of Independence. Colonel Higginson gives us some of the opening scenes in his description of "The Dawning of Independence," also profusely illustrated. To study the present aspect of the great republic P. Robinson bids us accompany him in his "Saunterings in Utah," while W. H. Bishop takes us to Kentucky "Among the Blue-Grass Trotters," the forms of many of the most illustrious being presented to us. Mr. F. D. Miller continues his graphic description of life in "Dulacarta," the graver aided the pen with admirable effect. The chief of the living Dutch painters "Micael de Keyser" and his works, several of which are reproduced, are appreciatively treated by Z. B. Gustafson. The serial story "A Castle in Spain" draws near its termination, the situation growing in dramatic interest. Several short tales and poems, with the ever bright editor's miscellanies complete the table of contents of a most attractive number.

THE CENTURY.—For a frontispiece to the October number of the Century Magazine we have a portrait of Longfellow from a photograph by Saxony, the life and works of the most popular of poets being subsequently ably treated by E. C. Stedman. With another great author we are made intimately acquainted by W. H. Rideing, who leads us "In the footsteps of Thackeray," pen and graver combining to show us some of the scenes through which the author and his characters moved. Art represents as to architecture by R. G. Whyte's paper on "Old New York and its Houses," and as to the graver, by Austin Dobson's account of "The Pupils of Berwick," both articles being admirably illustrated. W. J. Stillman, with full knowledge of his subject graphically describes "The Characteristics of London," the metropolis is and epitome of the world. Very different are the life and scenes to which we are introduced in "Outdoor Industries in Southern California" vividly described and profusely illustrated. G. P. Fisher gives an account of "Luther"—after four hundred years—with an engraving from a contemporary woodcut. Installments of two serial stories, some shorter tales and poems, and minor contributions of a miscellaneous nature need not be particularized.

THE CANADA LIFE.

It is always pleasant to be able to point to prosperous Canadian institutions. It is particularly agreeable to be able to say that the Canada Life Assurance Company, which has just held its annual meeting, is not only a prosperous Canadian company, but that, though of Canadian origin, it has more than a national reputation. The company is now in its twenty-first year. As it was a pioneer Canadian Life Company it naturally did not in its earlier years meet with public confidence to a very large extent. But good management and a fair and honorable treatment of insurers have secured for it within the last thirty years so great a measure of success that it now claims a business about as large as that of the other insurance companies put together. Today its annual income is $1,150,338, and the sums assured reach in the aggregate $30,139,036. Within the past six years it has just doubled its business and its assets besides; and at present its business is increasing at the rate of $12,000 a day. There is another feature of the work of the Canada Life which is of great public interest, and that is the enormous amount of money it has been enabled to pay to the widows and orphans of deceased insurers. During the thirty-six years of its existence it has distributed to the bereaved, who, had it not been for the forethought of their departed relatives, might have been penniless, a sum approaching three million dollars. Last year also it distributed in this way almost $300,000. The report of the company states that it is enlarging its operations materially, and that it is assuming even a better position than that it now occupies, a circumstance which must be gratifying not alone to the stockholders and to the president, who has made the building up of the institution his life work, but to the assuring public and to all who rejoice in the prosperity of things Canadian.—Mail.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balsamic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

NIGHT AND MORNING:

OR HOW SOON A MAN CHANGES HIS MIND.

He goes to his room at night.

When you're waking call me early, call me early,
Bridget, dear;
For to-morrow is a holiday, the happiest of the year;
To-morrow I go to a fair and unless I early rise
I shall miss my opportunity for life, my dear, for life.

Oh! I love the gladsome autumn morn, when the mist upon the hill
In vaporous wreaths is floating, when the air is calm and still;
When 'tis neither day nor night-time, when the birdlets
chirp clear
Is heard, so call me early, call me early, Biddy dear.
Oh! dear to me's the breath of morn, so fragrant,
sweet and pure,
When the dewdrops on the clover are like little gems
demure;
When the mullin stalks are waving in the early morning breeze,
Which sighs and sings, and kisses flings among the tinted trees.

When the crow flies forth on sable wing from yonder wooded copse,
And the early frog to catch the earlier worm for breakfast hope;
When chattering shrill notes proclaim another day
is here;
So be sure and call me early, call me early, Bridget
dear.

Ah! yes, the early morning is the sweetest time of day,
And I love to rise betimes and to the streamlets haste away
With rod and line; don't let me sleep, dear Biddy, do contrive
To have me out at half-past five; be sure, at half-past five.

He is aroused, as directed, next morn.

"What's that? Oh, bosh! 'tain't half-past five; no, nonsense, you're mistaken."
Tut! tut! why this is far too soon for any man to awaken;
Yes, Bridget dear, far too soon; besides it looks like rain;
Too early, girl, you've called me and I needs must sleep again.

The day is breaking, do you say? Oh! let it break and clear,
It owes me naught, and if it breaks whatever need I care!
The sun will rise, you say, full soon; I care not, don't you know
That ere he sets at even-tide he's many miles to go?
Nay, let me sleep; it's cold and damp; the dew upon the grass
Would wet my feet before a score of furlongs I could pass;
And then that morning breeze, I'm sure is all malaria-laden;
So, methinks I'll slumber yet again; begone my gentle maiden—
—Sweet, in Crip.

A SHADOWY STORY.

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '68.

CONCLUSION.—(Continued).

In less than the appointed time Dickles arrived at the head of some two-and-twenty men, looking sombre enough in their gray overcoats;
so without delay, and giving the command in a low tone, Westbury set off on his dreary patrol.
The night was pitch dark; it was long past the hour when the inhabitants of Boreen were accustomed to retire; and so far as the Lieutenant could judge, no one was aware of the departure of the soldiers. Yet a feeling hung about him, a curious conviction that, in spite of the utter silence and darkness, such was not the case; and as he left, he threw a last glance at the upper windows of Boreen House, remembering the suspicious crackling he had heard half an hour earlier. Now, however, nothing was to be heard or seen; and in a few seconds the last cottage was lost in the gloom, and the men plodded slowly along the miry road. When five wary eyes had been traversed, the party were brought to a sudden halt, by a faint halloo at some little distance behind them. It was repeated nearer and nearer. Westbury was in doubt whether to answer or not; it might be a messenger for them, or it might be a messenger in connection with a very different party, and as he remained silent he might discover some thing bearing on the object of the expedition, he did not answer the halloo. Directly afterwards, however, another shout followed, and this time they could hear—"th, halt!" The number of the regiment to which the handful of regulars belonged being correctly given, the halloo was returned; then the sound of a man plashing through the water in the hollow was heard, followed by a figure which came panting up the slope.

"Who goes there?" was the challenge given by Dickles.

"Be the powers, but it's 'who goes there' indeed," said a voice. "Sure it's meelf; an' mighty fine run I've had after years all the way from the Big Rock of Drome, an' got drowned intirely in the bog."

"Well, who are you, and what do you want with us?" interrogated Westbury.

"It's the Lieutenant Westbury I'm wantin'," replied the man.

"I am Lieutenant Westbury. Now lay your business and who you are."

"Me name is Mike—Mike Rooney, yer honour," said the stranger; "but ye'll know the man that sint me. I'm from Dennis Mullaney; an' it's a deary earn half-guineas I'll have for this night's work."

"Mullaney?" exclaimed Westbury, roused at hearing the name of their principal scout.

"What does he say?"

"He sez," resumed the man, "that ye've not to go on wid yer men to the rocky road, but to go as quick as ye can to Hogarty's Mill; an' then if ye're lucky ye'll nab five or six of the proclaimed boys—raile golden birds."

"Where is Hogarty's mill?" asked the Lieutenant. "Are you to show us the way?"

"Sure, no, yer honour," replied the messenger. "I'm to get back to Dennis as soon as me tin toes will carry me."

"Here's a man who knows Hogarty's mill," said Dickles. "He says it's about three miles away, down a lane which turns off just here."

"But how am I to know that this man is not deceiving us?" said the Lieutenant. "Mullaney may know nothing about him?" These words were uttered in a very low voice, but the messenger's ears were quick enough to catch them.

"Be gorra! but it's right intirely ye are,
sir," said the man; "an' it's meelf that's the fool for not giving ye the token. See here now; here's Dennis Mullaney's own stick. He saw me at Loughie; an' it's right straight across thim boggs from Loughie to this; an' there's not a boy in the barony but meelf could cross 'em at night. See Dennis: Give this to his honour, an' thin he'll know ye're from me. If ye don't, by me faith ye'll be shot."

"It's his stick, sure enough," said Dickles, taking it from the man. "I have seen Mullaney with it a score of times, and we know he's with the Loughie detachment. I suppose it's all right."

"There's the road, yer honour, said the messenger, pointing in a direction at right angles with the track they were pursuing. "An' now I'll be off, wid yer honour's lave." He turned and walked slowly from them, as if waiting to see them off. The soldiers crossed the miry track which was called a road, and guided by one of their number, entered on a by-way far worse than any of the ground they had yet traversed.

"I don't half like this," said the Lieutenant, as they started. "I believe that fellow is still watching us, or listening to us from the bank where we left him. I will question him again. Go on with the men, Dickles. I will overtake you directly."

So saying Westbury recrossed the road and Dickles heard him call to the scout; then the sergeant-major plunged fairly into the lane, and was soon out of reach of his voice.

The Lieutenant was right in his conjecture,

for as he crossed the road he heard the messenger commence to run. He shouted to him, but the man did not stop, and Westbury dashed after him. Although a fast runner, yet being embarrassed by his heavy cloak, he did not gain much upon the man, who, however, was evidently close to him, though quite invisible in the darkness. This confirmed the officer in the belief that some treachery was afoot, so drawing a pistol from his belt he cried "Stop, or I fire."

"We'll see about that!" exclaimed a voice close—appalling close—to him; and in an instant he was grasped by several men, while as he was being held, he saw a light flash from his head, effectually preventing him from giving an alarm. "Bring him along," said the voice.

"Take him to the Captain."

"Better send two or three pikes into him," said another voice, "and have done wid him."

"Hold your tongue!" said the first voice.

"This is the officer, and something like a prize."

While this colloquy was proceeding, Westbury was being dragged over some rough ground and too well knew that in the darkness there was now little chance of his men finding him, even if they made a search.

The journey did not last long. In about ten minutes they halted; the covering was taken from his face, and then Westbury could see that they were standing in front of some kind of building. He heard a door open, but all was so dark he could make out nothing distinctly.

"What force had you with you, and where did you expect to meet the other detachments?" demanded some one, whose voice the Lieutenant had not previously heard.

"I dare say," returned Westbury, firmly,

"that you know quite as well as I do; but if you do not, you will not learn from me."

"Do you know what will be the result of your not answering?" said the other.

"I don't know, neither do I care," retorted

Westbury.

"Then I have done with you," said the speaker, and turned away. Some angry exclamations which followed, the clashing of weapons, and a stir among those around him, told Westbury that he was in imminent peril, and he momentarily expected to feel the thrust of the deadly pikes. One man, with a leap and a yell, came so close that even the darkness Westbury could see him plainly. "This is for the English recruit!" he shouted, and raised his arm. Thenext instant must have been the soldier's last; but a choked figure rushed between them, anda woman's voice, which sounded wonderfully familiar, exclaimed, "No ye don't! Pat!If ye barrum a hair of his head, he'll do powers, I'll set the boys on ye that will stretch ye low enough!"

"Pike him! Finish him!" broke from several of those around mingled with oaths in English and Irish; but there was evidently a strong party opposed to violence, although in this case only as it seemed from the words, "Ye may pike every red coat in the country; an' glad we'd be; but this is a decent kindly man, anda gentle tongue an' an open hand." These were the arguments used; and it seemed to West-bury that blows were struck, so great was the confusion, as at last he found himself in the centre of a group, hurried away he knew not whither.

Militia General Orders.

The Canada Gazette of Saturday contains the following:—3rd Provisional Regiment of Cavalry "The Prince of Wales' Canadian Dragoons"—No. 3 Troop, Peterboro.—To be 2nd Lieutenant, Sergeant Arthur Edward Snyder, G. S., vice William Henry Rackham.

West Riding Exhibition.

The entries for the indoor department of the West Riding Exhibition were closed at noon, and the judges are at work this afternoon. Taken altogether this part of the fair is better than last year. There is more grain on exhibition, a much larger collection of fine arts, the ladies work shows up well and there are exhibitions in classes which were empty last year. The display of fruit is small, but that was to be expected. The exhibition will be open this evening from 7 till 10 o'clock, and the Fire Brigade Band will be present.

Fire Alarm.

The central fire bell sounded a short alarm at about half-past eight o'clock on Monday evening, and the ward bells took up the note of warning. Some of the firemen quickly gathered at the hall and a number of people rushed into the street, but the bell only sounded a few blows and there was no fire. The Fire, Water and Gas Committee was holding a meeting, and they sent the messenger for the engineer of the steam fire engine. The messenger rapped at the fire hall and got no answer, and he rang the bell as being the quickest and easiest way of securing the presence of the engineer. The method adopted was effectual, as it not only brought the engineer, but a great many more.

Contract Finished.

The Lindsay Warder contains the following paragraph:—
"The contract of the Midland extension was finished so far as Messrs McNeely & Walters are concerned, on Friday of last week, and the Toronto Bridge Company are now pushing their part, that of putting on the iron. As soon as completed it will of course shorten materially the distance to be travelled by the Toronto trains when coming up to the Lindsay depot, and will as well as some very heavy grades for loading trains. The extension has been well constructed by the contractors, and considering the wet and cool weather and time has been made. The piers of the new bridge are especially well built, and are of the finest material, and if the Bridge Company are as careful with their part as Messrs McNeely and Walters were with theirs it will be the best constructed bridge on the Midland Railway. It is expected that it will be completed near enough to permit trains to pass over it in two weeks."

Royal Templars of Temperance.

Peterborough Council No. 94, Royal Templars of Temperance, was organized on Monday evening by Bro. P. M. Patterson, of Watford, Ont., the Grand Lecturer of the Order. This society, which is new to Peterborough, combines practical temperance work and systematic benevolence. Active members receive weekly benefits in case of sickness and can insure their lives for from $500 to $4,000 on the mutual assessment plan. The Peterborough Council started with a membership of sixteen and its prospects appear to be bright. The following officers were elected and installed:— SELECT COUNCILOR—James Stratton.
VICE-COUNCILOR—Rev. T. Manning, B.A.
PAST COUNCILOR—H. E. Smith.
CLERK—Rev. W. J. Joffe.
REC. SECRETARY—James T. Emmerson.
FIN. SECRETARY—John J. Hartley.
TREASURER—T. W. Robinson.
HERALD—W. G. Yelland.
DEPUTY HERALD—S. R. Armstrong.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 2nd.—Mr. Thomas Menzies, J. P., presided on the bench this morning.

DRUNK.

Robert Burns was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk in a public place on Monday evening. He acknowledged the truthfulness of the charge and said that it was "a good while" since he had appeared in the court before. He was fined $1 and $3.50 costs or twenty days in gaol.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

John Heffernan pleaded guilty to a charge of having been drunk and disorderly on Monday evening, preferred against him by P. C. Adams. This was his first offence, and he was fined 50 cents and $3.50 costs or fifteen days in gaol.

A Fatal Result.

Joseph A., youngest son of Mr. N. Laplante, who was accidentally scalded last week, died on Monday and was buried this afternoon.

Cheese shipment.

Mr. T. Watkins shipped to-day at the Midland Station, three cars of cheese. The shipment comprised 900 boxes, or about 40,000 pounds. It was purchased from different factories in this vicinity and was shipped to Liverpool. His agent says that Mr. Watkins will ship about 20,000 boxes during the next two weeks from points between Port Hope and Kingston.

Fair to Cloudy.

This morning was cloudy and rain fell, but before noon the weather cleared up, although it remained cool. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from 1 o'clock a.m., as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the east and north; fair to cloudy weather, with rain areas, more particularly in the northern portion; not much change in temperature.

Peterborough Boys Going West.

The Calgary Herald, published under the shadow of the Rocky Mountains, in its issue of Sept. 21st says:—

"We received by last mail a communication from a Peterborough party, stating that about six or eight young men of that vicinity, with a capital ranging from one to two thousand dollars apiece, were desirous of locating in this quarter, as farmers, and asking information regarding soil, climate, fuel and water supply, &c. We believe that if the Government open the land office, and put their land in the market, we shall see a large influx of settlers early next season."

Turnbull's Millinery and Mantle showrooms will be opened on Tuesday and Wednesday, 2nd and 3rd October.

Bazaar.

The ladies of the George Street Methodist Church will hold a bazaar and sale of fancy and useful articles on Wednesday afternoon and evening. The bazaar will be held in the basement of the church. To-day they furnished dinner to those who desired it, and to-morrow they will do the same, the dinner being provided especially for persons attending the West Riding Exhibition. The bazaar will be well supplied with fancy articles, ladies' work, &c., and this will afford a good opportunity for making purchases. The sale will commence at noon on Wednesday and will continue during the afternoon and evening. Do not fail to see the display.

Personal.

Dr. R. P. Boucher has, we are glad to learn, recovered sufficiently from his late illness to be able to take a trip for change of air for a fortnight, after which he proposes to resume the active practice of his profession.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, was not in attendance at the court this morning. We regret to learn that his absence was caused by domestic affliction, his son George, aged seven years and six months, having died on Monday night after a brief illness.

Messrs. F. Rivers and S. S. Harris, agent for "The Alleghenian's" company of bell ringers, and Mr. A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dumfries, are at the Caisse House. Mr. Chas. H. Kelshin, agents for the "Lights 'o London" company, is at the Oriental Hotel.

A Rumour.

The Montreal Star has the following in reference to an old resident and present property holder in Peterborough:—

"In connection with rumoured Cabinet changes, Mr. Thomas White is talked of for a portfolio. We are quite sure that even among his political enemies there are many amongst the best who would be glad to see Mr. White honoured by a seat in the Cabinet. He has a broad, clear mind, an intimate knowledge of the country's history, commerce and general condition and an extended parliamentary experience. Mr. White is a staunch Conservative, but a very much more Liberal man than many might suppose if they took the Gazette as a reflex of his mind. We are quite sure that Montreal would be proud to see Mr. White in the Ministry, and quite as sure that throughout the Dominion, where he is looked upon as a representative loyal Canadian, the satisfaction would be quite as great."

Railway Notes.

The half yearly meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Company will be held in London, Eng., on October 25th for the transaction of general business. Among the special matters to be submitted to the proprietors for approval, according to the notice in the Canada Gazette, is "an agreement between the Midland Railway of Canada and the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada respecting the working of the said Midland Railway."

The Lindsay Warder says that traffic on the Midland appears to be improving, especially at the Lindsay station, and a large number of engines are constantly to be found at work in the yard or preparing to go out on the road. Several new sidings have also been put in, but more are apparently needed yet as they are constantly filled up.

October Weather.

Mr. H. G. Vennor writes as follows regarding the probable weather during this month:—
"A roaring wet autumn, very open after October cold wave. No snow at close of year. Unusual warmth in January, 1884. Hardly any winter at all west of Toronto. Severe frost may do harm on bare ground."

Runaway.

A horse attached to one of the brewery delivery waggon ran away from the Midland Station this forenoon. The horse ran up Charlotte, Aymer and Simcoe streets to Water street. It turned at Water street, running at a rapid rate, but stopped at the Stewart House. No damage was done to horse or waggon.

Death of Mr. Buchanan.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1.—The Hon. Isaac Buchanan died this morning at his residence in Hamilton. Mr. Buchanan represented Toronto in the old Parliament of Upper Canada, and at one time held a seat in the Executive Council.

Miss Irons has taken particular pains this season to fill Turnbull's Showrooms with all the latest Novelties in Millinery. Our lady friends say she does not follow but leads in this Department. Call and inspect on Tuesday and Wednesday, 2nd and 3rd October.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

1. By donning a Fall Overcoat.
2. By changing to a Fall Suit.
3. By slipping on Heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants. We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice. Now then, the application:—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If our assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and prices, well,—

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so neat attire. Time, temper and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders. Hear it, then, and—contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The same of comfort. The best of satisfaction. The pick of all goods, and—none better elsewhere.

F. BIRDSALL.

ST. LAWRENCE CANALS.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and enclosed in a cover marked "St. Lawrence Canals," will be received at this office, until the arrival of the eastern and western mails on TUESDAY, the 13th day of November next, for the construction of a lock and regulating weir and enlargement and enlargement of the upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal.

Also for the construction of a lock, together with the enlargement and deepening of the upper entrance of the Rapids Flat Canal, or middle division of the Williamsburg Canal.

Tenders will also be received until TUESDAY, the 27th day of November next, for the extension of the pierwork and deepening, &c., of the channel at the upper entrance of the Galopas Canal.

A map of the head or upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal and the upper entrance of the Rapids Flat Canal, together with plans and specifications of the respective works, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's office, Dickinson's Landing, on and after Tuesday, the 27th day of October next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

A map, plans and specification of the works to be done at the head of the Galopas Canal can be seen at this office and at the lock keeper's house, near the place, on and after TUESDAY, the 13th day of November, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars must accompany the tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted. This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

A. P. BRADLEY,

Secretary.

Dept. of Railways and Canals,

PRICE TWO CENTS

BALL'S

CORSETS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to its wearer in every way, or the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought.

The only Corset pronounced by our leading physicians as being the most comfortable and perfect fitting Corset ever made.

RECEIVED
FIRST PRIZE
At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, have-to-be-broken-before-worn affairs of the present day. It is one of the snuggest, closest fitting corsets made, yet perfectly comfortable at all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1883.

A PECK AND A QUARTER BUSHEL.

We have sometimes censured contemporaries for dwelling with too evident gratification upon an asserted exodus from Canada to Dakota, but as we are always ready to own an error, not pretending to infallibility, we must admit that to an infinitesimal degree we were wrong. It seems that S. S. Peck, the late treasurer of the county of Haliburton, who dishonestly put some of their money in his own treasury instead of theirs, found it expedient to go to Dakota as it was safer to invest his plunder there than in this country. Not only so, but according to a very circumstantial report, which those interested seem unable to deny, he has also acted as a partner or agent for two colleagues of Mr. Mowat to invest their money in the same territory. This interest of the Ontario cabinet in Dakota lands also accounts for what appeared so strange, namely, the fact of Ontario officials sending emigrants from Europe out of Canada into Dakota.

While, however, admitting the truth of the exodus, inasmuch as S. S. Peck left Haliburton for Dakota, we must submit that he has now returned to Haliburton to attend to his judicial duties, Mr. Mowat, on the principle of setting a thief to catch a thief, having deemed him a fit man to administer justice to any lesser culprits that may be brought before him in the county of Haliburton, the scene of his former predatory exploits. In short, S. S. Peck having carefully placed his ill-gotten gains in Dakota has returned to Canada to see if by any means he can add to his "pile."

This position of affairs removes the surprise we felt at Mr. Mowat having placed a notorious rogue upon the judgment seat. It is easy to understand that Mr. Mowat would be inclined to favour if possible the "pal" of his two Dakota colleagues in the Ontario cabinet. Our idea that as an honest man he must have felt an almost invincible repugnance to disgrace the bench by placing such a person upon it is altogether dispipated by his recent Ontario exploits. A man who would plan to rob electors of their franchise, as he did, for instance, in the case of the people of Cockburn Island, by refusing them a polling place because they are Conservatives, would naturally be in sympathy with a man, who, being entrusted with other people's money, knavishly appropriated it for his own benefit. In fact Oliver Mowat has now shown himself to be exactly on a level with S. S. Peck, and we need no longer wonder at the friendship between two kindred spirits.

The Fire Department.

A telephone instrument has been put in the fire hall by the Waterworks Company, so that the fire department will have communication with the waterworks pump house at all hours.

Springless Truss.

See Prof. Hotchkinn's Springless Truss and Supporters. Advertisement in another column of this paper. Go and see him. He defies the hernia he cannot hold. At the Caisse House Oct. 17th and 18th.

Sale Foreclosed.

The auction sale of the Peterborough Club's billiard tables and furniture, in their rooms over the post office, has been postponed on account of the Agricultural Exhibition, and will take place to-morrow afternoon beginning at two o'clock.

Vagrancy.

A Magistrate's Court was held in the gaol building on Tuesday and Owen Dowling, a feeble old man, was again committed to gaol for a further period of six months, by Mr. T. Menzies, J. P., and Mr. A. Rutherford, J. P.

Millinery Opening.

Mr. Turnbull has opened a fine stock of fall millinery goods, of which he has laid in a very complete and well-chosen assortment, so that his numerous customers can hardly fail to find something to suit their respective tastes.

Fine Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from 1 o'clock a. m., as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh westerly to north-westerly winds; fine weather; slight changes in temperature, frost at night.

To the Ladies.

Miss Semple, as will be seen by her advertisement in another column, is receiving her Fall stock of Millinery Goods in great variety. The ladies are well acquainted with the good taste Miss Semple displays in selecting the articles in which she deals, and with the superior class of her goods, so that they will no doubt hasten to inspect, admire and purchase.

Messrs. Hall, James & Co.

The above firm announce to-day the opening of their millinery show rooms for the present season, and invite the inspection of ladies to the many novelties displayed. Increased care has been bestowed on the selection of trimmed millinery, pattern hats and bonnets, flowers, feathers and ornaments, while their stock of mantles, ulsters, &c., are offered with unusual confidence.

Board of Education.

Ten members of the Board of Education assembled on Tuesday evening to hold a regular meeting. The principal business to be dealt with was that of appointments, and as the Chairman of the committee in appointments was absent, owing to domestic affliction, there was no report from the committee. The Board therefore adjourned until Friday evening next, at 7.45 o'clock.

Vocalists and Bell Players.

The Alleghenians, whose name has become a household word with music-loving people of all nations, and whose continuous travels have extended to all parts of the civilized globe, performing by Royal command and before the nobility of Europe, will present our citizens next Tuesday evening with one of their unique and incomparable programmes, new songs, trills, and quartettes, and their astonishing manipulation of the 120 Swiss bells.

The Bazaar.

The bazaar and sale of fancy and useful articles, held in the basement of the George street Methodist church by the ladies of that church, was opened this afternoon. About eighty persons dined in the rooms yesterday, and a larger number again to-day. The bazaar is well stocked with tempting articles, and as the sale proceeds they will no doubt quickly disappear. It will be continued this evening, and tea will be served.

Personal.

Much regret is felt at the death of Mr. James Goodwin, who was greatly esteemed and respected by all who knew him. Mr. Goodwin had the contract for the Trent Valley works at Buckhorn and Burleigh, which will be continued by his nephew, Mr. Geo. Goodwin, who is associated with him in the contract, and had the supervision of the work. In fact for some years Mr. Geo. Goodwin has managed his uncle's extensive contract business, so that there will be no change or delay in the operations.

Wynne.

On Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, Mr. M. J. Sullivan, of the dry goods firm of Giroux & Sullivan, and Miss Kate Tierney were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. The ceremony was performed in St. Peter's Cathedral by His Lordship Bishop Jamot, assisted by the Rev. Father Keating. There were quite a number present in the church to witness the interesting ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Dunn, cousin of the bride, and the groomsmen were Mr. M. Tierney, brother of the bride. After the conclusion of the ceremony a number of the friends of the happy couple were entertained at a dinner at the residence of the bride's mother, and many were the good wishes expressed on behalf of the newly wedded ones. The bride was made the recipient of a large number of handsome and valuable presents. We join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan a long life of uninterrupted happiness.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

Wednesday, Oct. 3.—Patrick Ryan appeared before Mr. James Stevenson, J. P., charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk. He pleaded guilty. The Clerk found in the records a fine standing against him since November last. He was fined $1 and costs, or fifteen days in gaol.

The Luxuries of the Season.

First arrival this season of venison, ducks and partridge at Smith's Market, where game of all kinds in season can always be found. Also large, choice oysters, in bulk and cans, fresh fish, ham, bologna and fine seasoned meats, pears, peaches, grapes, oranges, lemons, apples, and the finest fruit of the season, garden vegetables, tomatoes, celery, cauliflowers, cabbage, carrots, turnips, &c. A splendid assortment of canned goods, pickles and sauces, mince pie, &c., all at the usual moderate prices at Smith's Market, George street.

Pencil Points.

—Cold weather.
—One prisoner in the cells last night.
—The Peterborough Orchestra have weekly assemblies on Thursday evenings.
—There was an average attendance on the market this morning, and the prices remained about the same figures.
—The Young Men's Christian Association are preparing a course of lectures for the season, and are corresponding with several well known public speakers.
—Mr. H. Rush has had a water motor put in his store for the purpose of driving his coffee mill. It stands in the window and is quite an attraction. It is driven by the waterworks.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE TREATMENT OF ALFONSO.
MADRID, Oct. 2.—The irritation against France has assumed tremendous proportions. The Herias says the King condescended to remain one night more in Paris and dine with Grevy only after a humble apology and reserving his liberty of action to ask satisfaction.

OFFICIAL DENIAL.

MADRID, Oct. 2.—The Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs denies that a treaty has been entered into by Spain with Germany.

PRESIDENT GREVY'S REGRET.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—President Grevy is much affected by the treatment of King Alfonso, and it is said that he even intimated that he intended to resign the Presidency.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS DENIED.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 2.—It is denied that Russia is making military preparations on the Austrian and German frontiers.

CANNON FOR THE FRONTIER.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The Gaulois reports that many cannon have been sent to the eastern frontier within a week.

CHEAPER AND BETTER COTTONS.

The Monday Times in an article on the textiles at the Toronto exhibition thus shows the benefits that we have derived from the national policy.—
"Take the white goods of the Merchants' Manufacturing Company for example. Fourteen samples of these were shown, of different widths and prices. This company, whose mill and bleachery are at St. Henri, a suburb of Montreal makes bleached shirtings. The Montreal Cotton Company, with works at Valleyfield make shirtings and other bleached goods. The verdict of wholesale dealers upon these products, is that they are 'honest goods' that is to say they are not stuffed, as the term is, with clay or extraneous substances intended to give them weight or a meretricious finish, and hence the fibre is not injured nor its durability impaired. When we consider how much of the cottons sent to India or China from other manufacturing countries is heavily soaked and weighted with size, and how loud the complaints have been in foreign markets of the last shirting of British and American cotton fabrics, it is something to be proud of that the people of Canada are getting genuine cottons from our home mills, and, no doubt, at present prices, they are getting good value for their money.
In April or May last, prices of our Canadian goods, such as are mentioned above, were lowered from ten to twelve and a half per cent. The more they are reduced in price, the more they are likely to supplant the imported article."

The Coal of the North West.

Locomotives on the Canadian Pacific railway up near Calgary are using coal from the Galt mine. The coal is of excellent quality, and is pronounced to be superior to the Iowa coal. The coal of the North West will shortly compete in Winnipeg with that from the United States.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

Imitators vs. Substitutes.

Good points are worth remembering, for the reason that they assist us in avoiding many discomforts, and protect us against the cupidity of overreaching people. When you learn from friends that Putnam's Corn Extractor is safe, prompt and effectual, don't allow druggists to palm off a worthless and perhaps poisonous substitute. His object is quite patent. He wishes to make a few cents difference between a good article and a cheap imitation or substitute. Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold everywhere. Beware of dangerous imitations. Poison & Co., props., Kingston.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blotches, all scaly, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents. 3 boxes, 1.25, (in stamps). Address, DR. BURGLARS AT PORT HOPE.

They Break into a Workshop and attempt a Jewelry Store.

The Port Hope Guide of Monday says:—An attempt was made on Saturday morning to rob A. W. Pringle's jewelry store, but we were requested not to say anything about the matter on Saturday. The circumstances of the affair are about as follows: It is quite evident these midnight mechanics were strangers, for they broke the lock on O'Brien's carriage show room. Nothing was disturbed there. They then forced the door of the blacksmith shop and took a sledge, and after taking it outside, bore a 3 inch hole through the handle about eight inches from the head and then broke off the handle. They then made an attempt to force the door of Mr. Pringle's jewelry store and succeeded in breaking the lock but did not make an entrance. The back door was likewise disturbed while at their work, for they had broken the front door lock mounted above. Levi Reynolds says that about 11 o'clock on Saturday morning he observed some parties turn down towards the Mid-railway station. He followed but they ran away. Yesterday morning as Mr. Robt. Hewson was looking for mushrooms in the vicinity of the Midland railway platform, he found O'Brien's sledge and a brace under the railway watchman's shanty. The burglars have not been caught, and no doubt other towns will be visited now.

SCOTLAND.

PREPARATIONS are being made for lighting the channel of the river Clyde with gas buoys.

The Duke of Argyll will give a lecture on "Geology and the Deluge" in Glasgow on the 12th of October.

ABOUT 13,000 lambs were sold at the St. Boswell's market on the 3rd ult. The prices obtained were good.

A LAUNCH, driven by electricity, was tried with success on the 10th ult. on the Clyde, opposite Kilmaree.

On the 5th ult. the Glasgow Presbytery by 27 to 6 votes, resolved not to petition for mitigation of the sentence on the Strone ferry rioters.

The Inverness harbour trustees have resolved to accept the loan of a sum of £5,000 to enable them to carry out the improvements at the harbour.

GLASGOW at last census showed about 705,000 and Liverpool about 688,000. If, however, the population be taken within the parliamentary boundaries, Liverpool is some thousands ahead of Glasgow.

The Highland Railway Company are to proceed with the continuation of a new line of railway from Inverness to Aviemore. This will shorten the existing main line from Inverness to Perth by about 25 miles.

RECENTLY the owner of ten hives standing in a garden in Selkirk, and with no beehive with in a mile's flight, weighed them at 7 a.m. and again at 7 p.m., and found the result of the twelve hours work to have been a gain of 30 lbs. of honey.

At Rosny a fine work mare was grazing near precipitous cliffs, when it fell into the sea from a height of a hundred feet. It swam about a thousand yards to a shelf in the rocks, where it was found none the worse for its fall.

On the 1st ult. Lady John Manners made a brief speech at the Dundalk bazaar, in which she commended the Birmmham Institute, spoke of the importance of refreshment rooms even in villages, and enforced the value of temperance.

How Protection Works.

A correspondent writes of an amusing incident which occurred at Ontario some months ago, and says that he knows all the persons referred to, and can vouch for the truth of it: "A carpenter and joiner in Ontario about a year ago told his fellow-workman: 'As soon as I can get a chance, I am going to send home to Scotland and get a claw-hammer as is a hammer, one that I can work with; I can't get a decent hammer in America. About this time a friend of his was going back to the 'old sod,' and he commissioned him to go to the West End of Glasgow and get him a carpenter's claw-hammer, the best he could find, regardless of cost. In due time the friend returned, bringing the desired tool.

"The party gathered around him, including some of his fellow-workmen, and he proceeded to open the package, in the meantime making the remark: 'I'll show you something to make you open your eyes.' As the friend had assured him that he had bought him the kind of hammer used by the best workmen in Glasgow. He affectionately unwound the wraps, and as he took the tool and handed it over to his friend, he said: 'There, look at that.' One of his friends did so, and read the trade-mark on the hammer: 'Made at Norwich, N. Y., U. S. There was no more bragging about Scotch hammers.'—Albany Argus.

Scab in Canadian Sheep.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—The department of agriculture has received advice from Liverpool to the effect that a cargo of 100 sheep from Canada have been ordered for slaughter on account of one sheep said by the authorities there to have been afflicted with scab on landing. A strict investigation has been made by Prof. McEachern, the chief quarantine inspector at Port Liverpool, and he is greatly doubtful that the disease was caught at all, as it had been shown itself during the voyage all the sheep in the pen would have been affected. It is his opinion it was some skin eruption that had shown itself during the voyage in consequence of bad weather.

Yellow Fever.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—No new cases of yellow fever have developed on the steamer Newburn. All patients are recovering. None of the passengers have been permitted to land. The fever is still raging at Hermosillo. The fever has broken out among the Yaqui Indians, and several have died. No deaths have occurred at Guaymas for two days.

The Opinion of All.

Who have tried Polson's Nerviline, the great pain remedy, is that it is never-failing in pain of every description. Neuralgia, toothache, cramps, pain in the stomach, and kindred complaints are banished as if by magic. Rapid and certain in operation, pleasant to take. Nerviline stands at the very front rank of remedies of this class. A trial bottle may be purchased for 10 cents. A very small amount in any case; but the best compensation you can make, if a sufferer from any kind of pain is a 10 or 25 cent bottle of Nerviline at Ormrod & Walsh.

Messrs. Churchill & Co., Genls.—I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum for the past three years, and have been treated by some of the best doctors of Eastern Ontario without any lasting benefit. I was recommended by Mr. C. J. Lindsay, of Kars, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles of your Fountain and two bottles of your Climax Salve, I believe I am perfectly cured. My general health is also much improved, and I now feel like a new man.

THE FALL EXHIBITION

OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Display in the Drill Shed—An Improvement on Last Year—An Instalment of the Prize List.

The annual autumn Exhibition of the West Riding Agricultural Society opened on Tuesday.
The indoor departments were opened to the public in the evening, when there was a good attendance. The Fire Brigade Band was present during the evening and played several selections admirably.

The indoor exhibition included the following classes:—Dairy and farm produce, fruits and vegetables, farming implements and manufactures, domestic manufactures, ladies' and children's work, and fine arts. Taken altogether, the exhibition was a creditable one, and one in advance of this department of the fair held last year, still it was hardly what would be expected in the West Riding of Peterborough.

Of grain there was a good exhibit, there being a much larger quantity than last year. The quality of the grain was good, and almost every kind was represented for which a prize was offered, clover seed and buckwheat being the only absentees.

There were samples of fine looking butter in rolls and skins, and a good display of homemade bread that would open the eyes of many city bakers. Several jars of fine, clear honey were shown, and a new feature was a collection of canned fruit and pickles. Maple sugar did not answer to the roll call.

The display of fruit, though not large, was generally pronounced very good for this year.
Apples, pears, open-air grapes and plums were among the fruit shown, and of these there were some good specimens.

The vegetable department was better filled than last year, and included beets, parsnips, cabbage, celery, cabbages, tomatoes, cauliflowers, onions, turnips, mangels, wartsels, potatoes, a fine collection of garden vegetables, and a collection of Scotch kale. But one article, which has been omnipresent at fairs for generations, was entirely absent, and many felt almost as though a friend were gone. In fact some did not hesitate to pronounce the vegetable department—and even the whole show—a failure, because it was not present. There was not a pumpkin, large or small, on exhibition!

Of implements Mr. Peter Hamilton exhibited horse hoes, horse rakes, plows for soil and for general purposes. Mr. Wm. Forsyth showed three of his improved fanning mills. Mr. T. E.
Fitzgerald's exhibit attracted considerable attention. It consisted of a servicable looking oak farm wagon, which was said to be a fair sample of this class of his work, an exceedingly handsome covered phaeton, two fine covered buggies and an open buggy. Mr. Wm. Metcalf came forward with some fine sets of harness, including farm harness single and double harness, and Mr. W. J. Devlin exhibited a good set of single carriage harness in a case.
Last year there were no manufacturers of leather shown, and the shoemakers did not exhibit their work this year. Mr. Alex. Gibson showed a collection of horse shoes.

Domestic manufactures were very well represented. Messrs. Gemmill & McKee made a good display of factory work, including blankets, all wool cloth, flannels and yarn. The homemade work comprised the usual articles, blankets, plain and fancy flannels, coverlets, yarn, socks, mats, rag and wool carpets, horse blankets, &c.

The ladies came to the fore again this year with their work. There was quite an exhibit of quilts on the line, and a very beautiful fancy chair was shown, besides a handsome camp chair and smaller chairs. The articles usually shown in the class were present and the work on them was very tasteful.

The display in the fine arts department was superior to last year. A fine large landscape painting and a portrait attracted considerable attention, and there was a large collection of different kinds of paintings and drawings, including a pen and ink map of Ontario. Mr. E.
J. Hart, y exhibited a collection of the smaller musical instruments, violins, banjos, accordions, &c.

A small fleet of fine canoes, manufactured by the Ontario Canoe Company, were on exhibition, and drew a great deal of attention from sporting men.

Mr. Wm. M. Hamilton exhibited a collection of brooms and whisks of his own manufacture.
The canoes, brooms and musical instruments were exhibits that were not present at last year's show.

There were three different manufactures of sewing machines shown. Mr. J. E. Murray, agent for the Singer Manufacturing Company, had a number of these machines on exhibition, including the large manufacturing and the smaller domestic machines. He had three or four persons running the machines, showing the quality of work they could do. Mr. G. A. Mitchell, agent for the Wheeler & Wilson, showed samples of their machines, one of which he stated to be the largest in town. He exhibited samples of work done by the machines. The third exhibitor was Mr. I. D. Hendricks, who had an view a number of D. domestic machines.

The live stock department of the exhibition is open this afternoon. The judges were at work, but that part of the prize list will not be completed in time for publication to-day.

The following is the first instalment of the

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1883.

PRICE TWO CENTS

BALL'S

CORSETS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to its wear in every way, for the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought. The only Corset pronounced by our leading physicians as the most comfortable and perfect fitting Corset ever made.

RECEIVED

FIRST PRIZE

At the Toronto Exhibition.

This Corset is in fact what its name implies when contrasted with rigid, unyielding, hard-to-be-broken-before-worn affairs of the present day. It is one of the strongest, closest fitting corsets made, yet perfectly comfortable at all times, whether new or old, and needs no breaking in. Why? Because by an ingenious arrangement of fine coiled spring running back and forth across a section of the corset (see cut above), which renders this section elastic, the corset thereby conforms more closely to the figure, giving a fine outline. It also yields readily to every breath and movement of the wearer.

The elastic section is unlike rubber in that it will not heat the person or decay with age, and emits no disagreeable odor. It is warranted to outwear the corset unimpaired.

Prof. Hotchkine's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed inguinal and umbilical as well as Varicose, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 80 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults. Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFIES the Hernia he cannot hold in its place. Prof. Hotchkine's post-office address is Albion, Orleans Co., N. THE PRICE OF GAS.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I find the following paragraph in a Toronto paper:—

"The Consumers' Gas Company contracted with the city of Toronto 1873 for furnishing gas to the city for ten years, and the rates are as follows, to wit: Private consumers, $1.75 per 1,000 cubic feet; $1.50 per 1,000 cubic feet to all consumers using 200,000 cubic feet per year; and to consumers who use gas burning stoves or engines run by gas the rate is $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet."

If gas in Toronto only costs $1.25 per 1,000 feet, why do we in Peterborough have to pay four dollars for a 1,000 feet.

A CONSUMER.

Peterborough, October 3rd, 1883.

A Few Building Notes.

The carriage factory of Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger recently destroyed is being rebuilt. A number of improvements will be made in the building. The building belongs to the Birdsell estate, and Mr. John E. Belcher, architect, is superintending the work.

A brick stable will be erected for the Commercial House to replace the stable recently burned.

The work is progressing on the new hotel being put up by Mr. R. Z. Rogers on Hunter street. The building will be sixty by thirty-five feet and three stories high, with a mansard roof, and a kitchen, twenty-five by thirty feet and two stories high, will be attached. The building will be over the creek, and wrought iron girders and heavy timbers have been put in to strengthen it. Mr. J. E. Belcher is the architect. Mr. A. Rutherford has the contract and Mr. P. McNamara is doing the brick work.

Mr. A. Rutherford has the contract for a very neat residence in Millbrook for Mr. Wood of Wood & Kells, bankers. Mr. J. E. Belcher drew the plans, and Mr. P. McNamara does the brick work.

Mr. John Alford has the contract for building the new Bensford Methodist Church in South Monaghan. The church will be a brick building, fifty-six by thirty-five feet. Mr. John E. Belcher is the architect. Mr. J. McNamara, also of Peterborough, will do the brick work. Mr. McNamara will also do the brick work on Mr. Alford's contract of the Norwood school buildings. Altogether he has some 300,000 bricks yet to lay this season, and the work will no doubt be done satisfactorily and with despatch, showing that, although a young contractor, he is an enterprising and energetic one. The corner stone of the Bensford Church will be laid on Monday.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan. Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MAIL "FACILITIES."

The mail facilities afforded this village are totally inadequate and until the completion of the Ontario and Quebec Railway there seems but little prospect of a remedy. The fault lies entirely with the management of the Midland Railway. The Post Office Department has taken the matter in hand promptly. The Post Office Inspector wrote to Mr. Rogers, the Peterborough post master recently to see if better accommodations could not be given Lakefield by stage and Mr. Rogers visited Lakefield on Monday last and consulted with some of our leading men about the matter. On account of Peterborough having virtually only one mail a day from the west an extra mail from Peterborough by stage would not be of sufficient advantage to Lakefield to compensate for the extra outlay. The people of Lakefield do not ask nor desire a dollar to be spent without full value in return in the shape of accommodation to the public.

There is a very great satisfaction in knowing that the Dominion Government is ready and anxious to do this place justice, and that better facilities will be afforded when practicable. If the Midland Railway continues to stand in the way of the prosperity of this village, the completion of the Ontario and Quebec to Peterborough, which can only be delayed for a few months at furthest, will place Lakefield, to a certain extent at any rate, beyond the power of any one man or company to injure it. The people of Lakefield have just ground for satisfaction not only with the prompt action of the Post Office Department, but also with the kind attention given to the interests of the village by Col. Rogers, P. M., of Peterborough.

HUNTING PARTIES.

A number of the Lakefield cotton brigade started on Monday morning last very early for the back lakes, for a deer hunt with dogs. Reports state that great slaughter has taken place and that scarcely a living thing could escape the innocent fire of the brigade. Nearly all the sports of Lakefield have either gone or are preparing to go back on the hunt, gathering up pork, salt herring, strong tea, &c. Several suspicious looking men were seen late last Sunday night walking around the village with packs on their backs &c. The hunting or open season for deer began at 12 o'clock Saturday night would likely be an explanation of such strange promenade.

VILLAGE COLLECTOR.

The Lakefield collector of taxes is again on the warpath. He began his work of collection on Monday, the 1st inst., and will have to complete his duties by Dec. 15th, and return his roll on that day. There should be no trouble collecting taxes this fall, as times are good, work plentiful, etc. The rate is ten mills or one cent on the dollar, five mills being the school rate and the other rate five mills.

The Lakefield show takes place on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 9th and 10th October. It is expected that this year's will be the best show held in Lakefield yet.

FORESTRY.

A new court of the Canadian Order of Foresters is being started at Apsey, to be called McGill court. This Court started with a membership of 27 applicants, nearly all of whom are first class men and passed good examinations. There is no doubt but that Court McGill will be a great success, judging from its list of charter members.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield village council will be held in the council room on Monday evening next, the 8th inst., at 7.30 sharp.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board takes place on Tuesday evening next, the 9th inst., in the council rooms, Lakefield, at 7.30 o'clock.

FORESTERS' MEETING.

Court Lakefield No. 43, C. O. F. will meet in Union Hall, Queen street, Lakefield, on Thursday evening next, at 8 o'clock.

HASTINGS.

LARGE YIELD.—The Star says that Mr. Robert Armour, of Percy, from 7½ bushels of black oats sown, harvested and thrashed 390 bush. In some parts of the field the stalks were six feet two inches in height.

A PAIR OF COLTS.—Mr. John Coughlin of this village has a span of colts 2 and three years old, weighing respectively 1405 and 1455 lbs, each girthing 6 ft 7 in., the 2 years old takes a collar 23 inches and the three year old one an inch larger.

KEENE BAND EXCURSION.—The Victoria Brass Band of the village of Keene, together with a large party came on the King Fisher on Saturday for an excursion. They serenaded the Star office and favored us with some very fine selections, all of which were rendered in a manner which would put to blush many older bands. The excursion expressed both pleasure and surprise at the improvement in the village since the fire and were lavish in the praise of the courteous hospitalities of "mine host" of the Clarendon.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

DEATH.—Wm. Dickson, who has been sick some time, passed quietly away on Wednesday morning last. He was about 50 years of age. In Mr. Dickson's death a large family lose an affectionate father, and the poor a kind friend. During his six years' residence here he made many warm friends, and his loss will be severely felt by many. His funeral takes place on Friday next.

MEETINGS.—The Keene Masonic lodge and also the Orange lodge meet on Thursday next. BAND EXCURSION.—A very pleasant party left here last Saturday morning per steamer Kingfisher, for Hastings. They had a very pleasant time, although the weather was cool, and were well pleased with the attention of Capt. Carson.

THE FAIR.—The brass band has been engaged to play for the Keene fair on October 12th.

GRAPES, PEARS, FRUITS.

Oranges, Lemons, Apples and fruit of all kinds in season. Finest Haddies, Bologna, Ham and Spiced Meats. Also a choice stock of family groceries at CANTON BROS.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

CHANGE IN THE MINISTRY.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—It is stated that M. Challeme Lacour Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Gen. Thibaudin, Minister of War, will resign, and that M. Waddington, French Minister to Great Britain, will succeed to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

STOCKS DEPRESSED.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Standard says stocks are depressed owing to rumours of failures on the Paris Bourse and to political reports from France. The dullness increased when it transpired that the secretary of the London and River Plate Bank had absconded. It is estimated that he defrauded the bank of £40,000, which he lost in stocks.

AFFAIRS AT CANTON.

HONG KONG, Oct. 3.—The populace is greatly excited over the result of the Logan trial. Communication between the English quarter and the city is entirely cut off. Incendiary placards are posted on the walls of the viceregal palace daily, and are torn down by the police. They proclaim that should the French fleet threaten an attack, the mob first of all will kill all foreigners and destroy their property.

CHAOS IN THE CABINET.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—It is reported that M. Ferry yesterday tendered his resignation, but it was refused. The greatest confusion exists among the Ministers and their supporters. The Paris declares that the Ministry alone is responsible for the failure of the visit of Alfonso.

A NOTE FROM GERMANY.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—It is rumoured the German Government has addressed an energetic note to France concerning the treatment of King Alfonso.

THE SERBIAN MINISTRY.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A report states that the King of Serbia has accepted the resignation of the Ministry.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—The British Consul at Scutari, Albania, was fired at while hunting recently. He was not hurt. The intended assassin escaped.

THE GREELEY REPORT.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Prof. Nordenfjeld, referring to the statement of Hendrik, the Esquimaux, that Lieut. Greeley had been murdered by a mutinous crew, telegraphs that Hendrik was told "a brave commander had been murdered," which Nordenfjeld says is evidently an Esquimaux exaggeration, resembling the slander circulated as to the cause of Capt. Hall's death in 1871.

SHAKESPEARE'S REMAINS.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The matter of the exhumation of Shakespeare's remains has been settled. The city council of Stratford-upon-Avon have passed a resolution condemning any disturbance of the grave.

ENGLISH OPINION OF FRANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The Times says:—"The Government which cannot secure a courteous reception for a national guest in its own capital can hardly be acquitted of weakness and incapacity, even if it escapes suspicion on the score of sincerity and goodwill. During the brief tenure of office of M. Challeme Lacour, French Minister of Foreign Affairs he has irritated Germany, ruffled the good will of England and quarrelled with China. The complete isolation to which he has reduced France has had a natural result in the outbreak against Alfonso."

WIP EYES IMMIGRANT GIRLS.

Fifty little girls, neatly attired and healthy-looking, brought out under Miss Rye's auspices, spent Sunday night in the Immigrant sheds, Toronto, and left for the home at Niagara on Monday morning.

Burglars at Work.

COLBORNE, Ont., Oct. 2.—The residence of J. M. Grover in this village was entered by burglars last night and about $75 worth of silver plate taken. None of the inmates were aware of the presence of the thieves or the loss sustained until 7 o'clock this morning.

Extreme Drought.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—The protracted drought has caused a water famine and there is a bitter feeling against the water-works company for hoarding its supply. It is a private company, and it is feared the mob will break down the hydrants if rain does not fall.

The new Tariff Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The new tariff law has been in operation three months, during which time the Customs receipts show a falling off of $9,447,000; internal taxes, $9,537,000; and miscellaneous receipts, $2,733,000. At this rate decrease in the annual revenue will be 79 millions. The excess of receipts over expenditures during the first quarter of 1882 was about $32,800,000, while for the three months ending Sunday the excess was about $15,120,000, a falling off of $17,680,000.

Who Pays the Coal Duties.

In Buffalo stove coal retails for an average of $6.08 per ton. The freight from Buffalo to Hamilton is 70 cents. The coal sells here for $6.75. Who pays the duty? Let us take it another way: Freight on coal from Buffalo to Chicago is 60 cents per ton; from Buffalo to Hamilton, 70 cents. The price in Chicago is $7 for Lyckawana and $8 for high-stove sizes; in Hamilton, $6.75. The Globe company will give a nickel watch to the man who will prove from the above facts that the consumer pays the duty.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word Horsford's is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

In Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters will be found a Specific for Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Indigestion. You are foolish if you suffer, not to try it. For sale by all Druggists.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the wearying train of symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1883.

MR. A. S. HARDY, of Dakota, and Provincial Secretary of Ontario, has protested against the invasion of the "disputed territory" by Lieut. Col. Kennedy and the Winnipeg Field Battery. Mr. Hardy might remember that he and his colleagues first invaded the disputed territory with a force, part of which had to be put in jail. If Mr. Hardy would attend to his duties and the interests of Ontario, instead of giving his time to speculations in Dakota, to scrutinizing official reports in order to suppress the passages most attractive to immigrants, or to carrying out plots to corrupt the electors or deprive them of their franchise, he might have found leisure with his colleagues to enforce our just claim in the law courts, and then there would be no disputed territory.

The Toronto Evening Telegram, which has now become one of the most unscrupulous and dishonest of Grit organs, says in its issue of Saturday:—

"We shall now be told, of course, that the meaning of the election is that the people who live in the disputed territory are in favour of the award, which gives this territory to Ontario, being carried out, and it is probably a fair interpretation to put upon it. In any event the charge is taken out of the mouths of the opponents of the Mowat Government, that the people most interested in the territory have pronounced against Ontario's contention."

When publishing this falsehood the Telegram well knew that the large majority of the votes in the disputed territory had been cast against Mr. Mowat's candidate, and this too, although Mr. Mowat and his tools had by trickery deprived many Conservative electors of their franchise.

REVIEWS.

DIO LEWIS'S MONTHLY for October is the best of its three numbers. Our Rich Men, by Dio Lewis, ought to help many persons who fancy that happiness and money are synonymous. Our Young Women, by Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby is a brave discussion of an enormous but fashionable evil. Idol-Worship in India, by Anrita Lal Roy, will set many Christians to thinking: evidently we have not understood idol-worship. Sandwich Island Sketches, by Dr. C. L. Tisdale, is the first of a series of instructive and interesting sketches of the Little Kingdom. Crossing the Mediterranean, by Anna Ballari, will recall some of the most remarkable scenery of the world to those who have made the same trip. The Shakers, by Dio Lewis, will give new ideas to those who have not studied that singular people. Weight of the Human Brain, by Dio Lewis, will deeply interest all who keep up with modern thought in this important field. A True Story of Lake George, by Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, is one of the best of this charming writer's stories. A True Ghost Story, by a Boston Lawyer, is capital, and gives one a vivid notion of a high sense of honor and duty among college men. Open the Cage Door, Treatment of Prisoners, and Treatment of the Insane, all by Dio Lewis, will be read with interest by the philanthropic. House-Drainage, by Colonel Waring, of Newport, is a thoughtful paper by an eminent expert. A Fine Complexion, is by a well-known lady writer, who knows what she is talking about. Our Brains and Nerves, by Dio Lewis, is in his happiest vein. The Check-Rein, by Hon. Geo. T. Angell. The Hygienic Department, is full of variety and interest. Beer, is by one of our best writers upon this class of subjects. Diphtheria, by Dio Lewis, is a clear discussion of the causes, prevention and treatment of this dreaded malady. About Nursing, by Dr. Lewis, is commended to young women. The Fashions (illustrated), Aunt Bonnybell, will be read with eager interest by the ladies, and it will make them think too. Our Cooking School, by Miss Julia Colman, grows better and better. Stray Thoughts, will interest and amuse.

American Wheat.

The New York Times says:—Samples of foreign wheat from Australia, New Zealand, England, Egypt, East Indies, and South America, as also from Oregon and California were exhibited in the Produce Exchange, New York, by William Bingham & Co. The object of the exhibitors was to show the New York dealers what they had to compete with in Liverpool markets. Choice Australian wheat brings the highest price in the market, and after it comes Oregon, New Zealand, and California wheat. The wheat of the Eastern States of this country is higher than that of East India, and Egyptian wheat is the cheapest. On the whole, it appears that this country has little to fear from competition in Liverpool, the cost of transportation from Australia and New Zealand being very high.

THE OUTSIDE EXHIBIT

AT THE FALL FAIR OF THE WEST RIDING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Attendance Quite Large—Cool Weather—Notes on the Articles and Animals Shown—The List of Prize Winners.

In addition to the inside department the outside exhibits were shown on

THE SECOND DAY. The weather in the afternoon was quite cold, but the attendance of spectators was large. The Fire Brigade Band was present and discoursed good music during the afternoon.

In addition to the implements noticed yesterday, Mr. Wm. Graham, as agent, exhibited a horse potato digger, a combined seed drill and sower, one two-horse plough, a one-horse plough, a spring-tooth harrow and a spring-tooth cultivator mounted on wheels. Mr. Robert Fife, also as agent, showed a Honey fanning mill, a Brantford cord binder and a two-horse plough. Mr. P. Hamilton exhibited a reaper of his own manufacture.

The live stock show was fairly good. There was a very good exhibit of Durhams and grade cattle, but this class was not up to what it should have been, or to what one would expect to see at a fair in this county. Mr. C. Moore, of Smith, had a very fine pair of heavy steers, which deservedly wore prize tickets.

Of sheep there was a very good exhibit, including several of the Shropshire Downs imported this year by Mr. John Carnegie, M. P. P. The show of swine was very small indeed.

Of poultry there was a very good exhibit, comprising geese, turkeys, ducks and many varieties of fowl.

The horse ring was the great attraction of the second day, and there were some very fine animals shown in the different classes.

Altogether the exhibition this year was fairly successful, and was a little in advance of last year. There were more entries. The gate receipts on Tuesday night and Wednesday amounted to $275.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

ENNIEMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.—A number of the friends and well-wishers of Mr. Daniel Costello having become aware of his intention of leaving the township, and wishing to make him a present before his departure, collected funds for that purpose, the Rev. Father Kealy liberally headed the list with five dollars. They assembled on Saturday evening at his house to wish him good luck and success in the new undertaking in which he is about to engage. After friendly greetings had taken place, Mr. Thomas Telford was called to the chair and after a few preliminary remarks read the following address:—

Dear Sir,—It was with great reluctance we could at first believe when informed of your intention to remove from amongst us. However being convinced of the fact and knowing it was of no avail to contend against the inevitable, we felt it incumbent upon us, your friends and well-wishers, to show in some tangible manner our esteem and respect for you, although at the same time regretting that you should sever the ties which have so long bound us together. Reflecting on the many pleasant hours spent in each others company we therefore in the parting wish you feel more keenly the separation. Wishing you every success in your new undertaking and that it may in every way fulfill your most sanguine expectations, we now in the name of your friends and well-wishers in the township of Enniemore present you with this watch as a small token of their kind feeling to you and the respect in which they hold you. On looking on this small present as time rolls on, may it not only bring to your remembrance the humble donors, but also the place of your birth, childhood and residence up to the present separation. May your partner in life be long spared to share in that prosperity, which we hope awaits you and in whatever hand and time your lot in the future may be cast, may recollections of our friendship never fade or suffer a passing cloud, and may the confidence, esteem and regard we have placed in you never be tarnished. While saying good-by to-night, though knowing that we have lost a sincere friend, we hope it will be for your benefit.

A handsome watch and chain was then presented by Patrick Brick. It bore the following inscription: "Presented to Daniel Costello by his many friends and well-wishers in the township of Enniemore, September 29th, 1883." Mr. Costello replied in feeling and fitting terms, expressing his sincere thanks for the valuable and unexpected present and more especially for the unswerving confidence placed in him, of which it gave ample proof; he would look back with great pleasure to his long friendship with many of the contributors, and with regret to this, their last meeting for a time. Mr. Costello was also the recipient of a handsome present from his lady friends, which pleased him to Mrs. Costello and those assisting her for the sumptuous supper which was now spread out most invitingly, and to which ample justice was done, as the evening drive through the wind and rain had sharpened our appetites. The clock being removed to its usual position, speeches, songs and pleasant greetings followed until the time till the near approach of Sunday morning. Altogether this was one of the pleasantest nights ever spent in Enniemore.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SHIPPING WHEAT.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers is shipping to Port Hope 1,000 bushels of wheat which were grown on Dugan's fallow on the road to Burleigh. They go by steamer Fairy and barge to Lakeside, and thence by the Midland Railway. The quality is A 1 and the price good.

DRIVER.—Mr. A. Wynn, fermans for Mr. Geo. Chalmers, arrived here on Monday last with a large drive of oxen and other logs from Burleigh. They were taken out last winter by Mr. R. Darling. The drive consists of about 25,000 pieces.

HOTEL CHANGE.—Mr. McFarlane has leased his new hotel, erected here last spring, to Mr. D. Costello, of Enniemore. Mr. Costello is giving up farming and going to try hotel keeping; he will make a good, attentive landlord, and will try to do his best to please the travelling public. He will give first-class meals and keep the best of liquors and cigars. Lodgers had better keep away, as Mr. Costello does not intend to encourage idle tipplers around his hotel. He is the man for Galway and the Point.

THE MILL.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers has had a very fine tower bell erected on the top of the saw mill, and it is quite an improvement. It rings in the morning for the men to commence work, and again at noon, and at quitting time. It will also be useful in case of a fire to call out the villagers.

BEARS.—The Lakeside folks have been having bears prowling near their village of late, as I see in last week's Review. We are not an adventurous set around here, and do not run out with our guns every time people see a bear. We just let them pass on, unless some farmer finds one feeding with his cattle, and then he might shoot it for trespassing—that's all.

SPRINGVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

REMOVING.—Mr. H. Strike, who has been attending Port Hope High School, and latterly Victoria University, has resumed his duties as teacher of the Union School of part of Cavan and Monaghan, known as Smith's School House.

WELL AGAIN.—Mr. James Clark has recovered from his late serious illness, and is able to attend to his usual avocations again.

CORNER STONE.—The laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist Church at Bensfordville will take place on Monday, the 8th of October. Mr. Geo. A. Orr is to be present. Tea will be served in the evening, after which addresses will be delivered by T. Manning, B. A., of Peterborough, the Rev. Mr. Wilson, Cavanville, and others.

FOR THE NORTHWEST.—Mr. John Kithcart has returned from the North-West and expresses a high opinion of the country. He fixes the date of his departure thither at no distant date.

S. S. ANNIVERSARY.—The Sabbath School anniversary of the Bethel appointment, Keene circuit, was held on the 26th Sept. A sumptuous tea was provided by the ladies, which was fully tested. The company then repaired to the church, where the scholars entertained an appreciative audience with dialogues, recitations, and singing. Miss Sarah Jane Carter, the organist, was presented with a valuable music book and address by the school as a slight token of their esteem for her earnest endeavours in teaching them to sing, etc. The efficient secretary, Mr. Sam. Armstrong, then read the annual report, of which the following is an extract and will speak for itself: Number of scholars, 63; teachers and officers, 9; total, 72; average attendance for the year, 54; number of volumes in library, 200. Messrs. John Borland, sr., superintendent, Jas. Carter, teacher, John Borland, jr., librarian, Sam. Armstrong, secretary, and Chas. Nelson, scholar, were present every Sunday during the year. Misses S. J. Carter, Alice Reid, and Mr. Shearer, teachers, only missed two Sabbaths. The amount of money raised during the year added to proceeds of tea meeting, was $80.

If you are troubled with a disordered stomach, Dr. Carson's Bitters will afford prompt relief. It is the best Family Medicine, far Superior to Pills. All Druggists sell it.

A MONTREAL ballist ventured to speak disrespectfully in a restaurant of Prince George, of Wales, whereupon a bar from H. M. S. Canada quietly pitched the man out of the window.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine. An advertisement of which appears in another column.

We learn from the Canada Lancet for October that the quadruple birth at London Ont., was within an ace of being a quintuple one. The mother is naming her boys after the attending physicians.

"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

A new agitation, an offshoot of the Land League, is springing up in the West of Ireland, and threatens to give serious trouble. It is on the part of the shepherds, and has quietly grown to formidable proportions, nearly 2,000 members it is said, being now enrolled. Its spirit is similar to that of the League and its mode of action modelled after the same pattern.

W. A. EDGARS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is a better man than he has been for twenty years past.

James Brayley, Hamilton, says: "I read the testimonials for McGregor's Speedy Cure, and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merit. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was as bad with Bilious Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's Drug Store.

Heating Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. It allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Blotches, all scaly, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25, (in stamps). Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balmic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured, and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured. They purify the blood, regulate the bowels, and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50 cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.—1

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1883.

Personal.

Mr. E. B. Edwards was in Toronto this week attending a meeting of the University Convocation Committee.

"Men With Iron Shoes."

The Rev. Joseph Wilde, of the Bond Street Church, Toronto, will deliver a lecture in the George Street Methodist Church on the 17th of October. His subject will be "Men with Iron Shoes."

University of Toronto.

At the meeting of the executive Committee of Convocation held in Toronto on Tuesday, Mr.
E. B. Edwards M. A., LL.B., reported that a flourishing county association had already been formed in Peterborough.

Please Return.

The persons who in mistake removed the dried indigenous plants exhibited by Mrs. Trail at the Drill Shed on Wednesday will confer a favour by returning them at once either to the Review office or to Mrs. A. C. Dunlop, Water Street.

The Keene Band.

Speaking of the excursion of the Keene band to Hastings the Star says:—
"The band has made remarkable progress since its organization some six months ago, and great credit is due to their instructor, Mr. A. Freeman, of Peterborough, who has been indefatigable in his efforts to advance his pupils."

Carton Bros. for Oysters.

We are sole agents for Freeman & Shaw's Famous Baltimore Oysters, received regularly by express in fine condition. Sold in cans and by measure in quarts, pints and half pints.
Oyster shells supplied free of charge. A reduction made to parties ordering in large quantities.
CARTON BROS.

"A Shadowy Story."

The non-appearance of the continued story in our issue of yesterday and to-day, is owing to the pressure on our advertising and other columns. Everything at this season of the year must give way a little to the fall fairs, and we hope our readers will therefore good-naturedly wait until Friday, when it will appear again.

The Lights of London.

Shook & Collier's "Lights of London" combination, under the auspices of Shook & Collier, proprietors of the Union Square
Theatre, New York, will appear in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Wednesday and Thursday next. The play and the Company are highly spoken of by the press, and the drama will be presented with all the magnificent scenery, properties and mechanical effects used at the Union Square Theatre.

Printing Office Information.

The Examiner has some remarks which are both false and impertinent as to the application for the incorporation of the Review Printing and Publishing Co. If our contemporary wishes to have more information about our private affairs we may remark that it was not the proprietors of the Review who, after exhausting the patience of local backers had to travel some thousand miles in frantic haste to get an endorsement to paper which was not considered of sufficient value without such backing.

The Luxuries of the Season.

First arrival this season of venison, ducks and partridge at Smith's Market, where game of all kinds in season can always be found. Also large, choice oysters, in bulk and cans, fresh fish, ham, bologna and fine seasoned meats, pears, peaches, grapes, oranges, lemons, apples,
and the finest fruit of the season, garden vegetables, tomatoes, celery, cauliflower, cabbage, carrots, turnips, &c. A splendid assortment of canned goods, pickles and sauces, mince pie, &c., all at the usual moderate prices at Smith's Market, George street.

The Alleghaniens.

The following is an extract from the Montreal Herald's notice of the performance of the Alleghaniens in that city:—

"The evening's entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The principal and most admirable feature of the company is their accurate bell-ringing, which in their hands is as much a branch of instruments, music as the playing of the piano. The various number, some of them of the most difficult composition, were rendered with much beauty and effect, and the shading was simply beyond description. The music sounds as if it came from one single well-tuned, silver-toned instrument. It at once strikes home to the heart and awakes by its clearness and mellowness.
The whole performance was a genuine treat from first to last, and should not be missed."

This company will appear in Bradburn's Opera Hall on Tuesday evening next. Reserved seats can be secured without extra charge at Menzies' bookstore.

The Town Council.

A meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Posters are out again advising the ratepayers to attend.

Police News.

The police report everything quiet yesterday and last night. The fair was a very orderly one. There was a blank record at the Police Court this morning.

Radiant Home.

Among the large stock of stoves at Mr. Adam Hall's Radiant Home, with duplex grate that will last as long as the stove and never has to be replaced, is a specialty. Do not fail to see them before purchasing a stove.

A Little Warmer.

The weather to-day is clear and cool.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from 1 o'clock a.m., as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fine weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Railway Notes.

The Midland train was fifty minutes late at noon to-day.

The construction train is now running across the sink hole of the "Missing Link" line, and the work on the line will go rapidly on.

A building, sixty by twenty-two feet, is being erected near Bethune street for an engine house for the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

Another sleeping car—a boarding house on wheels—is being made for the Ontario and Quebec, and another locomotive will be here in two weeks to be used on the work of construction.

The Methodist Bazaar.

The bazaar held by the ladies of the George Street Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon and evening was very successful.
The dinner table was well patronized on both Tuesday and Wednesday, and the proceeds from this source amounted to about $100. A large and varied stock of fancy and useful articles, and ladies' work, was nearly all disposed of at good prices, the ladies who attended to this branch proving that they knew how to manage a business establishment. The gross receipts of the bazaar and refreshments amounted to the sum of $282. Everything passed off very pleasantly, and not the least successful part of the bazaar was the social time enjoyed by those who attended.

Wedding Bells.

The Mail contains the following account of a wedding, the description of which will be of interest to many of our readers, by whom the bridges were well known and appreciated:—
"Last before 8 p.m. on Wednesday evening, Sept.
30th, Trinity Methodist Church, Cornwall, was crowded to the doors by those anxious to witness the marriage of Miss Pringle, eldest daughter of Dr. Pringle, to R.
F. Tyle, Esq., C.E., of Peterborough. The crowd was not kept waiting, for precisely at eight the bride, leaning upon her father's arm, walked up the centre aisle to the altar, where were waiting for her the groom, bridesmaids, and groomsmen. The marriage service was at once proceeded with by Rev. Canon Pett, the choir, assisted by Mrs. Pennington, rendering the musical part of the service admirably. The wedding march was beautifully played by Mr. Setton, of Montreal, as the bride party left the church. The dresses:—The bride was dressed in cream satin, with lace tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms, bouquet of white and pink roses, maiden hair and smilax. First bridesmaid, Miss Lella Pringle, was dressed in pink satin, with trimmed with pink satin, pale pink Spanish lace, and wreath of pink flowers. Second bridesmaid, Miss Vanora, dress cream coloured, with white veiling skirt and broad satin bodice trimmed with Jersey drop lace, wreath, flowers, cream-colored. Third bridesmaid, Miss McLennan, dress skirt pale blue with wreath, broad Ottoman silk bodice, trimming pale blue silk lace; wreath, pale blue, bouquet. The groom-smen wore the brothers of the groom, and Mr. A. H.
Campbell, teller of the Bank of Montreal."

The Fire Department.

In announcing to the Fire Brigade that the Waterworks Company would put a telephone in the Fire Hall, which telephone has since been put in, Mr. W. Clinton, the President of the Company, sent the following letter, which was read at the regular meeting of the Brigade on Tuesday evening:—

"To Thea. Rutherford, Chief of the Peterborough Fire Brigade:

"Sir, I think it is desirable, if not actually necessary, that the hose company should practice with the works of the Water Company, so that the men may be come expert in coupling and uncoupling with the hy-drants, and prompt and efficient in case of fire. The result of such practicing would be to give the men confidence in their work, would tend to the credit of the fire and water companies, and would prevent deplorable delays in getting water on burning buildings, and thus save much valuable property that otherwise might be destroyed."

"With this view the Peterborough Water Company will be glad to give water and the use of the hydrants for this purpose at any time it may suit the convenience of the company to practice."

"I may also state that in the beginning of the week
a telephone will be placed in the fire department on Simcoe street, which will have constant and independent or separate connection with the Water Company's wheel-house, and which will enable you to communicate with the person in charge of the pumps, so that he may be directed as to the water pressure required."

"Respectfully yours,

"W. OLCTOR,

"President Peterborough Water Company."

In reference to Mr. Clinton's suggestion as to practising, we are informed by the officers that the Fire Brigade had considered the subject and had seen the advisability of doing so. They will accept the Company's liberal offer of the hydrants and water, for the purpose of drilling, as soon as the branches which have been ordered arrive, as they do not think it advisable to lose time to drill until they have the full appliances, and the practice can be thorough.

Rapid Progress of the C. P. R.

The western division of the Canadian Pacific railway now extends 884 miles from Winnipeg, the end of the track now being about 44 miles west of Calgary.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

Readers, if you suffer from any disorder of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin or Blood, try Burdock Blood Bitters, Nature's specific medicine for acting on those organs for the outlet of disease. 25,000 bottles sold in the last three months.

Do not delay, if suffering any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

- 1.—By donning a Fall Overcoat.
- 2.—By changing to a Fall Suit.
- 3.—By slipping on Heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants.
We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice.
Now then, the application:—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If your assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and price, — well.

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so neat attire. Time, temper
and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders.
Hear it, then, and — contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic
brands. The same of comfort. The best of satisfaction. The pick of all goods, and — none better elsewhere.

Compare our assortment — in the above measure
— with what others have to offer — an easy thing to do —
and then let the result of your comparison be the measure of your confidence in our statements.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1883.

Brought Home for Burial.

We extend our sympathy to our townsman, Mr. Thomas Beavis, who has been called upon to bear a second affliction in a short time by the death on Wednesday of his daughter Jane, wife of Mr. S. Migner, of Toronto. The body was brought to Peterborough on the noon train to-day for burial.

Robbery on the Grand Trunk.

The Chief of Police received on Thursday evening the following telegram from a Grand Trunk Railway detective:—
"A large number of fur caps, ladies' muffs and tippees were stolen from a freight train between Port Hope and Whitby last night. Keep a sharp lookout for the thieves and arrest. A reward will be paid by the company."

Personal.

Dr. G. S. Beck, M.D., C.M., M.R.C.S., Eng., returned to Peterborough from England on Wednesday.

Mr. Hugh D. Lumsden, of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, is at the Oriental Hotel.

Mr. Roger Bates, of Blairton, passed through town to-day on his return from a trip to the Northwestern States.

The Luxuries of the Season.

First arrival this season of venison, ducks and partridge at Smith's Market, where game of all kinds in season can always be found. Also large choice oysters, in bulk and cans, fresh fish, ham, bolognes and fine seasoned meats, peaches, grapes, oranges, lemons, apples, and the finest fruit of the season, garden vegetables, tomatoes, celery, cauliflower, cabbage, carrots, turnips, &c. A splendid assortment of canned goods, pickles and sauces, mince pie, &c., all at the usual moderate prices at Smith's Market, George street.

Common Sense.

The reason of the great rush at Adam Hall's branch store, opposite the old and reliable Giant T is easily explained. The Radiant Home base burner is the great attraction, and those who are possessed of good, sound common sense select it in preference to any other stove. It is simple in its working qualities, durable, and above all things is so easily controlled that a child can run it with perfect safety. These qualities alone are enough to bring it to the front, but the crowning point in its favor is the duplex grate, which is so far ahead of ordinary grates that those who have never before used coal for heating purposes are unanimous in their expressions of praise, so much so that it proves that those who have not a Radiant Home are without the most necessary of home comfort, viz., a Radiant Home.

Carton Bred. for Oysters.

We are sole agents for Freeman & Shaw's Famous Baltimore Oysters, received regularly by express in fine condition. Sold in cans and by measure in quarts, pints and half pints. Oyster shells supplied free of charge. A reduction made to parties ordering in large quantities. CARTON BRED.

ALCOHOL.

Sir William Gull's Opinion of the Enemy of Mankind.

The following extract is from the evidence given by Sir William Gull, M. D., F. R. S., before the Select Committee of the House of Peers on Intemperance. He said:—

"I think that instead of flying to alcohol as many people do when they are exhausted, they might very well drink water, or that they might very well take food, and would be very much better without alcohol. If I am fatigued with overwork, personally, my food is very simple. I eat the raisins instead of drinking the wine. I have had a very large experience in that practice for thirty years. This is my own personal experience, and I believe it is a very good and true experience."

"I should join issue at once with those who believe that intellectual work can not be so well done without wine or alcohol. I should deny that proposition and hold the very opposite. It is one of the commonest things in English society, that people are injured by drink without being drunkards. It goes on so quietly that it is very difficult to observe. There is a great deal of injury done to the health by the habitual use of wines in their various kinds, and alcohol in its various shapes, even in so-called moderate quantities. It leads to the degeneration of tissues; it spoils the health, and it spoils the intellect."

"I think, as a rule, you might stop the supply of alcohol at once without injury. It is said in some cases the brain has entirely gone from leaving drink off suddenly; but that is fallacious, the brain may have gone from previous habits. I hardly know any more potent cause of disease than alcohol, leaving out of view that it is a frequent source of crime of all descriptions. I am persuaded that lecturers should go about the country lecturing to people of the middle and upper-middle classes upon the disadvantages of alcohol as it is daily used."

"The public ought to know that of all the diluents or solvents for the nutritious parts of food there is nothing like water. Water carries into the system the nutriment in its purest form."

Wild Beasts Photographed.

An enterprising Parisian photographer, M.A. Petit, visited Planet's menagerie a day or two ago, with the object of taking photographs of the wild beasts in their cages. The existing photographs of these animals, taken as they are from the space outside the cage, necessarily show the bare, which spoils the effect. M. Petit, the proprietor of the menagerie, accompanied the artist in his adventurous round; and the animals as a rule behaved very well. A splendid group consisting of a lion, a lioness, and two cubs, was particularly successful, the "sitters" not moving a muscle during the operation. The leopard, too, proved an excellent subject. Tigris, however, exhibited a specimen of her temper in two vigorous dashes on the photographic apparatus, in one of which M. Petit received a savage blow of her paw on the leg. This, a French paper states, is the first time that wild beasts have been photographed in their dens; and it is believed that the results of M. Petit's dangerous exploit will be of considerable service to animal-painters and so forth.—St. James's Gazette.

Dr. Wilson on Co-Education.

Dr. Wilson in a letter to a lady who had applied for admission to University College, says:—"What I desire, and heartily aim at, is the establishment of a Provincial College for women, erected on the University grounds, placed under the charge of a lady principal and instructors of it own, but where also the professors and lecturers of this college might take some part in the instruction. The lady students could have full advantage of the library the philosophical apparatus, etc., and would be cordially admitted to every privilege, as undergraduates, suitable for them."

Any movement for carrying this into effect will have my cordial support; and I cannot doubt, if a proper appeal is made to the Provincial Government and Legislature, that it will meet with success."

Shipment of Canadian Coal.

A Medicine Hat despatch of Sept. 26th says the first shipment of coal from the Northwestern Mining and Transportation Company, Woodworth's mine, was made to-day, west to Calgary, being the first instalment of a one thousand ton contract they have made for that place, and the first native coal ever shipped west by rail in the Northwest. The coal is all that could be desired, burning clearly, without bad odors from gases, and forming a white ash and no clinkers. It is about ten days Woodworth will be in a position to deliver five hundred tons per day.—Winning Times.

Great Fire in Chatham.

CHATHAM, Oct. 4.—Last night about twelve o'clock a fire was discovered in the third story of the Kent mills, and despite the exertions of the fire brigade the mill and warehouse were burned to the ground. The loss is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan.: Saved his life by a sample Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.—1

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

O'DONNELL'S DEFENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Mr. Sullivan, counsel for O'Donnell, argues that his client had, of course, opportunities of throwing Carey overboard had he so wished; that he had no knowledge of Carey's identity; that he made friends with him as an Irishman; and that he only fired in self-defence when Carey grappled with him.

THE FRENCH CABINET CRISIS.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—It is stated that the Chamber of Deputies will have to judge between MM. Grevy and Ferry. If the Ministry carry the day the President will issue a message and retire into private life. Some of the papers describe Deputy Antoine's arrest as an answer to the anti-German crisis of Saturday.

NEWS OF GREELEY'S PARTY.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A whaling steamer arrived at Dundee from Davies Straits reports that the natives at Sanderson Island stated that they saw five men at Etah, in Smith's Sound, north of Baffin's Bay, early in the year who belonged to a large expedition further to the north. It is believed to be Greeley's.

THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—It is reported that the Government is dissatisfied that the Paris Journal Officiel merely published the fact that M. Grevy apologized to Alfonso, and has resolved to ask for the publication of the full text. It is also reported that Senor Sagasta has postponed making changes in the Ministry until all matters between Spain and foreign nations are settled. The foreign powers have forwarded to Alfonso congratulations upon the enthusiastic reception accorded him upon his return.

REINFORCEMENTS WANTED.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The commander of the French forces at Tamatave has sent an urgent appeal to Mr. Brun for reinforcements.

O'DONNELL'S FRIENDS.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—An anonymous letter was sent to-day to O'Donnell, stating that the writer would place at his disposal any sum of money which might be needed to defray the expenses of his defence, and would render any other assistance required.

IRISH INFORMERS.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—It is stated that the informers in the Phoenix park murder trials, who were not permitted to land at Melbourne, will go to India, where Carey decided to go until dissuaded by his wife. It is reported that Carey was offered a clerkship in the new barracks at Kurrachee.

DUBLIN OFFICIAL SUSPENDED.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The United Ireland, a League organ, states that an official intimately connected with the detection of crime in Dublin has been suspended. The cause of his suspension is likely to create a sensation.

GREAT FAILURE.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Joseph Pollard & Co., corn merchants of Newcastle-on-Tyne, have failed. Liabilities, £80,000.

THE SITUATION AT CANTON.

HONG KONG, Oct. 3.—The natives in Canton are quiet, but communication between the city and the foreign concession is stopped. It is thought unsafe for Europeans to traverse the city. A plan for the defence of the concession has been concerted between the residence and the officers of the British gunboats, although it is considered that the safety of the concession is assured. Three English men-of-war are expected in a few days. Reports from many parts of the empire state that the Chinese are dissatisfied with their rulers, and signs of internal commotion are visible. A fleet of Chinese gunboats has been brought before the forts at the entrance to Canton river.

RUMOUR OF A CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The morning papers publish a report to the effect that the Prince of Wales is arranging for a meeting between the Czar of Russia and the Emperor of Germany.

KING ALFONSO'S GREETING.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—The King and Queen held a reception to-day. Eighteen hundred person attended, including several Frenchmen.

THE CORTES TO BE CONVOKED.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—The Cabinet has decided to advise Alfonso to convoke the Cortes as soon as possible.

AMERICAN.

YELLOW FEVER IN MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Massachusetts advises that yellow fever is still the reigning terror. Every house is a hospital. It is impossible to keep track of the deaths, which run into the hundreds daily. The inhabitants are fleeing in every direction. At Panama the fever has recently become more pernicious. It is spreading rapidly. It has appeared at the following Pacific coast cities:—San Jose, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Acapulco, Zucutula, Manzanilla, Corientes and San Blas, and is spreading northward. At Hermosillo the death-rate is about twenty daily. Trains from the south will be inspected at Yuma and Benson, Arizona.

The Cobourg Murder.

Chief Justice Hagarty's charge to the jury was remarkably balanced in its equity. After being absent some time the jury returned to court with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. His Lordship sentenced Caffery to ten years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Mr. G. E. Henderson, Q. C., of Belleville, conducted the case for the Crown.

Imitators vs. Substitutes.

Good points are worth remembering, for the reason that they assist us in avoiding many discomforts, and protect us against the cupidity of overreaching people. When you learn from friends that Putnam's Corn Extractor is safe, prompt and effective, don't allow doubts to prevent you from purchasing it. Putnam's Corn Extractor is a very small amount in any case; but the best expenditure you can make, if a sufferer from any kind of pain in a 10 or 25 cent bottle of Nerviline at Ormrod & Walsh.

THE ALGOMA ELECTION.

WITHOUT in any way entering into the merits or demerits of the general charges which have been and still are so freely thrown from side to side with reference to the conduct of the Algoma election, and about which, from want of authentic knowledge, we are not in a position to offer an opinion, we believe there are some indisputable facts connected with this contest which it is our duty to impress upon our readers. In order that they may in some measure at least receive that condemnation which they so richly deserve. The reader will not have forgotten that the writs for a general election for this province were issued early in the month of February last, and that the polling therefor, except in two constituencies, took place on the 27th of that month, in accordance with a law which had been passed at the instance of the Reform party for the purpose of preventing the party in power reaping the casual advantage to be derived from bringing on the elections in their strongest constituencies first with the view of influencing the result in those of a doubtful character, and with the view of thus securing the vote of those who value being on the winning side beyond everything else. Of the two constituencies excepted from this general rule Algoma is one, and because of its peculiar geographical position it is further provided that an election therein shall only take place between the 20th May and the 30th November in each year. This being the case it is obviously the duty of the Government of the day to see that the election in Algoma is held as soon after the day of polling in the other constituencies as the circumstances of the case will permit. Instead of doing so, however, the Mowat Government withheld the writ for Algoma for over three months, and thereby postponed the polling day to such a date as to most effectually prevent the defeated party from filing a petition against the return of the party elected, and getting it disposed of, and if successful, permitting another election to be held before the House meets. Indeed, under existing circumstances, Mr. Mowat has rendered it impossible for Mr. Plummer or his friends to even unseat Mr. Lyon before the Legislature meets, no matter by what corrupt and improper acts on the part of either himself or his friends his victory has been obtained. In fact by thus delaying the issue of this writ Mr. Mowat has, so far as the first session of the Legislature is concerned, most effectually annulled every safeguard placed on the statute book for the purpose of securing the honest representation of the people, because it is provided that no election trial shall be proceeded with during the sitting of the House, and it is impossible to get a petition, yet to be filed, tried before that time. Under these circumstances we think we are perfectly justified in assuming that this writ was withheld for a purpose; and that such purpose was to enable the gentleman receiving a majority of the ballots cast on the 29th Sept., to hold the seat during the first session of the new Legislature, no matter how illegal was his election.

This is fact number one. Having accomplished this much, the next thing to do was to adopt such means as would ensure that a majority of the ballots cast should be for the Mowat candidate. We have Mr. Blake's authority that when the people are to be cheated out of their franchise, even where we have duly revised voters' lists, the returning-officer is a most important official. If so, how much greater must be his importance and power in a constituency where there are no voters' lists, as is the case in Algoma, and apparently Mr. Mowat was of the same opinion, because his next step was to get rid of every one of the three officials pointed out by the statute, as by virtue of their position the persons from among whom the returning-officer should have been selected, and to appoint thereto a man specially selected for the particular purpose they had in view. Under such circumstances, few will be found to deny that the passing over of the Sheriff and Registrar of Algoma and the refusal of the position by the Sheriff of Thunder Bay and the appointment of a political partisan in the person of Mr. Thompson was of itself very strong evidence that it was the intention of the Mowat Government to resort to ways that were not honest to enable them to secure this seat for at least one session.

But we are not wanting in other admitted facts, all going to prove that this election was perhaps the most unfair one ever held in this Province since the days of the Russell one in which Mr. Lyon Fellows was a candidate. It is not denied, because it cannot be, that not only were polling places refused to important sections of this scattered constituency—as in the case of the settlers on Cockburn Island—but that some of the polling places were never opened, while others were only opened part of the time—a fact which of itself is sufficient to void this election, and yet as a result of Mr. Mowat's manoeuvring and chancery hair-splitting we shall have Mr. Lyon sitting and voting and perhaps by his single vote keeping Mr. Mowat in office for another year. If Mr. Mowat had a spark of honest shame in his composition he would at once throw up a position which the action of himself and his colleagues is the best possible proof that they know they can only retain by the purchase of members, the violation of the plain spirit of our laws, and by the wilful disfranchisement of constituencies and electors. Such a course may for a time prove successful, but the day of retribution will come, and when it does it will only be so much the worse for these pharisaical transgressors.

THE BOARIN' GAME.

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club—The Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club was held in the Casino House parlor on Thursday night. This was the most representative meeting ever held by the club, there being a large attendance.

The Secretary-Treasurer submitted his annual report, which showed that there was a satisfactory balance on hand.

The following officers were elected for the year:—

PATRON—Judge Dennistoun.
PATRONESS—Mrs. Dennistoun.
PRESIDENT—Dr. R. P. Boucher.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Robert Hall.
CHAIRMAN—Rev. W. C. Bradshaw.
SECRETARY-TREASURER—C. McGill.
REPRESENTATIVE MEMBERS—Jas. F. Dennistoun and A. Bertram (Toronto).
MANAGING COMMITTEE—Adam Hall, W. G. Ferguson, Andrew McNeill and Melville Millar.

SKIPS—Dr. Boucher, Geo. Brown, Melville Millar, T. P. Attrill, E. Philip and Geo. Dunford.

The following gentlemen were elected to honorary membership:—Geo. A. Cox, Dr. Kincaid, John Burnham, M.P., Dr. Pigeon, T. Blezard, M.P.P., Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Dr. Halliday, Rev. V. Clementi, A. White, R. A. Morrow, Jas. F. Dennistoun, John Carnegie, M.P.P., Jas. Campbell and Geo. Hillard, M.P. On motion of Mr. J. R. Stratton, seconded by the Hon. R. Hamilton, a vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

On motion of an enthusiastic curler, the Managing Committee were requested to procure ice at the earliest possible moment.

There are two cups and a medal to be competed for at different games this year, and, judging from the number present at the annual meeting and the spirit manifested, there is every possibility of a good and enthusiastic season.

MR. MACKENZIE!

Our respectable Grit contemporary, the Clinton New Era, has the following:—
"The London Free Press has an article on the new oil fields of Roumania, where some wells are running 4,000 barrels a day, and wonders what effect such competition will have on the American oil. The people of Canada are more directly concerned in wondering what competition would be necessary to reduce the price of oil here. Why they should pay 35 cents a gallon for an article that sells in Buffalo or any other American city for 15 cents, is something they cannot understand."
Then they should ask the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie. He knows all about it. It was he who put the tariff upon American oil, in order to protect the petroleum producers of Lambton. That which he refused to other branches of industry, located in different parts of the country, he readily granted to the oil men, because they were his (Mr. Mackenzie's) own constituents. He studied the question thoroughly from their standpoint, and determined that, willy-nilly, the N. P. should go into force as concerning the petroleum industry. And he never saw fit to remove it. It was a question with him of political life or death at the time. For had he refused protection to the oil trade, it would likely have faded like a morning mist; and he could not show his face again at a Lambton hustings. Having granted protection to oil, and thus admitted the principle of the N. P., he should have been just and politic enough to extend it to other callings. But this he would not do; and for that sin he fell. Oh, Mr. Mackenzie can tell a fine tale about the matter which is troubling the New Era. Let it just ask him and see.—London Spectator.

Cheyne and the North Pole.

Commander Cheyne, R.N., arrived in Toronto yesterday from Uxbridge, and starts for Aurora, Collingwood, Mitchell, Parla and Seaford. He has taken the step he had long arranged for in case of partial failure in Canada, viz., writing to the President and Secretary of State of the United States asking the States to join Canada in a polar expedition, failing which he has offered his services to the American expedition, which starts next spring for the relief of Colonel Greeley and the discovery of the pole. He has received a reply from the Secretary of State and from the President's private secretary stating that his letter has been referred to the Secretary of War.—Mail.

Manitoba Wheat.

The Winnipeg Free Press says:—The first shipment of this year's wheat from Manitoba was made on Monday last from Brandon by Mr. V. Bowerman, and Ontario buyer, who sent two carloads of No. 1 hard to Hamilton, one to Brandon and one to Montreal. It went over the C.P.R. to Fort Arthur, then by the steamer United Kingdom to Sarnia, then by rail to its destination.

PERSISTENCE IN WELL DOING.

By M. J. J.

Come what, come what, let come or go
This world as it is will,
Though oft distressed, yet do your best Life's functions to fulfill.

Nor grief nor care your heart let sore
Though fickle fortune frowns,
And cruel fate, first elevate,
Then rudely cast you down.

No thoughts unkind, let away your mind,
To give unmanly trust,
But whilst you've life, ne'er cease the strife,
And in the issue trust.

Let not your heart the dastard's part Vindictively perform,
Nor ever, with strong nerve
To honor's laws conform.

With sturdy arm, and purpose firm,
The right eye keep in view;
Though baffled still, unyielding still,
Its well marked path pursue.

Success with those will but repose,
Who ply the willing hand,
Who show by deeds that ne'er mislead,
Must conscience command.

Then persevere, nor doubt, nor fear
What the result shall be,
With truth for shield you win the field,
And gain life's victory.

A SHADOWY STORY.

A TALE OF THE IRISH REBELLION OF '68.

CONCLUSION.—(Continued).

Not a word was spoken for fully two hours. He could not in the least recognise the country they were traversing; but as he could hear with increasing loudness the dull booming of the sea, he knew they were approaching the coast. Then they halted. Again he found they were close to some building; then two men seized him by the arm, led him into a barn, for such it proved to be, and closed the door instantly behind him. The long shed was dimly lighted by three or four candles, which smoked and guttered in the draughts, and by their glare he could distinguish some ten or twelve men, all armed, while at a farther corner was a group only just visible in the gloom. Under one of the rude clay scones, Westbury's conductors halted in front of some man who seemed to be of higher rank, and one of his guard said, "This is Lieutenant Westbury, of the —th, captured to-night, on his march to the Boreen rendezvous."

"What do we want of English officers here?" returned one of those addressed, in the harsh tones. "I thought the boys from Drome knew better what to do with them."

"So they do," returned the man; "but they won't allow this one to be hurt."

At this moment, engrossed as Westbury's attention was by this conversation, he could not repress a start when a shadow—which even at that moment reminded him of the distorted figure he had twice seen at Boreen House—fell athwart the spot where he stood. "So then, Lieutenant Westbury has been unfortunate enough to be taken in the toils," said a voice.

The Lieutenant looked round, but only saw a cloaked figure in a slouch-hat, which so concealed his features that Westbury could not judge whether he had ever seen the figure before.

"Yes," replied the harsh voice; "and why they did not leave him on the bog is more than I can understand."

"Never mind that, Connell," said the cloaked figure. "Enough blood has been shed without his—I now promise Mr. Westbury perfect safety. He must consent to remain under restraint."

"You, Decoy! You, of all men?" exclaimed the other. "I should sooner have expected to find myself guaranteeing the life of an English out-throat."

"That matters not; I will that it shall be so," said Mr. Decoy, as we must now call him, "and you will please to obey—Mr. Westbury, he continued, addressing the officer, "I meet you only to thank you and bid you farewell. I leave for France within ten minutes—leave for ever, as I know too well; but I am glad to know that at parting I have been able to render you some slight service."

"The slight service appears to be the saving of my life," said Westbury, returning the hearty grasp of Mr. Decoy's hand; "and considering how often I have started out at night to catch you—"

"Oh, that is nothing," interrupted Decoy, with a smile. "It would be ridiculous to quarrel with a soldier for that. I am your debtor for all the kindness and delicacy shown during your residence at Boreen House, where I believe I have more than once disturbed you. Although you are reputed a brave man I believe you are frightened at shadows."

"Why—Was it then you who—?" exclaimed Westbury.

"It was," said Decoy, interrupting him; "and on the last occasion you nearly—"

"The boots are ready, Colonel," announced a man, approaching them.

"Then we part now," said Decoy; and turning round, he made a signal to the group which Westbury had noticed on first entering. Several persons now approached, and Decoy stepping to meet them, returned leading a female figure as heavily cloaked as himself; yet in spite of this disguise there was something in her appearance which made the officer's pulse beat quicker.

"My daughter, on leaving her native land, would join her thanks to my own," said Decoy with quiet dignity. The figure threw back its hood; and the bright eyes of Kate Decoy met those of the Lieutenant.

"I wish I could impress upon Mr. Westbury how sorry I am for much of what must have appeared rude behaviour," said the girl; "but he will forgive me when I answer him that it was forced upon me. We are friends, I trust!"

"Friends!" exclaimed the Lieutenant. "Friends! I shall never cease, Miss Decoy, to think of Boreen, wild and lonely as it is, or to remember those whom I had the honour of knowing there, and whom I valued and esteemed more than words can express."

"As a trifling memento of the Decoy's, rebels though they were," continued the girl, "pray sir, accept this ring." As she spoke, she drew from her finger a ring, in which a diamond sparkled, and presented it to Westbury with a suspiciously fearful smile.

The Lieutenant was about to speak; but was interrupted by Mr. Decoy: "Farewell, Lieutenant Westbury. For twenty-four hours, you will be held a prisoner here. Pray, do not attempt to escape, whatever apparent laxity may tempt you, for I assure you it will be hopeless. At the end of that time you shall be free. I give you into safe custody—Sullivan! M'Nally!" (two men came forward in answer.) "Remember—your men, and your men only, guard Mr. Westbury; and I look to you for his safety.—Farewell, sir!" With another grasp of the hand they parted. Miss Decoy took her father's arm, several other persons joined them, and in a few seconds more they had disappeared. Then the throng in the barn quickly thinned, until none but the Lieutenant and those who were evidently his guard—his protectors—remained.

He was kept in durance, as Mr. Decoy had warned him; and had not been for a fresh arrival, he would scarcely have heard a syllable spoken during his stay. This fresh arrival was no other than Biddy Quin, whose loquacity made amends for the taciturnity of the guard. She it was, as she speedily told him, who had interfered in his behalf when he was first in danger. "The saints forgive me!" said Biddy naively, "I did wrong." And being in a most communicative mood, she imparted information to Westbury which cleared up much that had been obscure. She told him how he had thrice nearly discovered the Squire. How the latter being anxious to see the Lieutenant, so as to recognise him, had entered his bedroom by a concealed door, and with looking through the inner window, had forgotten the lamp, and so had thrown his shadow on the table, thus causing the first alarm.

How all the household gave him up for lost when Dickies brought the guard, as the Squire was actually in the dining-room, when the sergeant-major entered the house. There seemed no possibility of escape; but when the Lieutenant had searched the upper rooms, and had sent Dickies and the soldiers to the rear of the House, the Squire, by way of trying one last almost desperate chance, had rushed upstairs to the part already mentioned; but again had almost betrayed himself by his shadow, which was thrown just in front of the office by the great lamp in the hall. The third escape was on the same evening, when the Squire was attempting to leave Boreen; for he and his daughter were with Biddy—who was to be their guide, being a marvel at threading fickle paths—when the latter came forward to meet him, and artfully—as Westbury could see well enough now—led him back to the village.

Biddy was also loquacious on other subjects of interest to the Lieutenant. Miss Kate Decoy, it appeared, was as active as active as Miss Quin herself, and had really ridden out to the bog district to meet the manager with the money and the letters, and the soldiers had guessed; and had been to meet her father and arrange for his coming to Boreen, when Westbury saw her on that well-remembered moonlight night. She told him too that the flight of Squire Decoy and his friends would have been more difficult, if not impossible, had not Westbury's detachment been set astray; and when the Lieutenant was unable to repress an ejaculation expressive of wonder at his movements being so accurately known, Biddy laughed, and with a rough look in her eyes whispered: "Walls have ears, sure; an' windies above doors are better nor walls."

"The creaking of that confounded window was for something after all, it seems," groaned Westbury. "But then, Mullany's stick?"

"Oh, my thick, is it thick?" exclaimed Biddy. "It was a lucky thought of me to take that same whip I was in the quarters of the redcoats with a message from the priest. I thought it might be handy some day; an' be me faith, it was!"

DEER HUNTING.—Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls Hotel, shot a fine large buck in the woods close to his place on Tuesday last. There were a few sports from Lakefield on a deer hunt with dogs that same day, but their luck was, no deer killed; and they are still wondering what became of the deer to which their dogs gave chase. Experience teaches.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality something touching—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balm Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

LINDLEY'S WHARF, August 22nd, 1883.
Messrs. Churchill & Co., Gents.—I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum for the past three years, and have been treated by some of the best doctors of Eastern Ontario without any lasting benefit. I was recommended by Mr. C. J. Lindsay, of Kani, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles of your Fountain and two bottles of your Climax Salve, I believe I am perfectly cured. My general health is also much improved, and I now feel like a new man.

Yours truly,

DALMEY P. O., Tp. Osgoode.
Messrs. Churchill & Co., Dear Sirs.—I have been troubled with Piles for the last five years, and during that time I have taken medicine from five doctors which failed to effect a cure. I have used only one box of your Climax Eye Salve, which I purchased from W. F. Ritchie, of Osgoode Station, and can recommend it as a safe cure to all afflicted with the same disease. I consider your Fountain of Health an excellent tonic to build up the system.

Yours truly,

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1883.

THE Hamilton Times is now unseparated from the Mail for eating fish, though we really cannot see how it concerns the public that a journalist should observe the facts as they are. The only motive can be to insult a political opponent, and stir up religious discord. Will the critical Globe give its opinion of this specimen of "Reform" and "Tory" journalism?

Is Mr. Mowat had appointed an unscrupulous Returning Officer for the West Riding of Peterborough and had given him instructions to allow no polling places in the town or the Municipality, but to double the polling places in the Township of Smith, so that a nominal member for West Peterborough might be returned by the Reformers of Smith, everyone would admit Mr. Mowat to be a rogue. He is not one yet less a rogue for refusing polling places to Cookham Island and other Conservative localities in Algoma, while doubling the facilities for the Reformers of Manitowish Island, in order that the Reform minority of Algoma might return a member. It is true that the law empowered him to fix the polling places, but the power was entrusted to him to provide for the convenience of the electors of Algoma, not to keep himself in power by disfranchising his opponents. A man who commits roguery under cover of the law by striking it or taking advantage of its defects is as guilty as the lawless rogue and still more despicable, for he shows himself a trickster and a coward as well as a rogue.

CANAL NAVIGATION.

In an article on the abolition of tolls on the Erie Canal, the Montreal Gazette makes the following remarks, which would apply equally to this district when our inland navigation is opened:

"An idea of the extent to which the inland commerce of the state is benefited by the canal may be gathered from the fact that during the present season there were transported in way freights between the cities and villages along the line of the canal 1,435,325 tons, which but for the canal would be subject to local non-competing railroad rates."

After praising the free canal policy of the State of New York the Gazette continues:

"Meanwhile we are moving slowly in Canada to counteract this practical effort of the people of New York to retain control of the water transportation trade between the seaboard and the Great North-West, and to acquire for our own canal system the commerce which it is able to claim. The condition of the public-avenue simply justifies the abolition of tolls on the canal and the assumption by the Government of the canal debt, but even if the finances were in a less buoyant condition the advantage to the trade of the country, the direct gain to producers, exporters and consumers of imported goods, would warrant the adoption of such a policy."

We would point out to our contemporary that the way to afford Montreal a similar benefit to that derived by the port of New York from the Erie Canal is not so much to abolish tolls on our ship canals, which would facilitate traffic that is easily diverted to the United States ports, but to hasten the completion of the Trent Valley Canal, by which unbroken barge navigation will become possible from Lake Huron to our St. Lawrence ports. The "condition of the public revenue simply justifies" the pushing forward of this very important work.

A GENUINE "REFORM" TRICK.

THE exhibition of the Mowat journals over the result of their dishonest practices in the Algoma election is most indecent, but of all their outpourings as editors of the Globe is pre-eminently for its shameless boasting of the criminal conspiracy by which the voice of the people was stifled. It is short and we give it entire as follows:

"A GENUINE TORY TRICK."

"The messenger sent with the ballots for use in the Bay of Quinte district at the recent Algoma election failed to reach his destination before the opening of the poll. He went by way of Rat Portage, Lake of the Woods and Rainy River, and the delay in his case was owing to high winds, which prevented him from crossing Lake of the Woods by canoe. What happened at Fort Frances in his absence is best told in the words of the Mail's despatch on the subject:

"RAY PORTAGE, Oct. 1.—Arrivals from Rainy River to-day stated that C. S. Crowe, the returning officer at Fort Frances, not having received the ballot-box improvised one. J. A.
Hantley, the Conservative scrutineer, took ballots with him for an emergency, which Crowe used. The vote stood—Fleming, 45; Lyons, 12."

"Another scrutineer is reported as having taken ballots to another polling place, so that this business of carrying ballots was undoubtedly part of the plot arranged by the Norquays for getting in their bogus votes. The Conservative scrutineers had no ballots entrusted by the returning officer to them to carry to the depots.

The only ballots proper to be used in the election were those sent by the regular messengers, but unfortunately delayed by the way. The use of the Norquay ballots was a farce and the production of them by Norquay's agents an impertinence."

Of course it is an impertinence in the eyes of the Globe that an attempt should be made to obtain, even informally, the views of those electors when Mr. Mowat and his tools had planned to disfranchise because they were conservatives, or to interfere with Mr. Mowat's scheme of nominating of this own will a member for Algoma by the simple process of allowing his friends to vote and preventing his opponents from doing so.

The high wind that was made the excuse for disfranchising the Conservatives of Rainy River and other districts was the most extraordinary meteorological phenomenon which has ever come under our notice, and is worthy of a thorough investigation by our scientific men. We advise that all the facts in regard to this marvellous atmospheric disturbance should be tabulated and laid before the members of the British Association when they visit us next year. It appears that the marvellous gale was strangely partial in its manifestation. It raged on the route to Conservative (polling) places, so as to render travel impossible, while on the way to the happy and peaceful abodes where Reformers congregate there prevailed serene skies and gentle zephyrs offering no impediment to the wayfarer. And even in these localities the effect was not constant, the apparent discrimination in favour of Reform communities being reversed in the case of individuals. Good Reform officials were visited with all the fury of the storm and were absolutely wind bound with their ballots and ballot boxes, while wicked Tory scrutineers with an unofficial supply of ballot papers, intended to frustrate the pious intentions of Mr. Mowat and his friends, did not even meet with a breeze to impede their arrival. Conservative and neutral craft rode unscathed over calm waters, while Reform vessels, chartered expressly for the service, by stress of weather were unavoidably detained. Who can blame the goodly Pastello for his "Te Deum" in view of such an evident interposition of Providence?

The claim thus set forth by these Reform tricksters is so preposterously absurd as to invite ridicule, but it must not be forgotten that a criminal attempt has been made to disfranchise the majority of the people of Algoma, and that the excuse put forth is an insult to those who are supposed to be so stupidly credulous as to be deceived by such falsehoods.

THE PRIVY COUNCIL AT LAST.

The provincial Secretary of Ontario, Hon.
Mr. A. S. Hardy, was speaking up at Winnipeg on Sept. 29th, and referred to the dispute boundary matter. He is reported as saying:

"The action taken by Manitoba throughout will certainly prejudice the settlement of the boundary question, as it introduces a new and third party, still further complicating the matter. The matter would likely be settled by the Privy Council of Great Britain. Offers had already been made by both the Dominion and Ontario Governments looking to a submission of the question to that body, but thus far they had not agreed upon a basis."

So, after all, the proposition made from a Conservative standpoint is that which Mr.
Hardy has most to be accorded to. And all that stands in the way is, he tells us, that an agreement should be come to by the parties concerned as to the mode and manner in which the case should be submitted for adjudication. But while the pretence on the part of Mr. Hardy is that the difficulty can be easily settled, Mr.
Mowat has taken very good care that it should not be settled. He has demanded as a preliminary of going into court that possession of the territory should be first given up to him. In other words, he asks for confession of judgment previous to trial. Of course such a concession would be altogether out of the place. The very asking for it indicates an unfair and aggressive intent. Still, as Mr. Hardy points out it has got to be some that at last. Very well then, why not at first as well as last?—*London

Murder Discovered by a Dream.

HORNILLVILLE, N. Y., September 25.—The dead body of William Scott was found lying along the track of the Erie Railway, a mile this side on the Olean depot, about midnight on Tuesday of last week. There were blood stains on the head, and abdomen. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict that Scott had been killed by the cars. On Thursday word was received from a brother of the dead man that he had dreamed on Tuesday night that his brother was murdered in a piece of woods and robbed. When the dreamer awoke he was so nervous that he was unable to sleep again during the night. He awoke from his dream between 11.30 o'clock and midnight.

On the same day a sister of Scott's who lives in Rochester, went word to a friend in Olean that he had a dream Tuesday on night, in which he saw two men beat her brother to death in the woods and take money from his pockets.
She awoke she was screaming, "Don't touch the money! There is blood on it!" She says she was frightened so that she arose from bed and struck a light. A clock on the bureau showed the time to be a little past 11.30.

These singular declarations led to bringing to light the fact that on the day of William Scott's death he had sold some property, for which he was paid $1,000. In the afternoon he was seen in an out-of-the-way saloon kept by a man named O'Mara, in company with two strange men. He was intoxicated and exhibited a large roll of money and boasted of the bargain he had made in the sale. Between four and five o'clock he was drunk that the men carried him out to a barn in the rear of the saloon and left him there.
About 11.30 o'clock that night he was met by an acquaintance on the road leading from O'Mara to the Erie depot, near a piece of woods.
He was not seen alive again.

There was no money in his clothes when found.
It is noted now that there was no blood on the rails or anywhere about the track at the spot where he was found, and railway men say that it would be next to an impossibility for a person to be hit by an engine or run over there without the fact being discovered at once either by the engineer or fireman. The belief is strong now that Scott was murdered and robbed and placed where he was found to give the impression that he had been killed by the cars.
The matter is to be re-investigated.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Wander says that on Tuesday Dr. Cooley and a party of men were escaping from the Indians while driving about the road between McIntosh and the crossing near this paper mill. For about fifty yards the road is very narrow, unimproved with the railroaders, and is very dangerous, as trains are constantly passing. A train came suddenly round the curve, short distance behind the doctor's buggy. The

...was in getting over the crossing a moment before the train thundered by, but in endeavouring to escape the train, the buggy and its occupants were thrown into the ditch. The driver, young Tumbley, who was with him, was considerably bruised, but not seriously injured. Those on the train who witnessed the race, say it was a race for life, and thought the boy being able to stop the train, and its engine stopping at full speed, a future we expect the boy will keep a sharp look out when driving a motor car.

Mr. Cusumano, proprietor of the Toronto College of Music, brought action against Peasley & Co., dry goods merchants, for $1,000 damages to the reputation of her establishment by her agent's clerk, and the case was tried at the City Assizes.

Monday. It appears that the plaintiff owed defendants an account, which she called to collect at noon on the 23rd inst. but refused to leave the books till 11 p.m., compelling himself to a reprehensible manner during that time. The jury awarded the plaintiff $0 damages.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1883.

It is very hard to please some Reform journalists. Mr. Charles put in a tender for railway work, without valid security, and at prices which, when computed by the engineers, proved to be a million dollars higher than the next tender. He was not awarded the contract and this was wrong in the eyes of these critics. Mr. Charles has recently put in the lowest tender, with regular security, for the construction of a block of Government buildings at Ottawa. He has had the contract awarded to him, and this is also wrong according to the same captious gentlemen.

The Toronto World, an independent Reform journal, informed its readers as follows on Saturday under the heading "The Algoma Boom":—"There is much rejoicing amongst the merchants of Manitoulin Island, as since the Algoma election farmers and others who were seeking for credit and unable to pay their store bills a week or two ago are now loaded down with shovels, and are settling up all round. One of them called last night and paid his three dollars for the week."

If this Reform paper is correct in its facts they may throw some light upon the returns for the recent election, which show a majority for Mr. Lyon on Manitoulin Island and a majority for Mr. Plummer, the Conservative candidate, in the rest of the constituency.

The Ottawa Free Press informs us on authority that the North West is over stocked with agricultural machinery, implements, waggons, &c., and that they are cheaper there than in Ontario. What, then, becomes of the recent statements of our contemporary and other Reform journals, that the agriculturists of the North West were paying exorbitant prices for farm implements on account of the tariff? In the same article we are also informed that it is over twelve years since the last great influx set in to Manitoba, that the population of the Province is less than 100,000, and that October is approaching, the close of the season for the arrival of grain in Ontario from the North West. All which acquisitions to our knowledge, besides much of the same character, we receive with thanks.

POLICE COURT.
DROWN.
TUESDAY, Oct. 9.—The familiar countenance of Michael Murray appeared in the court this morning for the eighth time. He regained his liberty on Monday morning after serving three months in the goal for drunkenness, and at once proceeded to make himself drunk as quickly as possible. By four o'clock in the afternoon he had succeeded admirably, and walked down George street, endangering all the plate glass in his line of march. Finally he measured his length on the sidewalk at the corner of Simcoe street, and he was assisted to his feet by P. C. Fidgeon, who, with the aid of P. C. Adams, carried him to the cells. His excuse in the court was that after three months of total abstinence, a small amount of liquor took effect upon him. The case was enlarged until Wednesday morning, to give him an opportunity to fulfill his promise to leave town at once, and he departed showering profuse thanks upon the Magistrate.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

A PASTORAL FROM M'CABE.

DUBLIN, Oct. 8.—Cardinal McCabe, of Dublin, has issued a pastoral saying that owing to the justice and good sense of modern statesmen many former educational grievances have been redressed, but much remains to be done. He says he does not ask for his people the slightest privilege as against others, but only equality and justice.

THE FRENCH IN TONQUIN.
PARIS, Oct. 8.—The Minister of Marine has received a telegram from Tonquin stating that the Black Flags have retreated from Namdink and Sonlay to Lao Kai, on the frontier of China, and that the Annamite army arrived Hal Phong, and will start for the French headquarters forthwith.

A SUSPICIOUS STRANGER.
CORK, Oct. 8.—A stranger giving the name of Smith arrived at a hotel in Cork to-day and secured lodgings. His luggage was found to contain a quantity of firearms, which were seized. Pending enquiries as to his identity, he is under the surveillance of the police.

BANK MANAGER ARRESTED.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—George Warden, the defaulting manager and secretary of the London and River Plate Bank, was arrested to-day at his sister's house in London. He had just returned from the Continent.

THE FRENCH PRESS.
PARIS, Oct. 8.—The Sov states that the Sagasta Cabinet is pressing the demands for satisfaction for the insults to Alfonso simply to improve its position before the Cortes. If this course is persisted in it will only expose Spain to a rebuff. Spain has had all the apology she can fairly demand.

FRENCH OPERATIONS.
HONG KONG, Oct. 8.—It is believed Commissioner Harman has offered the Black Flags employment in the future Franco-Annamese army. Should the Black Flags evacuate Sonlay, the French will immediately attack Baonienh. The fleet will ascend the North Branch river to Lienping, sending gun-boats to intercept the retreat of the regular Chinese troops from Baonienh. The entire French force is preparing to effect this operation.

FORTS IN NEUTRAL TERRITORY.
BERNE, Oct. 8.—Two Swiss officers were sent to Savoy to ascertain whether the report is true that the French are erecting fortifications. They report that several military works have been constructed in the neutralized portion of that territory. The Government will make an energetic protest.

ALFONSO AND THE EMPEROR.
MADRID, Oct. 8.—The King has sent a cordial answer to the Emperor William's telegram of sympathy.

SATISFACTION DEMANDED.
MADRID, Oct. 8.—A Ministerial council deliberated four hours upon the contents of a telegram from the Spanish ambassador to France relative to the insults to King Alfonso. The Iberia says the Government desires satisfaction without making any impossible demand for redress.

O'DONNELL'S DEFENCE.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Mr. Sullivan, counsel for O'Donnell, argues that his client had, of course, opportunities of throwing Carney overboard had he so wished; that he had no knowledge of Carney's identity; that he made friends with him as an Irishman; and that he only fired in self-defence when Carney grappled with him.

DECLARED DEFAULTERS.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Mark Miller & Co. have been declared defaulters on the Stock Exchange. This firm is one of the Warden's brokers. Three or four others are expected to fail. Their exit may cause committees of investigation into the methods of Warden's speculations, about which ugly disclosures are probable. Such reports help to make the markets flat, and disclose the enormous loss of open accounts. Two millions of Atlantic first mortgage bonds, for example, have been sold to close accounts.

AMERICAN.

BRADSTREET'S WEEKLY REPORT.

New York, Oct. 6.—The general trade situation is less animated at some western centres, as reported by special telegrams to Bradstreet, the rush of orders has quieted, and a more moderate but satisfactory volume of trade has its place. At eastern cities, particularly New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the somewhat unexpected vigour of the fall movement has given place, to transactions involving less activity on the part of jobbers and commission agents in dry goods, boots and shoes and other leading lines. Special advice from over fifty cities as to the progress of building operations leaves no doubt that the investments in real estate and new buildings during the past 8 months, as a whole, have seldom if ever been equalled. The prices of wheat have come off about 3.8 cts. per bushel as compared with Friday night's closing price of last week, the result of an increasing visible supply, excessive stocks abroad and lack of export demand. Indian corn is about 2 cts. per bushel lower on the week, largely due to the efforts of the short interest. Some considerable shipments abroad have been made and a relatively greater export demand exists for it than for wheat. Provisions have been dull and lower but a sudden advance at the West yesterday, and price of lard in this market up about twenty points as compared with last Friday's closing figure. The attractive coal market is somewhat demoralized owing to the reported cut in prices by the Delaware & Hudson canal company. General reports place this reduction in stove sizes at 50 cts. per ton. The company deny it, but admit a cut of 15 cts. per ton, and claim it is in order to work off a lot of surplus coal which has accumulated at the tide water owing to the inability to procure cars to carry it west. Well informed members of the trade declare that the cut amounts to 37 per cent, and is made to induce Mr. Gowen to consent to the output of coal being reduced. This company named itself that from market is dull at the reduction of $1 per ton for No. 1 pig without new business. Ocean freight is dull but scarcity of desirable tonnage keeps charter firm. Petroleum tends lower as the new production shown by the monthly report of operations as well as by the new wells which have come in this week, rather offset the bullish character of the pipe line company reports of September. The consumption demand for wool has continued good. Though not so active as in closing weeks of September. The market is very strong and vigorous sellers. There were 100 failures in the U. S. reported to Bradstreet during the past week, 4 less than the preceding week, 30 more than the corresponding week of 1882 and 74 more than the same week of 1881.

STANDARD TIME.

Its Adoption Probable at Meeting to be held in Chicago this week.

The General Time Convention of the festive railway managers will be held in Chicago, commencing Thursday, Oct. 11. It is expected that final action will be taken on the question of the adoption of the system of uniform standard time as recommended at the last meeting of the convention and at the meeting of the Southern Railway Time Convention in April last. The managers of about sixty thousand miles of road have already voted in the affirmative on the question. The proposition is to divide the whole of North America into five divisions—the International, 60 degrees west from Greenwich; the Eastern, 75 degrees west from Greenwich; the Central, 90 degrees west from Greenwich; the Mountain, 105 degrees west from Greenwich; and the Pacific, 120 degrees west from Greenwich. Each division, it will be observed, is fifteen degrees apart, which makes just one hour in time. At present there are fifty different standards of time in use on the various roads, which cause much annoyance and trouble. By the new arrangement there will be but five standards, each one hour apart, which will greatly simplify matters if adopted. The proposition to divide the clock dials in twenty-four hours instead of twelve hours a. m. and twelve hours p. m., will also be discussed. By this arrangement one o'clock p. m. would be thirteen o'clock, and twelve o'clock p. m. twenty-four o'clock. It is argued in support of this proposition that the present arrangement of designating the first twelve hours of the day as a. m., and the last twelve hours as p. m., leads to much confusion, and under the new system no mistakes can be made between a. m. and p. m. It is hardly probable, however, that the last proposition will go through.

A Barrel Manufactory.
A company has been formed at Montreal with a capital of $100,000 to manufacture barrels, kegs and all kinds of wooden ware.

Hops in England.
England's crop of hops is 800,000 cwts., as compared with scarcely 300,000 cwts. of last year. Germany and America have also a large crop.

New Version of the Bible.
It is reported that "General" Booth is to bring out another version of the Bible. To judge from the style of the productions of the "General" and his subordinates, it will probably be a curious edition.

Fire in a Theatre.
A terrible fire occurred in a theatre in Japan on Friday. The structure was built of bamboo and plaster, and burned furiously. Seventy-five persons perished, and some 100 more were more or less injured.

A Disabled Vessel.
The National line steamship Canada, bound from Liverpool to New York, was towed in to St. John's, Nfld., on Saturday with her main shaft broken. She left Liverpool, Sept. 22, encountered severe weather and broke down Oct. 1. She was taken in tow by the steamer South Wales on Friday last. The passengers are all well, except one stevedore, who died mad.

Attempted Murder.
CHATSWORTH, Oct. 8.—On Saturday night Robert Green, of this village, attempted to murder his wife by shooting, and but for the interference of his mother would have accomplished it. Green has been for some time drinking hard, and while in this state procured a revolver from his showcase, went into the house, caught his wife around the neck, and pulled the pistol from his hip pocket. His mother seeing this snatched his hand. He discharged the pistol, but without effect. His wife broke from his grasp and fled to a neighbour's almost distracted.

Sporting News.
The Shamrock played the Metropolitan of Ottawa at Lacrosse on Saturday, taking the first two sets fifth games. The Governor-General and the Princess witnessed the play.

The Independents of Montreal played the Toronto Lacrosse Club for the championship on Saturday, but were defeated in three successive games, the actual play lasting but half an hour.

Some of the best batting averages in England for this year are as follows:—The Hon. A. Lytton, 69.3; A. W. Blythe, 48.3; O. T. Studd, 41.4; W. W. Read, 38.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1883.

THE HYPOCRISITS.

The Globe of October 4th says:—"The Ontario Government has responded favourably to the petition of the residents of the township of Oliver to have a public road made to the Kakabeka Falls, on the Kaministiquia, and a large number of men are now at work upon it. The object referred to is one of the most beautiful sights of a highly picturesque country, and the new road will not only afford access to it, but open up the district for settlement. As the election is over there can of course be no political objection in carrying out this much needed improvement."

"No political object," eh? Does the Globe take its readers to be fools, that it should try to palm off on them the statement that "the large number of men" at work on this road on Monday, the first of October, as they must have been to justify the editor of the Globe in penning the above paragraph on the Wednesday, had nothing to do with the election of the preceding Friday? Such an assertion is really too thin!

Then we should like to learn how it comes that Mr. Pardo has money at his disposal on the 1st of October for expenditure on a road in the township of Oliver, which, by the way, is, we believe, the only township in the disputed territory which gave Mr. Lyon a majority, when he was instructed his assistant commissioner to write on the 1st of August previous, in response to an application for money for expenditure on certain roads in the townships of Smith and Harvey, "that the money at the disposal of the Government for road purposes is for the present year entirely exhausted." We believe August and October are both within the "present year," and unless we have slept away the last two months no session of the Legislature has been held between these two dates whereby additional supplies could be voted. This being the case, the two statements which we have just quoted prove either (1) that the statement contained in the assistant commissioner's letter to Mr. Carnegie was untrue, or (2) that the money now being expended in Algoma is being spent without the authority of the Legislature, and (3) possibly without the authority of even an order-in-Council, as was the case in regard to the "hush-money" paid to Prof. McDonnell by Mr. Mowat, and a certain expenditure in connection with the Agricultural College by Mr. Crooks, when Treasurer. The truth of the matter is that the checks existing in the Treasury Department at Toronto are of the latest possible kind, and the Opposition will fail in their duty if they do not insist upon a thorough investigation into and overhauling of the Ontario Treasury Department at the earliest possible moment.

CANADIAN COTTONS.

After quoting our remarks on the inconsistency of the anti-national journals in attributing the temporary glut of Canadian cotton to the N.E. when free trade England is in the same position, the Hamilton Tribune says:—"Party politics are the same year after year, and the Reform journals to-day simply imitate the tactics of the Conservative journals in 1878. The latter then attributed all the ills of the country then laboured under to a low revenue tariff, and omitted to mention that there was a similar state of affairs in the highly protected United States."

We can assure our contemporary that the REVIEW like many other advocates of the N. P. dwelt upon the fact that there was a similar or worse state of affairs in the highly protected United States, which we attribute to the burden of their heavy war debt and to the depression which had naturally succeeded to the inflation of the period at the conclusion of the civil war. A strong argument that we used in favour of the N. P. was that Canada should not be made to share the effects of causes foreign to her by being made a slaughter market to relieve the manufacturers of the United States, and so to crush our own nascent industries. We also, by-the-by, amid the ridicule of our opponents, maintained that with protective internal competition would make cottons and other articles cheaper instead of dearer, and events have proved us correct. If a combination should temporarily raise prices unduly, there need be no fear but that renewed competition would immediately be incited, and would still secure us cheap cotton. All this is in accordance with history, though not with free trade-closet theories.

The Mowat Army.

On Friday in Judge Ardagh's Court, Charles Diamond, who broke jail at St. Paul and subsequently obtained employment as an Ontario special, was "wanted," a "pal" of his being in the dock. Charles, however, could not be found, but it was subsequently ascertained that he had gone out to vote the Liberal ticket at Vermilion Bay. — Winnipeg Times.

CROP REPORTS.

Peterborough and Vicinity.—A Generally Good Crop Except of Fall Wheat.

We take the following reports concerning the crops in this vicinity from the report issued on the crops of the section of country through which the Midland Railway passes:—

PETERBOROUGH AND VICINITY.

Winter wheat, acreage same as 1882, average 75 per cent; quality poor, injured by rust. Spring wheat, acreage above 1882, above average quality, very good. Barley, acreage same as 1882, average good, 33 bushels per acre. Peas, acreage same as 1882, above average, quality good. Oats, acreage above 1882, early, above average, very good. Late oats injured by frost. Rye, acreage above 1882, above average, quality good. Clover, acreage above 1882, average 15 per cent. Hay, acreage above 1882, average 15 per cent. Above, quality good. Roots: Potatoes, acreage short, average 70 per cent, quality good. Turnips, acreage above, average, good quality. Carrots, acreage short, average good, quality good. Mangolds, acreage same as 1882, average good, quality good. Fruits: Apples, acreage same as 1882, almost all, average poor owing to spring frosts. Plums, acreage same as 1882, very abundant, quality fair. Grapes, acreage same as 1882, average good, quality good, locally injured by frost. Prospects on the whole encouraging.

LAKEFIELD.

Oats, hay and peas are above average of last year. Rye and spring wheat about average yield. Fall wheat below average. Potatoes about same as last year. Fruit, especially apples, poor and scarce, excepting plums, which are better than for some years past. Vegetables about the same as last year.

HASTINGS.

The crop prospects in this vicinity for 1883 run as follows, taking 100 as the average:—Fall wheat 75 per cent, shrunk, caused by rust. Spring wheat 100, sample excellent. Barley 100, heavy but considerably colored. Peas 110, sample good. Rye 100, good quality. Oats 100, quality good. Hay 125, stacked and mowed in good condition. Apples 25, killed by spring frosts while in blossom. Small fruits 100. Buckwheat and corn killed by recent frosts, will not exceed 20. Potatoes 100. Vegetables 100. Roots 75, affected by wet spring weather.

KEENE.

As compared with average of other years, fall wheat 80, spring wheat 100, barley 95, peas 90, oats 115, rye none, corn none, apples 35, roots 100, hay 120.

HALIFURTON.

The crop prospects in this vicinity, as far as can be ascertained, are as follows: spring wheat and oats are generally good, considerably above the average. Fall wheat is generally a poor crop this season. Barley, buckwheat, and peas are very good. Peas will average from 25 to 30 bushels per acre. Hay is very heavy all over the country, the average yield will be considerably above one ton per acre. Potatoes are not generally a good crop, owing to rot. Other root crops good. Fruit is good, but not much grown here.

LINDSAY.

Fall wheat about 25 bushels to the acre. Spring wheat 20. Barley 25. Oats 45. Peas 25. Hay 2 tons. Roots and fruit medium.

MORMON POLYGAMY.

The Institution Zealously Advocated.—A New Revelation Promised.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 4.—At the semi-annual Conference of the Mormon churches yesterday President Taylor said that God would sustain his people, and that Zion would grow and live forever. Heber J. Grant, of the New Apostles, zealously advocated polygamy, and said that after the passage of the Edmunds law polygamists professing to be good Latter Day Saints had put away their wives and sent them to their mothers. He had an utter contempt for such men. The speaker appeared ignorant of the fact that President Taylor was first to send his wives away after the passage of the law, and did not call them together until the Church concluded to test its constitutionality. Brigham Young, Jr., next spoke. He said no power on earth could overthrow the saints, and stronger revelations than those they had received were yet to come. George Cannon spoke in the same strain.

THE MASON COURT-MARTIAL.

Application by Counsel for a Copy of the Finding.—The Request Refused.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Counsel for Sergt. Mason, who attempted to shoot Giffens, applied to the Secretary of War for a copy of the Judge Advocate-General's review of the proceedings of the court-martial by which Mason was tried. The secretary refused the application on the ground that the document was a confidential communication. The prisoner's friends say the secretary withholds the report because it is favorable to Mason and contrary to his view of the case. It is reported Mason's counsel will apply to the president for a full record.

Timber and Houses in Sky.

Throughout the island timber is a rare and precious article, most frequently the gift of ocean. The man who secures a good log of driftwood has obtained a prize worth having. It may have been a brave old tree, tempest-torn from its home in some distant forest, carried to the sea by rushing torrents, and perchance tossed by the waves and wafted to and fro by many a current, ere it drifted to its rest on these far shores. Or it may be the mast and spar, or perchance the cargo of some wrecked vessel—what ever its story it is treasure true, and most deeply valued. Though encumbered with barnacles or riddled by the smallest piece of work, it is a good account; the smallest piece will make a stool or a settle, or a box or a part of a door; while large timbers become rafters—precious heirlooms, for a young couple cannot wed till they have accumulated enough rafters to support their thatch, and should they have occasion to "fit," the only part of their bobby that commands any pecuniary compensation is the roof, not the work only, but also the heavy thatch saturated with thick grey peat-moss (in other words with a thick coating of soot). This, when broken up, forms a valuable manure for the unfertile crofts.—Temple Bar.

Tree Planting.

A despatch from St. John, N. B., as to the Dominion and Provincial Exhibition there, says:—"The fourth day of the exhibition witnessed a very large attendance. The judges in all the departments are making awards. The Historical Society, in honor of the centennial year, planted a large number of trees on Queen's Square to-day. The work was done by the leading citizens. The Lieutenant-Governor planted a tree in honor of the Queen, and Mr. Cushing one to the Prince Consort. Bishop Sweeney another to the Prince of Wales, the conductor Bishop to the Princess of Wales, Chief Justice Allen to Prince Victor, Sir Leonard Tilley to Prince George, Senator Boyd to the Princess Louise, and Mayor Holly, of Portland, to the Marquis of Lorne. The descendants of the loyalists planted trees in memory of their forefathers."

RAILWAY TRAIN ROBBERY.

Freight Car Broken Open and $200 Worth of Property Carried Off.

Grand Trunk Detective Flynn was surprised and pained on Friday afternoon when examining the cars in Conductor Bullman's special west bound freight at the Union Station, to discover that one of the vans had been broken open and ransacked. The car was laden with through freight from Montreal to Windsor, and on examining the cargo it was found that 31 boxes, supposed to contain ladies' fur mufflers and caps, were empty. The appearance of the exterior of the car indicates that the thieves, after breaking the lock on the door, went about their work with much circumspection. They had carefully inspected the contents, and after shooting their plunder had covered it off without undue haste. A box containing an assortment of fine boots and shoes was also relieved of half its contents. A quantity of raisins were also missing from another packing case, and this completes the list of the plunder secured. There was nothing found in the car that would lead to the identification of the marauders, but Detective Flynn is now working up the case and will endeavor to detect the guilty parties. The value of the property stolen from the car will probably foot up to $200, as the furs, it is understood, were rather costly. Another but less successful attempt to rifle a freight car was made at Whithy last night. While Conductor McNeill's westbound special was waiting on the siding at Whithy, last night, about eleven o'clock, Mr. McNeill discovered two men endeavoring to break open one of the cars. Hastily summoning his brakemen to his assistance, he attacked the industrious robbers, and in spite of their determined resistance overpowered them. They were at once removed to the Whithy lock-up, where they will be detained to answer to a charge of attempted larceny.

West Hastings Fall Show.

BELLEVIEW, Oct. 6.—The annual show of the West Hastings Agricultural Society and the Belleville Horticultural Society was held to-day. The weather was cold, but the attendance was large. The display in most of the purely agricultural classes, particularly in horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, poultry, agricultural implements, and vehicles, and roots and vegetables was one of the best made here. In fruit and one or two other classes there was a fine fair show, but there was a considerable falling off in others, especially in flowers, amongst which the late frosts have caused great havoc.—Mail.

ST. LAWRENCE CANALS.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for St. Lawrence Canals," will be received at this office until the arrival of the eastern and western mails on TUESDAY, the 13th day of November next, for the construction of a lock and regulating weir and the deepening and enlargement of the upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal.

Also for the construction of a lock, together with the enlargement and deepening of the upper entrance of the Rapids Canal, or middle division of the Williamsburg Canal.

Tenders will also be received until TUESDAY, the 27th day of November next, for the extension of the pierwork and deepening, &c., of the channel at the upper entrance of the Galopas Canal.

A map of the site and superintendence of the Cornwall Canal and the upper entrance of the Rapids Canal, together with plans and specifications of the respective works, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's office, Dickson's Landing, on and after Tuesday, the 30th day of October next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

A map, plans and specification of the works to be done at the head of the Galopas Canal can be seen at this office and at the lock keeper's house, near the place, on and after TUESDAY, the 13th day of November, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the firm; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars must accompany the Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted. This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

PHILOSOPHY OF ADVERTISING.

In his address to the editors of Indiana at their recent meeting at Fort Wynn, Colonel Pierce, of Chicago, presented the following thoughts with reference to advertising, which are worth remembering. He said:

And in presenting a beautiful sheet typographically one should remember the advertiser as well as the reader. A man likes to have his advertisements pleasing to look upon, catching to the eye and indicative generally of the advertiser. This class of patrons are so important to success that they should receive every encouragement. Particularly should they be impressed with the desirability of keeping their area before the public. A man never realizes the benefits of advertising till he has placed the matter before the same people fifty or one hundred times as much as the first. Some one has said that

The first time a man looks at an advertisement he does not see it.

The second time he does not notice it.

The third time he is dimly conscious of it.

The fourth time he faintly remembers something of the kind before.

The fifth time he half reads it.

The sixth time he turns up his nose at it.

The seventh time he throws the paper down impatiently.

The eighth time he ejaculates: There's the confounded thing again.

The ninth time he wonders if there's anything in it.

The tenth time he thinks it might possibly suit somebody else's case.

The eleventh time he thinks he will ask his neighbor if he has tried it, or knows anything about it.

The twelfth time he wonders if the advertiser can make it pay.

The thirteenth time he rather thinks it must be a good thing.

The fourteenth time he happens to think it is just what he wanted.

The fifteenth time he for a long time resolves to try it as soon as he can afford it.

The sixteenth time he examines the address carefully and makes a memorandum of it.

The seventeenth time he is tantalized to think he is hardly able to read it.

The eighteenth time he sees painfully how much he is in need of that particular article.

The nineteenth time he counts his money to see how much he would have left if he bought it.

The twentieth time he rushes frantically forth and buys it.

A Foolish Prejudice

I never go to one of our "sea-side resorts" without noticing how very few English women there are who appear to know how to swim. At Brighton, Eastbourne, or Scarborough, you will see dozens of girls ungracefully bobbing up and down in eighteen inches of water, but not one in fifty swimming. Abroad, on the contrary, at Trouville or Bognor, plenty of ladies swim about in the most fearless manner. This difference I attribute entirely to our insular and inferior prejudices. Here the unwritten law of Mrs. Grundy degrades that no girl shall bathe with any man, even her father, husband, or brother, and the consequence is that few of them learn to swim, and many do not bathe at all. Abroad on the other hand, where the same bathes together ladies are constantly to be seen swimming by their male relations. The sooner, therefore that we supersede our ideas on this point and allow both sexes to bathe together, the better—especially for the ladies.—London Truth.

A Papal Delegate to Canada.

The report that Abbe Smolders had been appointed Procurator-General of the Clerical Order by the Pope as Apostolic Commissioner to Canada is only an old. No appointment has been under consideration for a long time past, and it is stated that it is difficult to get any one to accept. The duties devolving upon such an office would be that the holder of it would act as a sort of referee to examine all disputes in connection with the Church, which he would not decide without first referring the matter to the Pope. It will be remembered that the Vice-Grand of Gibraltar was appointed to the position shortly before his death, but declined. The Procurator-General would have to deal with the Latin and other difficulties of a similar nature existing more particularly in the Province of Quebec.

Died in the Theatre.

Just before the curtain went up on the first act of Baker & Farson's performance at the Opera house last night, great excitement was caused over the sudden dropping from his seat of an elderly man, who seemed exhausted with the heat. Seeing that he was dangerously ill, parties standing near took him in charge, and the helpman man was assisted down stairs. He proved to be an old and well-known resident in the person of Mr. Samuel Moray, carpenter, and though unable to speak when taken out, it was apparent to all that he was suffering from heart disease. His boarding-house was known to be at the Windsor hotel, two blocks up Perth street and thither he was speedily carried, though death had claimed him before the doors were reached.—Brockville Recorder.

Death of Mr. James Little.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Mr. James Little died at his residence, Cote St. Antoine, on Tuesday, October 2, in his 80th year. Mr. Little was long a resident in the Niagara District, Ont., and moved to Montreal about twelve years ago, to be in the vicinity of timber limits, where he carried on extensive lumbering operations until within the last few years. Mr. Little was the first person to make a really vigorous effort to arouse public opinion on the subject of the destruction of our forests, and contributed many articles on the subject to the press. He has followed in his father's footsteps in regard to forestry. Mr. Little had a large circle of acquaintances in Ontario, where he was even better known than in Montreal.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine, an advertisement of which appears in another column.

LOCAL Boards of Trade in Liverpool and other parts of England are putting restrictions on the importation of Irish cattle, owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth disease in Ireland.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint it is infallible.

The Pall Mall Gazette fears that the numerous outrages reported from Ireland show that dark hours are coming. It thinks that if murders continue England will become so exasperated that she will summarily suppress the National League.

Mrs. J. McPhee, Apple, writes:—During the last eight years I have used almost every medicine recommended for Biliousness, but found nothing equal to Carson's Bitters. If you suffer try it. Price 50 cts.

IRELAND'S two Dukes, the Duke of Leinster and the Duke of Abercorn, cannot be accused of absenteeism, since the former has scarcely been out of Ireland four continuous months in thirty years, while the latter has been residing in the country ever since the present trouble began.

"LEAVES have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and other Summer Complaints.

The subject of ensilage is receiving much attention on the part of the Scottish farmers, and at nearly all agricultural meetings it comes up for a full share of discussion. Lord Thurlow and the Earl of Seafield have each erected silos, the former on Dunphilly, and the latter on Tochnienal, for the purpose of making experiments during the winter. The result of these will be learned with the greatest interest.

W. A. EDWARDS, of Frankville, was cured of Liver and Kidney Complaint after life was despaired of. He had remained from ten to fifteen days without an action of the bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he writes that he is better man than he has been for twenty years past.

READER, if you suffer from any disorder of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin or Blood, try Burdock Blood Bitters. Nature's specific medicine for acting on those organs for the outlet of disease. 25,000 bottles sold in the last three months.

A FEW years ago great efforts were made to acclimatize English sparrows in South Australia, which have proved successful to a most inconvenient extent, as the birds have lately increased so much, and have inflicted such serious damage on wheat, vegetables, and fruit crops that a reward of 6d. per dozen has been offered for their heads by the Government, and 2s. 6d. per hundred will be paid for their eggs.

The use of Pills, Salts, Castor Oil &c. and other nauseous, or even cathartic medicines, is a pleasant substitute in form of Dr. Carson's Bitters, which act as a Cathartic without griping or causing nausea. All Druggists sell it, 50 cents a Bottle.

THERE is no excuse for suffering from Headache, Constipation and all the varying symptoms of a disordered liver, when Burdock Blood Bitters is an unfailing remedy, and only costs One Dollar a bottle. Why suffer on without a trial? 25,000 bottles sold during the last three months, with almost universal satisfaction.

Do not delay, if suffering from any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaint that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

James Brayley, Hamilton, says: "I read the testimonials for McGregor's Speedy Cure, and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas, but that I could get it at home. I have taken three bottles and it helped me right away. I was as bad with Bilious Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's Drug Store.

A Lumberman's Library.

The Lumberman's Gazette of Bay City, Michigan, says:—Although most Michigan lumbermen are very considerate of the physical wants of their employees in the woods during the winter, they have not yet paid very little attention to their mental culture, and any reading matter in the woods had to be secured by the workmen themselves. Stewart Lee, of Big Rapids, however, proposes to inaugurate a new era in this direction which is very creditable to his head and heart. He has made arrangements to furnish a number of the leading periodicals for his camp, and besides has furnished about 125 volumes of standard books as a library for the use of his men. This is a commendable act, and one which we hope to see very extensively imitated by other employers. We believe it will be productive of excellent results, in the improved morale of the men comprising his working force. It is a subject at least worthy the consideration of every person employing a large force in the woods.

The Battle of the Books.

ACTION AND COUNTER-ACTION.—The firm of W. J. Gage & Co., wholesale booksellers, and the publishers of "Gage's Canadian Readers," have entered an action for $10,000 damages against James Campbell & Son, the publishers of the rival set of Readers, because the latter inserted an advertisement in the city papers which, it is alleged, damages the business of the former. The advertisement stated that one Smith, an elector, had used Gage & Co. for a large sum of money for altering the title plates of his readers from "English" to "Canadian." It is said that Campbell & Son sue for $20,000 for the alleged statements in connection with their agency of the Oxford University press edition of the Revised New Testament.

In the Hour of Need

You want not to try experiments, but report to the old and well tested means that afforded relief in the past. When your coughs don't take the first article offered you, but find out just the thing to answer your purpose, viz., to remove the troublesome cough, and to do this with pain, and do it promptly, Fennell's Pulmonary Extract has been used for many years. It has never been known to fail. Fennell's Extract makes no deep holes in the flesh, hard to heal and more troublesome than the original discomfort. It works slowly and efficiently.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, there is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who once were sufferers from lung diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balm, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The greatest medical wonder in the world. Warranted to speedily cure Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Hoars, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Cancer, Piles, Chapped Lips, Corns, Tetter, Chapped Hands, and all kinds of eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money refunded. 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

The Quickest Thing on Record.

Is Kram's Fluid Lightning for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin; requires but one application to banish all pain magically without using any greasy liniment or carrying your head in a pillow for weeks. Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is the best of the kind, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 10 cents a bottle.

Do not wear faded clothes when a 10c. package of the Triangle Dye will make them look bright as new. The popular color, 10c.

Oh, my Back!

Is there a miserable, weakening pain in the small of the back? Is urination painful? Do you have palpitation of the heart? Do strange, indescribable feelings creep up your back and sides? Does the least exertion weary you? Does your urine show brickdust or albuminous deposit? Does any sudden fright cause an intense, sharp pain in the small of your back? Do you have an aching in the groin? Is your memory impaired? Is your breath short? Are there shooting pains about your vitals? Are you becoming dropsical? These are all symptoms of kidney diseases. Be on your guard against them. If let run it may end in Bright's Disease, which is sure death. Your best course is to procure at once a bottle of SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS costing only 50c. It will cure any form of Kidney Complaint, except Bright's Disease, it will relieve the symptoms and defer the evil day sometimes indefinitely.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS is a medicine as harmless as water. The world has not seen its equal as a cure for diseases which attack the kidneys and for the complaints to which females are alone liable. It is of more value than any medical compound known to the medical faculty.

Sold by all Druggists and at Depot 150 St. James St. West, Montreal, Price 50c.

PROSPECTUS.

Government of Canada Loan for $4,000,000, 4 per cent. Currency Bonds.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE for the Dominion of Canada is authorized to receive tenders for a loan of $4,000,000 currency bonds, bearing interest from 1st November, 1883, at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November of each year, at his office in the Finance Department, Ottawa.

This loan is issued under the authority of an Act of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, passed during their last session, (40th Victoria, cap. 2, sec. 4.) The object of the loan is partly to provide for the payment of debts maturing or payable in the course of the current fiscal year, and partly for expenditure on public works.

The principal of the loan now offered is to be repaid at Ottawa's twenty years. Subscribers will receive bonds to bearer, which may at any future time be converted into registered stock. The subscription list will be opened on Wednesday, the 17th day of October next, and will be closed on Saturday, the 30th day of October next, at 4 o'clock p.m., and tenders in the accompanying form, marked on the outside "Tenders for Debentures," will be received at the Finance Department, Ottawa, up to and including the latter date, at the hour mentioned.

Tenders must be made for not less than $1,000, and in multiples of $1,000.

The adjustment of the loan will be made as soon as possible after the close of the subscription list, the amounts allotted will be payable on the 1st day of November next, and Bonds will be issued shortly after that date.

Copies of this prospectus and forms of tender can be obtained from the undersigned, from the several Assistant Receivers General at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Saint John, Winnipeg and Victoria, and from the Dominion Auditor at Charlottetown.

J. M. COURTNEY, Deputy Minister of Finance, Finance Department, Ottawa, September 21st, 1883.

LIBRARY'S WEARY, August 22nd, 1883.

Mrs. Churchill & Co., Genl. Agents.—I have been afflicted with Biliousness for the past three years, and have been treated by some of the best doctors of Eastern Canada without any lasting benefit. I was recommended by Mr. C. J. Lindsey, of Kam, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles of your Tonic and two bottles of your Cathartic Salve, I believe I am perfectly cured. My general health is also much improved, and I now feel like a new man.

Yours truly, ROSE, BARNARD.

Mrs. Churchill & Co., Dear Sirs.—I have been troubled with Piles for the last five years, and during that time I have taken medicine from five doctors which failed to effect a cure. I have used only one box of your Cathartic Salve, which I purchased from Mr. F. Ritchie, of Ogdoo Station, and am now completely cured. I consider your Fountain of Health an excellent tonic to build up the system.

Yours truly, ARTHUR McDONALD.

Correction.

We are informed by Mr. J. J. Lundy that we were led into an error in the item clipped from a Lindsay paper in reference to the rebuilding of his buildings in Lindsay. Mr. William Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, and not Mr. Inglis, is superintending the work.

Voters' List Appeals.

Mr. J. O'Meara has entered thirty-three appeals against the voters' list for the town. Twenty-four are to have names added or amended made, and nine against names wrongfully inserted in the list. Mr. Geo. A. Cox applies to have his name entered for Ward No. One.

To-night.

The Alleghenians, the celebrated company of Swiss bell ringers who have travelled with unvarying success through Europe and America for over thirty years, will give one of their magnificent entertainments in Bradburn's Opera House this evening. They have received flattering notices from the press during their present tour, and a full house should greet them this evening.

The Luxuries of the Season.

First arrival this season of venison, ducks and partridge at Smith's Market, where game of all kinds in season can always be found. Also large, choice oysters, in bulk and cans, fresh fish, ham, bologna and fine seasoned meats, pease, peaches, grapes, oranges, lemons, apples, and the finest fruit of the season, garden vegetables, tomatoes, celery, cauliflowers, cabbage, carrots, turnips, &c. A splendid assortment of canned goods, pickles and sauces, mince pie, &c., all at the usual moderate prices at Smith's Market, George street.

No Quorum.

It is hardly surprising that there was no quorum of the Town Council on Monday night, for the members may well be heartily sick of the proceeding by which of late the Council Chamber has been turned into a bear garden. Such scenes are no credit to our town, a false impression of which is conveyed to those not acquainted with the facts by the utterance of loose charges and unfounded insinuations. At the same time there is business requiring attention, but which cannot be transacted owing to this poeetic sedition.

The Town Council.

There was no meeting of the Town Council on Monday night, as there was not a quorum present at eight o'clock, the limit of time allowed by the rules for the commencement of business. Those members present at that time were Councillors Menzies, Cahill, Hartley, Bowers, Davidson and McNaughton. Councillor Yellow had been in the room, but went out a few minutes before eight and before enough members had arrived to form a quorum (the required number is seven) and consequently no meeting was held. A number of spectators had congregated in the auditorium and were somewhat disappointed, although they were not allowed to depart without some entertainment, as Councillor McNaughton delivered a speech in strong terms against those he charged with barking the meeting.

Springless Truss.
See Prof. Hotobkin's Springless Truss and Supporter. Advertisement in another column of this paper. Go and see him. He defies the hernia he cannot hold. At the Calise House Oct. 17th and 18th.

The Weather.
A light rain fell last evening. To-day has been fine and warm—splendid weather. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from 1 o'clock a.m., as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong southerly to westerly winds; fair, warm weather, with showers in some localities.

Personal.
Mr. E. Shephard was in town on Tuesday arranging for the appearance of the Mason Concert Company here on the 18th of October. Mr. Walter L. Orde, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Winnipeg, where he has been very successful in his undertakings, is in town visiting his relations. The Alleghenians arrived at noon, and are at the Calise House.

A New Wharf.
Mr. T. M. D. Croly has received the contract from the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company for building a wharf on the river at the end of Wolfe street, two streets below the present wharf used for Mr. Calcutt's steamers. The wharf will, according to the plans, be as long as the street is wide, and will be twelve to thirteen feet in depth. It will be substantially constructed. A quantity of timber has been delivered on Wolfe street for the construction of the wharf.

The Gift Concert.
A number of tickets were sold here for the Ottawa Orange Gift Concert, the drawing for which took place in a boat on the St. Lawrence. So far we have heard of thirteen persons in Peterborough holding prize tickets, although the amounts drawn by two only are known, namely $10 and $4. The other holders of prize tickets are awaiting tidings as to the extent of their good fortune. The $1,000 prize was won by Houndstail, of Ottawa, and a New York lady won a $500 prize.

Peterborough's Mind Reader.
Although Mr. John Miller's home is in Peterborough, the Kingston papers speak of him on his return to college as "Kingston's mind reader." This is a compliment to Mr. Miller's abilities as a thought reader, as if these papers had not a high opinion of them they would not be so desirous of claiming him as belonging to that city. It was while at home in Peterborough that Mr. Miller first demonstrated that he could perform Mr. Stuart Cumberland's most difficult mind reading feats.

A Fire in Norwood.
The Norwood cheese factory was destroyed by fire on Monday night. The flames were discovered about midnight, but they had gained such headway before they were seen that the building and all its contents were totally destroyed, including the September make of cheese. The fire is said to have originated in the boiler room. Mr. T. W. Fearall had $1,500 insurance in the Western on the building and machinery, and the cheese, which belonged to the Norwood Cheese Company, was insured in the same company for $2,000.

Sporting Notes.
A correspondent of the Canada Sportsman writing from Peterborough, says there are twenty seven lacrosse clubs in active operation here at the present time.

A half-mile running race is likely to take place soon between M. Bird and a Hastings pedestrian.

The Peterborough Football Club plays Toronto on Friday. The match will be played on the grounds of the latter club. Both teams are very strong and in excellent form.

A meeting of the Lacrosse Club will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock sharp.

Carman's.
Angelo Carmanino, the Italian who was held on a charge of murder for having killed a fellow-laborer and countryman near Westwood last May, has been, since he was liberated from goal, continually wandering about the streets in a seemingly half-conscious or semi-demented condition. Sometimes he is seen in the company of other Italians, but generally he is alone, and his silent and continual meandering would remind one of the story of the wandering Jew. He seldom uses the sidewalk, and prefers the middle of the street, as though he wished to avoid meeting persons. Although seemingly perfectly harmless, even to simplicity, he does not appear to be able to take care of himself.

By Way of Reminder.

Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

- 1.—By donning a Fall Overcoat.
- 2.—By changing to a Fall Suit.
- 3.—By slipping on heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants. We know you like a book. You'll abide by our advice. Now then, the application:—

FALL OVERCOATS now in stock. If our assortment don't suit, we'll make you one, good cloth, good style, good work, and price—well.

FALL SUITS. Never in better variety, never so excellent cloth, never so good style. Time, temper and shoe leather saved by giving us your orders. Hear it, then, and—contentment.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The sense of comfort. The best of satisfaction. The pick of all goods, and—none better, elsewhere.

Compare our assortment—in the above measure—with what others have to offer—as any thing to do—add then let the result of your comparison be the measure of your confidence in our statements.

RUPTURES! O. I. C.

Springless Truss and Supporters

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:—
PORT HOPE—Queen's Hotel, Oct. 14, 15 and 16.
PETERBOROUGH—Cassidy House, Oct. 17 and 18.
LINDSAY—Benson House, Oct. 19 and 20.
COBURN—Dunbar House, Oct. 21, 22 and 24.
Prof. Hotchkin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and entirely unobtrusive to the non-professional of every tall stature, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having heated inguinal and umbilical as well as Y-shaped, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 95 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses to children as well as adults.
Prof. H. having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DISEASES the female he cannot hold in its place.
Prof. Hotchkin's post-office address is Albion, Orange Co., N. Y. d4928

Resigned.
The resignation of Miss Preston, one of the teachers of the Central Public School, was tendered to the Board of Education on Friday evening and accepted. Miss Preston has been for some years in the service of the Board, and by her resignation they lose a good instructress.

Acknowledgment.
The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations:—Mr. Connal, basket of plums; Mrs. L. basket of vegetables; Mrs. K., basket of apples; Gen. Haultain, 10 bags of potatoes; Mrs. M., parcel of clothing; Mrs. W., parcel of clothing; a friend, parcel of clothing; Miss N., a flannel skirt; Mr. Lech, Horticultural prizes, $2.50; St. Andrew's Church, $20.

Sale of Horses.
The first grand sale of the season at Stapleton's Stock Repository, opposite Snowden's Hotel, will take place on Saturday next, the 13th of October, when Mr. Stapleton will offer for sale twenty-three horses, consisting of general purpose, driving and heavy draught animals.
The horses are all in good order and will be sold without reserve. Buggies, harness, wagons and implements will also be sold at the same time.

Personal.
The Rev. Dr. Dewar, of Toronto, editor of the Christian Guardian, arrived on the noon train.

Among those at the Oriental Hotel to-day are
Mr. C. A. Heischfelder, vice-consul, U. S. A., Toronto, and a portion of the "Lights of London" company.

Several members of the "Lights of London" company are at the Calise House.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. George Buck, merchant, of Norwood, is able to be about after some weeks of sickness.

The Golden Lion.
As will have been seen from the announcement the Golden Lion has changed hands, Mr.
Bradburn having sold his dry goods business to Messrs. Fair, Van Every & Co. The new firm having purchased the business and stock on satisfactory terms, and having replenished the store with new goods that have been well bought, and are in a position to sell cheaply and to offer great inducements to purchasers.
Mr. Robt. Fair, Mr. Wm. Van Every, and Mr.
J. H. Paterson, are all energetic men, with a thorough knowledge of the business, and they will, as a result, by their attention to the wants of their customers, succeed in securing a well-established, permanent business, as is their object.

Grapes, Peaches, Apples, and fruit of all kinds in season. Finest Haddies, Bologna, Ham and Spiced Meats. Also a choice stock of family groceries at CARTON BROS.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.
THE SITUATION IN TONGKIN.
SAIGON, Oct. 9.—The situation in Tongkin is much improved, owing to the presence of the Annamite envoys and the submission to French authority of the Delta mandarins. Epidemics have decimated the forces of the Black Flags and many are deserting. The enemy abandoned their works in the villages near Hanoi, and retreated beyond Dai and the Rapids Canal towards Laos. They have also partially evacuated the works around Sonay. The French are in excellent health and spirits.

RUSSIAN WORKMEN REVOLT.
ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 9.—Several hundred workmen at Goriandz revolted against the authorities. The Government had them escorted to their native places without enquiry.

REBELLION IN EGYPT.
CAIRO, Oct. 9.—The Khedive is expected soon to grant an amnesty to all implicated in the late rebellion except those convicted of murder and outrage.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.
PARIS, Oct. 9.—An infernal machine exploded at Lyons yesterday, doing considerable damage to the town hall. Nobody was injured. The police are making investigation into the causes of the explosion at Lyons and Bordeaux.
It is believed they are the work of revolutionists, with a view of creating public alarm.

THIBAUDIN'S SUCCESSOR.
PARIS, Oct. 9.—It is reported that Gen.
Campenon has been appointed Minister of War in the French Cabinet.

THE DEFAULTING MANAGER.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—It is rumoured that George Warren, the defaulting manager of the London and River Plate bank, has confessed his criminality and implicated others.

NAVAL MOBILIZATION.
BERLIN, Oct. 8.—The Admiralty has elaborated a scheme for more rapidly mobilizing the marine forces of Germany.

FATAL COLLISION AT SEA.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—The barque Aquilla, from Liverpool for Halifax, collided with the Norwegian ship Johann, from West Hartlepool for Quebec. The former sank. The first officer and two of the crew of the Aquilla were drowned. The Johann landed the remainder at Madeira.

FRANCE AND THE BLACK FLAGS.
PARIS, Oct. 9.—The Figaro states that the agreement by France with the Black Flags in Tongkin grants the latter their arrears of pay, and full possession of the territory between Laokai and Hanoi.

THE GARTER FOR LORD LORNE.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—Lord Lorne will be created a Knight of the Garter upon his arrival.

YOUNG'S POINT.
From Our Own Correspondent.
HORSE SHOT.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers got a valuable young working mare kicked about two weeks ago, and has had the best of veterinary skill from Peterborough, but it could not be cured, therefore the poor brute was shot last Monday. This is the second valuable horse he has lost by kicking this year.

SUNDAY SHOOTING.—Some one belonging to this place was out shooting on Sunday last.
The party or parties had better beware, as if they are caught it is before a Lakefield magistrate they will have to appear and be fined.

LOW WATER.—The water is extremely low this fall here and at Burlington. At the latter place the river has only the appearance of a small creek.

GAME.—Partridges are very plentiful this season in the woods, and lots of sportsmen to kill them.

An old Mine.
The Talargoch lead mine, in South Wales, lately sold, is believed to be the oldest in England. It was, according to local tradition, opened by the Romans, and has been worked more or less ever since. The mine machinery, and plant were put up in one lot. The auctioneer explained that there were ten miles of tramway connecting the mine with the London and Northwestern Railway, and that the machinery cost $250,000. The bid was made at $15,000, and by way of increase of hundreds rose to $230,000, at which it was sold.

Baring Burglary.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—This morning A. B. Campbell, postmaster of Crumlin post-office, five miles from here, reported at Schram's detective office that three masked ruffians had broken into his house, and had succeeded in fishing therefrom a silver watch and chain and $70 in money.
Mr. Crumlin, hearing a noise, hurried down stairs but was immediately seized by the foremost burglar. Numbers however prevailed, and Mr. Crumlin and his wife were tied hand and foot and anaesthetized with chloroform while the house was ransacked and many valuables stolen.

Eric Canal Trade.
The Townsends Herald, dated September 27, stated that an immense fleet of Western barges arrived the Sunday and Monday previous, lumber laden, with the docks already well filled because of the recent scarcity of canal boats.
Freights went up a quarter, and the rate paid all week so far has been $2.75 to Albany and $3.50 to New York. This, with tolls of, is $1 better than this time last year, and the boatmen are as happy as clams at high tide. No waiting for loads, and everything serene. Those who get loads now have cause to feel glad the coming winter.—Northwestern Lumberman.

An Answer Wanted.
Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured, and
who are daily recommending Electric Bitters
will prove. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak
Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured.
They purify the blood, regulate the bowels and act directly on the diseased parts. Every bottle guaranteed for sale at 50c. a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.—1

Yellow Fever.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—For the week ending September 29th there were eleven cases of yellow fever and three deaths at Ship Island quarantine station.

The Midland Railway.
The Midland Railway Company have given notice that they will appeal to the court of Revision against the amount of the assessment of their property in Toronto.

Aimed at Lord Northcote.
While the special train conveying Lord Northcote and his party was between Donoughmore and Pomeroy, a large stone was thrown through a window and struck Lady Crichton on the back causing her to fall heavily. She fainted, having sustained severe injuries.

Departure of Bishop Cleary.
Bishop Cleary, of Kingston, left that city for Rome yesterday. He takes with him over eight thousand dollars subscribed in the diocese for Peter's Pence. Mgr. Farrelly will act as Administrator of the Diocese of Kingston during the absence of Bishop Cleary.

Shipment of Sprats.
A new departure was inaugurated in the fish export trade to the Western markets to-day by sending a train of 14 carloads of sprats, which left for Chicago. This is the first special train for business dispatched from Halifax. The value of the fish on it is $78,500. Geo. E. Booker &
Co. are the shippers.

Nelson Valley Railway.
The Nelson Valley railway and Transport company have called a general meeting for Oct.
24, to consider and approve of the act of last session, amalgamating the Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay Railway and Steamship company with themselves, under the name of "The Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay Railway and Steamship company."

A Young Girl Abducted.
HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—On Saturday Minnie Brougham, daughter of a St. Catharines revenue officer, 14 years of age, was abducted by two women and brought to this city, where she escaped from the women. She stayed at the American hotel till Sunday afternoon, when she returned to St. Catharines, rejoicing the hearts of her parents, who had been anxiously searching for her.

Sir John Visits the Salvation Army.
Sir John Macdonald paid a second visit to the Salvation Army on Sunday evening, arriving there while Captain Abbe was speaking. His entrance raised such a flutter that the little woman was obliged to stop speaking for a short time. As the buzz of the conversation still continued she secured the attention of her audience by saying that if she dared she would ask that gentleman up on the platform, so that all eyes would be turned there. This remark was greeted with laughter.

Accidental Poisoning.
A family named Rutherford of London, Ont., who keep a boarding-house, together with their boarders, have been poisoned with arsenic at Wardsville. Arsenic had been mixed with oatmeal for the purpose of poisoning mice, and a member of the family coming on the parcel and not knowing what it was nor observing the label, put in with the rest of the meal and made porridge for breakfast. The parties were all taken very sick, and it is owing in a great measure to the prompt action of Dr. Graham, of Newbury, that they are now out of danger.

Ending As Night.
Popularly, it is injurious, but unless dinner or supper have been late, or the stomach disordered
it is harmless and beneficial, i.e., if one be hungry.
Four to five hours have elapsed since the last meal, invalids and the delicate should always eat at bedtime. This seems here heretical but is not. Food of simple kind will induce sleep.
Animals after eating instinctively sleep. Human beings become drowsy after a full meal.
Why? Because blood is solicited toward the stomach to supply the juices needed in digestion.
Hence the brain receives less blood than during fasting, becomes pale and the powers profoundly dormant. Sleep therefore ensues. This is physiological. The sinking sensation in sleeplessness is a call for food. Wakefulness often is merely a symptom of hunger. Gratify the desire and you fall asleep. The writer was called on at two a.m. to a lady who assured him she was dying. The body was warm the heart doing honest work. To her indignation he ordered buttered bread (hot milk or beef tea were better) to be eaten at once. Obeying, the moribund lady was soon surprised, by a return of life and desire to sleep.

The feeble will be strong at dawn if they eat on going to bed. Fourteen hours lie between supper and breakfast. By that time the fuel of the body has become expended. Consequently, the morning toilet fatigues many. Let each eat at bed-time and take a glass of warm milk or beef tea before rising. Increased vigor will result. But the stomach must rest. True, yet when hungry we should eat. Does the infant stomach rest as long as the adult's? The latter eats less often merely because his food requires more time for digestion. Seldom can one remain awake until half past ten or eleven p.m., without hunger. Satisfy it and sleep will be sounder.

During the night give wakeful children food.
Sleep will follow. The sick should invariably eat during the night. This is imperative. All night the delicate and children may take warm milk, beef tea or oatmeal gruel. Vigorous adults may also eat bread and milk, cold beef, chicken and bread, raw oysters, all, of course, in moderation. Do not eat if not hungry. Eat if you are.—A Boston Physician

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

NOTWITHSTANDING the carping and in some measure the falsehoods of interested detractors, we are glad to know that the Provincial Exhibition, recently held at Guelph, was eminently successful in all that constitutes a real agricultural or farmers' exhibition. It was universally conceded that in quality, quantity and variety such a display of stock had never before been got together in Canada, and visitors from a distance, who ought to know what they were talking about, questioned if such a display had ever been got together before on this continent. Much the same remark also applies to the display of agricultural implements and machinery, thus proving that after all the old Provincial not only holds its own, but is steadily gaining ground as the "Farmers' Exhibition" of the year. We may fully concede that in many respects we hope will continue to compare unfavorably with the Toronto Industrial and other city exhibitions, whose chief object is to draw a crowd, and whose chief attractions are "specialties" of a character better suited to the circus tent than to an educational exhibition. With regard to the exhibition of heavy, and manufacturing machinery, fine arts, ladies' fancy work, and similar articles, we have before now expressed the opinion, and time only confirms us in this view, that the day has arrived when Ontario can afford, thanks to the National policy, to have two distinct exhibitions, one devoted to the products and appendages of the farm, and the other to the products of our manufacturing and industrial enterprises apart from the farm. As the articles which come under the latter heading require expensive buildings and power for their proper display, it is unquestionably true that such exhibitions should not, in fact, cannot, be of a paralyzing character, while the reverse is the case with the former class. If the real agricultural exhibitions are to do the work for which they are specially designed, they must be held in all reasonably important sections of the Province. Unless it is made to stigmatize the introduction of new and improved animals into the less advanced sections (agriculturally) of the Province, as the Provincial undoubtedly did last year in the Kingston district, and to stimulate continued advancement, in the more advanced districts, as it did this year at Guelph, the usefulness of the Provincial, would indeed be gone. And we are rejoiced to perceive that the Toronto Mail has at last come to see things in this light, and to advocate the true policy for both the city which it so largely represents and for the agricultural interest, which is after all the interest of our merchants and manufacturers, by declaring in favor of the maintenance of the Provincial Exhibition upon much the same lines as those of the Royal Society of England and the Highland Society of Scotland—as we have advocated for several years past.

To those, however, who look upon the gate receipts as the sole test of the success of an exhibition of this kind, we have of course to yield that the Guelph exhibition is no where beside its Toronto rival. But, while admitting this, we would remind the reader of several circumstances which all combined more than account for the difference in gate money. In the first place the Toronto exhibition is held in a city containing a population of over 100,000, while the population of the city of Guelph is only 10,000. Remembering this fact and the special efforts made to draw, and that these efforts, with their surrounding circumstances, must have induced very many citizens of Toronto to pay repeated visits to their exhibition, it is obvious that the inference sought to be drawn from the different gate receipts is entirely erroneous. Then Toronto is not only a railway centre, which Guelph is not, but the fact is notorious that while the Grand Trunk and the lines which it controls in this Province did all that they could to induce people to visit Toronto, [through promising to give the same facilities for visiting Guelph as Toronto, failed to make either proper provision for the transport of passengers or to properly instruct their agents as to the fares to be charged—a course which we have reason to believe kept not a few who desired to visit it away from the Guelph Exhibition.

And thirdly the council of the Association, very properly we think, do not deem it part of their duty to foster a love for those "special attractions" which form so extensive a part of "Canada's Great Fair," or to expend the government money, granted for the promotion of agriculture, in the blowing up of ships, the endangerment of lives in balloon ascents, or circus performances such as those of men and women in a tank of water in a semi-nude state. Gate money obtained in this way is just about as much obtained from those who come to see the educational parts of the exhibition as the money derived by a circus manager from the menageries which he takes along in order that those who disapprove of circuses may have an excuse to go and see the show all the same.

With regard to the falsehoods to which we referred in our opening remarks, we regret to observe that the Globe gives editorial currency to a statement that the London people had informed the Council of the Association that their exhibition was not wanted in London next year, and also that Hamilton had decided to have nothing to do with it. As to any decision at which the people of these two cities may have arrived in this matter, we shall not undertake to speak, but this we do know, that the statement that the London people had informed the Council that their exhibition was not wanted by them next year is manufactured out of whole cloth. Then as to Hamilton, it is a matter of record that Mr. Thomas Stock, of Flamboro, earnestly opposed any expression of opinion on the part of the delegates at the annual meeting as to where next year's exhibition should be held, on the ground that the Hamilton people did not know that the matter would be brought up and had not therefore put in a claim for next year's exhibition. As Mr. Stock is much more likely to know the feeling of the people of Hamilton on this point than a nameless and irresponsible newspaper correspondent, we are inclined to think the whole of the statements have been invented by some one with whom the wish was father to the thought—at any rate, even if true, they should have accompanied them with the further statement that both Ottawa and Guelph are applicants for the Provincial of 1884. That its opponents seek to accomplish their ends by the circulation of falsehoods is the best evidence of the strength of the Provincial with those in whose interest it is held.

EXCEEDING THEIR POWERS

It is remarked by Bytander in reference to the boundary award, that "there can be no doubt that when negotiators have exceeded their power ratification may be refused." Now without discussing at this moment one branch of the question, which is whether the arbitrators exceeded their instructions, we may be allowed to suggest to Bytander that there is another point, which seems to have escaped his careful consideration. It is obvious that the arbitrators could have no greater powers than those who appointed them. By our constitution the Governor-General-in-Council and the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council—that is Mr. Mackenzie with his colleagues, and Mr. Mowat with his colleagues—have no jurisdiction in such matters, which are reserved for the respective Legislatures. Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mowat having thus exceeded their powers, it is evident that their appointments could be in no better position, and that Parliament had a perfect legal and moral right to refuse to ratify their award.

REFORM DEVICES.

The Thunder Bay Sentinel, says: "Perhaps one of the most humiliating spectacles ever beheld in a free country was to be seen on polling day in the township of Oliver. Nearly every elector there had been previously hired by Roadmaster Margach to work upon the roads, and on the day of the election they were marched up to the poll in squads by Margach and closely watched by that officer till each had put in his ballot for the Government candidate. They were then marched back again to their work like a chain gang procession, and at night they were discharged and paid off. Margach carried out his orders to the letter, and like the slave driver in Uncle Tom's Cabin, 'never missed a stroke, but drew blood at every lash.' To hire a lot of settlers just before an election, under pretence of road making, was brazen enough, but to discharge them on the night after they had polled the servile votes, shows an unblinking and blunted sense of shame which no one would have believed possible in this country. The 'party of parity,' however, was equal to it."

KNOWLEDGE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SEPTEMBER WEATHER.—September with its cold frost and snow has come to an end. Rain fell on 14 days to the depth of 3 inches and 1-100 part of an inch. We had only one thunderstorm, namely, on the 27th. There was frost on 9 mornings, the severest of which was on the morning of the 10th, being 6° below the freezing point; it did a great deal of damage throughout the country to the late grain and vegetables, but more especially to the gardeners adjacent to the towns and cities, who in one night had their summer's labor swept away. Such a severe frost seldom occurs so early in the season. The highest temperature at sundown was on the 17th, the thermometer standing at 72°. With a total average for the month of 51°. 22°. Rain fell on 10 days in September of 1882 to the depth of 3 in. and 18-100 of an inch, but in one thunderstorm on the 21st there fell nearly 1½ inches of water, making the downfall for the month very light. We only had frost on 3 nights, leaving a mean temperature for the month of 65°. On the 26th of September of 1883 a large amount of grain still remained in the fields, a considerable quantity of which was to be cut. Potatoes are the only root crop about to be harvested, and will only be about three-fourths of a crop. Of other roots the crop is generally small.

Snow.—On the 3rd of October we had some dashes of rain, hail and snow mixed, being the first of the season.

Ladies Attacked by Footpads.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—On Saturday night, about 9.30 o'clock, Mrs. D. McKim and her daughter were attacked by footpads on Talbot street. Just as the ladies were about to pass the raffians caught hold of them, and the one who assaulted Mrs. McKim, snatched her purse, which was attached to a ribbon wound around her arm. The young woman fought bravely, and in the scuffle gave her assailant several kicks. She sustained a severe cut on the arm besides the shock to her nervous system. The man, when he had got free with the purse, ran to the rear of the school house, while his companion ran down Talbot street. There was only 50c. in the purse.

Elopement Frustrated.

ST. JOHN, Que., Oct. 8.—High Constable Lanier received from the Chief of police at Montreal a telegram requesting him to arrest a young girl who had eloped with her lover en route to St. Albans. From the description given Mr. Lanier had no difficulty in recognizing the girl as she stepped on the platform here on the arrival of the train from Montreal. She was accompanied by a young man, and on being closely questioned admitted her name was Celina Chretien, from Ste. Ursule, and the young man, Maderic Rivard, from the same neighbourhood. She gave out as an excuse for her conduct, that she was only playing a trick on her parents to induce them to consent to her marrying. But her story was not credited by the constable, who conducted her to the Queen's Hotel, and telegraphed for her relations, who, next morning, came and took her home. The young girl was rather prepossessing in appearance, about 15 years of age, and belonging to a well-to-do farmer's family.

Alfonso and the Army.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—The Correspondencia says Spain is not satisfied with the action of the French Government regarding Alfonso's treatment, and insists upon the official publication of the King's reply to M. Grevy's apology. A deputation from the Army and Navy Club visited the King today to give renewed assurance of the loyalty and respect of their respective branches. The King replied that seeing himself surrounded by officers he forgot for a moment the acts of a few who recently failed in their duty. He added, "When necessary, I feel sure the army will fulfil its duty and be the safeguard of the nation. I am prepared to sacrifice my life for the integrity and liberty of the country and the honour of my army."

ST. LAWRENCE CANALS.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for St. Lawrence Canals," will be received at this office until the arrival of the eastern and western mails on TUESDAY, the 13th day of November next, for the construction of a lock and regulating weir and the deepening and enlargement of the upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal.

Also for the construction of a lock, together with the enlargement and deepening of the upper entrance of the Rapids Canal, or middle division of the Williamsburg Canal.

Tenders will also be received until TUESDAY, the 17th day of November next, for the extension of the pierwork and deepening, etc., of the channel at the upper entrance of the Galop Canal.

A map of the head or upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal and the upper entrance of the Rapids Canal, together with plans and specifications of the respective works, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's office, Dickenson's Landing, on and after Tuesday, the 13th day of October next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

A map, plans and specification of the works to be done at the head of the Galop Canal can be seen at this office and at the lock keeper's house, near the place, on and after TUESDAY, the 13th day of November, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars must accompany the Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the other submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted. This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

A. F. BRADLEY,
Secretary.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS ADOPTED.

High School Pupils for Special Subjects.—Miss Preston resigned her position as Principal of the Central School. The Committee on Appointments, filling the vacancy, a worthy Junior Communications, etc.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday evening.

PRESENT.—Messrs. Stevenson (Chairman), Stratton, Sayers, Wrighton, Kendry, Sproule, Robinson, Denne, Rutherford, Weir, Cox, McClelland and Dumble.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. DENNE remarked that there was an account in the minutes from one of the members of the Board. Similar circumstances had caused trouble in the Council.

Mr. WRIGHTON said the account was for water line, which he did not think could be procured at any other place.

Mr. DENNE asked whether all the teachers had the necessary qualifications?

Mr. STRATTON, I. P. S., said that there was one who had not.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were read:—
Mell. $2.46
Globe. 1.38
Hall, Jones & Co. 1.38
Auburn Woolen Co. 6.00
Toker & Co. 9.00

The last one was referred to the Finance Committee, and the others were ordered to be paid.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Lizzie Keale, applying for a position as teacher in the Central School.—Committee on Appointments.

From Ada Graham, asking for promotion should a vacancy occur.—Committee on Appointments.

From W. O'Connor, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, stating that 82 pupils had attended the Collegiate Institute during the present term. Very few pupils from the country were in attendance, as they preferred schools where the fees were lower. He had endeavored to make provision for teaching all the branches required for teacher's certificates and for university junior and senior matriculation. A beginning had been made in the work of the commercial department. Pupils desiring an English education are allowed to omit all superfluous branches. A preparatory department in connection with the institute would be useful, and could be organized without increasing the present staff.—Received.

From Geo. Tighe, applying for an increase of salary.—Received.

From the Education Department, stating that the Intermediate Examinations had been regularly conducted.—Received.

From H. K. Coleman, suggesting that certain printed forms be used in communication between the teachers and parents, regarding the pupils.—Received.

From Miss Preston, resigning her position as teacher, to take effect on the 1st of October, or if that was not satisfactory to the board, on the 1st of November.—Received.

THE ATTENDANCE.

The following was the attendance at the public schools during the month of September:—

On Reg. At Att.
Central School 579 501
West Ward School 220 183
South Ward School 175 140
Total 974 824

APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. DUMBLE read the following report of the Committee on Appointments:—

The Committee on Appointments beg to report that they have carefully considered the matter of supplying a teacher to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. T. B. Braden.

According to the custom which has always prevailed the Chairman of the Board procured Miss Fair to take charge of the room until the Committee on Appointments had considered the matter.

Afterwards, after much deliberation, approved of the selection, and now beg to report to the approval of the Board, Miss Fair be engaged to take charge of Mr. T. B. Braden's department at the salary of $600.

Mr. WEAIR—Did not Miss Fair agree to accept $400?

THE CHAIRMAN said that was the understanding at first, but that after Miss Fair found out that $500 had been the salary attached to the room she would not take it for less.

Mr. WEAIR—Could we not get a male teacher for that salary?

Mr. DUMBLE said that Miss Fair was a teacher of very great ability and the Committee thought it would be better to engage her than to get a male teacher.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. DENNE.—That the report of the Committee on Appointments be not adopted, but that, in the interest of the pupils and parents alike, a male teacher should be appointed to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. T. B. Braden, and that the Secretary be authorized to advertise in the Toronto Globe and Mail for a male teacher at a salary of $600.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that his opinion was that a male teacher should be appointed to that room. However, if a female teacher were appointed, Miss Preston should not be passed over.

He believed that Miss Fair was a good teacher, but Miss Preston was equally as good. Seven years ago, when the rooms in the Collegiate Institute were re-organized, Miss Preston, who held a position there, was asked to take a subordinate position in the public school, with the understanding that when there would be an opening for a promotion she would receive the benefit of it. She had waited seven years, and now when an opportunity occurred she was passed over.

He had been twelve years in the service of the Board, and had taught subjects in the highest room in the Central School. Still, he thought a male teacher should be appointed.

Mr. KENDRY said that they were given to understand at the last meeting that they would save $100 by the appointment made by the Committee.

THE CHAIRMAN said that when the appointment was first made it was understood that $400 was the salary attached to the room, and when he found that they had paid $600 he thought they would save $100. But when Miss Fair discovered that $500 was the salary attached to the room she would not take the position for a less amount.

Mr. McCLELLAND believed that Miss Fair was a good teacher, but he thought that others had been overlooked and that an injustice had been done. He argued that the room required a male teacher. The head teacher of the Central School was also Principal of the Public Schools, and a male teacher in this room could be of great assistance to him.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the first consideration was for the Board to maintain its rights to govern the schools. He felt that Miss Fair's appointment was first-class one. He believed in making promotions, but promotions on the ground of seniority alone was a principle often attended by evils. The other teachers wanted Miss Preston promoted so they could all take a step up. He claimed that the Board had a right to take teachers from any position they pleased and promote them to where they pleased. They should not let any teacher's prejudice or sentiment rule them.

The CHAIRMAN, in answer to Mr. Kendry, said that the reason that Miss Fair refused to teach on the morning after the last meeting of the Board was because she was told by a member of the Board that she could not hold the position, and that her appointment would only be temporary.

Mr. COX regretted that Miss Preston had suffered any injustice, but if she had it had been quite unintentional. Still, Miss Fair's appointment was a good one, and he did not see how the Board could retract what had been done. He had not yet heard that Miss Preston wanted the appointment. He believed that Miss Fair was as competent of filling the position as any gentleman.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that Miss Preston was away when the position was filled, and she would have been glad to have taken it. She would be quite willing to retain her present position if a male teacher were appointed to the higher one, and he moved his resolution to get over the difficulty.

Mr. JAS. STRATTON, in reply to Mr. Denne, said that he had always refused to compare one teacher with another. Miss Preston had in 1866 received a first-class C. certificate, and Miss Fair had within a year or two obtained a 2nd A. Both of them were good certificates, and high enough for the room.

After some further discussion a vote was taken, and the amendment was lost on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. McClelland, Weir, Denne, Rutherford, Kendry and Sproule.

NAYS.—Messrs. Stratton, Sayers, Wrighton, Cox, Robinson, Dumble and Stevenson.

The report was adopted on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Stratton, Sayers, Wrighton, Robinson, Sproule, Cox and Dumble.

NAYS.—Messrs. McClelland, Weir, Rutherford, Denne and Kendry.

TEACHING SPECIAL SUBJECTS.

Mr. STRATTON moved, seconded by Mr. DUMBLE.—That as it has been customary heretofore for pupils to be allowed to attend certain classes in the High School without the formality of passing the entrance examination, be it resolved that persons wishing to take certain classes be allowed to do so in future on payment of the regular fees, so long as the rooms and classes are not crowded, such pupils not to be given by the teachers in their returns to the Government.—Carried.

BLANK FORMS.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. McCLELLAND.—That the Principal of the Public Schools be instructed to procure a sufficient number of blank forms, which he recommends to be used, to do for a year, and that the Principal of the Collegiate Institute be requested to adopt the same plan.—Carried.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

The letter received from the Principal of the Collegiate Institute was then taken up.

Mr. Wm. O'CONNOR, the Principal, was heard and explained his letter. He was asked a number of questions, and in answering them opened to the view of the Board the internal economy of the Institute. He said that with four teachers they could prepare pupils for passing examinations for teacher's certificates or for matriculation in law, but that it required five to prepare pupils for the junior and senior university matriculation.

Mr. H. K. COLEMAN, Principal of the Public Schools, also addressed the Board and replied to a number of questions.

There was a long and desultory discussion on the Institute and the schools, during which Mr. COX suggested that the $3,000 expended on the High School be used in making the Public Schools more efficient, and that the High School be abolished.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Mr. COX moved, seconded by Mr. McCLELLAND.—That the Board accept the resignation of Miss Preston, but with great regret, as during the long period of Miss Preston's connection with the Board the relationship existing between her and the Board has always been of the happiest and most pleasing character. The Board has much pleasure in testifying to the ability and faithfulness of Miss Preston's service. They recognize her as an able and useful teacher, and accept her resignation with much reluctance.

Mr. DENNE moved, seconded by Mr. RUTHERFORD.—That the Inspector be requested to furnish the names of all teachers in the public schools who have not the proper qualifications.

Mr. STRATTON moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. COX.—That the Inspector be requested to furnish to this Board at its next meeting the grade of certificate held by each teacher in the public schools.—Carried.

THE VACANCY.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved.—That Miss Preston's place be filled by promotion from the lower divisions, and that Miss Keale be appointed to the position left vacant by these promotions.

Mr. COX moved in amendment that the matter be referred to the Committee on Appointments.—Carried.

A GRANT TO THE JANITOR.

Mr. WRIGHTON moved, seconded by Mr. SAYERS.—That a grant of $50 be made to the janitor for extra services rendered this year in improving the school property.—Carried.

The Board adjourned at a few minutes after eleven o'clock.

KINGSTON.

THE STABBING AFFRAY.—It is said that Theo. and William McKee will give themselves up to the police in a few days. They desire, before taking such action, however, to get a guarantee that they will be received for appearance at the Assizes. They do not want to remain in gaol, but they are willing to stand their trial.

Facilities for Divorces.—Every divorce was defended by the Rev. Adolphus Murray in his lecture in New York on Sunday night. The Rev. gentleman declared that marriage was a personal contract, and the increase in divorce a proper result of civil life. How he combats the powerful arguments to the contrary, however, it is impossible to conjecture.

Manitoba South-Western Railway.—A meeting of the Manitoba South-Western Railway directors on Monday was attended by General Hammond, Marvel Hill, and Mr. Sawyer, of the St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Manitoba; also Messrs. Angus, Van Horne, and Ashdown, of the Canadian Pacific Railway. A proposition was made by the Manitoba South-Western directors for the sale of the road to the Canadian Pacific Railway directors. The latter are considering the proposition, and will probably accept.

PROSPECTUS.

Government of Canada Loan for $4,000,000, 4 per cent. Currency Bonds.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE for the Dominion of Canada is authorized to receive tenders for a loan of $4,000,000 currency bonds, bearing interest from 1st November, 1883, at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November of each year, at his office in the Finance Department, Ottawa.

This loan is issued under the authority of an Act of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, passed during their last session, (46th Victoria, cap. 2, sec. 4.) The object of the loan is partly to provide for the payment of debts maturing or redeemable in the course of the current fiscal year, and partly for expenditure on public works.

The principal of the loan now offered is to be repaid at Ottawa in twenty years.

Subscribers will receive bonds to bearer, which may at any future time be converted into registered stock, as a pleasant substitute is found in Dr. Carson's Bitters, which act as a Cathartic without griping or causing nausea. All Druggists sell it. 50 cents a bottle.

The subscription list will be opened on Wednesday, the 17th day of October next, and will be closed on Saturday, the 30th day of October next, at 4 o'clock p.m., and tenders in the accompanying form, marked on the outside "Tenders for Debentures," will be received at the Finance Department, Ottawa, up to and including the latter date, at the hour mentioned.

Tenders must be made for not less than $1,000, and in multiples of $1,000.

The allotment of the loan will be made as soon as possible after the close of the subscription list, the amounts allotted will be payable on the 1st day of November next, and Bonds will be issued shortly after that date.

Copies of this prospectus and forms of tender can be obtained from the undersigned, from the several Assistant Receivers General at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Saint John, Winnipeg and Victoria, and from the Dominion Auditor at Charlottetown.

J. M. COURTNEY, Deputy Minister of Finance. Finance Department, Ottawa, September 21st, 1883.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1883.

ATTENTION!

In view of a proposed change in the business relations of the proprietors of this Journal it has become necessary that they should insist upon an early settlement of all overdue subscriptions and accounts. As the present proprietors have been exceptionally lenient with their patrons in money matters, they trust their present appeal for a prompt settlement of their little bills will not be made in vain to any of them. Individually, it is true, these bills are not large, but when taken collectively they amount to a sum which renders it of importance that they should be converted into bankable funds without delay, even had not such a course been rendered absolutely necessary for the reason already stated.

THE OLD REFORM PLATFORM.

MR. CAMERON, M. P. F., for Quebec West, whose defection from the Government side of the House, is so loudly welcomed by the Liberal opposition to the Montreal Administration, has been laying his views before the editor of the Evening Review with an eye to their publication. Among other things he said—

"I look upon the compromise put in force, and the system adopted to realize these compromises, as a monstrously stupid and illogical proceeding, and, I will even add, unjust and inhuman, unworthy of men endowed with the most ordinary intelligence, or the smallest vestige of either charity or humanity. I am further of opinion that the conduct of the Government towards its employees and the charitable institutions, &c., shown a want of good faith and of justice, and I shall be very much surprised if the matter is allowed to remain as it is. I shall conclude by adding that I want worthy and competent Conservative Government, having nothing but the country's interests in view, and not a Government evidently carried on under the influence of a caste of men or individuals for their individual benefit."

This is another evidence of the fact that the fierce opposition to the Montreal Administration is no symptom, as the Reformers claim, of any reaction against Conservatism in Quebec. It is the superabundant strength of the Conservative party that has led to some discord in its ranks. The sorehead Conservatives are the section that is opposed to the retrograde set on foot by Mr. Cameron, and it is this section with which, in the vain hope of obtaining office, the reformers of Quebec are allying themselves with the approbation of their friends in the other Province. Of course this action of the Reformers is intended to show their consistent regard for two of the chief planks in their old platform, namely, opposition to extravagance and to coalitions of those who differ in politics.

The Algoma Contest.

Mr. Lyon has been returned, but the election will probably be taken into Court. Mr. Plummer's opponent was not Mr. Lyon, but the Ontario Government with all its resources. To what extent those resources were used, nobody knows exactly. It is known, however, that Brigadier Burdett, paid Mr. Morant for $1,500 for "police purposes" two days before the election, and that the Christian statement answered that, although a quorum of the Cabinet could not be got just then, the money would be sent to the Brigadier as soon as possible and that the Brigadier should "act on this assurance." Mr. Burdett, of course raised the money on the strength of Mr. Morant's Telegram, and used it for "police purposes." Then there were the "voluntaries." It was a brilliant scheme to construct street and side walks in Rat Portage, all in behalf of the struggling and hard-handed settlers of that town. A bright thought, too, was that of General Flett who had travelled the constituency and bought onions and potatoes from the husbandmen who had a vote for "voluntaries." Mr. Margate, who voted for "voluntaries," also bought a new living almost every man in the township of Oliver, and then discharging them promptly at the close of the poll. The Ontario police did excellent work also at $10 per diem, and found in wet weather. By the grace of all these Liberal devices and the disenchantedness of every voter between Rat Portage and the Lake, Mr. Lyon was elected. It was not only a political but a moral victory. The standard of public morality was run up to the mark by the grand old party of great times and Boston O'Regan. But what will the judges say about it?—Winnipeg Times.

Madeline's Subscription from Sir John.

KINGSTON, Oct. 9.—Captain Abbe, of the Salvation Army, called on Sir John Macdonald on Monday, when the Premier subscribed $25 towards the erection of new barracks.

A PORT HOPE SENSATION.

A Man, Supposed to be an Escaped Convict. Shot Dead by a Constable.

PORT HOPE, Oct. 11.—About noon yesterday information was received at the police headquarters here that McCabe, an escaped convict from the Kingston Penitentiary, was lurking around town. Constable Rankin went to look for the man, but was unsuccessful. At about eleven o'clock last night word was sent to Mr. Rankin that the man was at the Turner Hotel. He, with an assistant, then went to make the arrest, but as soon as McCabe saw the constable he bolted for the door and ran. Rankin followed, and when about to lay hands on him he turned and drew his revolver and said that if the constable came a step further he would shoot him dead, but Rankin was too sharp for him and shot first, killing the man instantly. The ball must have struck in a most vital part, for the burglar had not time to fire his revolver. It was found cocked in his hand when picked up dead. There is no question that if Rankin had not been successful in having the first shot he would be in the dead burglar's position. The constable immediately gave himself up, and is now in the lock-up awaiting the action of the coroner's jury, which will be held this morning.

STANLEY IN AFRICA.

His Explorations and Discoveries—The Native Born Traders.

BORON, Oct. 9.—A letter from Henry M. Stanley, dated July 14th, at Stanley Pool, Congo River, says:—"Since I arrived on the Congo last December I have been up as far as the equator, and established two more stations besides discovering another lake, Mantomb. I have explored for a hundred miles the river known on my map as Ikelombe, but which is really the Malund. It is a stream the size of the Arkansas, and very navigable. The big stream which I expect must drain the longest part of the south Congo basin must be higher up. Having become better acquainted with the country, I am struck with the dense population of the equatorial basin, which I uniform throughout would give 40,000,000. The number of its products and the character of its people are likewise remarkable. Gums, rubber, ivory, camphor wood, and a host of other things would repay transportation even at the very expensive mode at present in use. The people are born traders, and are for Africans, very enterprising and industrious." Stanley tells of his mediation between two tribes who were at war, and when peace was brought about by his efforts they elected him "Father and Mother" of their country, a distinction he received from another large tribe. Stanley enjoys most robust health.

THE HATTAWAY RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

LATER, Oct. 9.—As the train for Mattawa was approaching Deux Rivieres last night at about 8.30, and when two miles east of Deux Rivieres, running at a rapid rate on the down grade, the front axle of the baggage car broke down, and after bumping over the ties for a short distance the baggage car broke loose from the train and fell down an embankment, about six feet, followed by two second-class and one first-class passenger cars, nearly filled with passengers, probably two hundred in all. The first-class car took fire, and it, with both the second-class cars, were totally consumed. Great consternation prevailed, intensified for a time by the darkness of the night. A number are injured, some severely, but none dangerously, the worst being a boy named Leveson, severely burnt. Among the others are Hector McLean, lumberman, shoulder broken; W. J. Barnhart, commercial traveller, both hands severely burnt, and a man named Price, said to be in the employ of Thistle, Carwell & Co., face badly cut. Several are injured internally, and a number are more or less bruised. By the action of the train hands and passengers the burning baggage car was extinguished, and the mails and baggage saved. Engines from here and Pembroke went to the relief with medical attendance, and all are now being cared for.

A Bad Excuse.

Says the Winnipeg Sun, a Reform paper:—"The Ontario Government boldly justifies its neglect to provide certain portions of the district of Algoma with polling places on the ground that a contrary course would have afforded an opportunity to the railway parties of exercising the franchise. This, it is contended, they have no legal or moral right to do, as they cannot be said to be householders of six months standing, as the Election Act provides. The excuse does not appear to be a good one. The Government had no right to presume that the railway parties would be followed, and while they were not bound to give the natives any particular facilities for casting votes which they did not rightfully possess, they were bound to give every properly qualified elector an opportunity of properly expressing his opinion on the Administration of the day. If in doing so the gateway to fraud was opened wide, redress should be sought in the courts. No colour should be given to the charge that public opinion was being misled."

Canadians in Dakota.

The Minneapolis Tribune says:—"The Provincial Secretary of Ontario, the Commissioner of Crown Lands, a crown lands agent, a stipendiary magistrate, a score of members of Parliament, members of the Legislature and other prominent persons in the Reform party have been detected in the act of owning and working large tracts of foreign soil in Dakota. Here is a pretty kettle of Canadian fish. Prominent members of a Provincial Legislature actually forgetting their loyalty and their duty to their country to work on crown lands in Dakota to buy Dakota land in preference to lands in Canadian Manitoba! The Dominion laws with indignation, and the luckless owners of American soil are ridiculed by newspaper Goliath guns and subjected to no end of verbal abuse. From a Canadian standpoint the position here has been disastrous."

Bishop Cleary's Departure.

KINGSTON, Oct. 9.—This afternoon Bishop Cleary was escorted to the wharf by several of his clergy and prominent Roman Catholic gentlemen. On arriving at the wharf he found a large number of his congregation and of other denizens waiting to bid him good-bye and God-speed. After going through the usual of half an hour's handshaking, His Lordship embarked on the steamer. As she moved away from the wharf Dr. Sullivan proposed three cheers for the Bishop, and a rousing response was given, after which the Divine blessed all present. Many remained on the wharf and waved their handkerchiefs as the steamer disappeared in the distance. We wish His Lordship a safe journey.

Alleged Malpractice.

A young woman of the name of Bridget O'Connor (married), of Halifax, N.S., died on Monday last. Before death she made an ante mortem statement to the effect that her death was caused by malpractice. Her attending physician, Dr. Lawson, is said to have left the town, but the woman's deposition appears to have little, if any, support, as the post mortem revealed the immediate cause of death to be poisoning, the source of which it will probably be difficult to determine.

Falling Leaves.

"There is something inexpressibly touching in the fallen leaves," sighs an esteemed author. There is, indeed. It's when you slip on one of the articles on a wet morning, and touch the unsympathetic pavement. But there is in reality, touching language—language uttered from the heart, yes, from the depths of the soul, in the many thousands of testimonials and letters (unsolicited) that come from those who have suffered from long diseases, asthma and consumption, and who have used N. H. Down's Vegetable Balmatic Elixir, and have been restored to their wonted health and activity.

A SHORT CRUISE.

"My dear," exclaimed Mr. Spoonendyke, bounding into his wife's room and interrupting that lady in the purely feminine enjoyment of unpacking for the summer. "My dear, there is no use trying to get along in this country without a sail boat, and I have bought a nice one. Come along and I'll show you how it works."

"Ain't that nice?" giggled Mrs. Spoonendyke, who stood in mortal terror of the water, and was afraid of anything shaped like a boat. "Are you going to sail on the pond?"

"At first I thought I'd sail it down cellar," growled Mr. Spoonendyke, "but the landlady was afraid it might upset the milk; then I thought I'd try the garage, but there's too much wind up there; so I believe I'll stick to the river. Hurry up now, and I'll show you the biggest boat in thirteen counties!"

"If it is as big as that it must have cost a good deal," murmured Mrs. Spoonendyke, somewhat reassured by the size of the boat.

"I am very glad you got a large boat, though, of course, the expenses—"

"What d'ye think I've been buying?" demanded Mr. Spoonendyke, with a flushed face; "got some kind of a sailing ship? I've got my wealth in a sail marsh, with telegraph poles for masts, haven't you? Think I've been laying out money on a town site, don't you? Well, I haven't, and I haven't been buying a rural district with a rudder to it. I tell you, I tell you, it's a sail boat—and it won't come up here to make a fool of you; so if you want to see it you want to go where it is. Come in!" and Mr. Spoonendyke peered on with his hat pulled over his ears and the expression of a veteran tar on his visage.

"Yes, dear," replied Mrs. Spoonendyke, fluttering after him. "Say, dear, I'll stand on the shore and watch you sail the thing."

"You won't do anything of the kind," retorted Mr. Spoonendyke. "I bought that boat for your pleasure as much as mine, and you're going to sail in it. When I want you to stand on the shore and watch anything I'd like a man to drown himself. Now look at that boat. Isn't she a daisy. See how she sets on the water."

"What are all those clothes lines hanging down from that stick for?" asked Mrs. Spoonendyke, surveying the yacht critically.

"To play Cossack," answered Mr. Spoonendyke, who was not at all anxious to be examined on the technical points of his new acquisition. "You take hold of those ropes, and I slap your hands, and then we kiss. See into it now? Does the sail of navigation begin to appeal to your understanding? Now you get to an I'll make sail, and Mr. Spoonendyke handed his wife into the cock-pit and began to tug away at the halliards."

"Why didn't you have sail made when the boat was built?" inquired Mrs. Spoonendyke, by way of encouraging her husband's labors with pleasing conversation.

"Because the man was sick," snarled Mr. Spoonendyke, glancing at the head of the mast. "To what was wrong? Come up here, will you?" he grunted, as he grabbed the halliards again. "There, don't say I know I'd fetch you!" and he walked off to examine the trim of his main sail.

"It seems to be a little full in the back breadth," commented Mrs. Spoonendyke, holding on to the coming with both hands. "If you'd cut a good near the top stick it would be straighter."

"I suppose so," muttered Mr. Spoonendyke, giving another haul at his peak halliard. "If I put a bristle on it, I imagine it would take the wrinkles out. Now, I'll get up the jib, and mind, don't touch the sheet!"

Mr. Spoonendyke set his jib and pushed off. As his sail filled the boat heeled over, to the manifest consternation of Mrs. Spoonendyke.

"What makes the thing tip so?" she asked, scrambling up to the windward, and grasping Mr. Spoonendyke by the collar.

"Let down the centre-board!" yelled Mr. Spoonendyke, suddenly remembering the instructions he had received when he bought the boat. "Let go that centre-board, quick!"

"I haven't got it," answered Mrs. Spoonendyke. "I haven't seen it! We must have left it ashore! Oh, my!" The last exclamation was addressed to a half hundred weight of water slopping over the lee gunwale.

"Haul away on the jib sheet!" roared Mr. Spoonendyke, who found he was going ashore on the other bank of the river. "Pull her in quick as you can! Let go of that!" he continued as he saw his wife clucking convulsively at the peak halliard sheet. "Let go the main sheet, will you, and haul the jib sheet!"

"Is this it?" gasped Mrs. Spoonendyke, casting the sheet halliard loose. "Or this?" and she let go the peak halliard, dropping the boom on Mr. Spoonendyke's head and burying him under the main-sail. "Perhaps this is what he means," she soliloquized, as she lit on the jib halliard, and let it go by the run. "Now we are sailing better, dear. If it hadn't been for me we would have tipped over!"

"That's it!" yelled Mr. Spoonendyke, struggling out from under the canvas. "That's navigation! You struck it from the shoulder first clip! All you want now is a quid of tobacco and a hitch to your breeches to be a Canadian steamer! Got that? Anything else you want to do to this measly boat? If you had a compass in your ear and a deck load of idiots, you'd only need a Custom House Inspector and a Hall Gate pilot to be a floating lunatic asylum!" and Mr. Spoonendyke, having passed rowboat and was towed ashore ignominiously.

"I don't care," muttered Mrs. Spoonendyke, as she scrambled up the dock and followed her lord to the hotel. "I don't care. I may not know as much about a boat as he does, but if it hadn't been for me he would have been drowned like the dogs in August. Another time we go sailing, we'll bring the boat to our room, and wrap the jib sheet around us, unless it is too hot, and in that case we'll sail the boat and buy fans."

And Mrs. Spoonendyke told up the steps of the porch to tell the ladies what a delightful sail she had enjoyed, and how much Mr. Spoonendyke knew about managing his new ship.

Death in an Oil Tank.

PETROLIA, Oct. 9.—A fire took place this morning at the works of the Imperial Oil Company, caused by the bursting of a tank still. Owing to the high wind the flames were driven over the adjoining still, which was undergoing repairs. A young man named McConville, a boiler-maker, was in the still at the time, his only means of escape being a man-hole on the top, through which he was unable to draw legs. No help could be given, as the flames completely surrounded the still, and before he got out he was dead through suffocation, the body not being much burned.

Sir John and Capt. Abbie.

Yesterday Capt. Abbie and an influential backer visited Sir John A. Macdonald and induced him to subscribe $25 towards the barracks now in course of erection. He told the Captain that he was interested in her labours and invited her to Ottawa to spend with him any holidays she desired. He attended the holiness meeting and soldiers' roll call last night and remained there throughout the evening. He augmented the collections by a crisp bank note.

Severe Accident.

A man named Joseph Wright, employed on the Canada Southern construction train, was trying to get on the train to-day while in motion when he fell underneath the cars and the wheels ran over him, crushing one leg, which will have to be amputated.

In the Hour of Need.

You want to try experiments, but resort to the old and well tested means that afforded relief in the past. When your eyes don't take the first step, offer you, you find out just the thing to answer your purpose, viz., to remove the troublesome corns, and to do this with pain, and so it promptly, Putnam's Pain-Exactor has been used for many years. It has never been known to fail. Putnam's Extract makes no deep holes in the flesh, hard to heal and more troublesome than the original discomfort. It works nicely and efficiently.

The Triangle Package Dyes have won their way to public favor, solely on their own merits, and are now to be found in every section of the country. 50 colors. All perfect. 10c.

Oh, my Back!

Is there a miserable, weakening pain in the small of the back? Is urination painful? Do you have palpitation of the heart? Do strange, indescribable feelings creep up your back and sides? Does the least exertion weary you? Does your urine show brickdust or albuminous deposit? Does any sudden fright cause an intense, sharp pain in the small of your back? Do you have an aching in the groin? Is your memory impaired? Is your breath short? Are there shooting pains about your vitals? Are you becoming dropical? These are all symptoms of kidney diseases. Be on your guard against them. If let run it may end in Bright's Disease, which is sure death.

Your best course is to procure at once a bottle of SULPHUR and IRON BITTERS costing only 50c. It will cure any form of Kidney Complaint, except Bright's Disease, it will relieve the symptoms and defer the evil day sometimes indefinitely.

SULPHUR and IRON BITTERS is a medicine as harmless as water. The world has not seen its equal as a cure for diseases which attack the kidneys and for the complaints to which females are alone liable. It is of more value than any medical compound known to the medical faculty.

Sold by all Druggists and at Depot 150 St. James St. West, Montreal, Price 50c.

PROSPECTUS.

Government of Canada Loan for $4,000,000, 4 per cent. Currency Bonds.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE for the Dominion of Canada is authorized to receive tenders for a loan of $4,000,000 currency bonds, bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 1st May and 1st November of each year, at his office in the Finance Department, Ottawa.

This loan is issued under the authority of an Act of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, passed during their last session, (40th Victoria, cap. 2, sec. 4.) The object of the loan is partly to provide for the payment of debts maturing or redeemable in the course of the current fiscal year, and partly for expenditure on public works.

The principal of the loan now offered is to be repaid at Ottawa in twenty years.

Subscribers will receive bonds to bearer, which may at any future time be converted into registered stock.

The subscription list will be opened on Wednesday, the 17th day of October next, and will be closed on Saturday, the 30th day of October next, at 4 o'clock p.m., and tenders in the accompanying form, marked on the outside "Tenders for Debentures," will be received at the Finance Department, Ottawa, up to and including the latter date, at the hour mentioned.

Tenders must be made for not less than $1,000, and in multiples of $1,000.

The allotment of the loan will be made as soon as possible after the close of the subscription list, the amounts allotted will be payable on the 1st day of November next, and Bonds will be issued shortly after that date.

Copies of this prospectus and forms of tender can be obtained from the undersigned, from the several Assistant Secretaries General at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, Saint John, Winnipeg and Victoria, and from the Dominion Auditor at Charlottetown.

J. M. COURTNEY, Deputy Minister of Finance.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1883.

SIR JOHN UNSEATED.

The result of the Lenoxy electoral trial has been the unseating of Sir John Macdonald for that constituency for bribery by an agent—the agent being the President of the Liberal-Conservative Association for the time being, and an ex-Reformer.

That the reader may understand just how and for what Sir John has been unseated we reproduce from the columns of the Globe, and every one knows that what appears in the Globe is made to tell against Sir John to the utmost possible extent, the report of the evidence upon which he has been unseated, and the observations of the counsel and judges relating thereto. For the further information of the reader we may state that the evidence of previous witnesses went to show that money had been going pretty freely on both sides in this contest, while more than one witness swore that he had received money from both sides for Messrs. Roe and Dennison, the latter being the Grits' former was the Conservative candidate in the local election for the same constituency. The following is from the Globe:—

"Mr. Alex. Hervey, of Richmond, was called on Charge 37, that he had paid Donald McAnulty, a neighbour of mine; I saw him frequently just before the election; I got $5 from Elijah Storr; he told me he gave it to me to use, but he did not say how; I gave McAnulty $2 for his time on election day; I first told him I wanted him to go with me, meaning to go to the poll; I kept the rest of the money myself; I got the money from Storr a day or two before the election; I did not ask for the money; he gave it me at my house; J. McAllister, a neighbour of mine, was in the house at the time; Storr knew how I voted; I have heard Storr was President of the Ontario Conservative Association; I think I have seen him at the meetings of the Association; I have seen his name signed as President of the Association; Adam McAllister was paid some money at the same time that I was paid; his directions were the same as mine; no one else was present that night; what was going on; I think Storr gave me $50; he lives about two miles from me.

Mr. McCarthy—I do not think my learned friend need pursue the enquiry further, as I cannot resist this evidence. The evidence of bribery appears to be clear, as well as the fact of agency; I think we need only remain if the personal charges are to be gone into.

event of the seat being voided, and I assume that it will be voided, to the general costs of the case.

His Lordship—Certainly, except in the charges in which you failed.

Mr. Bethune—Yes. Then as to the personal charges. After a conference with my clients and the leading men of the party here, it has been unanimously determined not to press them. The charges were made on information which quite satisfied the solicitors and the parties that there was probable ground for making them, but on considering with them, the parties concerned on the side of the petitioners, knowing the weight which is attached, and very properly to the respondent's denial, and knowing that these charges would be denied, I could not ask you to say that there was any ground to warrant me in pressing personal charges. I therefore abandon them. Mr. McCarthy—I would like to be allowed to call the respondent so as to enable him to clear himself from any possible imputations that he made or authorized any improper expenditure. That seems to be the practice in England.

His Lordship—I do not think there is any object in doing so. When they admit that they cannot prove the personal charges there are no imputations against the respondent, so I do not see the necessity of calling him.

Mr. McCarthy—If your Lordship thinks so that is all we require.

Mr. Bethune—Before the Court closes I am instructed by the petitioners to ask Your Lordship under the Act for summonses returnable in the terms of the first section of the Act against Mr. Roe and Mr. Storr for the various charges alleged to be in the evidence. The summonses to be made returnable at such time and before such judge as Your Lordship may name.

His Lordship—If I grant a summons at all it must be against all the parties, including Mr. Dennison and others.

Mr. Bethune—Certainly.

His Lordship—It is very difficult, however, for me to fix a time for the return of the summonses.

It was finally arranged that the motion should be renewed in Chambers at Toronto within 30 days. The Court was then closed.

With regard to the summons asked for against Messrs. Roe and Storr, we are inclined to think we shall hear no more of them in the courts, in consequence of the judge's statement, that if issued they must include Mr. Dennison as well as the others. Anxious as are those whom Mr. Bethune represents to purify the political atmosphere when Conservatives are concerned, they do not like such proceedings when like misdoings of brother Grits must be dealt with in like manner. We do not require to go very far back to learn how pure was the motive of a Grit candidate in the eyes of Grits, in entrusting money to a friend who used it in turn to settle a previous election bill, which had to be paid to save a vote, while Mr. Storr's payment of $5-$2 of which went in an improper manner will be said to hand down Sir John Macdonald's name with infamy to future generations. Or how it was impossible for Mr. Phelps to know anything of what was going on in an adjoining room to the one which he was in, in a house belonging to himself on election day, while it was equally impossible for Sir John Macdonald not to know everything that was going on by the highways and by-ways of Lenoxy, although he only paid flying visits to the constituency during the contest. Or how one man could spend $30,000 in a single contest as a purist and a worthy member of the House of Commons, while another by the expenditure of perhaps a $100 in the same way becomes unfit for the Ontario Legislature.

MR. RAMBLACK, the Conservative candidate for Leamington, N. S. has been elected to the House of Commons, having indeed at the previous election polled the majority of votes, though some of them were informal. This is a fresh proof that the Maritime Provinces are sound.

Art Union of London.
The prize, valued at £45 sterling, awarded to Miss A. Dugan, and referred to in our columns a short time ago, is now on exhibition for a few days only in Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co's store, and is well worth seeing. The subject is "The Watering Place, Richmond," by W. Goall. The painting was selected by the Art Union from the collection exhibited by the "Society of British Artists," London, a guarantee that it is a work of art, as none but such are admitted. The agent here is Mr. J. H. Roper, who will be ready to explain mode of working, and take orders and subscriptions.

LATE CLOSING.
To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As a recent arrival in the town I have been struck with the lateness of the hour at which the various places of business are closed. Is there any real need for this? Could not an early closing movement be started whereby the employees (as well as the principals) could get some of their evenings to themselves?

As it is they have very little time for self-improvement, and as a consequence the intellectual standing of the rising generation must suffer. Will not some of the philanthropic citizens agitate in this matter? I am willing to do what I can in this matter.

Yours truly,
AMICUS.

Peterborough, 12th, Oct. 1883.

POLICE COURT.

INMATE.
SATURDAY, Oct. 13.—Angelo Carmelino was arrested this morning and brought into court by P. C. Adams. Carmelino is the Italian who killed his countryman, Ottaviano, in Asphodel last May, and who was liberated at the last assizes, the crown witnesses not being forthcoming. Since he regained his liberty he has wandered around the streets in an aimless manner, and has acted very peculiarly. When arrested he had a revolver in his possession. He was remanded until Monday.

Court of Chancery.
The autumn session of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice will open on Monday next.

The Mason Concert.
The tickets for the entertainment to be given in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening next, by the Mason Concert Company, are now on sale at Mr. Menzies' bookstore, where reserved seats may be secured.

Cooler Weather.
Considerable rain fell to-day and the weather was warm. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh north-westerly to northerly winds, generally fair, cooler weather, with frosts at night.

The Athletic Tournament.
The athletic tournament held in the drill shed on Friday evening was a decided success. The attendance was quite large, there being about 800 persons present. The entertainment provided was very good. The first event was a one mile amateur walk, for which Wm. Hazlett and J. Hannah entered. It was won by Hazlett after a close contest. This was followed by an exhibition of club swinging by Thos. McNaughton, which drew forth frequent and hearty applause. These were five entries in the club dance, and the prize was won by S. Martyn. Three contestants started in the one mile professional race. Hazlett ran three rounds and left the track, and A. Williamson came in about a quarter of a lap ahead of T. McNaughton. In the acrobatic tumbling J. Weir, M. Larone and J. Deegan took part, and the prize was awarded to M. Larone. There were six contestants in the one mile amateur run. T. Kindred came in first, making a splendid run that would do credit to a professional, and W. Hazlett was second. An exhibition of horizontal bar performance by Bert. McFadden was very good, and he was loudly cheered. This was followed by an exhibition of club swinging, with illuminated transparent clubs, by Thos. McNaughton. The lights were turned down in the shed to give effect to the bright colors of the clubs, and this performance was one of the best parts of the programme. Six started in the half mile amateur run, and T. Kindred again came in ahead, this time with more ease. The entertainment was concluded by a final dance by the company. The Peterborough Orchestra furnished good music during the evening. Mr. Tom McNaughton is to be congratulated on the success of his undertaking, and if he again announces such an entertainment he may be assured of a large attendance.

It will buy 15 yards Canton Flannel at Turnbull's.

A Lyons Outrage.
At a meeting of anarchists to-day a bucket of petroleum was poured over a policeman and fired. The man was terribly burned. The mob afterwards attempted to fire the stables of the municipality.

A Deficit Feared.
The French budget estimates show a deficit of fifty-five million francs, which it is proposed to meet by reducing the expenses of government.

Suit for Breach of Contract.
The Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company has entered suit against the Eureka Iron Company, of Detroit, for $50,000, for breach of contract.

Mrs. Coats not Guilty.
The trial of Mrs. Coats for the poisoning of her husband was concluded at Sherbrooke and a verdict of not guilty returned by the jury after an hour's deliberation.

Quinces, Pears, Peaches.
Quinces, Lemons, Apples and fruit of all kinds in season. Finest Haddies, Bologna, Ham and Spiced Meats. Also a choice stock of family groceries at Carron Bros.

With Satisfaction.
Peters' Nervine, the new and certain pain cure, is used with satisfaction in every instance. There is abundant reason for this, for it performs all that is claimed for it. Nervine is a never-failing cure for cramps, pains in the side or back, headache, sore throat, chills, toothache. Nervine is in fact a sure remedy for a pain, both internal and external. Try a 10 cent sample bottle at Ormrod & Whalen. Large bottles only 25 cents.

FINANCIAL RUMOURS.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The atmosphere of the city yesterday was charged with rumours of large financial difficulties which were expected, of which those interested in producing a fall in prices made the most. None of the reports were confirmed. One referred to a financial house, which alarmed the stock exchange a good deal. There is a good reason for believing that it is quite false. There was a considerable reaction in Canadian railway stocks on a rumour that new stock was about to be created, but the story is believed to be without foundation.

HEAVY FAILURE EXPECTED.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Rumours of an impending failure on a large scale caused considerable depression in English and American railway securities. The Times believes the rumours to be baseless.

LITERARY GOSSIP.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—An addition to Carlyle literature is expected. An acquaintance was in the habit of sending him new books and magazines containing articles which he thought might interest him. Carlyle returned them with annotations. It is proposed to publish a selection of these brief but pointed criticisms.

The Execution of Mann.

At L'Original yesterday Mann, the murderer of the Cooke family, was hanged. He preserved the utmost equanimity to the last moment, and joined heartily in devotional exercises in the early part of the morning.

Railway Time.

The following resolution has been adopted at the annual time table convention being now held in Chicago:—"That whereas the management of 78,000 miles have voted in favor of adopting one system of time standard we pledge ourselves to run trains by it whenever the next schedule goes into effect." The new schedules go into force on November 18.

Gambling in Palace.

Truth be told the Queen has issued a private memorandum enjoining the occupants of a certain royal palace to a correction or reformation of manners. Recent events have brought to her knowledge the fact that in one of her palaces gambling is regularly going on to an almost incredible extent. Enormous sums are lost and won. The ardent players are wont to continue their amusement well into the mornings of Sunday and other days directed to be kept holy.

The Manitoba and South Western.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 9.—A despatch to the Tribune, under date of yesterday, says:—"General Manager Marvel, of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad, Colonel Smith, Mr. Sawyer, and General Hammond arrived at Winnipeg this morning, and with the local directors held a meeting of the board of the Manitoba and South Western road to arrange for the transfer of that road to its new owners, who are said to be identified with the Canadian Pacific. Vice-President Angus and General Manager Van Horne, of the latter road, were also present, and the final sale and transfer will be made to-night. The terms of the sale have not been made known. Orders have been issued, however, to make a survey for the extension of the line to Soreau, a distance of 312 miles from Winnipeg. The land grant of 6,400 acres per mile does not accompany the transfer of the road."

A Case of Blood Poisoning.

About a month ago Dr. Sheard, lecturer on Physiology and Botany in Trinity medical school, Toronto, whose residence is at No. 64 Gerrard-street, while engaged in a post mortem examination accidentally cut himself on a finger on his right hand. He took every precaution, by the application of proper remedies, against any dangerous result which might follow. Two weeks after an abscess developed itself in his arm, and other symptoms appeared, indicative of blood poisoning. Dr. Graham and Falcon performed an operation on him a few days ago. His condition is believed to be dangerous, but there are hopes for his recovery. Dr. Sheard is a young man but rapidly rising in his profession. He is an enthusiastic student of medicine, and studied for some time under the great physician, Dr. Klein. Inquiry on Friday morning revealed the fact that the doctor was under the impression that the abscess was confined to the present location his life will be saved.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters will prove. THE RIFLE.

The Annual Matches of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association.

The annual rifle matches of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association were held at the association range, west of the town, on Thursday and Friday. The shooting was begun at nine o'clock on Thursday morning and was finished shortly after noon on Friday.

The new revolving canvas target put up on the range this year proved to be a great success, and, principally through the facilities for marking it afforded, the matches were finished half a day earlier than last year.

There was not quite so many entries for the matches as there were last year. The weather on the first day was favorable, and on the second day, although rain fell, good scores were made.

The prizes offered this year were good. They were contributed by business men of the town and by the Association. The townspeople were not as liberal in this regard as they have been formerly, and the greater number of the prizes were purchased by Association funds. It has been the custom for all the prizes to be contributed in the town, but it has been properly suggested that, as the matches are open to the county, the villages of the county, who are represented in the matches, should assist in furnishing prizes. In fact, in one village, to which each year a number of prizes have been taken by good marksmen, there was a move made this year to collect prizes, but the officers of the Association were disappointed when they learned that it had been abandoned.

The matches this year were very satisfactory, everything passing off smoothly and without any accident. Great credit is due to the indefatigable secretary of the Association, Major Bell, and the other officers for the satisfactory arrangements and the success of the matches. These contests are of great service to the volunteers, and their efforts to improve the force in this regard are commendable.

Sergeant-Major Stothart carried off two of the most valuable prizes, the Bankers' cup of 1877 and the Cox cup. The Bankers' cup must be won twice in succession to become the property of the winner, and the Cox cup (presented by Mr. Geo. A. Cox) must be won three times, twice in succession. Sergeant-Major Stothart held the Bankers' cup the first year it was offered, in 1877. Quenser, Blay, won the Bankers' Cup of 1881, which must be won twice before being won. The Challenge Cup, which is competed for by companies from the Cavalry Troop, and No. 4 Company, Keene, carried off the 57th Battalion Cup. The New York Gold Medal, which is open to members of Nos. 1, 2 and 4 Companies, 57th Battalion, was won by Quartermaster Sergeant Hill. Lieut. Sanderson won first prize in the Volunteer Match.

Rumour Corrected.

We are requested to state there is no truth in the rumour that Dr. Figeon did not go out at night or attend any but the wealthy.

A choice lot of American Whiskies at Tumbell's. These goods have been selected out of a large wholesale stock.

"Men with Iron Shoes."

There is not a little curiosity as to the lecture to be given by the Rev. Joseph Wild, D.D., the "Sage of Bond Street Church" tonight in the Methodist Church at Wednesday evening next. The title of the lecture is "Men with Iron Shoes." Of one thing we may be assured, and that is that it will be a subject upon which the "Bond Street Prophet" can exercise his genius, that the lecture will abound in original ideas and that the theme will be dealt with in a brilliant manner.

New Conductors and Organists. The George Street Methodist Church have been successful in securing the services of a new conductor in the person of Mr. F. W. Miller, headmaster of the Fire Brigade Band. Mr. Miller's superior musical talents are too well known in Peterborough and other places to need mention in his praise by us, and the George Street Methodist Church are to be congratulated in securing his services, and no doubt the choir will rapidly improve. Miss Hattie Johnston, a young lady who has been for some time in the circles, and who has received a thorough musical training, has been appointed to fill the position of organist at the organ (the having taken charge of the new organ in the Charlotte Street Church). With the talent that is available in the Methodist Church to make up a good choir, no doubt the new conductor will have a choir that will be second to none in this part of the country.

Particular attention given to repairing and painting of all kinds of machinery. Ladies of the Trinity Mission with their Millinery have always been well pleased.

By Way of Reminder. Feel the change of the weather, do you? That's natural. Allow us to suggest three ways of meeting it.

1.-By donning a Fall Outfit.
2.-By changing to a Fall Suit.
3.-By slipping on heavier Underwear.

We're ready for you; we've anticipated your wants. We know you mean business, and we mean to satisfy you. Now then, the application:

FALL OVERCOATS would make you comfortable, don't you think? We make you one good coat, good style, good work, and price, too.

FALL SUITS. Never in better condition than our excellent stock, never at so low a price. They are made and altered to order, and we guarantee them.

UNDERWEAR of all the reliable foreign and domestic brands. The same of comfort. The best of the season. The price of all goods and services is low.

CHANGED HANDS.

Fair, VanEvery & Co.

take pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Peterborough that they have purchased the selected and most valuable portion of the Large and Well-assorted Stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods contained in the store formerly occupied by T. E. BRADBURN, on George Street. As they intend carrying on the DRY GOODS BUSINESS in the same Store, well known as the GOLDEN LION, they respectfully solicit a share of the patronage of the people of the Town and County of Peterborough.

Having purchased this Extensive Stock at a Splendid Discount for Cash, we are enabled to offer Bargains in every Department. In order to afford everyone an opportunity to judge for themselves we have begun to which we cordially invite the Public in order to learn our prices, and to inspect our Stock of Goods; and also to give us an early privilege in making ourselves well acquainted with the customers of Peterborough.

A Mammoth Introductory Sale!

The stock will be replenished with the Newest and most fashionable goods in the market, (our Mr. Paterson having returned from a purchasing tour a few days ago), all of which we have decided to sell at from 40 to 50 per cent lower than Regular Retail Prices.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co

CARD TO THE PUBLIC:

Having sold my Stock of Dry Goods to Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co., I have much pleasure in recommending them to the people of Peterborough as thorough Business Men, possessing a practical knowledge of all goods and a perfect acquaintance with the best markets, and solicit for them a continuance of the patronage of all my old customers.
